CITY'S RULE OF STREETS HELD TRACTION CURB

Freund Talks Before Council.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Chicago, despite lack of home rule, will hold a veto power over traction franchise grants by the Illinois commerce commission, even if the terminable permit bill is passed by the legislature, in the opinion of Prof. Ernest Freund of the University of Chicago, expert on constitutional law.

That much self-assertion is left the city by the constitutional provision which says the city's streets cannot be occupied by car tracks without its consent, Prof. Freund told the council yesterday. He voiced it as a mere opinion based on his interpretation of the constitutional clause.

Few Invited Attend.

Prof. Freund's discussion was the high light of a rather disappointing session of the council committee of the whole held to discuss the terminable franchise bill. Few of those who had been invited to attend, including the heads of the elevated and surface lines, Senator Richard J. Barr (Rep., Will), author of the bill, and other legislators and utility officials, put in an appearance. Messrs. Insull, Blair, and [illegible] sent regrets, but many on the invited list ignored the invitation.

In this connection it may be noted that [illegible] the aldermen can do about passage or defeat of the Barr bill [illegible] this [illegible] to be recognized yesterday, [illegible] most of the aldermen were absent as well as the traction people.

Creates Some "Fireworks."

But if the meeting failed to develop much in the way of enlightenment or progress in Chicago's traction difficulties, it did furnish enough fireworks for an alderman to call a speaker a liar and chase him from the rostrum. The alderman was Jacob M. Arvey of the [illegible] ward and the victim was Robert McKinlay, former county commissioner, election commissioner and state representative.

McKinlay was in the galleries and was asked to speak on invitation of Ald. Byrne [15th]. He had sent a communication to Ald. Moran [16th] referring to that bygone time in Carter H. Harrison's time when crowds in the galleries dangled nooses over the heads of aldermen who were considering a long term franchise ordinance.

McKinlay said he was willing to be a volunteer to dangle a few ropes over the heads of legislators. He didn't get much further, because he diverted into politics and said the people of his ward mark their own ballots and do not know the night before election what the results are going to be. McKinlay recently was defeated for alderman.

Arvey Demands Apology.

Ald. Arvey took McKinlay's remarks as a personal affront and demanded an apology.

"He has made insulting remarks about my ward," said Arvey. "And not only that, he's a liar. I demand that he apologize or be denied the privilege of the rostrum."

"I'll apologize for nothing to you," McKinlay replied by way of continuing, and when he manifested a desire to discuss more politics in Arvey's ward Ald. Clark [30th], chairman of the meeting, asked him to retire. McKinlay said he hadn't asked for the privilege of talking anyhow.

Dunne Defends 1913 Act.

Edward F. Dunne, ex-mayor and former governor, addressed the meeting after the list of absentees was read. He reviewed his previously published objections to the "terminable permit" bill and defended his action in refusing to veto the public utilities act of 1913, creating the state utilities commission. Although a home rule advocate, he withheld the veto to keep campaign pledges for creation of such a commission, he said.

Under questioning by Ald. Arvey, Mr. Dunne said the "terminable" franchise, next to public ownership, is the best solution of the traction question, provided the right of terminating a franchise is vested in the city council.

"In my opinion," Prof. Freund said, "there is nothing the legislature can do without the consent of the city. The city is protected by the constitutional provision which says the streets cannot be occupied by car tracks without the city's consent. That ordinance, granted in 1907, expires in two years. The city holds a veto in 1927."

Defines Home Rule Limits.

The city's home rule rights, however, are definitely limited to the

ONE HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION WE'D LIKE TO SEE RETIRE

PRINCESS ENDS LIFE TO KEEP FROM STARVING

[Copyright: 1925: By the New York Times.]

NICE, April 25. — An elegantly gowned woman was found unconscious at the seashore here and hurriedly transported to the hospital, where she died. By her enigmatical smile and features she was identified as Princess Marie Ostrogridsky, the widow of the late czar's finance minister, and one time a reigning beauty of the intellectual salons of Petrograd.

She was known as "The Tigress," the novelist Kouprine writing a novel of this title based on her life.

Having fled from Russia before the bolsheviks, the princess came to the Riviera, where she managed to live until recently and kept up an air of elegance and nobility. Her funds completely given out, she attempted to get work, even of the most menial sort, and declined the slightest financial aid despite the fact that she was starving.

Finally, when unable to face further difficulties and hardships, she laid out for herself her most elegant clothes and, in front of the promenade along which the newly rich Riviera visitors would presently stroll, took a dose of poison. Among local Russians she was looked up to as a queen. Many followed her body to the cemetery.

SEEK M'CLINTOCK CLEWS IN TEXAS

Sbarbaro on 16 Year Old Poison Trail.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Houston, Tex., April 25.—[Special.]—John A. Sbarbaro, assistant state's attorney of Cook county, Illinois, arrived here tonight and began an investigation into the death of Mrs. Emma McClintock, which occurred in 1909. The solution, of course, will have a bearing on the case of the death of Mrs. McClintock's son, Billy.

"The investigation will have two angles. One is as to whether any poison was administered to Mrs. McClintock. The other is a search for any will that Mrs. McClintock may have executed while living in Texas.

Will Examine Records.

Mr. Sbarbaro sought the coöperation of local state and federal authorities. Examination of public records, he says, will be made here; at Bay View, the seaside village, where Mrs. McClintock and William Darling Shepherd and his wife spent a summer sixteen years ago; at Dallas and at other Texas points. Many witnesses are to be questioned.

"Such evidence as may be developed in Texas will be used in the Shepherd trial as corroborative testimony," said Mr. Sbarbaro. "At present there is no plan on foot to seek additional indictments. Any evidence pertaining to the death of Mrs. McClintock will be admissable in the trial of Shepherd."

Search will also be made at drug stores and the offices of physicians to determine the nature of any prescriptions that may have been filled for Mrs. McClintock.

Complained of Dizziness.

Witnesses at the coroner's inquest revealed that Mrs. McClintock suddenly complained of "rheumatic pains and dizziness" while residing in the same cottage with the Shepherds.

So aggravated did her illness become that she, in alarm, started for her home in Chicago, stopping for treatment at Mudlavia. A week later she died. A post-mortem examination, performed since Shepherd's indictment for the murder of Billy McClintock, revealed "a sufficient amount of mercury to kill two persons."

A man named Hartwell, who resided at Houston sixteen years ago, will be sought by Mr. Sbarbaro in the effort to throw light on intimate features of the McClintock-Shepherd home life at Bay View. Shepherd and the others lodged at the Hartwell cottage during construction of the McClintock cottage. It was there that Mrs. McClintock became ill.

DAYLIGHT SAVING FOR CHICAGO

BLIND FIDDLER OF BOUL' MICH' LOSES HIS DEVOTED DOG

Tragedy stalked yesterday into the well-routined life of the blind old fiddler with the waving yellow hair who for the last six years has been a sad but smiling figure in Michigan boulevard from Madison street south to Roosevelt road, with an occasional appearance in the well-trafficed highways of the loop. The hatless musician, with his sightless stare and weather-beaten features, was interesting for himself; but he was more interesting for Pocahontas, who was always with him. She was his guide, counselor, and friend, knowing his routine to the last turning, and so keen on the perils of street crossings that she was a daily example of how not to be a jay-walker.

Pocahontas was a dog. She led her fiddling master from stand to stand, the route seldom varying.

Yesterday afternoon, when the hour arrived to take his stand under the electric sign of the hotel, Pocahontas led the way down the boulevard from the Chicago club to the Auditorium hotel. There she waited for the traffic signal to indicate that Congress street might be lawfully crossed. The signal was flashed, Pocahontas started, and, according to witnesses, an automobile disregarded the signal and ran over the dog. The driver was sorry, but had no time, he explained, to give assistance. A passing Yellow was called, the fiddler and his dog were helped into it, and a hurried drive was made to the veterinary hospital in Wabash avenue. When the taxi pulled up at the door Pocahontas was dead.

When told that his devoted pal was no more the old man turned his sightless face skyward, tears rolling down his tanned cheeks, and exclaimed:

"O, God, why could You not have taken me rather than her? Why not? I was ready to go! She deserved better!"

To the few who know him, the old fiddler is Frank Ritter. He has resided since coming to Chicago in a furnished room in the alleyway that runs back of Michigan boulevard from Eleventh street to Twelfth. Neighbors say that the dog literally kept house for him. Friends once a week have provided a charwoman for the cleaning and adjusting of the room the old fiddler and Pocahontas knew as home.

NEW BOMBING MARKS BULGAR TERROR REIGN

Theater Blast Laid to Communists.

SOFIA, April 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Three acts of terrorism attributed to communists occurred in Bulgarian provinces last night. A theater and library in Plevna, capital of the province of the same name and considered a communist stronghold, were destroyed by bombs.

Investigation last night is said to have established the outrage as the work of agrarian communists.

Unsuccessful attempts also were made to destroy three bridges in the region of Varna, while in the town of Vratsa, in northeastern Bulgaria, a military patrol was fired upon in the night, one soldier being killed and two wounded.

Kassaboff, another accomplice of the terrorist who set the bomb in the Sveti Kral cathedral, has been killed by the Varna police.

Bans Political Meetings.

All political party meetings throughout Bulgaria have been forbidden until further notice by an order issued by Gen. Lazareff, commander of the Sofia garrison. All newspapers and periodicals are to be censored during the period of martial law in Bulgaria.

The Sofia director of the French Banque Generale, Kordff, has been arrested and charged with transferring money to communist conspirators.

Further arrests have been made as a result of information obtained by government agents, who declare that leaders of the left wing peasants' party were to form a new Bulgarian ministry after a revolution. It is stated that Capt. Attanasoff was to be minister of war and Petrini the new premier.

Agrarian Condemns Reds.

Gen. Volkoff, minister of war, declared today that further acts of terrorism are expected but that all ranks of the army loyally are doing their duty. This morning the former agrarian minister, Omarchevsky, visited Gen. Volkoff, and swore allegiance to the government. He strongly condemned the methods used by the communists, and promised to publish an appeal through the press asking the peasants of Bulgaria to support the present government.

According to the latest evidence, four Bulgarian army officers in active service have been involved in communist plots. One of these four has been killed by his comrades.

Yesterday the brother of one of the alleged conspirators in the cathedral bombing was arrested attempting to enter the Bulgarian parliament buildings, where he was employed formerly as a stenographer. The police say he is suspected of being involved in a plot to blow up the chamber.

Wilson in Peacemaker Rôle.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

SOFIA, April 25.—[Via Vienna.]—It is reported from Constantinople tonight that the plot to overthrow the Bulgarian government was secretly directed by M. Kolaroff and M. Dimitroff, Bulgarian members of the communist international, who went to Adrianople last week with a soviet commission, seeking, it is alleged, lost Russian war prisoners.

The soviet commission took a large amount of Bulgarian money to Adrianople. When the plot failed, the two plotters hurried to Constantinople and immediately embarked on a soviet steamer to Sofia for Odessa.

Charles S. Wilson, United States minister, played a leading rôle in averting a crisis in the relations between Bulgaria and Jugo-Slavia. He visited the Bulgarian foreign office once or twice daily during the trouble and energetically insisted that it not throw the responsibility for the bomb explosion on the Jugo-Slavian government, even though it was true that the instructions inside the bomb were written in Serbian, that bombs and arms used by the communists came from Jugo-Slavia, that Sexton Zagorsky tried to implicate Jugo-Slavia in his confession, that large sums of money had been sent to Bulgarian communists from Belgrade, and that the band which attacked King Boris came from Jugo-Slavia.

The Bulgarian government immediately accepted Mr. Wilson's viewpoint.

Situation Improved, Says Wilson.

Washington, April 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The situation in Bulgaria was reported as "improved" by American Minister Charles S. Wilson, at Sofia, in a dispatch received today at the state department. A number of executions had taken place, the cablegram said, and about 1,500 arrests have been made.

U.S. War Game Battle Rages About Hawaii

HONOLULU, April 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The belief was expressed unofficially at Pearl Harbor naval headquarters this afternoon that a "major engagement" between attacking naval forces and defending land forces was in progress in the channel between the islands of Molokai and Lanai, as one of the mock battles incident to the maneuvers here of the United States fleet.

The grand fleet is understood to be making an effort to land forces on Molokai and Lanai, while the "black" high command is attempting to locate the airplane carrier Langley and put it out of action before the fleet can launch the proposed gigantic air attack on Oahu, centering on Pearl Harbor.

This would leave the fleet without an air offensive except as provided by the thirty-three scouting planes carried by the eleven battleships.

Hawaiian Islands Is Stake.

The problem presented in this great war game of the Pacific ocean is capture of the Hawaiian islands by the United States fleet from a theoretical foe, which actually consists of the regular military forces of the islands, reinforced by the territorial national guard.

Unconfirmed reports say the "enemy," or "blue" submarines, are reconnoitering off the southeast coast of Ohau, the "blues" attempting to establish bases on Molokai and Lanai, and also attempting to land from small boats in the vicinity of Honapou, Molokai. Reports from Molokai reported that small boats, while approaching that island with the intention of landing men, were attacked by a fleet of "black" airplanes.

The landing force was driven off, most of the personnel theoretically being either killed by fire from the airplanes or taking to the water to escape the destructive affect of machine gun bullets.

Another rumor located a considerable concentration of the "enemy," or "blue" forces, about five miles south of Kaunakakai, Molokai. These included cruisers and destroyers, and at least one dreadnaught.

A considerable amount of aerial activity is apparent, bearing out rumors that the "enemy" aerial reconnaissance of Oahu has been in progress for several days. There seems to be no evidence of the "defenders" having been damaged to any extent by the "blue" forces.

Defending Plane "Sunk."

First blood in the maneuvers was drawn by the "blue" fleet attacking the islands, when one of the "black" defending seaplanes theoretically was "sunk" in a clash with fleet fighting forces off Diamond Head, the southern tip of Oahu.

The "blue" fleet broke the "radio silence" order at 8 a. m., which had been in effect since the ships left San Francisco. The first contact between the fighting forces had been made at 6:15 o'clock when "black" army air forces reported their observation planes had sighted six destroyers, one battleship and four cruisers anchored in the vicinity of Kaunakakai, island of Molokai, the island nearest Oahu.

The Official Communique.

An official bulletin from the "War" game umpires this morning said:

"It is expected that there will be heavy fighting in the near future."

An unofficial statement from headquarters of the Black forces said a "Black" observation plane had sighted a "blue" patrol plane landing on the island of Maui [Southeast of both Molokai and Oahu] where strategists had expected the "Blue" fleet to establish an airplane base, from which bombing expeditions against Oahu might be sent. The "Black" plane also reported that five "Blue" battleships, six destroyers, and one supply ship anchored between Molokai and Lanai islands. [Lanai is south of Molokai and west of Maui.]

Strategists interpreted this information as indicating that the "Blue" fleet was concentrating for a mass attack against Oahu, the goal of the entire attack, from the southwest.

KAISERISM OR REPUBLIC, BIG GERMAN ISSUE

Riot as Presidential Canvass Ends.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, April 25.—Germany goes to the polls tomorrow to decide between a republic and a monarchy.

Nominally both the important candidates have declared themselves for a democracy. Gen. von Hindenburg is ready to swear allegiance to the Weimar constitution as president of the republic. This is not without reservations.

If he is elected a monarchy will not be proclaimed at once. It will be a gradual development; the rights of the reichstag will be curtailed; the cabinet will seek dictatorial powers. This is necessary before the monarchists' goal can be reached by peaceful means, because today the reichstag has the power to give the premier a no confidence vote and remove him from office. From a cabinet dictatorship to individual dictatorship is only a step. Then will come the restoration of a monarchy when external conditions permit.

Some Leaders Talk of Coup.

These statements are not idle speculation, but the carefully laid plans of the right party, revealed to THE TRIBUNE correspondent by one of the most important leaders.

If Wilhelm Marx, former chancellor, is elected the republic will have won a temporary victory. The enemies of the monarchy will have the reins of power in their hands. But the [illegible] vote which it is certain will be cast for Gen. von Hindenburg may convince the nationalists that through a dictatorship they can bring back the monarchy by force. Already the extremists of the party are thinking and talking in this fashion.

One Dead in Election Riot.

One republican is dead and two others severely wounded as the result of election riots in the heart of Berlin's exclusive apartment section between members of the "reichsbanner," a republican defense organization, and nationalists.

Fifteen reichsbanner youths were guarding a large moving van loaded with pictures of Dr. Marx, in Innsbrucker strasse when several members of a national organization appeared. The police are not yet able to tell how the fight started. In the midst of the set-to, the nationalist flag bearer, Alfred Renig, drew a revolver and fired two shots in the air.

He was immediately surrounded by reichsbanner troops who attempted to take his revolver away from him. The flag bearer then fired into the crowd, killing one instantly and wounding another. The police, who had hurried to the scene, arrested the murderer.

Republican Parade Attacked.

Later rioting which broke out near the Café Wilhelma, a gathering place of monarchists, shortly before midnight resulted in the serious wounding of another reichsbanner soldier with a revolver and the beating of many, some of whom were severely hurt.

Monarchists attacked a procession of reichsbanner troops parading from the Sports palace, where Dr. Wirth spoke tonight. The charge came when republicans greeted monarchist flags with cries of "Down with Mass Murderer Ludendorff!" "Away with Killer Hindenburg!"

The paraders had hurled these insults at monarchist emblems all along their route, but not until they reached the vicinity of the Wilhelma were the monarchists in sufficient strength to take revenge. They quickly evened the score by beatings administered to unlucky republicans caught by the monarchist "shock troopers" early in the procession. Police were forced to call heavy reserves before order could be restored.

Hoot Monarchist Banners.

The republicans took the streets before 11 o'clock, marching in several groups which converged on the Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial church opposite which is the Café Wilhelma. With torches flaming, flags flying and bands playing they made their way through streets which were only partly [illegible]. Red, white and black banners [illegible] from windows brought hooting and catcalls from the marchers. One stout old nationalist woman answered the insults to the imperial flag with a bucket of cold water.

These reichsbanner lads don't make much of an appearance when contrasted with the nationalist "shock troops." The republicans seem to be underfed, sickly youths, but their tactics are effective in silencing any lone nationalist.

who cries, "Hoch Hindenburg." Quickly ten or fifteen of them leave the procession, if no police are nearby, and belabor their unfortunate opponent with sticks and blackjacks, then rejoin the line of march laughing.

War Privations Recalled.

"Two million dead," "Marmalade," and "Down with the turnip general" are favorite cries of the republicans. They recall the days when turnips and marmalade made from beets formed the staple diet of the German people.

Republican leaders have issued a strong appeal to the members of the reichsbanner not to take revenge for the death of their comrade, but to maintain order and discipline. The riot caused a deep impression among both organizations.

Practically the entire police force has been mobilized to take care of any emergency. The precautions will be maintained until after the polling tomorrow.

The last day of the campaign brought the enthusiasm for the two candidates to fever heat. There is no getting away from the fact that Gen. von Hindenburg is a spectacular figure in the fight, and appeals to the people either as friend or foe. The sedate, tepid Herr Marx has no chance to shine when placed beside the man who represents the military glory of bygone days. Spiked helmets and magnificent uniforms always win against sober, black frock coats. Except to those few who saw Gen. von Hindenburg at Hanover, he is the last expression in brilliant military trappings and autocratic might and glory that was in Germany.

Hindenburg's Appeals Stir Voters.

The same holds good for his campaign orations. Those who did not hear Gen. von Hindenburg but merely read his words in the newspapers, and so escaped his school boy sing song, could not help but be thrilled by their stirring appeal, picturing Germany in shining armor taking its former place in the world. What chance had a discourse filled with the pure logic of a democracy beside the heart stirring appeal for love of the fatherland?

Seventy per cent of Germany's voters went to the polls on March 29, and conservative estimates made by both coalitions indicate that 80 per cent will vote tomorrow. That means 4,000,000 more ballots, and it is more than possible that with these 4,000,000 rests the decision. On the face of things, Herr Marx should win, but there is no question that Gen. von Hindenburg has made a much wider appeal to the women of Germany than Dr. Jarres. Here it is that Gen. von Hindenburg will cut most heavily the Republican total in the first election.

Marx Leader Pessimistic.

THE TRIBUNE correspondent talked confidentially with one of Herr Marx's campaign managers today.

"I don't like the situation at all," he admitted. "Things are not going as well as they should, but we hope to carry Bavaria for Herr Marx."

It sounded to THE TRIBUNE correspondent like a bit of whistling to keep up the fast waning courage.

In the Von Hindenburg camp, to the contrary, all is confidence. The right bloc after the beating Dr. Jarres received from the united republican forces had little hope for final success, but the enthusiasm which the candidacy of Gen. Von Hindenburg provoked throughout the country has given them new courage and their hopes have grown from day by day. Two weeks ago they were asking odds of Herr Marx's backers. Today they are offering even money, with few takers. THE TRIBUNE correspondent does not care to hazard a prediction on the outcome. The unknown elements which enter this election are too deep a mystery for any one to fathom. On the old figures Herr Marx should win, but hot hearts and not cold figures win in an election.

Monarchist Flags in Red Section.

One of the big surprises of the election came tonight when North Berlin, a strong communist section, bedecked itself with hundreds of red, white, and black flags, whereas Republican banners were expected to predominate. If flags would win the election, Field Marshal von Hindenburg would win by a walkaway tomorrow, for the red, white, and black of the monarchy greatly outnumbers the Republican colors.

ALDERMEN REACH COMPROMISE IN SLATEMAKING

Crowe Warned to Fall Into Line or Lose.

BY WILLIAM V. LAWSON.

Nashville, Tenn., April 25.—[Special.]—Forced to compromise with Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe [42d] or face a fight on their slate in the council on Monday, the aldermanic organization committee today ceded north side wards increased representation on all committees.

Defeated in his fight for the chairmanship of the local transportation committee by Ald. Joseph B. McDonough [13th], Crowe was warned that unless he lined up at once and decided not to submit a minority report he would be deposed from the leadership of the schools, fire, and civil service committee, and denied any voice in the selection of a chairman and personnel of the proposed aviation committee. Crowe intimated this afternoon he will accept the offer.

Emphasize Their Threat.

To emphasize their threat, the compromise slate submitted to Crowe by his four colleagues—Ald. R. A. Woodhull [7th], Joseph B. McDonough [13th], D. A. Horan [21st], and E. J. Kaindl [34th]—does not include any assignments to the schools or public recreation and athletics committees. These places will be filled in when he announces his decision, Crowe was told.

It has been the majority's intent to split the public recreation and athletics committee into two groups, the parks and playgrounds and the aviation committees.

Crowe, it is understood, may retain his schools chairmanship of the schools committee and obtain the chairmanship of the aviation committee if he will join in a unanimous report on the balance of the slate.

List New Personnels.

The compromise slate reappointing all committee chairmen, which will be submitted to the council Monday as the report of the majority, if Crowe refuses to make it unanimous, is as follows:

FINANCE—Woodhull, Anderson, Eaton, Guernsey, McDonough, O'Toole, Byrne, Moran, D. A. Horan, Touhy, Powers, Maypole, Clark, Kaindl, Adamowski, Crowe, Frankhauser.

LOCAL TRANSPORTATION—McDonough, Jackson, Guernsey, Meyering, Govier, McKinlay, Byrne, Fick, Cepak, Touhy, Smith, Mills, Jensen, Albert, Nelson, Frankhauser, Pontow.

LOCAL INDUSTRIES—D. A. Horan, Coughlin, Anderson, Govier, Cross, O'Toole, Moran, Ryan, Fick, Arvey, Powers, Mendel, Touhy, A. J. Horan, Adamkewicz, Smith, Seif, Adamowski, Jensen, Albert, Brieske.

RAILWAY TERMINALS—Kaindl, Anderson, Cronson, Eaton, Meyering, McDonough, O'Toole, McKinlay, Cepak, Arvey, Adamkewicz, Petlak, Seif, Nusser, Albert, Nelson, Hoellen.

GAS, OIL AND ELECTRIC LIGHT—Clark, Jackson, Kunstmann, O'Toole, Moran, Ryan, Cepak, Arvey, Touhy, A. J. Horan, Mills, Ringa, Bowler, Brieske, Pontow, Loescher, Hoellen, Boutell.

BUILDINGS AND ZONING — O'Toole, Coughlin, Jackson, Wilson, Ryan, Fick, Cepak, Powers, Mendel, A. J. Horan, Smith, Petlak, Nusser, Adamowski, Jensen, Pontow, Bowler.

JUDICIARY—Arvey, Coughlin, Jackson, Cronson, Eaton, Guernsey, Cross, Barbee, McKinlay, Maypole, Petlak, Seif, Mills, Brieske, Nelson, Boutell, Frankhauser.

SCHOOLS, FIRE AND CIVIL SERVICE—Chairmanship open; Cronson, Wilson, Byrne, Fick, Arvey, Clark, Kaindl, Mills, Bowler, Nelson, Hoellen, Pontow, Brieske.

HARBORS, WHARVES AND BRIDGES—Guernsey, Coughlin, Woodhull, Meyering, Govier, Cross, Wilson, Kunstmann, Barbee, Ryan, Powers, Mendel, A. J. Horan, Smith, Jensen, Bowler.

PUBLIC HEALTH—Nelson, Anderson, Cronson, Meyering, Cross, Wilson, Barbee, McKinlay, Fick, Adamkewicz, Petlak, Seif, Nusser, Ringa, Albert, Brieske, Frankhauser.

TRACK ELEVATION—Maypole, Coughlin, Govier, Cross, Wilson, Kunstmann, Moran, McKinlay, Arvey, Powers, Mendel, A. J. Horan, Clark, Seif, Mills, Jensen, Boutell.

POLICE AND MUNICIPAL INSTITUTIONS—Byrne, Cronson, Eaton, Govier, Cross, Konstmann, Barbee, Ryan, Cepak, Mendel, Seif, Adamowski, Bowler, Albert Loescher, Boutell, Pontow.

EFFICIENCY, ECONOMY AND REHABILITATION—Eaton, Cross, Kunstmann, Barbee, Powers, Maypole, Clark, Nusser, Ringa, Loescher, Hoellen, Frankhauser, Boutell.

To avoid dropping existing members of the major committees from their places in order to make room for Crowe's north side nominees, the majority of the slatemakers increased the size of several committees, notably the local transportation, building and zoning, judiciary, harbors, wharfs and bridges, public health, and police and municipal institutions.

Give Up Minor Places.

In other committees, where a member was advanced to a more important position, his place was given to a north sider in most cases. Woodhull, McDonough, and Horan surrendered some of their minor committeeships to facilitate the compromise.

As a result, the new city council local transportation committee, if the compromise is accepted by Crowe and ratified by the council, will have seventeen members instead of fifteen, as in the past, with four north side members.

Ald. Arthur Albert [43d] and Oscar Nelson [46th], both bitter opponents of the recently defeated traction ordinance, and Ald. W. H. Pontow [50th], are the new north side members.

New comers in the council fared well at the hands of the slatemakers. Cronson, Hoellen and Nusser, all elected to the council in the last election, were given berths on the railway terminals committee.

Hoellen, Ringa, Loescher and Boutell, all new comers, are given places on the gas, oil and electric light committee.

Two important revisions of the council's rules have been unanimously agreed upon and will be submitted to the council for approval on Monday. The amendments provide for consideration of the council's business in the order of its classification rather than by a roll call of the wards, as at present. The rule reserving to the committee on committees the right to name all committee chairmen, was reinstated.

Mayor Also to Give Dixon School Bid.

Able timber is available to fill vacancies on the school board, Mayor Dever declared yesterday as he indicated his serious consideration of George W. Dixon, civic and business leader, for appointment to the presidency of the board. The mayor also brought in the names of two more men under consideration for appointment.

Sense of Public Duty.

"Mr. Dixon is a very busy man, but he has a remarkably high sense of public duty, and I am confident that were I to insist on his serving on the school board he would consent," Mayor Dever said.

Col. Edward B. Ellicott, an engineer of note and for eight years under former Mayor Harrison the city electrician, is another citizen who probably will be asked to help guide the destiny of Chicago's schools, the mayor admitted.

The possibility was regarded as strong that a trusteeship would be tendered to John A. Muldoon, president of the Motor Transportation company.

Smietanke Must Stay.

Trustee Julius F. Smietanka visited the mayor and declared emphatically he wished to resign. After a brief chat with Mr. Smietanka Mr. Dever said he had told the trustee just as emphatically that he insisted upon his remaining upon the board.

Facing a drastic curtailment of activities, with no prospect of educational progress because of a fast approaching financial crisis, the school board tomorrow will vote on a resolution to seek additional revenue through a referendum vote to increase the school tax rate from $1.92 to $2.92.

The resolution, which will be offered by President Charles M. Moderwell, will also carry recommendations for approval of Supt. William McAndrew's increased salary scale with certain modifications.

They also receive a certain percentage of their weekly receipts, making average pay between $45 and $60 a week.

POLICEMAN RISKS HIS LIFE TO CATCH RUNAWAY HORSE

Policeman Patrick Coughlin of the Maxwell street station yesterday probably saved some lives in crowded South Halsted street when at the risk of his own life he leaped at the bridle of a runaway horse and stopped it after being dragged a block.

The horse, attached to the wagon of the David G. Maxwell Box Co., was being driven south in Racine avenue at 17th street when it was struck by a motor truck driven by Frank Wheat of the McClure Teaming Co. The jar broke the shafts, and knocked Anthony Buckowski, the driver, off the seat.

The horse became frightened and dashed madly down towards Halsted street. At 18th street Policeman Coughlin saw it and leaped for the bridle. He caught it and stopped the animal, but the wagon ran into it and started it again. When he finally got it stopped the policeman had been dragged a block.

CANADIAN PUTS DOUBT ON PEARY POLE DISCOVERY

Montreal, April 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Montreal Standard today quoted Capt. J. E. Bernier, Canadian arctic explorer, as asserting in an interview in Quebec that the late Rear Admiral Robert Peary, U. S. N., did not actually discover the north pole in his expedition of 1909, as the latter believed.

Capt. Bernier quoted from records in his possession to show that in April, 1909, when the discovery was supposed to have taken place, Admiral Peary could not accurately have ascertained his position as the maximum height of the sun was only five degrees above the horizon and on many days the sky was entirely obscured.

The veteran explorer also said that he had an official communication from Sir Clement Markham, at that time president of the Royal Geographical society of London, which stated that the society awarded a medal to the admiral "for his work in the arctic," but not for discovery of the pole. Sir Clement, according to Capt. Bernier, stated in the communication that the society could arrive at no decision as to the discovery of the pole, even after the records had been studied in detail.

WOMAN'S FAIR LAYS UP MONEY TO REPEAT IN '26

Dawes Speaks; Crowds Total 200,000.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Chicago's first Woman's World's fair st night closed its successful eight y pageant in the feminine gender ith a record that reads something e this:

The President of the United States, er the radio, opened the exposition turday noon, April 18.

The Vice President of the United ates, in person, closed the fair yesrday.

More than 200,000 thronged the oles.

An estimated $50,000 was netted, on e basis of the incomplete figures w available.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, chairman the board of directors, yesterday ld of the planned disposition of the nds.

Money for 1926 Fair.

The big slice of the money, Mrs. Bowen pointed out, goes into a sinking nd for the next fair, which is ready being planned. The second ice, considerably smaller, is scheded for the Illinois Republican Wom's club throughout the state. And e third slice, still proportionately aller, is for the Woman's Roosevelt epublican club of Chicago.

The idea of this mosaic of woman's achievements originated some two ars ago in the mind of Helen Bennett, managing director of the fair. ater it was worked up into an actuity by an incorporated board of directors, all of whom chanced to be mbers of the Republican Woman's ub.

The incorporated woman directorate d both President Coolidge and Vice President Dawes had praiseful phrases r this method of operation without icitation of funds or subscriptions.

Big Slice to Sinking Fund.

"And now that the fair is over," Miss Bennett pointed out last night, we have two uses for the monies ft over. Our first interest is to establish the fair as an annual Chicago fair. So the bulk of the money goes that sinking fund.

"Our secondary interest is the Reblican Woman's club. Theirs was original idea. They worked up the . They paid the bills. It is not asonable to suppose they would some of the money."

Mrs. Bowen later stressed the nontisan aspect of the fair by referring the luncheon Thursday for "famous women."

"To my left at that luncheon," Mrs. wen recalls, sat a prominent La Follette worker, Miss Jane Addams. To y right sat a Democratic governor, rs. Nellie Ross."

Dawes Leads Financial Plan.

A few hours before the doors closed night and the board of directors an to figure up its accounts, a man, of the only two associated with woman's fair, stood up on a bal in the Furniture Mart and comded to the hundreds of listeners financial ability of that board of ectors.

The man was Charles G. Dawes, ing, masculine, and appreciative.

When he and Mrs. Dawes had conded their tour of the booths, had rried especially long in Evanston lage, and had made an especial trip er to THE TRIBUNE booth, they went p to the balcony with Mrs. Bowen and he other directors, including Miss Bennett, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. Silas Strawn, Mrs. George R. Dean, Mrs. T. W. Robinson, and Mrs. Frederick Rawson.

Then the former director of the udget told everybody how pleased he s that the women hadn't made "a edatory exposition against the weaker sex" for funds.

"When a woman is only half inrest in enterprises of this kind," Dawes declared, "she is apt to the easiest way. And after seing a good looking sub-committee, will organize a predatory expedidirected against the weaker sex.

Sizes Up Woman Callers.

"Together with large cohorts of susible, but reluctant masculinity, I e learned to distinguish between the an who calls at the office simply a subscription and the woman who on what she considers real busi

"Happy is the enterprise like this which earnest women are willing e their time, means and unselfish work. These ladies who have ved the success which we see, solicited no subscriptions and the is fair is self supporting."

Then this genial, but careful husman of his praises, got a big cheer he spoke this bit of blunt gal:

"I will not venture into that comly used, but dangerous field of the e of woman, a course which exence indicates is more much liable rouse their suspicion than their itude."

Mrs. Dever Is Guest.

Not long after the Dawes had vis THE TRIBUNE booth, another disuished guest, Mrs. William E ver, appeared. The mayor's wife was the guest of Mrs. George V. Intyre, president of the Big Sisters that organization's booth, was at THE TRIBUNE booth for a half hour. Virtually all of the woman partment heads, artists, and writers ployed on the paper were at the th yesterday, working at the typeter, over the easel, or at the teleone.

Over in a far corner of the mart woman and an ice pitcher were atting considerable attention yesterday. The woman was Miss Lillian Tol, a young colored woman who has nted the Tolbert ice pitcher.

"And the only man who has ever anything to do with it," Miss Tolexplained pridefully, "was the at y in the patent office at Wash

HIRAM PEABODY'S WIDOW SUES FOR MORE OF ESTATE

Seeks Share of Dead Son's Fortune.

Claim for part of her dead son's share of the $1,324,000 estate of her first husband, Hiram P. Peabody, a pioneer realty dealer who died nearly twenty years ago, was entered in Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Philena R. Peabody Lloyd.

The suit names as defendants Mrs. Lloyd's other son, Howard Bell Peabody, prominent Chicagoan; his three children, and the Northern Trust company, trustee under Mr. Peabody's will.

After Mr. Peabody died his widow married Frederick E. J. Lloyd, first bishop of the American Catholic church, who became a topical center in religious circles when he forsook the Episcopal church for the Roman Catholic church, turned about and became a bishop again in the Episcopal order, and then joined the American Catholic movement. He also was a state legislator for one term. In 1918 a want ad was published in which Mrs. Lloyd disowned her husband's debts.

In his will Hiram Peabody split up the income from his fortune, with many qualifying provisions, among his widow and two sons, Howard Bell and Warren Maxwell Peabody. The widow was to receive $10,000 annually over a long period of years, at the end of which the estate was to be divided three ways for herself and her sons.

But the will provided that the annuity was to be halved if Mrs. Peabody remarried and that her subsequent share was to go to her sons in that event. Dissatisfied, Mrs. Peabody renounced her rights under the will and took her widow's one-third of the estate.

Warren, the eldest son, died in 1915, a few days before he was to have been married, and he left no will. The bill asks that the court ordain that the funds he would have received from the estate, had he lived, be accumulated. Then they should be paid to his heirs at law, his mother among them, the bill avers.

Said to Seek Huge Sum.

Just what sum is so sought to be realized by Mrs. Lloyd is not fixed, but it is said to amount to several hundred thousand dollars.

Were he alive today, Warren Peabody would be 30 years old. His father's will provided that at 21 he was to be paid an annuity of $2,000. At 30 the will provided he was to receive a third of the income from the trust fund, of which he would be given his share of the principal when he became 35.

ROBS CLERK AND WOMAN GUEST IN CLARIDGE HOTEL

A lone thief, about 35 years old and well dressed, made a raid on the Claridge hotel, 1244 North Dearborn street, late last night and after holding up Percy Nolan, the night clerk, and Mrs. Sophie Maffei, wife of the day manager of the hotel, escaped with $95 from the cash drawer and with Mrs. Maffei's pocketbook containing $25.

Mrs. Maffei was sitting in the lobby a few feet in front of the desk, waiting for her husband, when the robber entered.

Warning her not to scream, the man told her to get up and walk to the desk, where he confronted the clerk with his weapon.

U. S. Stand Big Factor in League Arms Parley's Fate

GENEVA, April 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The importance of the United States' participation in the forthcoming international conference for control of traffic in arms was emphasized in a league of nations communique tonight. It says the attitude of Washington is one of the essential factors in the problem and remarks that the collapse of the St. Germain convention on the same subject was due to the American refusal to ratify it.

Attributes Most of '98 War Losses to Lack of Music

Two-thirds of our losses in Cuba during the Spanish-American war were suffered because the bands were left behind, thus depriving soldiers of music, said Maj. Gen. George Bell Jr., retired, in an address before the Society of the Army of Santiago de Cuba at its twenty-seventh anniversary and reunion at the Hotel La Salle last night. More men died of homesickness than from bullets, he continued.

KELLOGG 'HEARTILY IN FAVOR' OF U. S. ENTRY INTO A WORLD COURT

Washington, D. C., April 25.—Secretary Kellogg declared himself tonight to be "heartily in favor" of America's participation in an international tribunal for settlement of international disputes.

Addressing the delegates of the American Society of International Law, Mr. Kellogg asserted it was "strange that, although we are approaching 1926, the United States, one of the leading countries in arbitration, is not a member of any international court."

He said that although international law is yet in a state of evolution, there are still enough international regulations to make such a court workable. For this purpose, he added, he believed thoroughly in the efforts to codify and extend the principles of international law.

THREE DEAD IN OHIO HEAT; 12 BITTEN BY DOGS

Columbus, O., April 25.—[United Press.]—The unseasonable heat wave which has claimed three lives and caused numerous prostrations in Ohio during the last forty-eight hours is nearing an end, the local weather bureau predicted today.

A high mark of 96 degrees was set yesterday at Ironton, and Newark reported a temperature of 110 in the sun.

Twelve persons attacked by dogs crazed by the heat in Cleveland were said to be responding promptly to Pasteur treatment.

Two Hoosiers Prostrated.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 25.—Two persons were reported prostrated with heat today following the hottest April day Indiana has ever known. Leo Hamey, laborer, was overcome at Goshen. At Evansville Oscar Johnson, a Negro, was stricken.

CONFESSES PART IN MURDER OF DEPUTY SHERIFF

Confessions obtained yesterday from Walter Lutz, owner of a garage at 786 Milwaukee avenue, and Walter Wieck, his employé, named Andrew Boden, alias Walter Bader, as one of the two murderers last October of Walter Tripp, a special deputy sheriff. The other man involved in the murder, Walter Hrage, committed suicide Friday in the House of Correction.

Lutz and Wieck said they were in an automobile with the two others preceding the murder.

He said he was told to stop on Kenmore avenue near Irving Park boulevard and the two passengers walked away after telling him to wait. He heard shooting and drove away without waiting for the two, who were then robbing Tripp.

Scotland Yard Brands Church Bomb Scare 'Fake'

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, April 25. — The sensational story in the London Daily Mail regarding a search of St. Margaret's church for communist bombs in preparation for Lord Rawlinson's funeral today is branded as a "fake" this morning by Canon Carnegie, rector of St. Margaret's, and Scotland Yard authorities. All that happened was that two Scotland Yard men inquired at the church about the arrangements for handling the crowds. Two guards were posted at the door to receive wreaths sent by friends and relatives and they left at 6 p. m., after which the church was locked as usual, without guards.

5,000 Chase Robber Down Broadway, Capture Him

New York, April 25.—Five thousand persons abandoned their pursuits this afternoon to run mob-like down Broadway, just above Times square, in pursuit of a robber who, with a companion, had just taken $5,000 in money and jewels from two victims. The fugitive, captured in a subway station, said he was George Velso of the Bronx, 17 years old. None of the money or jewels was found on Velso, and the police believe his companion, who lost himself in the pursuing mob and escaped, had all the loot.

WOMAN, 65, DIES IN LAGOON NEAR BELOVED DEAD

Unidentified Body Is Found in Cemetery.

She must have been working on some dear one's grave for in her handbag were found a small trowel and a pair of grass snipping shears when they took her body yesterday out of the lagoon in Oakwoods cemetery. There was still some black dirt clinging to the little trowel and some grass blades were on the snippers.

Body in Water Four Days.

She was apparently a woman of about 65 and her body had been in the water about four days. James Corcoran, 7136 University avenue, an employé of a monument concern, discovered it as he walked through the graveyard, and he notified Henry J. Rehm, the cemetery secretary.

Corcoran recalled that he had seen the woman go into the cemetery last Thursday. He said she walked with a cane; that her left leg appeared to be crippled. The cane was found floating a few feet from the body.

No Means or Identification.

In her pocketbook besides the trowel and shears, were $2 and some handkerchiefs, which still bore a delicate perfume. But there was nothing tending to identify her.

KNIFE, BELIEVED CLEW IN LINKS MURDER, FAILS

When detectives from the Summerdale station yesterday dug a small butcher knife out of the catch basin at Bryn Mawr avene and Richmond street, where the limbless and decapitated body of a young woman was found, they thought for a time they had an important clue to the murder.

Slayers have been trapped and convicted on lesser evidence. Trace the knife and perhaps find the murder, was the idea of the detectives.

But they discovered soon that the knife had been thrown into the sewer after the body was removed and they discovered the small boys who threw it there.

So they were no nearer the solution of the strange and gruesome mystery than they have been from the beginning. Some tattered pieces of underwear and five bones also were taken out of the basin by the detectives.

GRAND JURY QUIZ SHOWS GRAFT IN DETROIT AFFAIRS

Detroit, Mich., April 25.—Scathingly denouncing conditions of graft, corruption and extravagances which he said he found in city departments and which cost Detroit taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars, Judge Frank Murphy of Recorder's court, reporting the findings of his one man grand jury inquiry into city affairs tonight. He recommended the issuance of warrants for nineteen persons on charges ranging from conspiracy and embezzlement to larceny.

A letter to Prosecuting Attorney Robert Toms directed the prosecutor to prepare warrants. Those for whom Judge Murphy directed that warrants be issued, and the suggested charges, included city officials, contractors and one bank official.

Graft and corruption were found in the board of education, the department of public works, the motor transportation division, the parks and boulevards department, the water board, and also in connection with the purchase of a county morgue site, the report said.

WOMAN DIES IN HOTEL TUB; NAB 3 IN 'MOON' RAID

Frank J. Ruth, retired business man of Alliance, O., and reputed wealthy, notified the police last night that his wife had died while in the bath tub in their suite at the Majestic hotel.

Investigating, the police found the woman had been dead several hours, lying in the partly filled tub. Dissatisfied with the husband's story, they questioned him at length, eliciting the information, they say, that Ruth had purchased liquor earlier in the day.

Following up the clew, the police arrested Walter Elsnor in a flat at Oakdale avenue, together with Mr. and Mrs. Giles J. Driscoll, 914 Oakdale, and fifteen gallons of moonshine. A post-mortem will be performed on the body of Mrs. Ruth today. She was 48 years old.

Paris Cops Search Church for Bomb Before Funeral

PARIS, April 25.—Fearing a repetition of the Sofia outrage, police this evening made a thorough search of Notre Dame cathedral, where services will be held tomorrow over the bodies of the victims killed in the recent nationalist-communist riot in Montmartre, to make sure no bombs have been planted by communists to blow up the church during the service. A minute search did not reveal anything.

DAYLIGHT SAVING REMAINS; SHELVE BILL TO REPEAL

Effort to Curtail Period Is Sent to Committee.

Daylight saving time, with its extra hour of sunshine for Chicago, is effective in the city today. Last minute efforts of a group of aldermen to repeal or amend the ordinance failed signally, the proponents themselves conceding defeat on the city council floor at a special meeting held yesterday morning.

Ald. William R. O'Toole [14th], who with six other councilmen was responsible for calling the special meeting, rose from his seat when the council convened and announced that his amendment on the daylight saving ordinance would not be put to a vote. He asked that it be referred to the judiciary committee, and after considerable caustic comment, pro and con, from the aldermen, that action was taken.

Defeat Was Certain.

A bare quorum of twenty-seven alderman was present, and Ald. O'Toole, recognizing that more than a sufficient number of ardent supporters of the daylight plan were present to defeat the amendment, gave that as his reason for withholding action.

"I would rather that all the aldermen were present when the question is finally decided," Ald. O'Toole said, "so I move that it be referred to the committee, where public hearings may be held and the matter threshed out."

This speech brought on sharp criticism, particularly from Ald. Berthold A. Cronson [4th], who protested against the calling of so many special meetings, "nearly one every day in the last week," as he put it. From Ald. Charles S. Eaton [5th] came the comment that the people were "suspicious of these special meetings, which indicated some one's desire for a snap judgment on vital issues."

Reviews Peoples' Vote.

"The citizens by the overwhelming majority of 61,000 approved daylight saving time," Ald. Cronson declared as he moved to table the O'Toole amendment. "The city council has no right to take the privilege away from the people in this hasty fashion."

Ald. Eaton, seconding the motion to table, said the amendment should have been brought before the council in the regular manner. The question was not brought to a roll call, however, Mayor Dever announcing from the rostrum that it was out of order, two aldermen already having suggested reference to the judiciary committee.

All church services this morning are held under the new time, the official hour for the change being at 2 o'clock this morning, when the hands of the clock should be pushed ahead one hour to 3 o'clock.

Strauss was found guilty by a jury in Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe's court after a ten day trial, the prosecution of which was directed by Assistant District Attorney Waugh.

Following the reading yesterday of the sealed verdict, returned Friday night, Attorney Benjamin Bachrach, for the defense, entered a motion for a new trial.

France Takes New Step to Fund British and U. S. Debt

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, April 25.—The first steps toward a solution of the British and American debts were undertaken by the new French government this afternoon when Aristide Briand conferred for a long time with Joseph de Fleuriau, ambassador to London.

It was decided that M. Briand, Premier Paul Painleve, and possibly Finance Minister Joseph Caillaux will proceed to London the week after next to confer with Austen Chamberlain, Winston Churchill and Stanley Baldwin, concerning outstanding questions, one of the principal of which is the funding of the French debt to Great Britain.

On the basis reached in this transaction, the French debt to the United States will be taken up.

Britain to Cut Down Claims.

The French already are advised that Great Britain is willing to write down the debt considerably, taking a percentage of France's portion of reparations under the Dawes plan. Armed with this concession from London, the French delegates to Washington hope to obtain important amelioration from the United States.

The disarmament of Germany and the evacuation of Cologne also will be discussed in London, as well as a security pact which is contingent on France's security.

It is rumored that Joseph Caillaux may head the French delegation to Washington to fund the American debt.

Lamont Optimistic About France.

American bankers are optimistic that France will extricate itself from its financial embarrassments, Thomas Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co. said today on arriving in Paris after touring Italy.

"We think things will turn out all right," said Mr. Lamont. "We know little about Joseph Caillaux in America except his reputation as a brilliant financier. Regarding his war record, that is a thing of the past and forgotten. We know M. Herriot, M. Clementel, and Louis Loucheur because they visited the United States, and Aristide Briand is familiar to Americans since the Washington conference."

Mr. Lamont said the increase in the circulation of paper francs was apparently unimportant and already is discounted by financial circles. Regarding the steadiness of the franc, Mr. Lamont said:

"The French still have $80,000,000 or $90,000,000 in New York ready to support the franc, which deters many raiders who would like to drive the franc down, but remember the people caught in the squeeze of March 12, 1924."

Baldwin Believes Pact Is Near.

WORCESTER, Eng., April 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, addressing his constituents here today, said the British government was convinced that the attempt to bring the nations of western Europe into some sort of a security pact or agreement would succeed and thereby avert future wars as far as it was humanly possible to do so.

Premier Baldwin spoke strongly against the old idea of trying to maintain the balance of power in Europe by means of armed alliances, which he said had proved repeatedly to tend almost inevitably toward an ultimate conflict for supremacy.

"I believe we have contrived as far as is possible to exterpate that old idea and to try to build on some other foundation something leading to the security of our people from the bloody arbitrage of war," Mr. Baldwin said.

WOULD INDICT POISON WIDOW.

When the Lake county, Ind., grand jury convenes tomorrow, County Prosecutor August R. Bremer will ask indictments on three counts of murder against Mrs. Anna Cunningham of Gary, who confessed that she poisoned three of her children "to take them to heaven."

Who DID Discover Spectacles?

Some readers ask us to state who did invent spectacles. We should be very glad to tell, if anyone would tell us.

Probably the Chinese were, in fact, the first to use lenses in frames as an aid to eyesight.

The honor of bringing them out in Europe seems to lie between Roger Bacon of Oxford, Salvino d'Armato degli Armati of Florence, and his friend Allesandro della Spina, Dominican Monk of Pisa.

The time is fixed at about 1285.

In a manuscript of the year 1289 we find the following:

"I am so debilitated by age that without glasses I would no longer be able to read or write. These have lately been invented, much to the benefit of poor old people whose sight has become weak."

One thing is certain; discoveries in eyeglasses have not ceased. The Almer Coe Stores are constantly adding new features of eyeglass improvement.

LAWLESS GUNS KILL 1, WOUND 7; PARLEY IS SET

Collins Shifts His Men to Clean Up Black Belt.

Lawless guns killed one man and wounded six men and a woman, one of them fatally perhaps, yesterday, and they figured in five holdups.

Such was Chicago's crime record yesterday as Chief Justice Jacob H. Hopkins of the criminal court issued the call for a conference on the gun menace, to be held in his courtroom next Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and as Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins, by a drastic transfer order, sought to wipe out crime in the city's Black Belt.

A grudge of long standing, booze, and the ready one hand gun, were held responsible for the death of George Glennan, 27, of 1706 West 21st place, and the wounding of Ernest Cunis, 29, of 1608 West 21st place. The slayer was Joseph Siegl, 25, of 1758 West 21st place.

Liquor Rouses Old Grudge.

The three men met at the northwest corner of 22d street and Ashland avenue. It was there that the old grievance, fanned by liquor, flared into an argument.

One shot, which proved fatal, struck Glennan in the groin. A second wounded Siegl's companion in the arm.

Another shooting took place in the stockyards plant of the G. H. Hammond Packing company, when Edward Simpson, colored, shot Mathew Rubek, chief of the company's special police, twice in the back before the revolvers of Edward Lulla and Edward Dunnick, also special policemen, brought the Negro down.

Colored Woman Wounds Two.

A quarrel between Millard Adams, 25, colored, and Miss Marie Jackson, 23, colored, ended last night at 47th street and Prairie avenue when the woman drew a revolver and fired five shots, wounding Adams in the right side and also wounding Miss Alice Seigfried, 28, of 5021 Prairie avenue, who was passing by.

Louis Davis, colored, 3008 Prairie avenue, was shot twice in the abdomen and seriously wounded by Leon Wilson, 3719 Indiana avenue, also colored, after a quarrel during a dice game in Davis' flat. Wilson fled after the shooting.

A quarrel of a month's standing was climaxed last night in the shooting of John Hudson, colored, by Samuel Bennett, colored, 632 West 13th street, in Hudson's home at 1341 Miller street. Hudson was severely wounded. Bennett was arrested.

Calls Officials and Civic Leaders.

Chief Justice Hopkins' call to the gun conference was sent out to the following city, state, and county officials and heads of civic organizations:

State's Attorney Crowe, Chief of Police Collins, First Assistant State's Attorney Gorman, Chief of Detectives Schoemaker, Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court, Municipal Judge Jonas of the Boys' court, Chief Justice Swanson of the Circuit court, Chief Justice Lewis of the Superior court, Judges Arnold and Mary Bartelme of the Juvenile court, Coroner Wolff, Sheriff Hoffman, Warden Westbrook of the county jail, State Senator James J. Barbour, State Representative Elmer Schnackenberg, John M. Cameron, president of the Chicago Bar association, Justus Chancellor, president of the Illinois Lawyers' association, and Henry Barrett Chamberlin, director of the Chicago crime commission.

Seek Backing for Dailey Bill.

One of the objects of the conference, it is planned, will be the appointment of a committee to go to Springfield, to urge the passage by the legislature of the Dailey deadly weapon bill, which has been passed by the senate and is now before the lower house.

Judge Hopkins announced that the conference will also consider the indeterminate sentence law, now in effect in such cases as robbery, robbery with a gun, manslaughter, and burglary.

Gunmen Prove Judge's Point.

Even as the chief justice was speaking, gunmen were proving his point that tears should be shed for the victims, not for gunmen.

Three young men held up the haberdashery of Morris Max, 515 East 47th street, and after backing Max into a corner at their gun points obtained $226.

Locking A. E. Taylor, secretary, and three employés of the Columbian Window Cleaning company, 14 North Wells street, in a supply closet, two armed bandits looted the safe of $175 and took $55 from Taylor.

Benjamin Glist, 1644 South St. Louis avenue, was held up by an armed colored man in an alley near 45th and South State streets and robbed of $15.

Stanley Reynolds, cashier of the Mutual National bank of Chicago, yesterday identified Rober "Red" Hawkins, who, the police say, is a paroled convict, as one of the men who robbed him a few weeks ago of $10,000. This is the case in which Ray Vinicky, south park policeman, is held.

Two militant gunmen yesterday held up Dan Norman, well known to the loop and who says he is an interior decorator, and E. C. Berger, as they sat in their offices at 110 North Dearborn street. Norman was robbed of $400 and Berger turned over $300. When the latter attempted to resist he was hit over the head with a gun.

Jewelry worth $1,200 and $28 in cash were obtained by two armed youthful bandits, who held up Daniel Rosenthal, cigar store manager, and his wife, Mrs. Rose Rosenthal, near their home at 3806 West Washington boulevard last night. Rosenthal handed over a diamond ring and stickpin and $20. The men took a diamond wedding ring and $8 from Mrs. Rosenthal.

Three armed men entered the shoe store of Samuel Plato, 709 East 75th street, and after robbing him of a diamond ring valued at $150 and $200, forced him into a back room and fled.

CITY'S CONTROL OF STREETS HELD TRACTION CURB

Prof. Freund Talks to Aldermen.

placing of car tracks on the street, Prof. Freund said, in replying to Ald. Arvey, who referred to the Illinois commerce commission's certificates to bus companies without the city's consent.

Ald. Nelson asked if the city, by once giving its consent in 1907, could require that consent again, or whether under the constitutional provision, the commerce commission could issue a certificate of convenience and necessity to the surface lines at the expiration of their franchise.

Doubt Over Subway Funds.

Prof. Freund, who at the outset said he had not had an opportunity to study the Barr bill, and consequently could not discuss some of the details, did not give a specific answer when Ald. Byrne asked: "What could we do with our $40,000,000 if this bill passes? If they get a permit from the state commission, will they continue to pay us and can we make them use a subway if we build one?"

Ald. Moran said he was against any compromise on any feature of the Barr bill. Arvey took him up on his statement, because it was so sweeping.

"We are in accord on home rule, but I'll venture to say not three members of this council know anything about terminable franchises," he said.

"We spent fifteen minutes listening to Gov. Dunne explaining why he did not veto the utilities bill. He had a pen in his hand and he didn't have paralysis. All he had to do was write 'I veto this bill,' and we wouldn't be here today on this question."

Believes Home Rule Safe.

William J. Hagenah, member of the recent commission that appraised the traction lines, characterized the "terminable permit" as the best solution of the traction question, with the question of home rule a subordinate one.

"There is nothing in the 'indeterminate permit' that is inconsistent with home rule," he said. "The long term franchise is unsatisfactory. It has been tried by the states that now have the 'indeterminate permit.' If the companies are unwilling to give proper service and do not correct their faults after a reasonable length of time, a competing company can be asked to come in, or the city can take over the lines.

"Whether the administration should be by home rule or a state commission is something on which we all differ, but that can be worked out around the table. If Illinois adopts the principle of the indeterminate permit, it will take a long and excellent step in the right direction."

George C. Sikes, secretary of the police pension fund, attacked the bill as dishonest and hypocritical, but declared that the terminable franchise is sound.

LORD CROWE OF BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE VERY ILL

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, April 25.—Sir Eyre Crowe, permanent undersecretary of the foreign office, is very ill and is said to be dying from an old kidney complaint intensified by overwork. Sir Eyre has been the real head of the foreign office for many years, for while the ministers come and go the permanent secretary remains.

Although the son of a German mother, and himself married to a German wife, he is regarded as chiefly responsible for the working out of the Anglo-French entente. He is also given credit for the system of filing and registering documents at the foreign office, which is regarded as one of the best in existence.

According to the seniority rule, his successor should be Sir William Tyrrell, assistant undersecretary, who has served at the American embassy and has many friends in Washington.

GIRL, 10, SLAIN ON GROUNDS OF ERIDGE CASTLE

CROWBOROUGH, England, April 25.—[United Press.]—Four days after the hanging of Norman Thorne, a local farmer, for the murder of his sweetheart, this district is puzzling over a new murder mystery.

The body of a girl, the throat cut, head battered, and hands torn, was found in the shrubbery of Eridge park, which lies around the picturesque Eridge castle.

The victim was Joan Annetts, aged 10, daughter of one of the man servants of the castle.

Bloodhounds set out on the trail of the murderer, but lost it shortly.

Eridge castle is the family seat of Lord Henry Nevill.

WILBUR ORDERS NAVAL OFFICER TO PAY ALIMONY

Threatens Action Unless He Obeys Court Writ.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—An unprecedented step in navy administration was taken today by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur when he summarily ordered Lieutenant Commander Earl P. Huff to obey a court decree ordering him to pay alimony to his wife.

In a letter from Secretary Wilbur, Lieutenant Commander Huff was notified that the department "expects of him a complete fulfillment of his obligations as to supporting his divorced wife and that further neglect would render him liable to severe disciplinary action."

Navy records disclose that Huff, contemplating divorce in 1921, made a property agreement with his wife, under the terms of which he was to pay her $145 monthly. In 1922 a final decree of divorce was granted. This decree contained an order for Huff to continue the monthly payments of $145 alimony. This Huff proceeded to do until April, 1924, when the payments suddenly ceased. It was said at the navy department that Secretary Wilbur would consider Huff's failure to pay conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

PHASES OF BARR BILL FOUND IN WISCONSIN LAW

Terminable Permits Are Recognized, Not Used.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Madison, Wis., April 25.—[Special.]—The so-called "terminable permit" system for public utilities has had its longest run and its widest experience in this state, although originating in Massachusetts.

The backers of the Barr bill, pending in the Illinois legislature which would allow all utility corporations to obtain "terminable permits" from the Illinois commerce commission, point to Wisconsin as the state where the "fullest development of the idea has been achieved." So inquiry has been made of the Wisconsin railroad commission of the practice, its effects, and the benefits resulting from the system:

The "terminable permit" in Wisconsin, which has the name of "indeterminate permit," is not terminable, except by the purchase of the utility by a municipality.

Can't Terminate Permit.

There is no provision in the law which permits the state commission to terminate a permit for cause. Legal authority has been conferred upon the commission to make trouble for an objectionable utility, in that the commission may grant a permit to a competing utility in the same territory. That is an expensive method of putting the utility out of business and the costs would largely fall on the public.

No attempt has been made to use this authority in the eighteen years which the law has been in effect.

In this respect the Barr bill appears to be superior to the Wisconsin system because the Illinois senator provides that his proposed terminable permits shall be canceled for cause prescribed by statute. No explanation has been given of what will constitute sufficient cause for terminating a franchise.

Badger Law More Lucid.

On termination by municipal purchase the Wisconsin law is much more understandable to the layman than the Barr bill. The exact method is prescribed by which a municipality may take over a utility, while in the Barr bill there is only the statement that a city may purchase.

When a city in Wisconsin wishes to terminate a permit by purchase the question is submitted to the electorate and notice of the city's intention is filed with the state railroad board, which corresponds to the Illinois commerce commmission in powers and duties.

The Wisconsin commission must then make a valuation of the property and has authority to stipulate any reasonable conditions which it thinks would serve public interests. The utility has already agreed to accept that valuation in its application for an indeterminate permit.

Some Pay Higher Price.

Sundry utilities have been acquired and the valuation fixed by the commission has been sustained by the courts in each contest, with possibly one exception. In that case the city reconsidered its desire to purchase.

In Wisconsin there have been many private water companies and the extension in municipalization has been more in water plants than in other utilities.

Had to Buy Plant.

No street railway having an indeterminate permit has been taken over by any Wisconsin city. Only one gas plant has been so acquired, and that is given no emphasis around the state capital. This plant was at Fort Atkinson, a city of about 5,000 inhabitants. The company operating could not continue in business and the citizens of the place were compelled to take over the plant if they wished continuance of gas service.

No telephone company has been acquired by a city. Apparently there has been so little agitation for such municipalization that the legislature has not even passed a law permitting city ownership.

Several electric light and power companies have transferred their plants to communities in which located. The valuations in each of these cases have been fixed by the state commission. The largest buyer is the city of Manitowoc, of about 18,000 population. This city is looked upon as socialistic because it has had a socialist mayor.

Other city purchases of electric light and power plants are not interpreted as a trend of much strength toward municipal ownership. There is apparently no disposition to interfere with private companies operating under the "indeterminate permit."

Many Rates Higher.

Probably public opinion has been influenced considerably by the experience with water plants. The rates under municipal operation are higher in many localities than when under private control.

There have been two principal reasons for increases in rates. Wages contributed one. The other was the condition of the private water plants, in sundry instances, when taken over by the city. Extensive overhauling and improvements were necessary and the added investment forced the rates up.

On the other hand the impression is general that the service supplied by the city has been much better in nearly every case. Oshkosk and Appleton have installed meters and are reported to be operating on a business basis.

City Would Sell Plant.

Then, too, the public has been watching municipal operation in the smaller communities which have undertaken the task with electric plants. Prairie, a village of about 1,300 people, is now attempting to sell its publicly owned plant to a private company. Bidders are not fighting for the opportunity.

To be sure, there are complaints against state regulation of public utilities, but none has been found who remembers any serious attempt to re

hreatens Action Unless He Obeys Court Writ.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Spe al.]—An unprecedented step in navy ministration was taken today by cretary of the Navy Wilbur when summarily ordered Lieutenant mmander Earl P. Huff to obey a urt decree ordering him to pay ali ony to his wife.

In a letter from Secretary Wilbur, eutenant Commander Huff was no ied that the department "expected him a complete fulfillment of his ligations as to supporting his di rced wife and that further neglect ould render him liable to severe sciplinary action."

Navy records disclose that Huff, ntemplating divorce in 1921, made a operty agreement with his wife, un r the terms of which he was to pay r $145 monthly. In 1922 a final de ee of divorce was granted. This cree contained an order for Huff to ntinue the monthly payments of 45 alimony. This Huff proceeded to until April, 1924, when the pay ents suddenly ceased. It was said the navy department that Secre ry Wilbur would consider Huff's ilure to pay conduct unbecoming an ficer and a gentleman.

PHASES OF BARR BILL FOUND IN WISCONSIN LAW

Terminable Permits Are Recognized, Not Used.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Madison, Wis., April 25.—[Special.] The so-called "terminable permit" system for public utilities has had its longest run and its widest experience in this state, although originating in Massachusetts.

The backers of the Barr bill, pending in the Illinois legislature which would allow all utility corporations to obtain "terminable permits" from the Illinois commerce commission, point to Wisconsin as the state where the "fullest development of the idea has been achieved." So inquiry has been made of the Wisconsin railroad commission of the practice, its effects, and the benefits resulting from the system.

The "terminable permit" in Wisconsin, which has the name of "indeterminate permit," is not terminable, except by the purchase of the utility by a municipality.

Can't Terminate Permit.

There is no provision in the law which permits the state commission to terminate a permit for cause. Legal authority has been conferred upon the commission to make trouble for an objectionable utility, in that the commission may grant a permit to a competing utility in the same territory. That is an expensive method of putting the utility out of business and the costs would largely fall on the public.

No attempt has been made to use this authority in the eighteen years which the law has been in effect.

In this respect the Barr bill appears to be superior to the Wisconsin system, because the Illinois senator provides that his proposed terminable permits shall be canceled for cause prescribed by statute. No explanation has been given of what will constitute sufficient cause for terminating a franchise.

Badger Law More Lucid.

As to termination by municipal purchase the Wisconsin law is much more understandable to the layman than the Barr bill. The exact method is prescribed by which a municipality may take over a utility, while in the Barr bill there is only the statement that a city may purchase.

When a city in Wisconsin wishes to terminate a permit by purchase the question is submitted to the electorate and notice of the city's intention is filed with the state railroad board, which corresponds to the Illinois commerce commission in powers and duties.

The Wisconsin commission must then make a valuation of the property and has authority to stipulate any reasonable conditions which it thinks would serve public interests. The utility has already agreed to accept that valuation in its application for an indeterminate permit.

Cities Pay Higher Price.

Sundry utilities have been acquired at the valuation fixed by the commission, which has been sustained by the courts without contest, with possibly one exception. In that case the city reconsidered its desire to purchase.

In Wisconsin there have been many private water companies and the experience in municipalization has been more in water plants than in other utilities.

Had to Buy Plant.

No street railway having an indeterminate permit has been taken over by any Wisconsin city. Only one gas plant has been so acquired, and that [illegible] no emphasis around the state [illegible]. This plant was at Fort Atkinson, a city of about 5,000 inhabitants. The company operating it would not continue in business and the citizens of the place were compelled to take over the plant if they wished continuance of gas service.

No telephone company has been acquired by a city. Apparently there has been so little agitation for such municipalization that the legislature has not even passed a law permitting city ownership.

Several electric light and power companies have transferred their plants to the communities in which located. The valuations in each of these cases has been fixed by the state commission. The largest buyer is the city of Manitowoc, of about 18,000 population. This city is looked upon as socialistic because it has had a socialist mayor.

Other city purchases of electric light and power plants are not interpreted as a trend of much strength towards municipal ownership. There is apparently no disposition to interfere with private companies operating under the "indeterminate permit."

Many Rates Higher.

Probably public opinion has been influenced considerably by the experience with water plants. The rates under municipal operation are higher in many localities than when under private control.

There have been two principal reasons for increases in rates. War costs contributed one. The other was the condition of the private water plant, in sundry instances, when taken over by the city. Extensive overhauling and improvements were necessary and the added investment forced the rates up.

On the other hand the impression is general that the service supplied by the city has been much better in nearly every case. Oshkosh and Appleton have installed meters and are said to be operating on a business basis.

City Would Sell Plant.

Then, too, the public has been watching municipal operation in the smaller communities which have undertaken the task with electric plants. [illegible] Prairie, a village of about 1,300 people, is now attempting to sell its publicly owned plant to a private company. Bidders are not fighting for the opportunity.

To be sure, there are complaints against state regulation of public utilities, but none has been found who favors any serious attempt to repeal the "indeterminate permit" part of the state law. Several efforts have been made to eliminate state regulation.

One attack is now being made in the so-called Armstrong bill, but the fire has been centered on state regulation of service and rates rather than right to grant franchises for indeterminate periods. In fact, a stranger gets the impression that those who urge home rule in Wisconsin desire that local authorities shall be given the power to handle indeterminate permits.

No Attack on Entire Law.

Another straw, which probably indicates public opinion, lies in the failure to date to make an attack upon the law as a whole.

The conditions in Wisconsin are different from those in Illinois. The entire population of the state is about equal to that of Chicago; Milwaukee, the largest city, was credited with a population of 457,147. Kenosha, Racine, and Superior are the other three cities with 40,000 inhabitants, and the largest, Racine, has less than 60,000. There are seventeen cities with between 40,000 and 10,000 inhabitants.

Probably the largest amount of complaint against the state commission comes from Milwaukee; but its protests do not appear to be so consistent and persistent as those of Chicago against the Illinois commerce commission.

TEST OUT NEW FLYING FIELD

A number of airplane pilots of local fame attended the dedicatory services held yesterday for a new flying field at Grace street and the lake. The land was donated for the flying field by the Lincoln park commissioners. Fifteen planes landed on the field yesterday.

FLYERS APPROVE LANDING FIELD ON NORTH SHORE

Test It and Only Await Public's Action.

Demonstrations were given yesterday to show the feasibility of the use of the strip of made land east of Sheridan road off Grace street as an airplane landing field. The occasion really marked the establishment of Chicago's first public airplane landing field.

Eight airplanes landed there, took off, landed again, went visiting, and furnished a pleasurable and interesting afternoon to several hundred persons. The pilots satisfied themselves and every one else present that the spot is ideal.

Awaits Official Action.

Harry Klatzco, superintendent of Lincoln park, said sufficient proof had been given and that all that is now needed to make this field a recognized and legal airport is action either by the park board, of which Eugene R. Pike is president, or by the legislature. Mr. Klatzco predicted the necessary authorization soon would be forthcoming.

Capt. J. W. Dissette, formerly of the army air service in France, and G. M. Dunlap of the American Flying Yacht company, were in charge of yesterday's demonstration and enthusiastic over the prospect of creating the first field of its kind in Chicago. Mr. Dunlap, who has been an air pilot for fifteen years, said it was a big step in Chicago's progress.

"People from 400 or 500 miles surrounding Chicago can fly in here, park at the Lincoln park field, go downtown shopping and be back home in a few hours," he declared.

"Here we are, less than twenty minutes from the business district."

Standard Landing Field.

The present boundaries of the field are 4,190x2,100 feet. It is described as a standard field. Edward La Parle, the first pilot to land yesterday, said he could see the guiding cross and circle from Evanston.

Two naval hydroplanes landed in Belmont Harbor, a few hundred feet away, and joined in the celebration, for that is just what the occasion was. The commercial aviators were hailing the event as a big step forward for aviation in Chicago. W. A. Yackey, manufacturer of the Yackey plane and owner of Checkerboard field, was present with his own plane to boost for what every flying man wants, a landing place near the heart of Chicago.

WRECK DELAYS SUBURBAN TRAINS.

North shore suburban trains on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad were delayed more than an hour yesterday morning when two freight trains collided near Mayfair.

NEW MAIL PLANE MAY BRING SCENT OF OLD VINTAGE

Mineola, N. Y., April 25.—Miss Anne Morgan, sister of J. P. Morgan, today christened with a bottle of what was said to be pre-war champagne, the new air mail plane, which is to be used for the night mail route between New York and Chicago.

Haynes, Dry Chief, Silent.

Washington, April 25.—Reported use of real champagne in the christening of the new air mail plane today at Mineola, N. Y., revived a custom abandoned with the advent of the Volstead law.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes said today he did not care to comment on the Mineola ceremony.

Parnell Egan Named Head of Irish Society

Parnell Egan yesterday was elected president of the Irish Fellowship club at the annual meeting in the Morrison hotel. Former Congressman Thomas Gallagher was made vice president, Dr. Alexander Pope, second vice president; Kevin Kelly, secretary and treasurer, and L. M. Somers, historian.

These Legislators Violated Their Oaths in Voting Against Redistricting State

Section 6, article 4, of the Illinois constitution says:

"The general assembly shall apportion the state every ten years, beginning with the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one (1871), by dividing the population of the state, as ascertained by the federal census, by the number fifty-one, and the quotient shall be the ratio of representation in the senate. The state shall be divided into fifty-one senatorial districts, each of which shall elect one senator, whose term of office shall be four years. . . . Senatorial districts shall be formed of contiguous and compact territory, bounded by county lines, and contain, as nearly as practicable, an equal number of inhabitants; but no district shall contain less than four-fifths of the senatorial ratio. Counties containing not less than the ratio of three-fourths may be divided into separate districts, and shall be entitled to two senators and to one additional senator for each number of inhabitants equal to the ratio contained by such counties in excess of twice the number of said ratio."

Oath of Legislators.

The legislators took the following oath:

Oath of members of the general assembly taken before entering upon their official duties:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of Illinois, and will faithfully discharge the duties of senator (or representative) according to the best of my ability; and that I have not knowingly or intentionally paid or contributed anything, or made any promise in the nature of a bribe, to directly or indirectly influence any vote at the election at which I was chosen to fill the said office, and have not accepted, nor will I accept or receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing from any corporation, company, or person for any vote or influence I may give or withhold on any bill, resolution, or appropriation, or for any other official act."

The same section of the constitution prescribing this oath says:

"Any member who shall refuse to take the oath herein prescribed shall forfeit his office, and every member who shall be convicted of having sworn falsely to or of violating his said oath shall forfeit his office and be disqualified thereafter from holding any office of profit or trust in this state."

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—Transcontinental air mail service between New York and San Francisco is to be shortened from thirty-one hours and thirty-five minutes to twenty-eight hours and fifty minutes by order of Postmaster General New today, and mail dispatch from southern California to the east is to be advanced one full day. The new schedule will be effective May 1. Are you living only half a life?

SOME folks live only in yesterday.
Others only in today.
Both are wrong.

An interesting life is a full life. And interesting people—which means the commercially and socially successful—live that kind of lives.

Nobody ever progressed very far who concerned himself only with the topics of the day.

And the fellow who buries himself strictly in the musty archives of the past usually stands still while life passes him by.

The object of the Brunswick Radiola is to supply yesterday, today and tomorrow continually, interestingly, wonderfully.

Turn a lever, and here are the topics, events and music of the day brought magically through the spaces of the night.

Turn it again, and you have the great music of yesterday and today, current musical achievements of the opera, the old songs your heart calls for, that "steppy" dance piece everyone is whistling, played as only a Brunswick Phonograph can play them.

Combined by the leader in radio, The Radio Corporation of America, with Brunswick, leader in music, as a scientific unit, the world offers no comparable instrument to the Brunswick Radiola—musically, educationally, mechanically, or in simplicity of operation.

It combines the beauty of Brunswick Cabinet design and tonal quality with super-sensitive radio reception, assuring amazing distance, tone clarity and selectivity. All apparatus is concealed—half the space, no wet batteries, no outside wires, no exposed horn.

Come, see it. Prices start at $170. Which is very little. Terms of payment are uniquely liberal.

INSULL TELLS HOW HE CURED PEOPLES GAS ILLS

Gave Employes Big Thrill of Enthusiasm.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

SAMUEL INSULL.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

The inside story of the rejuvenation of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company was extracted yesterday from Samuel Insull, head of public utilities dispensing electric light and power, gas, "L" rides, and interurban rapid transit.

Six years ago the gas company was moribund. It was in bad with the public for wretched service. It was a favorite football for the politicians. It had no credit with the banks and no standing with investors. All it needed was a tombstone. Its stock was selling around $30.

With one foot in the grave the company called in Mr. Insull, a well known doctor for sick public utility corporations. Since then the shareholders' list has doubled, the service has improved, the public grouch has taken wings, the volume of gas sold has increased 50 per cent. And the stock yesterday was selling for $114 a share.

Story of the Recovery.

In his office yesterday Dr. Insull recounted the story of the remedy and the recovery.

"When I became president of the gas company in March, 1919," said Mr. Insull, "I found the organization shot to pieces, the result of the war. There had been a tremendous turnover, especially in the clerical end.

"The gas company's income above expenses was growing less and less, due to increases in prices and costs. The officials naturally did not feel like putting up wages to keep pace with other industries, for the reason they simply couldn't, and the result was other industries kept draining our forces away.

Found Workers' Morale Poor.

"The situation was so desperate that in the spring of 1919 it was thought advisable I take the presidency. Prior to that I had been chairman of the board and had not had charge of the details of the company. When I came in I found I not only had to face the general discredit the company had with the 700,000 subscribers and the public generally but the organization was so demoralized that from top to bottom those inside the organization hadn't much more belief in it than the public had.

"My first job was to sell the Peoples' Gas Light and Coke company to the rank and file of the organziation that operated the company. In my judgment that was the hardest task I had to perform.

"I brought two men over here with me from the Edison building. One was my secretary, George F. Mitchell, now vice president in charge of finances of the Peoples' company. He was made assistant to the president. The other was Charles A. Munroe, who was vice president of the Public Service company of Northern Illinois. He was made vice president of the gas company and occupied that place until he left last year to engage in his own affairs.

Started by Winning Employés.

"Then I started out to capture the organization of the company and to enthuse them with the same belief in the company that I had myself. I knew it wasn't much use to cultivate the public and woo its confidence until I had won the confidence of the employés.

"How did I start at this, you ask? Well, I called a meeting of the officials of the organization. I went a good deal further down the line than one ordinarily does in talking of leading officials. I got thirty or forty men and women in my room quite frequently and worked to get them enthused first, and through them to pass enthusiasm on down the line.

"It was not long before the tide began to turn. The people inside the organization who had doubts as to whether the old company could be pulled through began to get confidence. Soon they were working with enthusiasm to endeavor to rectify the complaints, many of which the public had a real right to make against us.

Aid from Technical Staff.

"We received much assistance from the technical staff of the state commerce commission, of which A. S. B. Little was chief gas engineer at the time. The commission had so little belief in our good intentions that they put some people here to keep close watch.

"One of my peculiar experiences at that time was the fact that at the corner of Clark and Adams streets, as president of the Edison company, everybody believed me, but at the corner of Michigan and Adams, as president of the gas company, nobody believed me. The difference was most amusing to me at a time when I needed some amusement.

"After getting the organization enthused the job of improving the work of departments, of persuading our people to assume in their dealings with the public that complaints of citizens should be considered as fully justified when made, and that the job of the gas company—as of any other public utility—is to satisfy the public, all these things began to come easy.

Took Company Off Front Page.

"I had behind me a crowd of fellows who believed in the business and in me. I knew it was only a question of time when we would get the public to believe in our business and in us. And it wasn't so very long, although five years ago it seemed long enough, before the Peoples Gas company ceased to be a topliner on the front page.

"The human side of things is by far the most important side in public utilities, as in any other great business. To get it straightened out was my greatest problem and worry. Of course, there were other problems, financial. Our gas at that time was produced from oil, except a small amount we bought from the By-Products Coke company, and oil was high in price.

"The financial problem was how to get away from the use of so much oil. A veritable Moses showed us the promised land—Mr. H. B. Rust, president of the Koppers company of Pittsburgh. He proposed to build us a by-products coke oven plant and to finance it themselves, a contract to be made, the result of which over a period of years will be that we will own the plant.

Backed by Secretary Mellon.

"The present secretary of the treasury, Mr. Andrew Mellon, and his brother were largely interested in the Koppers company and backed it to the limit on the undertaking. And the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company was thus fortunate enough to get the use of a plant costing $17,000,000 at a time when any bank in Chicago would have looked askance at loaning the Peoples Gas company $100,000. In addition to the building of this plant, our rates were increased by the Illinois commerce commission, following the general upward movement of rates everywhere, in that period.

"That about tells the story. To sum it up, it was necessary to enthuse the organization. That once done, the rest was to my mind an easy job. I would have failed if I could not have enthused my own organization."

84 SPELLERS FAIL ON "PHTHISIC," WHATEVER 'TIS

"Phthisic" proved to be the worst stumbling block for eighty-four champion spellers of Cook county schools in their annual spelling bee held yesterday in the offices of County Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Tobin. Roberta Marie Hayes, 13, an eighth grade pupil of the Lowell-Longfellow school, Harvey, won the contest. She spelled seventy-four words correctly in a list of seventy-five.

Walter J. Hartman, 13, St. John's Lutheran school of Forest Park, received second honors, spelling seventy-three words correctly. Elmer Golterman, 14, a pupil of the same school, was third.

All of the winners spelled fifty words correctly. An additional list of twenty-five, selected from Chicago daily papers, was then given. Each school in the county was represented by three contestants. Banners were awarded the schools represented by the prize winners and medals were awarded the victors themselves.

COUNTY TAXING BODIES SPONSOR NEW SALE BILL

Will Safeguard Titles and Aid Collections, Report.

County Treasurer P. J. Carr, his first assistant, Jacob Lindheimer, and representatives of many of the 397 taxing bodies in Cook county plan to go to Springfield Tuesday to appear before the state senate revenue committee in support of a bill revising the laws governing the sale of real estate for delinquent taxes and special assessments.

Delinquent real estate taxes in Cook county now total almost $7,000,000, Mr. Lindheimer said. The proposed law, he asserted, will benefit all the taxing bodies, safeguard and help taxpayers, and at the same time give tax buyers better titles to real estate they buy on tax sales.

Points to Advantages.

"The proposed law, if passed, will at the next sale of taxes some time after Aug. 1 make it possible for the county treasurer to pay over immediately to the various taxing bodies in Cook county their pro rata share of all this huge amount of taxes," he explained. "After this year all the taxes will be paid over to all the taxing bodies in full, thus making it possible for them to make their appropriations, knowing that all of their real estate taxes accruing to them will be collected.

"Under present laws any person may acquire title to vacant real estate by payment of seven years' taxes, under claim of title, without giving notice to owners or parties interested and without paying back taxes thereon.

"The proposed law requires the lump purchaser to pay five years' taxes under his purchase and all back taxes on the land and to give personal notice to all occupants and notice by publication to everybody before he can secure a deed.

Seeks Better Titles.

"The proposed bill seeks to give the lump purchaser a better title than present tax buyers obtain, and for this one advantage to the lump purchaser he is required to buy all delinquent lands offered for sale, the good with the bad, for an amount at least sufficient to pay all taxes and special assessments. Furthermore, in the interest of owners and parties interested in lands, the lump purchaser is permitted to charge, on redemption, only one-half the rate of interest the present buyers are allowed."

The bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Roos [Rep., Forest Park] and in the house by Representative Church [Rep., Evanston].

ARREST GIRL DRAMA STUDENT FOR BAD CHECK

Miss Mae Feltman, high school graduate, 20 years old, a dramatic art student, and daughter of a north side business man, was arrested yesterday on a charge of having forged a check for $86.

Miss Feltman is the daughter of C. H. Feltman, 7723 Sheridan road, the owner of several gasoline filling stations. Her mother and sister, Beatrice, went to the girl when they learned of her arrest.

A paying teller at the Continental and Commercial bank became suspicious when Miss Feltman attempted to cash the $86 check there yesterday. It bore the forged signature of Irwin Mattes, owner of a lingerie shop at 30 North Michigan boulevard, and was made out to herself.

Detectives found a warrant for her arrest on a similar charge had been made out a week ago, in connection with the passing of a check for $73 which bore the forged signature of William Gamble, owner of a lingerie shop at 67 East Van Buren street.

FIGHT SOCIALIST EFFORT TO CUT SWEDISH ARMY

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 25.—The Socialist attempt to reduce the size of the Swedish army is meeting with strong opposition and every day deputations are coming to Stockholm from all over the country to implore the government not to abolish the old regiments which have played a glorious part in Swedish history.

The commission of national defense, which is discussing reduction of the army, assembled here yesterday. The chairman of the body is Mr. Ekman, leader of the prohibitionist party, and if the Socialists refuse to accept his demands on the liquor issue it is almost certain that their army requests will be thrown over.

The Socialists demand that two of the six army corps be abolished, but the communists are said to be recommending four. The peasants and liberals are attempting to solve the matter by reducing the strength of the battalions, keeping all the infantry regiments.

CRIME AND PROHIBITION

We reprint on this page part of an interesting editorial of our neighbor, the Daily Gazette of Sterling, not only because the Gazette's opinions on public questions are worthy of respectful consideration but also because in this case its thought is representative of prohibition reasoning and criticism.

The Gazette, like other dry critics of THE TRIBUNE, finds a puzzling inconsistency in the attitude of THE TRIBUNE towards law enforcement as to crimes of violence and law enforcement as to offenses against the dry laws. Our critics usually ascribe this alleged inconsistentcy to moral turpitude; the Gazette, we infer, to want of intelligent consideration, for which leniency we are obliged to our contemporary. But as we are more interested in the subject of crime and of sumptuary legislation than in the motives ascribed to us by those who differ from us, the Gazette will permit us to discuss the argument of its editorial without prejudice.

To begin with, and with all due respect, it seems to us that its argument ignores the facts of the situation dealt with. Munding was alleged to be full of illegal booze when he killed. The Gazette's assumption is that if prohibition were operative, he would not have killed. That may or may not be true, but the fact remains that he had the booze and that fact is but a part of the larger fact that since authentic booze was prohibited moonshine booze has prevailed, and there have been more crimes of violence than ever before in our history.

The Gazette says that prohibition is a last resort of society to prevent these drunken Munding murders, an effort legally to destroy the liquor business. Well, it seems to us pretty clear after some years of trial that the resort is a worse than futile resort, which has not prevented crime but has increased it.

The trouble with the Gazette's reasoning, if we may say so in good feeling, is that it is so preoccupied with the evils of booze and with the prohibition theory that it is not directed at a fair examination of the situation, but only at proving that liquor is an evil and prohibition the cure for it. Thus the actual effects of the effort to enforce teetotalism by law, notorious and disastrous as they are showing themselves to be, are ignored and the real factors of the problem of law enforcement are not realized.

For example, the Gazette, like all the drys, ignores the distinction between a law against murder and a law against drinking an alcoholic beverage. Yet that distinction is vital to an understanding of law enforcement. The law against murder has the unanimous sanction of all normal people in all the civilized world. It is a law as old as civilized society. The law against the use of alcohol is opposed in principle and judgment of expediency by a very large minority, if in fact it is a minority, of the American people. It is an extreme effort at discipline over private conduct not attempted by any other nation, except the Turks, who do not obey theirs.

To place these two laws in the same category is to misconceive the nature of law and government.

This distinction is absolutely controlling in the problem of law enforcement, and it involves the practical question of how such means and agencies of enforcement as the nation can maintain are to be employed. The Gazette has a right to its opinion on this subject, but we do not see why it should find anything inconsistent or mysterious in THE TRIBUNE's conviction and contention that the laws against murder and other violence should have the prior claim upon the enforcement agencies of government, and while violent crime is as rampant as it is in America, these agencies should not be diffused and distracted in attempts to enforce social regulations which the disapproval and resistance of a large number of citizens of all classes make to a great extent unenforceable. This seems to us common sense, supported by the obvious course of events since the unfortunate experiment of law imposed teetotalism began.

The theory that crime can be abolished by the enforcement of the dry laws has no basis in experience and is impractical because the dry laws cannot be enforced successfully as this theory assumes. They cannot be enforced as demanded because there is no such support for them in the common judgment or conscience as general effectual enforcement requires. But the laws against murder and other violence have such support and can be enforced with a reasonable measure of success if the available agencies of enforcement are directed to that end. It is far more important that they should be enforced and they can be. But the mistaken effort to impose teetotalism on millions of free and [illegible] men and harrassing the agencies of enforcement in the fulfillment of their most important duty but is breeding resentment against the government.

THE PROBLEM OF EUROPEAN DISARMAMENT.

No great industrial people such as the Germans can be disarmed or can disarm themselves, in the full sense of disarmament, without dismantling its huge industrial plant and sending away its army of scientists, engineers, and organizers. Armament in our day is not a question finally or principally of a professional military establishment. Great industries that can turn out locomotives, structural steel, agricultural implements, dyes, textiles, etc., can turn out also artillery, ammunition, and airplanes, uniforms, and military chemicals. It is impossible to destroy German civilian industry and science, and yet these are the groundwork of modern military power.

Why, says the American pacifist, cannot France and the other powers undertake to disarm upon the condition that Germany disarm? The answer is that they cannot afford to disarm because Germany, for the reason we have given above, is not disarmed and cannot disarm.

Armament is not merely a matter of reducing armies numerically and destroying war material. Nor is war created by armament, though the pacifist, standing on his head, sees the problem that way. Nations arm for war because they cherish some things more than peace. They have interests or objects they think are worth arming to advance or defend.

The great war did not change this, much less the treaties signed at Paris. Of the issues between France and Germany it is said that Germany has no great desire to recover Alsace-Lorraine and might enter into a durable agreement with France as to the western frontier. This may be too optimistic a view, but we think it plausible. But France is interested in trying to maintain a countercheck to German power by a system of alliances in Central Europe, chiefly with Poland. Can Germany and Poland agree over the disposition of Silesia and the Danzig corridor? One would have to be extremely optimistic to hope much for that.

We cannot see that the law of cause and effect is working toward sweeping disarmament or peace in Europe. The restoration of German power is, it seems to us, inevitable because its elements are inherent in the German people, their numbers, character, and civilization. In the face of that restoration, France must retain her fears for her security and prestige, and, in obedience to these fears, she cannot be expected to gamble any more than she must with fate or relax any more than she must her efforts to maintain her security and influence. It it easy for us, theorizing in the security and prosperity of America, to prescribe for Germany and France the will to peace, but we ourselves have found that there were things we cared for more than peace, and to protect or obtain them we have accepted the alternative, however abhorrent to us, of war.

Perhaps a plausible hope of stability may be found in the possibility of the development of a balance of power. That is a device which Mr. Wilson and other theorists on international peace have belabored and held up to undeserved contempt. It does not insure a perpetual peace, because it cannot insure its own perpetuity. But while it lasts—that is, while governments and peoples believe that it exists—it does insure peace. It is an unsatisfactory condition. It has nothing to do with abstract justice or even with possible considerations of general expediency. It is dangerous in damming up forces and permitting them to accumulate so that when the condition of stability is broken the damage is likely to be on a vast scale. But faulty as it is, it may be the best compromise obtainable until altruism gains greater sway over men and nations or intelligent self interest prefers peace and accommodation to any adjudication of force.

REFERENDUM BUNK.

John Fitzpatrick and a committee of his federation is at Springfield to see that any traction legislation that may pass shall have a referendum clause attached.

Then John, Margaret, and company will come out against it.

That seems the working of the referendum in our traction muddle. The men the voters think well enough of to elect to office work out a plan after months of study, expert advice, and discussion. It is referred to the voters by their representatives and the voters refuse it because they do not understand it and are told that it is full of mysterious evil. They go on the principle of "When in doubt, don't." But in this case it is an expensive principle to them and the city.

In this case, or in any such case involving a question of special knowledge or complicated factors of finance, engineering, and transportation, a referendum is nonsense, and costly nonsense. It would be as sensible to hold a referendum on whether a medical diagnosis is correct or not.

The referendum is a good thing for the professional obstructionist. It is a good thing for the politician who will make vague charges and inflame prejudices. But it is bad for any community with big things to do. It is assumed to be a check upon dishonesty and betrayal, but it is no check upon the dishonesty of those who find their interest in obstructing action. For such it is an invaluable aid. It may prevent the elected representatives of the people from betraying them, but it does not prevent the demagogue and the unscrupulous obstructionist from betraying them.

MOTORS VS. RAILWAYS.

Motor transportation is cutting into the earnings of most of the railway lines in England so seriously that new agitation in favor of nationalization of the lines is developing. This must interest American railroad executives, railroad employes, and railroad security holders.

We have a similar problem here. Probably it is more serious in England because the territory involved is much more congested, and the hauls correspondingly shorter, with consequent advantages to motor competition. But American railroads are nevertheless suffering to some extent from automobile competition, and we may find some profit in studying the situation in England.

One railroad line in California several years ago found its passenger traffic between San Francisco and Los Angeles, a distance of about 500 miles, so seriously reduced by the competition of fast bus lines over the state highways that it finally bought the controlling interest in the bus company. Local shippers around almost every market center in the country have noticed a steady increase in the number of motor trucks carrying milk, vegetables, and even stock, which formerly were shipped entirely by rail. Suburban passenger trains may be carrying as many commuters as formerly, but if so it is only because more persons are living in the suburbs. Certainly thousands of persons who otherwise would be riding the trains [illegible] flat in Indianapolis to a flat in Chicago, or even from a flat in Chicago to a home in Detroit with a motor van today almost as easily as one would move from 48th street to Pratt boulevard. And they are doing it. The railroads are losing that business.

Probably as roads and motors continue to be improved they will lose more. It is a problem which is likely to affect earnings, security values, and employment.

The English railways are meeting, or attempting to meet, the problems in various ways. It is through study of their methods that we may take some profit. So far those methods have been chiefly toward the reduction of expenses to offset the reduced business and revenue. They are reducing train crews and clerical staffs. They are negotiating with trades unions to submit to wage cuts, or to remove some jurisdictional restrictions which increase expenses and reduce production. Later on, as the problem grows even more complex and serious, they may alter rates to meet it, or remove trains, or consolidate services, as necessity may require.

We in America have not yet reached the point of doing any of those things. But we are approaching a point where we may have to do so. It will be well if executives, workers, and security holders alike give the subject consideration, and adjust themselves in so far as possible to changes which seem likely to become inevitable.

THE COMMUTER'S TICKET.

Skyland, N. C. Perfumes of wisteria blossoms in the morning with royal yellow and black bumble bees zooming in and out of them. Summer temperature. The Smoky and Blue Ridge ranges in a blue haze. Pisgah and the Rat behind the haze.

Dogwood in blossom, azaleas in bud, Indian pinks on the sides of the foothills, the valley of the French Broad full of redbud. Red maples ruddy in the sunlight with winged seeds about to fly. Wild crabs in full blossom.

Brown thrashers singing in the oak tops, Bob White under the white pine, yellow hammers skiriting, a cardinal in an elm calling to his mate in the chestnuts of the hill. Song sparrows in the wisteria, the mulberries in blossom, banks purple with violets, trilliums following spring as it walks up the mountain side from the valley.

Summer warmth increasing as the day gets on. The mists on the encircling ranges deepening into dark clouds. Thunder behind the hill, over which comes the rain. Evening clears. The spears and banners and golden armor of the sun find the western pass and purple spreads where the host descended. Overhead the lights of the citadels of the night. The whippoorwill is calling and the yelps of hunting dogs are back in the hills.

REGISTER YOUR BONDS.

Young Mr. Fernekes, the police say, had completed a plan for bank robbery in the grand manner. He was not going to waste his time robbing an outlying bank where he could scarcely hope to get more than $25,000. He proposed to lead his band into the loop, capture one of the big banks, fill the air with poison fumes and rob the place at his gas-masked leisure. He would take what money happened to be lying around, smash and burn his way into the safety deposit vaults where private individuals keep their securities and jewels and escape with millions in his motor car. He was going to use smoke bombs to hide his escape should the police pursue.

It sounds fantastic, but this is the community where fantastic crimes are constantly occurring. The plot is scarcely less fantastic than the cold fact that Fernekes, the man charged with four murders, was captured while studying chemistry in the cool, academic atmosphere of the Crerar library. In the face of the growing lawlessness in this community investors, great and small, may well turn to the problem of finding further safeguards for their property. The right to own is fundamental to our society and an attack upon it is a blow at the structure of society.

Fortunately, a door is open to holders of bonds if they wish to use it. Almost all bonds of $500 and more may be registered with the government or corporation which issues them. Many bonds of the smaller denominations, including most federal, state and city securities, may also be registered. When a bond is registered, the corporation issuing it records in its books the name of the owner. Then, if the bond is stolen, the owner has lost nothing. The paper cannot be sold. Some bonds are registerable as to principal and interest and others merely as to principal. When they are registered as to interest, the owner is not troubled even to clip coupons, for he receives the amount of his interest by check.

The objection to registration from the point of view of the business man who wishes his capital in as liquid a form as possible is the delay which may arise in obtaining a loan with a registered bond as collateral or in selling it. In either event, some time may be lost in establishing the owner's identity. That objection scarcely applies to great numbers of investors for whom registration furnishes an ideal safeguard. Your bank will take care of the details.

The Other Side

IMPOSSIBLE TO UNDERSTAND.

[Sterling (Ill.) Gazette.]

Elsewhere in this issue appears an editorial from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE under the caption, "The Doctrine of Criminal Irresponsibility." It is a classic. It should be read and approved by everybody who believes men are so constituted certain rules of conduct are necessary, not only for the control of individual action, but for the security and perpetuity of the state. Darrow's pleas for his murdering clients spell anarchy if accepted by the public. This editorial is commended to your consideration. It speaks the language not only of necessary and essential government—but the language of good government. The thing that it is impossible for so many TRIBUNE readers to understand, is how an editorial mind, grasping right principles so firmly in this editorial, can slip to the lower level at other times of defending the violation, and practically advocating general rebellion against such prohibition laws as have been adopted to protect society from such drunken murders as that committed by Munding.

Munding was drunk—on illegal booze—without doubt. He murdered his paramour in a drunken, jealous frenzy. Anything short of hanging was too good for him. With this application of THE TRIBUNE's philosophy most readers will heartily agree. But how can an editorial writer, hitting so sweetly on all eight, possibly the very next day write a screed of the coarsest sarcasm against the only movement so far deemed practical—a last resort of society to prevent these drunken Munding type of murders—the effort to legally destroy the liquor business, which is admittedly responsible for so many of the crimes of the day. That is an inconsistency in THE TRIBUNE editorial policy that it is impossible to understand.

SCAR CAN BE REMOVED.

E. Z. C. writes: I am writing this in behalf of a friend of mine who happens to be so unfortunate as to have a large, ugly scar on the side of his face. He is such a splendid fellow that I think it is a shame that something cannot be done for him in the way of removing that scar and thereby bringing him some happiness. He is a young man and takes this to heart, as he never goes any place, and he acts like he is brooding over it. He is smart and well educated, and only for this one thing would probably be a successful man.

Now I wonder, doctor, if this scar can be taken off. I have heard of its being done.

REPLY.

It can. Any good surgeon can remove simple scars.

I am not so certain as to the result so far as the man's success is concerned. In the first place, men made of the right stuff are not stopped by scars. In the second place, if the young man has intelligent curiosity and definiteness of purpose, he would have had that scar removed a long time ago; that is, if it is harming him as you think.

HAVE IT PAVED.

Chicago, April 13.—[Friend of the People.]—The alley between Rogers, Howard, Sheridan, and Eastlake terrace needs paving. This is one of the best neighborhoods, but the alley has been unbearable for years. What should be done to have it taken care of?

W. A. H.

If the property owners will present a petition to the board of local improvements, or if the alderman of the ward will enter an order in the council to pave the alley, the matter will receive proper attention.

EDWARD J. GLACKIN, Secretary.

NEIGHBOR KEEPS BEES.

Chicago, April 15.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Please let me know the regulations on having beehives in the city. We are annoyed every year with our neighbor's bees.

Our washing on the line is usually covered with the bees. Also the children in the neighborhood get stung many times. It is very unpleasant to be out in the yard on a summer day.

B. N.

If you try to coöperate with him by avoiding hanging out the clothes on days when his bees are likely to take their first flights after the winter we believe you will have little trouble in this respect.

If the facts amount to a legal nuisance you can have them enjoined. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing how close the hives are to your premises or how many colonies he keeps, etc.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

60 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 26, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The following report, dated Raleigh, April 24, 10 a. m., from Gen. Grant, has been sent to Gen. Dix by Secretary Stanton: "I reached here this morning and delivered to Gen. Sherman the reply to his negotiations with Johnston. Word was immediately sent to Johnston terminating the truce, and the information that civil matters cannot be entertained in any convention between army commanders."

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The committee on selection of a burial ground for President Lincoln's body has at last concluded all preliminary arrangements for the purchase of the Mather place, paying for it and the other lots adjoining the same $53,000. Arrangements for building the temporary vault will be made tomorrow.

NEW YORK.—(Dispatch from correspondent with the funeral cortége of President Lincoln.)—We left the city precisely at 4 p. m. on the 25th, hundreds of thousands in attendance. As the cars move out two dense lines are on either side. New York is bowed down with grief for the murdered martyr President.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The condition of Secretary of State Seward is reported to be much improved.

CHICAGO.—The last of the recruiting shanties were taken out of the courthouse square yesterday. The courthouse is being whitewashed.

CHICAGO.—The first race of the season on the track of the Chicago Driving Park association will come off today between horses generally considered closely matched.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 26, 1900.

LONDON.—The siege of Wepener has been raised and the Boer commandos who have been threatening Col. Dalgety's British force for several weeks are in full retreat toward Ladybrand. This news is sent by Lord Roberts himself in dispatches to the war office.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—What may prove a complete knockout blow to the pneumatic mail tube service as a private enterprise was administered in the house. The item in the postal appropriation bill of $725,000 for pneumatic service was stricken out. This means that congress not only refused to authorize the expenditure of the government's money for the extension of the system in Chicago, St. Louis, and one or two other cities, but cuts off the allowance for maintaining the service now in operation in New York, Philadelphia, and Boston.

[illegible] feller was subjected to severe arraignment in the Common Pleas court by counsel for James Corrigan in the suit brought by Corrigan to reopen the case against Rockefeller in which Rockefeller is alleged to have bought from Corrigan 2,500 shares of Standard Oil stock for $168 a share when its market value a few hours after the sale was put up to $500.

NEW YORK.—Oscar Straus, United States minister to Turkey, has resigned.

CHICAGO.—A picket acting for a union was shot and killed and another injured when they assaulted workmen employed by the Baker-Vawter company, manufacturing stationers, 1102-1108 Marianna street. The superintendent of the plant fired the shots.

NEW YORK.—Gov. Theodore Roosevelt started for the west to head off the vice presidential boom for him that Senators Platt and Hanna have started.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 26, 1915.

CHICAGO.—The city plans to stop work for a huge fête intended to show the world that Chicago believes that good times are more than a state of mind. More than 70,000 persons are expected to march in the "Prosperity" parade which starts from Grant park. In the afternoon Mayor Elect William Hale Thompson will be inaugurated and in the evening Mayor Thompson and aldermanic party will leave for Springfield.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"No truce until you agree to pay for the evacuation of Belgium." This is the reply Germany gave to a recent proposal of a truce for peace discussions which Great Britain and France submitted in the conferences at Rome last week, according to information obtained from the foreign diplomatic source.

LONDON.—Official dispatches from the front say that the allies have succeeded in stopping the desperate drive of the Germans on the line near Ypres in Belgium. Further attacks, it is admitted, are expected, as it is known that the German general staff transferred a large number of troops to the west to make another big effort.

ROME.—The food riots at Trieste have become so serious that the mayor authorized the free distribution of army stores. There was a repetition of the rioting as soon as the storehouse doors were closed and distribution stopped.

CHICAGO.—Mayor Carter H. Harrison last night read himself out of public life. Speaking at a farewell banquet he made it clear that he will not again seek election as mayor.

CHICAGO.—Mayor Elect Thompson's first order to Chief of Police Charles C. Healey will be: "Drive every crook out of Chicago. It's up to [illegible]"

THE RULER OF THE HOME.

Chicago, April 21.—An article entitled "Woman and Her Place" attributed the crumbling of the institution of home and man's loss of his place as the head of the family to the emancipation of women.

That man should be the ruler in the home is a reversion to the principle of the divine right of kings. The question of obedience is rightly solved by reason. The person having the most intelligent conception and most able judgment—whether man or woman—is the one whose decisions should be accepted—and usually are.

In former times women received no education. They lived secluded lives and came in contact with nothing outside of their homes. They were not developed mentally and were not fitted to exercise judgment. That is not the case today. In ignorance women were happy in subjugation, but with knowledge they cannot be.

There can be perfect accord in marriage, with no question of superiority—each having a respect for the other's arguments. These people are honest with each other and allow themselves to be convinced when the other's arguments are sounder. These homes bring both the man and the woman the greatest happiness.

The home as an institution is not crumbling. A happy home is the strongest desire of every normal woman as well as every normal man. This home, however, does not include a man who must be obeyed whether right or wrong. The home will never be the autocracy it has been in the past, but it will be a finer and happier place when selfishness—the logical result of absolute power—is wiped out.

MRS. H. M. SMYTH.

NINE OUT OF TEN.

Chicago, April 21.—Mr. Davidson wrote that "The family, no less than a state, an army, a business organization, must have a head," and "Children must obey their parents and wives their husbands."

How about the woman being the head of the family? In nine out of ten families who lose the mother you find the father has to rely on institutional care or that of the relatives to raise the family, unless he remarries. In nine out of ten families who lose their father you see the mother raising the children and keeping them together—all by herself.

Before marriage a woman is a man's equal in business and other ventures. After marriage she automatically loses her mentality and must obey her husband.

Nothing is said of coöperation. O, no! A business firm can have two heads and get along very well, but not a home, apparently.

Mr. Davidson believes that if the husband tells the wife to run a rooming house she should do so. Even though she may know that her strength is not adequate and that she can go into another line of business and make more money, have more leisure, and care for her family better. No, a woman should starve herself mentally and physically because her husband prefers to have her wait on the family hand and foot. No one thinks of mother having a preference. But watch how quickly the family learns to help itself when the mother gives them some responsibility.

I'm married, have a family, take care of my home, and attend to business also, and I'm no failure in any capacity.

What woman needs is less knocking and a little more coöperation. Try it in your own home, Mr. Davidson.

MRS. MODERN WOMAN.

THE EX-KAISER'S PICTURES.

Lawton, Mich., April 19.—We notice that at all too frequent intervals THE TRIBUNE features in the rotogravure section the picture of that arch-fiend, the ex-kaiser of Germany. Are there not good Americans that have made valuable contributions to the good of mankind that we would be glad to see? If the supply of Americans has been exhausted, why not eliminate the rotogravure section?

M. N. BURGES,
Superintendent Lawton Public Schools.

HE LIKES ORPHAN ANNIE.

Highland Park, Ill., April 21.—Permit me to express my appreciation for the work of Harold Gray. There's a bit of human kindness in his cartoons that warms the heart.

RALPH W. MARTIN.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

Chicago, April 21.—An article the other day in THE TRIBUNE said that the unemployment insurance in the clothing industry has been a great success. This is a sattement which may and may not be true when viewed either from the employer's or union's side. For the union officials it may mean a success because this unemployment insurance scheme has given the business agent a chance to hold every worker under his control. The business agent, under the rules of the insurance is authorized to say who shall and who shall not get insurance. The crooked agent may take advantage of this opportunity, and by the abuse of power, influence, the insurance office directly and indirectly, so that one who happens to be the agent's friend will get insurance, although not entitled to it, and, on the other hand, one will not get his insurance if not a lackey of the agent.

As a result of such condition the insurance is not divided equally among the unemployed as it should be. This is why, in a trade like the clothing industry, where every one is unemployed long enough to be entitled to insurance, we find that the majority of workers have received only part of their share and some have received nothing at all for the first year. It will, therefore, as a result of this unfair distribution of the insurance, be more proper to say that this insurance as far as the distributing part is concerned, has been more of a promoter of corruption and graft on the part of some business agents than the term success when the idea of insurance is viewed of itself.

A condition of this kind can be avoided when unemployment insurance will be standardized, which will of itself deprive the agent of his present power to hold the workers in subjection. When this is done, then there might be some justification for terming this insurance a success.

LOUIS KIRSHENBAUM.

CONFUSING TRAFFIC LIGHTS.

Chicago, April 17.—In the matter of doing things which are intended to make the streets safe for those who use them, this community has gone a long way in disregard of the dictates of common sense, and it is about time that something should be done to prevent further irrational progress.

We have even achieved the neat irony of making the safety device a source of danger. In some parts of the city the yellow traffic signal is an invitation to pedestrians to cross either or both of the intersecting streets; in other parts of the city any such interpretation of the yellow light would lure a pedestrian to almost certain death. In some parts of the city the traffic signals are at the side of the street; in others they are in the center. When a driver becomes accustomed to seeing them in one place he is likely to miss them when they are elsewhere. And if he must drive along star gazing in order to find them he cannot give the road that attention which his safety and that of others require.

Then, too, why, in the name of sense, do not the newspapers make bold to tell the mutton headed pedestrian that traffic signals are meant for him as well as anyone else? Drive a car through the loop and see how rare is the individual afoot who does not think that all the signals and laws are for the motorist only.

Three things are necessary: First, a campaign for careful driving (and that is something more than a campaign against speeding); second, a campaign for less muttonheadedness on the part of pedestrians; and third, the elimination of the studied complication and befuddlement of our traffic signals.

A. J. B.

THE KEYS OF THE CITY.

Chicago, April 20.—Why in the world isn't Gabriel or some other noted musician heralding Michael Arlen down the streets of our commonwealth? Where are the traffic police and motorcycle cops who ushered in H. R. H.? Has no one in Chicago seen "The Green Hat," or read it? This picture wasn't even in the Sunday paper. Greater than Shakespeare, greater than all—and the greatest goes unnoticed. Wake up, you would-be intellectuals, and strain your throats in demand for the genius of all the ages.

The Newest Smartest COACH $1260

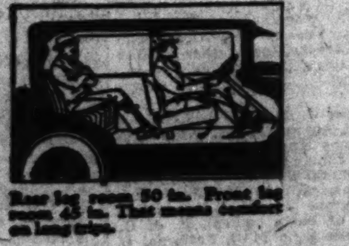
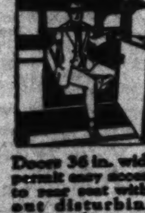
The Paige-Jewett one-piece ventilating windshield not only lifts but can also be tilted outward when desired.



Rear leg room 50 in. Front leg room 45 in. That means comfort on long trips.



Doors 36 in. wide permit easy access to rear seat without disturbing those in front.

Doors three feet wide permit access to rear seat without disturbing passengers in front. Double belt moulding, rounded back, colorful permanent lacquer finish, new type upholstery, are other unusual features of this newest coach at only $1260. Four-wheel hydraulic brakes (Lockheed type) optional at slight extra cost. All prices F. O. B. Detroit, tax extra.

PAIGE JEWETT

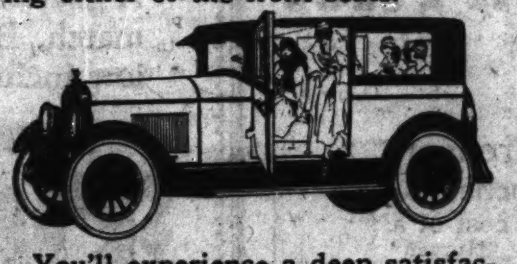
THERE'S an air of newness and refreshing beauty about this new Jewett Coach. And the reason is obvious. It is new—in every detail of its construction. In name and design it's a coach. But in the qualities that make for permanence—long life—roadability—it so far surpasses the average coach that comparison only accentuates Jewett's leadership.

Examine it! Admire it! Everything about it gives evidence of the long, careful study that Paige-Jewett engineers have given to this popular type. Among the first to acknowledge the strong public tendency toward coach design—yet restrained on the side of soundness—Paige-Jewett engineers have refused to give the name Jewett even to so popular a type until they were able to build the proved qualities of fine closed cars into the new Jewett Coach.

So the Jewett Coach appears—new as this morning's newspaper—the very last word in body artistry and completeness—a step ahead of the crowd.

You'll recognize in its design the smartness of many far costlier cars. Rich color enhances its custom-built appearance. New type upholstery—introduced by Jewett in the Coach—combines beauty with long wear.

Doors are wider. There is room to enter or leave the rear without folding either of the front seats.



You'll experience a deep satisfaction in this car's sedan-like roominess—for here at last is a coach that is really built for five. And built strong—with sedan construction throughout—not ordinary "coach" construction.

That means you can drive this new Jewett Coach as you would drive any Jewett closed car—with the same confidence in its ability to take you swiftly and comfortably wherever you choose to go—and bring you back, satisfied with your car. Long life is its greatest asset.

And the Amazing New Jewett Motor

As new and thrilling as the Coach itself. The same big, powerful six that has carried Jewett to the very top of its class—now improved by Paige-Jewett engineers to give still greater performance—25% more power!

Just open the hood! You get the reason there for Jewett's great power. It's the biggest motor ever put into a moderate priced car—with power that's ample for even these husky cars. Smooth, responsive power that you'll never find wanting—regardless of driving conditions.

Now you can have this remarkable new motor in America's newest and smartest coach—the New Jewett. And for the shrewd buyer who will accept no compromise for high quality—the new Jewett Coach offers a double opportunity. The quality of the finest sedans with the intimacy and convenience of coach design. Enclosed car comfort at practically open car cost. It's an opportunity you'll go a long way to even equal.

WHEELER BEGINS FIGHT AGAINST CAPITAL COUNT

Believes Conspiracy Case Won't Go to Trial.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Great Falls, Mont., April 25.—[Special.]—The Washington indictment against Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Gordon Campbell and Edwin S. Booth, will be fought out in the Montana courts and it is the expectation of the senator and his counsel that it will never come to trial.

The strategy to be used, as outlined today by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, chief counsel for Senator Wheeler, is to test the sufficiency of the indictment on action of the government to remove Campbell to Washington for trial.

Will Refuse to Go.

Mr. Campbell will refuse to go to Washington, it is stated, and the government will be forced to arrest him here unless they can catch him in some other state. The argument will then be heard for and against the proposition that the indictment is faulty, and upon this decision in Montana the case will hinge.

No effort was made to get Senator Wheeler off on a technical fight in this first case, as he and his friends wanted a jury acquittal, which they got. The Washington case, however, is based on the same evidence and it is felt that there is little chance of any change in the result, and therefore useless to go through a long and expensive trial. The investigation and trial has cost the government, it is said, about $100,000.

Review Old Demand.

One result that is looked for is a renewal of the demand that the department of justice drop its bureau of investigation.

Senator Wheeler said today that he had learned that George B. Hayes, the witness upon whom the government relied for its only direct evidence in the case just ended, had been connected in a sugar deal at one time with Howard Mannington, one of the chief of the Washington fixers exposed by the committee and a friend of Harry M. Daughtery, former attorney general. He traced the Hayes evidence to the Daugherty influence still existent.

Fight Goes On—Sargent.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—Failure of the government to convict Senator Burton K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.] at Great Falls, Mont., will not result in the quashing of the indictment charging conspiracy which was voted in Washington last month, it was said at the department of justice today.

Attorney General Sargent said that the case against Wheeler was now in the hands of the courts and that it would be allowed to follow the usual court procedure.

Senator La Follette [Rep., Wis.] denounced the government in a telegram sent today to Senator Wheeler. It reads:

"Great rejoicing here and throughout the country. Your friends are extremely happy that a jury has acquitted you and vindicated justice. But every self-respecting American citizen must bow his head with shame in the face of the established fact that the leaders of the political party and highest responsible public officials have prostituted a great department of government to subvert justice, shield the guilty, and convict an honest man of crime."

A. O. Backert, Publisher, Dies of Heart Disease

Cleveland, O., April 25.—[Special.]—A. O. Backert, 49, president of the Penton Publishing company and Penton Press, Cleveland publisher of the Iron Trade Review, Daily Metal Trade, The Foundry, and other business papers, died of heart disease in his home. He was widely known in foundry and publishing circles, was a member of the executive committee, National Publishers' association, past president of the Associated Business papers, past president of the American Foundrymen's association, secretary of the Foundry Equipment Manufacturers' association, and prominently identified with many other national industrial organizations.

INJURIES FATAL TO 2 BOYS; AUTO TOLL NOW IS 203

Leonard Fields, 6, of 465 Clinton street, Blue Island, died at the St. Francis hospital there yesterday of injuries received Friday night when he was struck by an automobile driven by Walter Schade of Wireton, Ill.

LEONARD FIELDS.

Seven year old Frank Dutton, 5613 South Ashland avenue, was crushed to death last night when he attempted to climb upon a moving truck and fell beneath the wheels. The accident happened in front of his home. John Brill, 4851 Evans avenue, driver of the truck, was not held responsible. Frank became Cook county's 203d motor victim since Jan. 1.

While the Rev. Fr. George Beensterboer, assistant pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic church, was driving toward Aurora yesterday to attend the funeral of a priest's father, his car overturned in a ditch. Mrs. Mary Coughlin, his housekeeper, suffered a fracture of the spine and the priest was severely cut and bruised. A second woman occupant of the car escaped injury.

The injured persons, who were on their way to Somonauk, near Aurora, to attend the funeral of Wallace Dondanville, were first taken to St. Charles hospital in Aurora and then removed to Chicago.

For Funeral Elegance and Price, Ask Hursen First

There is no good reason why you should be compelled to pay a great deal more for the cost of a funeral, and fail to secure that "Hursen" funeral-elegance which has made "Hursen's" famous, simply because there may be a funeral director in your neighborhood.

Hursen belongs to every part of Chicago. He goes everywhere; he is known everywhere in Chicago and its far suburbs. To Hursen, distance means nothing. No matter whether the funeral be very small and modest in cost, or very pretentious, you have a right to have the greatest elegance possible, and at the lowest possible cost. Hursen, and Hursen only, can give it to you.

It is common sense that only a great institution like Hursen's, covering every part of Chicago, can give you the most advanced funeral "service," the most unmatchable elegance ever known to Chicago, the most superb automobile equipment in America, the use of the most palatial funeral-homes in existence—all invariably at a fraction of the cost usually charged elsewhere. So, of course, ask Hursen first!

Mr. Walter Murray

Our Decorative Advisor, Says:

Since the keynote of modern home furnishing is the saving of space, the new secretary-bookcase is of great value. It contains writing-desk space, two or three book shelves and a couple of drawers beneath the desk. In addition to other advantages, its height against the wall helps to create the variety of levels which is so necessary in the room. Too often our furniture is low and flat without high pieces to create an interesting outline. A ladder-back chair with a picture over it, on the right side of the secretary, and a bridge lamp on the left, will be effective in creating a furniture grouping that is practical and artistic.

FASCISTI ORGAN IN ROME ATTACKS TRIBUNE WRITER

Paper's False Charges Stir Diplomats.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, April 25. — The Fascist party's midday organ, "Impero," a notorious leader of a campaign to put through a new press gagging law which provides not only for suppressing offending newspapers, as at present, but for jail or deportation of the editors and the promulgation of rules which will end the liberty of the press entirely, today concludes a vicious attack upon foreign newspaper men as follows:

"A most interesting case is that of George Seldes. Who is he? Precisely, that big swine whom we have searched for many months, the correspondent of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. He is the man who sent the news of Premier Mussolini's death and also Cesare Rossi's memorandum, etc. We have learned his name actually from the Red press of America and we have found out that he telephoned false news of the Italian situation from the Swiss border. That is what we know. We leave the rest to the police authorities."

Accusation Is False.

This item has caused considerable commotion in diplomatic circles. The foreign press association has been asked to take action.

The "Impero's" item is entirely false and confused. Nobody ever reported Premier Mussolini's death.

The Rossi memorandum, which was telegraphed in January, before the present TRIBUNE correspondent arrived in Rome, first appeared in Paris newspapers.

Parliament Acts May 14.

Reports from the Swiss border were sent by a New York agency representative at the time of the complete press suppression of news in January.

The "Impero's" article is an example of how the campaign for the suppression of freedom of the press is being waged.

The chamber of deputies on May 14 will decide on the details of the law.

Maine Methodists Vote for Laity at Conference

Augusta, Me., April 25.—The Maine conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today approved, 94 to 21, the proposal that laymen be admitted as members of the annual conference.

GREAT HALL FOR AGRICULTURAL MART

This is the architect's sketch of the huge auditorium of the proposed American Agricultural mart, to be the largest building in the world. The main exposition arena will have a seating capacity of 25,000. Graham, Anderson, Probst & White are the architects.

King, Tanned and Hearty, Greets Londoners Again

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, April 25.—Bronzed and appearing in the best of health, King George and Queen Mary arrived home today after a five-weeks' cruise on the Mediterranean. Only members of the royal family were allowed on the platform at Victoria station to welcome them, but the rulers received an enthusiastic greeting from the crowds along the route to Buckingham palace.

CALLES PLEDGES PROTECTION FOR U. S. IN MEXICO

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

Mexico City, April 25. — "President Calles is the right man for the right place," Ambassador Sheffield told American newspaper men here today. "From the satisfactory interview I had with him this week I am convinced that he is attempting conscientiously, fearlessly and energetically to carry out the program which he outlined at the beginning of his administration in December.

"He is a most satisfactory official to treat with because he knows his mind, makes decisions quickly, acts above board and says exactly what he means. One knows where he stands in dealing with Gen. Calles. He never keeps one waiting when delay is not necessary."

It is stated semi-officially that the ambassador discussed the general policy of the Mexican government toward foreigners, especially Americans, and Gen. Calles gave an assurance of protection for foreigners and foreign capital. The Mexican president promised to investigate the seizure of the Jalapa Light and Power company by the state of Vera Cruz.

THIS SETTLES THE QU OF AN OIL BURNE

SOONER OR LATER someone was bound to perfect an oil burner. When you read this you will realize that it was done six years ago. You can judge for yourself.

Everyone agrees that oil heating would be ideal, if oil burners were correctly built. And now that one has proved itself for six winters—no one will deliberately choose the old-fashioned methods.

We did not begin building an oil burner because others were being built. But because none we knew of followed the four laws of oil combustion.

More than 20,000 satisfied users

Inventions of such great importance are not perfected in a week, a month or a year. They must develop. But your basement should not be used as a laboratory.

Before we offered the first Oil-O-Matic to the public we learned how to burn oil in our factory. Not one Oil-O-Matic was installed in anyone's home until we proved it was right. It cost us $250,000.

The fact that every one of the twenty-odd thousand Oil-O-Matic users is more than satisfied is evidence that the public was not asked to pay for our developments.

All that folks ask now is an oil burner that is past the experimental stage—a finished product. One that requires no attention. That can be depended upon to give a service never approximated by coal. That completely divorces the heating problem from the owner's mind. Such an oil burner awaits your inspection.

Oil-O-Matic is listed as standard by the Underwriters' Laboratories to burn fuel oil (as low as 28 degrees Baumé), gas oil, distillates or kerosene.

The most economical operation may be had by using the first two mentioned grades of oil.

This allows you a greater range of fuels than any other automatic oil burner.

These facts are vital

A complete description of the Oil-O-Matic could easily be written here and every statement be true. But it would sound incredible.

Only seeing it and talking with owners will ever convince you. So look for these things:

Open the door of the furnace and you will see no part of the burner inside. There's nothing to burn out or replace.

We use no hot plates because, according to the first law of oil combustion, oil must be atomized. Our burner assembly is entirely outside the firebox because the second law says oil must burn before it touches anything. There's no manual control of dampers because the amount of air supplied must be exact. We line the firebox with brick because reflected heat assures better combustion.

Super Safety Control

But the crowning feature of Oil-O-Matic is the exclusive Williams Thermal Safety Control. It's all but human. Everything about your installation must work right or nothing can work. Not a drop of oil can flow. Ignition is shut off. The motor stops.

It costs us $150,000 a year more for our motors than some engineers say is necessary. A lighter motor would stand up, they say, on 99% of installations. We spend this extra amount to safeguard the remaining 1%.

It is unfair to yourself to think of all oil burners as coming from the same mold. Some burners have done remarkably well considering the handicaps of unsound principles. Others have been fairly successful because oil produces heat no matter how poor burned. You have but to see the Oil- or to talk with those who have ying it for six years, to realize ho is the difference.

WAR VETERAN, 26, FLEES BARRAGES OF BRIDE OF 60

Flatirons, Pokers, Too, Hard to Dodge.

A wife of 60 may try to discipline her husband in his early 20s with flatirons, knives, and stove pokers, but it doesn't appeal to Louis F. Sipley, 26, living at 65 West Maple street. Sipley told the story yesterday to Superior Judge Joseph Sabath and won a divorce from Mrs. June M. Sipley, 60, a wealthy Canadian woman.

Fresh from three years of France and the war, Sipley at 18 met and fell in love with the sympathetic spinster, then 54, it was said at the hearing.

"Looked to Be 45."

"She looked to be about 45," Sipley testified, and he told how, after a month's acquaintance, he married her on March 4, 1919, in Canada.

Sipley treated her kindly, he asserted in reply to questions of his attorney, Harry J. Busch. But Mrs. Sipley exhibited a "terrible temper," Judge Sabath was told. The first of such exhibitions was on the Fourth of July, 1923, Sipley testified.

"We had a party at the house," he related, "and a discussion arose as to how we should distribute our guests when the time came to take them home in the automobiles. I had a coupe and suggested taking two extra passengers. Mrs. Sipley became angered and threw a flat iron at me. It hit and it hurt."

Tells of Attacks.

Not long after, the young husband testified, his wife attacked him with a knife, ripping open his coat and tearing his skin. But they continued to live together in spite of their differences, Mrs. Sipley, according to Attorney Busch conducting herself more in the manner of a mother than of a wife.

Then came Christmas day of that same year and Sipley suggested asking a few friends in to enjoy the holiday with them. Thereupon, the husband testified, Mrs. Sipley became enraged, caught up a stove poker and threatened to beat him.

"I ran out of the house and never since have lived with her," Sipley concluded.

Wife Still in Canada.

Mrs. Jennie Peterson, a witness, testified that Mrs. Sipley "was old enough to be Sipley's grandmother."

Unless she has seen the publications in which notice of the suit was given, Mrs. Sipley still is cherishing her romance up in Canada.

Oak Parkers Victims of Robber with Fishing Pole

The "pole robber," who uses open windows to gain entry for his fishing operations, has caused Oak Park police to warn residents to keep their windows closed. Property valued at $150 has been stolen there in three pole robberies. The victims were C. R. Sinclair, 626 Belleforte avenue; A. V. Schuff, 631 Forest avenue, and W. J. Forthward, 1119 Ontario street.

BOY AT PLAY FALLS OFF PIER AND IS DROWNED

Michael Butler, 13 years old, 530 West 46th street, was drowned in the lake yesterday when he fell into the water off the pier leading out from the property of the Chicago Beach hotel. The lad had been fishing with George Coates of 44th place; Raymond Dodge 516 West 46th street, and Kenneth Wheeler, 454 West 46th place.

According to the story told the Hyde Park police by these boys, they had all gone fishing early in the forenoon. But the fish didn't bite very well, the boys said, and after some hours of trying they grew discouraged and decided to go home.

They started far out on the long pier to play and run and shout and chase one another. Suddenly Michael veered close to the edge, swayed there for a moment, and then fell into the water.

Late in the afternoon the police were still dragging for the body.

HEART DISEASE BLAMED FOR DEATH. Jacob Kubiak, 62 years old, 4910 West 30th place, Cicero, was found dead, supposedly of heart disease, in his home yesterday.

Tax Exemption to Reward Oil Finders in Mexico

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

Mexico City, April 25.—There is oil at the gates of Mexico City, the Mexican government believes. To encourage well drilling in the valley of Mexico, President Calles today issued a decree granting exemption from rent and oil tax to the first three concessionaries finding paying wells in the valley. The presidential decree predicts industrial development in the valley of Mexico on a scale hitherto unknown in Mexico. Progressive royalties are promised to other successful seekers of oil in the valley.

LYLE SEES HIGH BOND BEST CLUB TO USE ON CRIME

Would End Outlawry Wave, He Declares.

High bonds for confirmed gunmen, pickpockets, thieves and burglars—that is Chicago's relief from an appalling wave of murder, thievery and assault, in the opinion of Judge John H. Lyle of the Municipal court.

"There isn't much hope in all this talk about cures for gun-toting," Judge Lyle declared last night. "Skilled and notorious crooks don't carry their guns except on very brief occasions, and that is when they use them.

"Put them behind the bars under heavy bond if they have criminal records. Then the police won't have to look for their guns."

Out of Jail, Into Crime.

Citing a few glaring examples, Judge Lyle showed the records of the men whom he held in bonds ranging around $100,000 and upwards. He told how other judges had cut the bonds and let down the jail bars. And how the crooks, back on the streets, resumed their crimes immediately, some so that they might pay bondsmen their fees and clever lawyers their retainers.

It was for fixing high bonds in cases of notorious gunmen that he was transferred by Chief Justice Harry Olson from a criminal to a civil branch of the court, Judge Lyle declared. Judge Olson said even criminals had rights under the constitution.

"I challenge any one to point to any law which says that $100,000 is too high a bond to place against these criminals," Judge Lyle asserted. "There is abundant law to sustain high bonds."

Cites Legal Authority.

And the militant new judge who slapped $2,700,000 bonds on a gang of robbers began to cite legal authorities for his position. He pleads for other judges to fix high bonds—for a campaign among the judges to bring them to a willingness to demand heavy bail.

There is no provision in the constitution of Illinois which limits the amount of bail, the judge asserted. For other states he cited the Boss Tweed case in New York, where the politician, Tweed, charged with a $6,000,000 fraud, was held in $3,000,000 bail, and where the courts of appeal sustained that sum.

There are other cases Judge Lyle cites, a lot of them, in support of his position. Hundreds of citizens have spoken to him in commendation of his practice of fixing high bonds for criminals.

"Never did I hold in high bonds any defendant who did not have a bad criminal record, showing him to be a depraved crook, or who was not caught red handed in a brazen crime," Judge Lyle declares. And he referred again to the records of some of the men he held, to the records of John Keating, alias Wilson, "Dr." Percy Pue, and Louis Berardi. The records are briefed in another column.

"They got out on low bonds, went to their haunts, got their crime tools and went out on the job again," Judge Lyle said.

Can Be Kept in Jail.

"It isn't hard to keep this kind of criminal in jail, and keeping him there is neither a mistake nor an infringement of his constitutional privileges," the judge continued.

The following program through the courts, possible under existing laws, would bring an end to the crime wave, according to Judge Lyle.

"Catch the criminal, as the police do now. Bring him into the Municipal police court. Have him held in a bond that will keep him in jail. Give him an immediate trial by providing plenty of Criminal court judges. Convict him. If he appeals, make the appeal bond a heavy one. Send him to the penitentiary.

"Don't arrest him and put him back on the street with a light bond so that he can shoot and plunder to pay his bondsman and lawyer."

JUDGE LYLE LISTS CASES OF CRIMINALS HELD IN HIGH BONDS

Types of criminals held by Judge John H. Lylle in heavy bonds when he sat in the South Clark street police court are shown in the following list, cited by the judge in a plea, addressed to other judges, asking them to follow his example:

"Louis Berardi. July 10, 1924, held to Criminal court, robbery; bond $10,000. Jan. 2, while awaiting trial, caught in act of robbing American Express company of $18,000 pay roll in broad daylight. Threw gun away. Held by Judge Lyle in $100,000 bail. Judge Wells reduced bond to $30,000. Berardi out. Bond forfeited and capias issued. When arraigned again Judge Lyle put bond back to $100,000. Tried on first robbery charge and sentenced by jury to Joliet penitentiary."

"Percy Pue, a quack in doctoring. May 3, 1924, assault to rob; pleaded guilty, placed on probation one year by Judge Lindsay. Jan. 23, 1925, arraigned with there others for twenty-seven robberies. Robbery with a gun on six charges, and held in $600,000 bail by Judge Lyle."

(Pue, Judge Lyle declared, was identified positively as the most dangerous of a murderous band of robbers which robbed twenty-seven homes and stores last December. They tortured victims with hot irons to make them give safe combinations, etc., the judge said.)

"John Keating. Released on his own recognizance on a robbery charge in 1903; sent to Pontiac reformatory in 1904; paroled in 1909, and discharged in 1910; fined $100 for disorderly conduct in 1911; cleared of two robbery charges in 1913, and later sent to Joliet on another one; freed of two robbery charges by a Municipal judge in 1918; sentenced to ten years for bank robbery in Iowa in 1919.

"Jan. 27, 1925, Keating was arrested with two others, all armed to the teeth. When two policemen went to search them, Keating tried to take gun from one, and in all probability would have shot the officers."

HAND STRAYS IN WRONG POCKET

Andrew Kollis, 52, 608 West Madison street, is a careless sort of a fellow. When arraigned yesterday before Judge Joseph L. McCarthy on a charge that he picked the pocket of Frank Fisher, 516 West Madison street, of $6, Andrew said:

"Why, judge, it's all a mistake. I'm a little careless, you know. I thought my hand was in my own pocket, judge."

"O," said the judge, "you did? Well, that's too bad. Sixty days and $25 and costs. Call the next case."

HESS Welded Steel FURNACE
Every seam riveted and welded and guaranteed never to leak as long as the furnace stands
BURNS ANY FUEL—DELIVERS ALL THE HEAT

Read what your neighbors say of it:

Having used the Hess Furnace under all conditions, I can truthfully say it is one of the easiest to regulate and the amount of coal consumed is lightly more than a stove. I can highly recommend the Hess Furnace as a good furnace, plus Hess Service and satisfaction.
MRS. M. WALLNER,
4717 Lexington St.

We have used the Hess Furnace two winters and believe there is none better. We used but eight tons of Mine Run coal for a seven room house and surely will recommend it to any one.
WILLIAM HANSHEN,
8820 Carpenter St.

The furnace you installed for me four years ago has given very satisfactory results. During this period I have recommended your furnace to a number of my clients and friends, whom I know purchased your product. They have thanked me since for my help in the matter.
JOHN L. JOHNSEN,
642 Cicero Ave., North.

The Hess Furnace installed for me has been most satisfactory from a heating standpoint, and aside from the steady warmth it has given, it is a conserver of coal, which makes it highly desirable.
SAMUEL P. H. REED,
3821 Calumet Ave.

We have two of your furnaces and they have given perfect satisfaction.
THE FRANCIS & NYGREN FOUNDRY CO.,
2542 Fillmore St.

Have used your furnace for three years and find same satisfactory. Enough said, if a person is satisfied.
MRS. L. SCHNADT,
4138 N. Leamington Ave.

I am well satisfied with your furnace up to the present time.
HERMAN G. KLOPP,
2928 Fletcher St.

I am well pleased with the Hess Furnace. Have had it now for about eight years.
A. R. CARLSON,
126 W. 112th Pl.

The Hess Furnace has been in service for eight years and has given good service ever since. The longer I take care of it, the cheaper and less coal I buy.
WALTER WIZBICKI,
4216 N. Melvina Ave.

It is a splendid furnace and gives good satisfaction. Will keep fire with Pocahontas Mine Run for seventy-two hours, if necessary. Its large firebox, lined with thick brick, preserves the heat even when the fire is low, and thus equalizes the temperature.
W. H. COMSTOCK,
2031 E. 72d Pl.

We would not care for any other make, as we are fully satisfied with the Hess Furnace. We burn all our rubbish—also all tin cans (beat that, if you can).
GEORGE W. MILLER,
4523 Nevada St.

The cheapest fuel will warm your house perfectly—and no dirt nor dust from it.

Am well pleased with the Hess Furnace. Will gladly recommend it.
H. G. ADAMS,
217 W. 111th Pl.

Have had your furnace since September, 1919, and it has given good service. Burns coal clean and no dirt or gas in the house. We are well satisfied with the Hess.
H. V. SHEPARD,
3631 N. Kedvale Ave.

We have had the Hess Furnace for four years and we surely appreciate the good service we have had from it. We heartily recommend it to any one who is looking for a good furnace and a warm friend. Its efficiency cannot be excelled.
MRS. JENNIE DE VRIES,
7 East 103d Pl.

Has given satisfactory service.
MAX E. KASCH,
2511 N. Lawndale Ave.

Thousands of satisfied customers write like this:

My best buy was the Hess Furnace—first, payments so easy, then the satisfaction, small coal bill and always lots of heat by doing just as you instructed for care and management. The past twelve years have held down repair cost to one relining of firepot and one smoke pipe. Any kind of coal will give satisfaction, if fixed and cared for as you direct. Our grates are as good as the first day.
ERNEST A. PANNIER,
4365 W. 25th St.

The Hess Furnace is entirely satisfactory and does all that you claim for it. I have one of your furnaces in my residence, which is also very satisfactory.
JOHN W. DIETZA,
1657 Larrabee St.

Your furnace and service has been satisfactory. We are very much pleased.
JOHN T. KELLY,
5745 S. Fairfield Ave.

The Hess Furnace and service are very satisfactory.
EDWARD HOWELL,
100 W. 95th St.

Our Hess Furnace was installed eleven years ago and it has given complete satisfaction up to the present year. We highly recommend the Hess Furnace to any one considering putting furnace heat in their home, as it is reliable and service on same is cheerfully and promptly extended.
MRS. LOUIS KUHLMANN,
2020 Leland Ave.

I certainly think it is a wonderful furnace, according to all the rest of the furnaces I have seen.
ALBERT MANCINELLI,
2052 N. Lawler Ave.

Most economical—best results—quick service. In service in a five room frame cottage and attic heated seventy-four in coldest weather this winter, and used only five tons of anthracite all winter, starting furnace November 10, 1924, and still have fire and one-half ton coal on hand.
L. W. PHILLIPS,
2827 N. Karlov Av.

It is my greatest desire to give you all the recommendation that you need, for it is impossible for me to find words to express it. Furthermore, if you find any one that wants any more, send them around and I will gladly explain further.
W. G. PASKETT,
3824 Calumet Ave.

We have always been well satisfied with the Hess Pipeless Furnace and have had no trouble in maintaining a comfortable temperature in our store since its installation.
MUELLER'S CONFECTIONERY,
3533 Montrose Ave.

This is the third winter we have used the Hess Furnace. It has given us great comfort and satisfaction. The colder the weather is, the warmer the house is—it's a "humdinger."

439 W. 101st St.

HOME INFLUENCE.

There is a favorite thought of ancient writers which can well be used in regard to the American home. It is:

"Give the world the best that you have and the best will return to you."

Give the home the best that you have. Make it beautiful. Make it comfortable. Make it an attractive gathering place that will outshine the interest of commercialized entertainment.

Then the best will be returned in the guise of happiness, satisfaction, and success.

ROADS FIGHT TO PREVENT CUT ON FARM FREIGHTS

Shippers May Ask Repeal Act This Week.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—Congress, in its zeal for the welfare of agriculture, appears to have stepped on the toes of other industries and of the railroads.

Statements which are being filed with the interstate commerce commission allege that such a revision of freight rates as has been ordered under the Hoch-Smith congressional resolution will seriously injure different groups of shippers and reduce revenues of the railroads to a point affecting their credit.

Traffic Officials Worried.

What many members of congress supposed was merely a polite expression of good will towards the farmer now threatens to become one of the most revolutionary proposals which has ever confronted the transportation system of the country.

So concerned are the traffic officials of the leading industrial corporations over the situation that some of them are talking of launching a movement for the repeal of the congressional resolution next winter. Advisability of such action will come up for discussion at a special meeting of the National Industrial Traffic league, whose membership includes traffic managers for individual shippers and for commercial organizations, at Indianapolis next Wednesday and Thursday.

League to Consider Action.

The meeting has been called to consider what action the league should take with respect to the investigation which has been launched by the interstate commerce commission under the mandate of congress. Enactment of the resolution was opposed by the league.

The commission's investigation is thus far only in its preliminary stages. Announcement has been made that the commission will receive statements from interested parties as to the scope and purpose of the investigation at any time up to May 15. Between May 15 and June 15 the commission desires to receive answers from any who wish to reply to the statements. At some time after June 15 it will announce a program for public hearings, probably at different points throughout the country. So tremendous is the task ahead that some have estimated that the investigation may require as long as three years.

Conflicting Interests Foreshadowed.

Conflicting interests, which are certain to develop as the investigation proceeds, have been foreshadowed to some extent by the statements already filed with the commission. Traffic experts sponsor the assertion that with various groups seeking substantial reductions in freight rates, the final result will be that the commission cannot grant relief to any of them and at the same time prescribe "lawful rates compatible with the maintenance of adequate transportation service."

The railroads are fearful of the outcome, as indicated by a brief filed this week by western roads. This brief referred to the receivership of the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad and declared that the situation of other railroads in the western agricultural district is desperate. Any further reduction in rates on farm products will, according to the roads, precipitate a catastrophe. The western roads, as a matter of fact, take the position that substantial increases rather than decreases are warranted in freight rates.

Conundrum to Be Solved.

The interstate commerce commission is confronted with the problem not only of placing a new principle of rate making into effect but in so doing to hold railroad revenues at a point which will insure an adequate return to the carriers. If the commission decides that reductions in freight rates on farm products, coal or forest products are justified it must bear in mind that additional burdens may be necessary elsewhere in order that the railroads may not suffer. Just how this can be done without howls of protest from groups affected by increases is the conundrum to be solved.

Hits Long-Haul Traffic.

According to some of the statements filed with the commission the enactment of the Hoch-Smith measure clearly indicated intent on the part of congress that the interstate commerce commission should give less weight to distance and transportation conditions and more weight to commercial and competitive conditions. It is declared that the recent trend of rate making had been to increase the burden on long haul traffic by giving great, if not controlling, weight to the element of distance, and that this had been brought about by percentage increases of general application and by various decisions of the commission under which rates were fixed largely upon a consideration of distance, resulting in greatly limiting the ability of long-haul traffic to compete in the consuming markets.

The issue has been raised as to whether the resolution is applicable to competing shippers engaged in an industry or whether congress intended that industry versus industry should be considered, such as the rates on farm products as compared with the rates on manufactured articles.

See Lack of Uniformity.

As an example of expressions already received by the commission, the hardwood lumber manufacturers declare that there is utter lack of uniformity of practice regarding the basis of freight charges on lumber and forest products. They assert that freight rates on lumber are unduly high and that the rates charged for carrying lumber, compared with charges for coal, coke, cattle, grain, rock, lime, cement, and merchandise of all kinds, are unfair, unjust, prejudicial and discriminatory to and against the lumber manufacturing industry and the consuming public.

The state utility commissions are showing a keen interest in the situation. They fear an encroachment upon their prerogatives, inasmuch as the order of the commission providing for the investigation brings into issue not only every interstate rate in the country but every intrastate rate as well.

MITCHELL BECOMES COLONEL, FECHET A GENERAL TOMORROW

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—Brig. Gen. William A. Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, becomes a plain colonel Monday. On that date he steps out of his present position and reverts to his regular army rank. He will be succeeded by Col. James E. Fechet, former commandant of Kelly flying field, San Antonio, Tex.

BRIG. GEN. MITCHELL.

Col. Fechet already has arrived and reported to Gen. Patrick, chief of the air service. On Monday morning he will automatically become a brigadier general.

Gen. Mitchell, who has been ordered to staff duty in the Ninth Army corps with headquarters in Texas, said today that he would not report for several weeks. According to friends, the general plans to spend the next two months carrying his fight for a separate air service direct to the voters.

The condition of President Ernest De Witt Burton of the University of Chicago, who underwent an operation Friday in the Presbyterian hospital, was reported as greatly improved yesterday. The operation was for an intestinal trouble.

DEBITS, GUILTY OF NONSUPPORT, GETS JAIL TERM

Julius Debits, 4945 Washington boulevard, formerly a west side auto dealer, purported to be worth more than $100,000, was found guilty of nonsupport by a jury in Judge Daniel P. Trude's court yesterday. The jury fixed the punishment at $600 fine and six months in House of Correction, but a motion for a new trial is to be argued.

The jury returned its verdict in two hours after Attorney Frank E. Cantwell, representing Mrs. Mabel Anna Debits, the wife, presented evidence that Debits had shown some attention to Mrs. Cora Robinson, who with her husband, has been residing in Debits'

"Defective eyes" does not always mean defective vision, but it does mean eye-strain, which is responsible for more chronic headaches and nervous ailments than any other cause. Few people realize the great benefit to be derived from properly fitted glasses. An eye examination by a Schulte registered optometrist will tell whether or not your eyes need attention.

Beautiful Home Decorating that Stops Mistakes in Painting

Your Ceiling

Flat-Tone, the washable oil paint without gloss is right for plaster, composition board or wood. Any tint possible. Very rich and effective.

Scar-Not for the beams is the durable lustrous varnish that brings out the beauty of wood and gives remarkable service.

Handcraft Stains are penetrating spirit stains for the highest artistic effects on new wood only. Directions provide a wide variety of beautiful effects. Freedom from streaking, laps and brush marks.

Floorlac surpasses every varnish stain. It gives to inexpensive woods all the richness of many costly kinds. It creates practically any natural wood effect desired. It applies easily and it holds its beauty to your complete satisfaction. Varnishes and stains at one operation over new wood or wood previously finished.

Enameloid is the newest and most brilliantly successful popular-priced enamel and is produced in the most widely-sought shades of the day. Read of the qualities of this splendid enamel in the recommendations for Breakfast Sets.

Have You Wanted a Lovely Breakfast Set?

It's all the rage to buy breakfast sets unpainted and finish them yourself. Or, to assemble quaint sets out of old odd pieces picked up here and there. It means saving money and the creation of exclusive effects that show your individuality. Enameloid is delightful for this work. Goes on so easily. Covers so well. Gives such rich and dainty colors and dries with such a hard beautiful luster. Washable, also. Don't deny yourself a breakfast set.

For varnishing use Scar-Not, the authentic recommendation in a water-resisting, lustrous, scratch and scar-resisting quality varnish.

For artistic stained effects in a very desirable range of colors use Floorlac—the varnish-stain that goes on either new or painted wood. Wonderfully enriches every surface. Holds its brilliancy indefinitely.

If you want an enamel finish that knows no equal in the finest homes, use Old Dutch Enamel, the last word in the enamel makers' art. To be had in white, ivory, and French gray, gloss or eg-shel.

How to Refinish Wicker

Make it as beautiful as when new by using Enameloid described above. Nothing offers so wide a range of up-to-date new color effects, from quiet to gaily gorgeous.

Rexpar is the waterproof outdoor-proof varnish.

Floorlac is preeminently the thing to use for a varnish-stain finish.

Old Dutch Enamel will assure you a white, ivory or French gray unsurpassed by the finish of the rarest furniture—a de luxe product.

Paint Your House or Garage To Outlast Others

Labor with poor paint costs as much as with good—save with the paint. SWP goes much farther—therefore takes less. It covers much better. It withstands sun and storm remarkably. It holds its color. Made with scientific exactness—always uniform—because all materials are controlled at the source and all processes strictly standardized. The most famous house paint in the world.

Rexpar is the water and weather-resisting varnish for all out-of-doors varnishing. Only varnish expressly made to stand outdoor exposure can safely be trusted on your front doors, porch ceiling, and other exposed surfaces.

To retain the texture of your shingles and make your home a thing of beauty, use S-W Preservative Shingle Stain. A creosote, highly preservative, product. Beautiful color effects.

Old Dutch Enamel is the aristocrat of enamels and so recognized by famous architects. It is the Sherwin-Williams recommendation for highest class work, outside and in. Used on famous buildings the country over. Produced in white, ivory and French gray, gloss and eg-shel finish.

One thing is sure—it is easy to make home beautiful and up-to-date and to do it yourself.

Here are decorative suggestions. Here is the Household Painting Guide telling the exact types of paint, varnish, stain or enamel to use around home—official recommendations by Sherwin-Williams.

Above all things—always use the best possible product for the job—follow the "Guide." In the list below is a store near you known as Paint Headquarters. It has this "Guide" and "Guide" products. It knows its business. Get its valuable help.

For removing paint and varnish use Taxite—quick—easy—thorough—economical—can be used by anyone—on any surface.

For cleaning painted and varnished surfaces use Flaxoap. Made from linseed oil—contains no free alkali—restores original lustre.

Payment Plan

Arrangements have been perfected by Sherwin-Williams whereby the painting of residential property may readily be arranged on a convenient payment basis. Recognized business practise is now, therefore, made available to the property owner without difficulty or red tape. The Sherwin-Williams "Paint Headquarters" Dealer will gladly give you full information.

In Industry

Finishes of the Implements of the International Harvester Company

The Outdoor exposure of agricultural implements is proverbial. "International" implements are protected with Sherwin-Williams finishes. The finishing problems due to great production are carefully met, such as perfect application, underbrushing or dipping (as the case may be), fast drying and durability under handling and shipping.

For Collapsible Tubes of Famous Products

The tube of your favorite shaving cream, tooth paste and other products probably owes the attractiveness and durability of its finish to Sherwin-Williams. Countless millions of tubes show Sherwin-Williams enamels, colors and varnishes. A few are Pepsodent Tooth Paste, Palmolive Shaving Cream, Barbasol Shaving Cream, Bauer & Black Shave Aid, U. S. Tire Patching Cement, Le Page's Liquid Paste, Woodbury's Shaving Cream and Dental Cream and Pebeco Tooth Paste.

For Railway Stations on the Santa Fe Railway

When you travel on the Santa Fe Railway and see the stations slip by, remember—that each is painted with SWP. The exposure met by a railroad station is unusually severe. The paint must withstand smoke, gases, flying cinders and the weather

GOOD TIMES FOR MONTANA ERASE RECENT GLOOM

Crops, Mining, Industry Show Prosperity.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Great Falls, Mont., April 25.—[Special.]—Montana is on the upgrade in all its chief industries, with the exception, perhaps, of cattle.

The Dempsey-Gibbons championship fight in 1923 at Shelby found the state in a period of depression and was followed by a long string of bank failures. Now the state expects this to be one of the best years in its history. It has had a financial comeback and is looking ahead cheerfully.

Good crops during the last two years, sold at a fair price, a better price for sheep and wool, improvement in the copper industry, increase in corn production, more diversified farming, opening of the new oil field, have cleared up the banking situation and put the farmers and workers in as good a position as anywhere in the country.

Figures Show Upgrade.

One indication of the new stability is found in figures published recently by R. O. Kaufman, vice president of the Union Bank and Trust company of Helena. In August, 1921, he says, the federal reserve bank loans in the state reached a peak of $13,601,000. A short time later the war finance corporation sent $14,000,000 into the state.

"Today the federal reserve bank has less than $490,000 outstanding in the state while the war finance corporation has $7,000,000 left here, a reduction of more than $25,000,000. The state's natural resources in 1924 yielded $300,217,000."

"Montana launches into the new crop year with a feeling of pride in the accomplishment of its half million people in practically writing off an immense agrarian debt and piling up a sufficient surplus to enable its agriculture and business enterprises to go forward on a better footing than ever before," says L. E. Jones, secretary of the Great Falls Commercial club.

Follow Coolidge's Advice.

President Coolidge's advice to the farmers for "orderly production" is bearing fruit in Montana. The state college is urging and helping plan for more balanced production. One of the new developments is the increase in the sugar beet acreage. Two new factories for making sugar have been built in the Milk river and lower Yellowstone irrigation projects.

Wheat is the great crop of the state and the farmers are advised by their state college extension service to maintain the same acreage as in 1924, although they are warned that the present prices of wheat are not apt to continue for the 1925 crop.

Oil Lights Up Future.

The Kevin-Sunburst oil field, about 100,000 acres in extent, has been developed only 5 per cent and is producing between 7,000 and 8,000 barrels a day. This has enabled this barren, abandoned northern section to come into fair prosperity, pay up taxes and form a new center of industry.

The weather on which so much depends in this state has started out well for the year. The rain and snow of the last few days was a blessing to the farmers.

BATHING BEAUTY

James Martin, '28, costumed in a violet taffeta bathing suit, won first place in a "bathing beauty" contest sponsored by the Dolphins at the University of Illinois. Each sorority at the university was represented by a man dressed in a woman's bathing suit. Martin represented Theta Phi Alpha in a costume designed by Miss Marion Wallace of the senior invitation committee.

Britain Awaits Budget; Expects Income Tax Cut

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, April 25.—Parliament will reassemble next week, and Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, will introduce his budget on Tuesday. So far the nature of the budget is secret, but it is expected there will be at least a 6 pence (12 cent) drop on the pound sterling on the income tax, while it is also certain that some of the promotive duties dropped by the Labor government will be reimposed. Among those mentioned are taxes on automobiles, clocks, and jewelry.

KRUPP WORKS DIRECTORS QUIT TO CUT EXPENSE

BERLIN, April 25.—[By Associated Press.]—The entire directorate of the Krupp works at Essen resigned in a body today in keeping with the determination, announced recently, to inaugurate a far reaching policy of retrenchment in the Krupp enterprises.

Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, former ambassador to the United States, who was a member of the executive board, was appointed special financial adviser to the board of directors. It was announced the board henceforth will consist of three members only, Messrs. Oesterlen, Buschfeld, and Klotzbach.

FIRST LADY JUST AS ECONOMICAL AS CAL; RENOVATES ANTIQUES

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Coolidge, it was learned at the White House today, is rivaling the President in economy. Despite the fact that there is an apportionment of $50,000 to renovate the White House this year, Mrs. Coolidge has resurrected old furniture.

Recently in the White House storehouse she picked up a table inset with brass diagonals. One piece was missing. This was restored and the table now is in use.

BIG BASS LAKE HERMIT DONATES BOYS' CAMP SITE

"The hermit of Big Bass lake," Martin Johnson, who has lived alone in a cabin thirty miles northeast of Ludington, Mich., for twenty-five years, has given a $50,000 site for a boys' camp to the Chicago Y. M. C. A. The gift was announced yesterday by A. E. Cross, chairman of the city camp committee.

The property consists of 140 acres of wilderness, given on condition that Johnson shall live there for the remainder of his life, acting as caretaker.

"More than 1,000 acres of wooded land now is owned by the Chicago Y. M. C. A.," says Cross. "We have nine miles of frontage on eight lakes."

Goodyear HEAVY DUTY Cord Tires are available from Goodyear Dealers in the following sizes:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 30 x 3½ | (Cl.) | 34 x 4½ | (S.S.) |
| 32 x 4 | (S.S.) | 30 x 5 | " |
| 33 x 4 | " | 33 x 5 | " |
| 32 x 4½ | " | 34 x 5 | " |
| 35 x 5 | (S.S.) | | |

For those who desire balloon tires Goodyear makes a complete line, including the HEAVY DUTY type in certain sizes.

More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Hard-boiled, this one is!

The new Goodyear HEAVY DUTY Cord Tire, for passenger cars, buses and trucks, designed and built for extraordinary service

THIS is to tell you of a new tire—a super-stout and burly tire—a tire of special design built to stand hard knocks.

For a good many people who drive always on pavements or under ideal conditions, it is perhaps needlessly good.

But for the man who drives catch-as-catch-can, smooth roads and bad, who lives and makes time by the grace of good brakes and a touchy accelerator, it's a wonder.

It stands up without pampering under a world of punishment, and the tougher the going the better investment it proves out to be.

All through, the new Goodyear HEAVY DUTY Cord Tire is stronger and more massive than the standard tire you are accustomed to.

Its powerful athletic body is made of SUPERTWIST, the remarkable new cord fabric perfected by Goodyear, and is made extra-heavy to afford extreme protection against stone bruise, carcass breaking and the shocks and jolts of rough roads.

Long, slow wear is built into its thick, tough tread.

Buttressing its sturdy sidewalls are circumferential rubber ribs, put there to give extra resistance against rut-wear.

Naturally this HEAVY DUTY Goodyear costs a little more.

But under a big heavy car, or in any arduous service, it is easily the cheapest tire to buy in the end.

You can forget it while it's on the job, but long afterward you'll remember its enduring goodness.

If yours is the kind of driving that needs this extra stamina, this tire is built for you.

And when it comes to truck tires—

Goodyear leadership is not limited to passenger car tires only; it includes truck tires as well.

For every hauling condition, for every requirement of service, road and load, there is a right Goodyear Truck Tire—in each case designed and built to be the best truck tire for the job.

Your Goodyear Truck Tire Dealer will advise you what type is the right equipment for you: whether the All-Weather Tread Heavy Duty Cushion, for heavy trucking; the All-Weather Tread Pneumatic Cushion, for lighter work; or the Heavy Duty Pneumatic Truck Tire, for all service where pneumatic equipment is practical and desirable.

$250,000,000 IN BUILDING TO BE BEGUN THIS YEAR

Survey Shows Little Labor Trouble Brewing.

BY THOMAS WREN.

With nationwide building construction lagging behind last year's figures, Chicago keeps forging ahead of its 1924 building program and, according to a survey just completed by the citizens' committee to enforce the Landis award, there is still $250,000,000 in construction projects to be started this year in the city.

The tremendous building program is scheduled to be completed without serious labor interruption. All building trades, with the exception of the structural iron workers, have signed new wage agreements with the contractors' associations covering the building season of 1925-26.

It is expected that the iron workers will iron out their wage problem before the expiration of their agreement, May 31. They are now receiving $1.25 an hour and have asked for a basic scale of $1.50 an hour. Contractors have ignored this request so far, but indicated settlement could be made if the iron workers compromised on a $1.37½ scale.

Negotiations Still On.

Regarding the iron workers' dispute, Edward Haupt, former president of Building Construction Employers' association, and now chairman of the Iron League Arbitration committee said:

"Officials of the iron workers' union are too conservative to take any snap action in the present controversy. Negotiations between the union and contractors are still in progress and we expect to hold conferences in the near future. Until negotiations are abruptly ended strike rumors are founded on very thin air. I look for an amicable settlement before long."

It was also pointed out that strike action in Chicago would not be received with acclaim by international officials of the iron workers' organization. A strike of several months in New York City has cost the national body a few hundred thousand of dollars in litigation. Many of the strikers there, it is said, have returned to work minus some of the working conditions they enjoyed before the walkout was called.

Called Conservative Estimate.

Statisticans employed by the citizens' committee believe the $250,000,000 mark is a conservative estimate of the amount of construction which will be started between May 1 and New Year's Day. Listed in the committee's survey are only projects whose valuation is placed at $250,000 or more.

The projects listed in the survey are as follows:

|---|---|
| Office building Nathan K. Aranoff, owner | $300,000 |
| Office building, A. B. Dick Co. | 500,000 |

"This impressive total, which in itself is $150,500,000, does not take into consideration the tremendous volume of smaller apartment buildings and residences which are a feature of the 1925 building activity," said Mr. Armstrong, general manager of the citizens' committee.

"That this record breaking program is still ahead of us at a time when New York permits have dropped $160,000,000 below the 1924 totals for the first quarter is due to the excellent labor conditions which the citizens' committee has maintained here."

SUMMON UNION AND R. R. AGENTS TO SETTLE ROW

The United States railroad labor board has notified officials of the Union Pacific and representatives of the Steamship and Railway Clerks' union to appear next Wednesday morning to thresh out a representation dispute, it was learned last night. For several months a controversy has existed between the union and railroad over the right of the union leaders to represent Union Pacific clerks at wage hearings before the labor board.

In a decision several weeks ago, the railroad labor board declared the clerks' union leaders were the clerks' official spokesmen. To settle the question definitely, both sides will be given an opportunity to submit evidence to substantiate their claims.

No Building Owner Can Ignore These Figures

A Saving of $3,000 or More EVERY YEAR

THE figures in the illustration are taken from an actual building project in Chicago. The amount representing the net income makes an enviable showing, but in the operating costs of all buildings, there are items that can be trimmed down to a much smaller size.

One cost item—the water bill—usually receives far less attention than the amount at stake deserves.

For example, in a building planned on the same scale as the one mentioned above, a saving of $3,000 to $4,000 is possible every year, figured on the basis of 1,000 water closets installed. The economies possible in smaller or larger buildings can be calculated by maintaining the same ratio between the number of closets installed and the amount saved in each case.

It should be noted that most of the water wasted in buildings has been traced to closets that flush inefficiently. In Chicago alone, according to City Engineer Ericson, 150,000,000 gallons are wasted by old-fashioned closets every day.

Watrous

Duo-Jet Closets and Flush Valves

—Cut Water Cost to One-Third
Save 3 to 6 Gallons of Water at Every Flush

THE Watrous valve-and-bowl combination operates at one-third the water-cost occasioned by the least wasteful of all other combinations. The principle is simple. The Watrous Flush Valve (A in the illustration on the left) can be adjusted to measure out the exact quantity of water required by the type of bowl with which it is used. It supplies exactly enough for a complete flush and refill—and no more.

In the Watrous Duo-Jet Closet-Bowl, two powerful converging jets (B and C) instantly drive out all the water. The refill follows, and the flow stops. The whole operation consumes less than 2 gallons of water, whereas 5 gallons are required by the least extravagant of all other types of bowls. It is easy to realize, therefore, what economies are possible when the Watrous Flush Valve and Duo-Jet Bowl are used in combination.

In the commonly used syphon-closet, most of the water is consumed in starting syphonic action. Duo-Jet action makes the syphon principle unnecessary, and the water-waste which it causes is avoided.

Clogging and Overflowing Are Made Impossible

Note also that the familiar syphon-closet is constructed with narrow, zigzag passages, to aid in maintaining syphonic action. These often cause clogging and overflowing, with the resulting expense for repairs, redecorating rooms on lower floors, etc. But Duo-Jet action permits the wide, vertical outlet shown in the illustration, by which clogging and overflowing are made impossible.

Ask Your Architect And Plumbing Contractor

If you are about to erect a building, no matter how large or how small, and no matter of what type, ask your architect and your plumbing contractor to compare the action of the Duo-Jet Closet with that of the usual syphon type. Ask them what combination will save you most money on your water bills. Also, to inform yourself more fully, write to us for booklet S. T.

250 FURNITURE MAKERS TARGET OF U. S. ATTACK

Ready to Prosecute Trust Charges.

Chicago yesterday was disclosed as the base of operations for a nationwide government drive against 250 of the country's largest furniture manufacturers on charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

Secret investigations have been under way for more than three months and it was reported that Special Assistant Attorney General Roger C. Shale of Washington, the government's expert on trust violations, now here, is ready to appear before the federal grand jury tomorrow or Tuesday.

When knowledge of the proposed prosecution became public yesterday, Mr. Shale used the government's radio facilities here to instruct district attorneys throughout the country to immediately prepare and execute subpœnas duces tecum for the records of the various prospective defendants. It was said to be the first time that radiograms have been used here to facilitate government legal procedure.

Secret headquarters have been maintained by the United States investigators in a loop hotel and a large corps of operatives from Washington and Chicago has been working with agents in various states in collecting evidence to show collusion among manufacturers to destroy competition and control the price of virtually every type of furniture made in the United States.

DETROIT ENTERS OREGON WAR ON PRIVATE SCHOOLS

Washington, D. C., April 25.—The Public School Defense league of Detroit filed a brief in the Supreme court today in the case brought by Oregon to maintain its law requiring children between 8 and 16 years of age to attend public schools.

Appearing as a friend of the court, the league declared that should the Oregon law be sustained, a similar statute would be enacted by Michigan. It was contended that unless states could require children of school age to attend public schools, not only the schools, but the state might be destroyed by private parties.

If the government could compel citizens to perform military service, the league insisted, states could require children to attend public schools, "for the purpose of giving education necessary to make them useful citizens and loyal defenders of the country."

The brief contained criticisms of "the doctrines and moral teachings of the Roman Catholic church." Argument in the case has been completed, and it is now awaiting decision.

BACK FROM EUROPE

William S. Hart, movie actor, famed for his wild west riding, arrived in Chicago yesterday. He is back from a visit abroad, where he gained notoriety by riding his bronco off trans-Atlantic liner.

BILL HART OF MOVIE GUN FAME VISITS CHICAGO

William S. Hart, exponent of the great open spaces and the "he-man" rôles, sans gun, chaps or sombrero, but sporting a pair of pleated trousers, stopped off in Chicago yesterday long enough to confide his life's ambition before hurrying on to New York, where he will be a guest this evening at the annual Lambs' club gambol.

As for the aforesaid ambition, he aspires to present for public approval an authentic historical drama of the life of that early American hero, Patrick Henry, whose fiery declaration, "Give me liberty or give me death," is interwoven in the warp and woof of American history.

MEDICAL SOCIETY TO MEET.

Curative powers of electricity and sunlight will be explained at the Illinois Homeopathic Medical association's convention here May 5, 6 and 7. Arthur B. Green of Middletown, O., authority on the chemistry of medicine, will talk at the annual banquet, May 6.

Gomes Agrees to Remain President of Portugal

LISBON, April 25.—[United Press.]—Satisfied with an expression of confidence from the Portuguese congress, which declined to accept his resignation, President Texeira Gomes has agreed to retain his office. Gomes tendered his resignation to congress yesterday, presumably as an aftermath of the unsuccessful revolution against his government last Saturday.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

Cedar Falls, Ia., April 25.—[Special.]—The 4 year old daughter of William Smith was fatally burned while playing with matches. The mother was in the shopping district, having left four children in charge of a 12 year old daughter, who was caring for a 1 year old sister.

REDS IN CHINA DEFEATED; MAY GIVE UP CANTON

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PEKING, April 25.—Authentic advices indicate that Canton is about to fall to the conservative faction favorable to Tang Chi Yao, governor of Yunnan, whose troops yesterday defeated the Yunnanese mercenaries of Hu Han Ning, governor of Canton under the bolshevik faction, Kuom Ming Tang.

The defeated troops are retreating upon Wuchow, at the Kwangsi frontier. Many Chinese are fleeing from Canton, but the foreigners are calm.

The impression prevails that the communists will remove the government to Swatow, where foreign warships remain. A movement is developing in southern Fukien for a drive on Swatow from the north. These actions are wholly among the Kuo Ming Tang and entirely independent of Peking, as all the South China factions have repudiated the central government.

Serious fighting is probable also in Szechwan province in an effort by the Peking government to oust Yang Sen, who held control for two years through aid sent by Gen. Wu Pei Fu.

The north Yangtse probably will be peaceful, unless a quarrel starts over the apportionment of the $9,000,000 released by the French Boxer indemnity settlement.

Coolidges Board Yacht for Trip Down Potomac

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[United Press.]—The President and Mrs. Coolidge left this afternoon for a week-end cruise on the presidential yacht Mayflower. They probably will return Monday.

U. S. WARS ON MAIL VENDORS OF OBSCENITY

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[United Press.]—A drive against vendors of indecent pictures and literature, whose trade had reached amazing proportions, has been launched by the postoffice department.

Postal inspectors have been put to work to ferret out the "rings" importing the matter and distributing it in this country, in many cases through high school students, and arrests are expected in New York next week.

More indecent material is being sent through the mails now than at any previous time, according to inspectors.

THE BIG TRUNK STORE next DOOR to us had a FIRE in the basement back of their store, which threatened the ENTIRE BLOCK of PIANO ROW—WABASH AVENUE. The fire looked so threatening that it drove all of the occupants out of the building. Fortunately no one was hurt.

All fire apparatus in the loop was on deck in less than three minutes after the call, which we consider wonderful. Our pianos were not injured from fire. The only damage we had was SMOKE and WATER.

YOU understand INSURANCE COMPANIES are always WILLING and LIBERAL to ADJUST LOSSES, and what is ONE MAN'S LOSS is ANOTHER MAN'S GAIN.

DURING this SALE you CAN SAVE $200.00 on any NEW MEDIUM PRICED PIANO, and from $250.00 to $350.00 on a STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS PIANO, fully GUARANTEED. HERE are JUST A FEW OF OUR MANY NEW AND USED PIANO BARGAINS that WE HAVE in STOCK:

PEOPLE DON'T HAGGLE OVER CASKET PRICES

Every profiteer undertaker knows that fact, has proved again and again how perfectly safe is the game he plays.

Having first carefully questioned his client as to his financial worth or borrowing capacity, he is ready for the trip with him to the display room of his friend, the wholesale dealer.

Once inside the big establishment his client is wholly within his power, with little or no chance of escape. Let him ask the price of one casket after another and he is almost sure to find that each is more expensive than the other, every one costing much more than the amount he had expected to spend.

Finally he gives up in despair. "What can I do? I never even dreamed I'd have to spend so much for a casket. I don't know how I am going to do it or where the money is to come from. But I haven't any choice about it. I'll either have to pay or go without."

How much more satisfactory and agreeable to deal with Skeeles-Biddle, who carry their own stock of burial caskets all marked in easy-to-read price figures—prices that have saved many thousands of dollars for our clients all over Chicago?

CASKETS
As Low as
$25

Here the man or woman with as little as $75, $40, or even $25 to spend receives the same kindly consideration and courteous service as the client who desires and is able to pay for the most elaborate casket of cast bronze.

A visit to either our North Side or South Side establishment will quickly convince anybody that our prices are never more than one-half and often only one-third as high as those asked elsewhere for caskets of the same grade, make and quality.

We cordially invite inquiries concerning every detail of our high class service and equipment, including our two beautiful free chapels and our high grade limousines and casket coach. All we ask is comparison by anyone interested.

A telephone call involves no obligations and will instantly bring a member of our firm to any part of Chicago or suburbs.

GARY CHILDREN WIN HONORS IN MUSIC CONTEST

Grade School Is Victor in Memory Tests.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Gary would seem on the way to become a center of musical appreciation in the future, if not now, with Lake Geneva, Wis., running closely behind. At any rate, in the music memory contest at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon the Emerson school of Gary took first place in the grade school division, Lake Geneva being third, and the Froebel school of Gary tied with Lake Geneva for first honors in the high school section.

The contest was held under the auspices of the In and About Chicago Music Supervisors' club. It was about rather than in, for Chicago schools were not represented. But teams came from as far away as Highland Park, Lake Geneva, Rochelle, and Michigan City. There were twenty-six grade schools and eighteen high schools represented, each with a team of five.

Contest Closely Run.

Mr. Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra presented the music to be identified by the contestants. A few notes of a composition were played, from which the contestants were expected to remember the name of the work, its source, the name of the composer, and his nationality. Fifteen were played for the grade schools, twenty for the high schools. Then the papers were collected and marked. The contest was so close that the judges found it necessary to consider spelling and punctuation in order to arrive at a decision.

Here Are the Marks.

At length the lists were thus announced: Grade schools, out of a possible [illegible] marks, Gary 740, Wilmette [illegible], Lake Geneva 730; high schools, out of a possible 1,000, Gary and Lake Geneva 997, New Trier 986. In all, fifty-one perfect papers were handed in by the young music lovers. It was also discovered that music and the melting pot seem to go well together, for the Gary High school represents fifty-two nationalities.

THE HAGUE, April 25.—America's proposal for reciprocal abolition of the payment for passport visas is welcomed here. The press points out that Holland charges Americans $1 for a week's stay, while America charges Hollanders $10 regardless of the length of their visit.

FAY BAINTER NOW ADMITS BOOZE IN FATAL PARTY

Toronto, April 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Fay Bainter, musical comedy star, admitted in her testimony before Coroner G. W. Graham today that whisky and beer had been served at a masquerade party at a local hotel which preceded the death of Carl A. Lynn, a member of the cast of the musical comedy, "The Dream Girl."

Miss Bainter, star of the production, denied yesterday that intoxicants were served at the party, which was held in celebration of the first anniversary of "The Dream Girl" on the road. Lynn, taken to his hotel by Theodore Barter, the company's manager, died several hours later of injuries received in a fall down a stairway.

George Spreat, a Toronto accountant, testified that he had supplied the party with ten cases of beer and several bottles of whisky.

Two Negroes appearing in another show, "The Chocolate Dandies," Noble Sissle, and Lubie Blake, were arrested after the party on charges of having liquor in their possession. Sissle was fined $50. Blake was freed.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

It's almost time to call 'em the rampant White Sox. They went over again yesterday with more than 20,000 persons looking on. They beat the Detroit Tigers in the final game of the series, 4 to 2, thus making a clean sweep of the set of four games. They did it by timely batting and by sparkling fielding and with the help of a Detroit blunder.

When Ty Cobb and his athletes packed their trunks last night and got out of town they were somewhat dazed. Ty and all the folks over in Detroit think they have championship stuff. Yet they came over here and were bumped four times in a row by a team which the experts doped out as a straggler. The Sox have demonstrated they don't intend to straggle without a fight.

Sox Hit When It Counts.

Red Faber, veteran spitball flinger, was on the rubber, and was opposed by Earl Whitehill, the clever and cunning southpaw. Both pitchers were good, but Red had the best support. Two errors by Red himself were the only mistakes in the defense. The other fellows were perfect. They made only seven hits off the southpaw. Two of them were most timely and of a damaging nature.

Before the day was over Mr. Ike Davis, our new shortstop, was a hero with the throng. Ike was skidding all over his territory, grabbing balls and wiping the bases off with double plays. He was mixed up with three of them that simply knocked the enemy flat. Besides that he drove in two of the four runs.

Ike Has Good Assistance.

Ike had able assistance in the defense from Boss Collins, Kamm, and Mostil, and the latter, with Kamm and Schalk, assisted him greatly in getting the runners over the plate. But Ike sure 'nuff was the center of things. He played as if filled with the very Old Nick himself. Had eight fielding chances and several of them were hummers.

The Tigers threatened Mr. Faber in the second, when Fothergill led off with a single and Jones was safe when Faber himself messed up a bunt. But the next fellow bunted and Sheely was in there to pounce upon the ball and fire it in daring style to third for a force play. Then Bassler cut one down to Ike and he wiped two men off the bases and retired the side.

Sox Count Two Runs.

In the third the Sox got away when Kamm opened with a two bagger down the left field foul line. Schalk put him on third with a bunt and Faber tried to bring him in. His best was a bounce to the pitcher and Kamm was trapped between third and home, but he scored when Bassler dropped the ball during the run up. Faber made second on the play and advanced to third on Mostil's out, from where he counted when Ike belted one down the first base line for two sacks.

Detroit got one of those runs back in the fourth when, after two were out, Fothergill, Jones, and O'Rourke all singled in succession. Ike couldn't get hold of the ball or it would have been different. In the fifth the Sox clinched things when Schalk led off with a single. Faber flied out, but Mostil got hold of one and drove it clear over the head of Manush to the fence in center field for three bases, sending Schalk home. Then up came Mr. Ike and hit a tremendous fly to Wingo down in the corner of left field, which allowed Mostil to come home after the catch.

Tigers Threaten Twice.

The Tigers threatened a bit in the eighth, but were cut off with only one run. With one out Tavener singled and lugged it home when Manush clouted a double to right center.

In the ninth Jones led off with a roller to Sheely and was safe when Faber failed to step on the bag in covering first. It was another opening but a double play spoiled it. Sure, Ike was the pivot man in the play.

Phillips of Butler college is shown above finishing the medley relay race which was held on Friday and in which the Butler quartet set a new American record of 7:43 9-10. Yesterday the same Butler team copped the one mile relay race and established a new Drake carnival record of 7:51 4-10.

Herbert Schwarze, the giant weight man of the University of Wisconsin, who won both the discus throw and the shot put yesterday and established new Drake carnival records in each.

MICHIGAN BEATS AMES IN GREAT TWO MILE RACE

Locke of Nebraska Wins 100 Yard Dash.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Des Moines, Ia., April 25.—[Special.]—Ten more records for the meet were shattered and two tied in the concluding day's competition of the sixteenth annual relay games of Drake university, held in the natural stadium this afternoon. Today's record performances combined with those of yesterday showed a total of fifteen Drake records broken and three tied in the thirty-two events on the two days' program.

While there was much keen competition in both track and field events, a great two mile relay race between Michigan and Ames was the closest fought of the day. At the end of the first relay Wisconsin led by a narrow margin over Ames, with Northwestern in third position. Michigan was not in the first three at the end of the second relay, but the Maize and Blue moved up to second position at the end of the third half mile.

Reinke Beats Out Conger.

Conger, the anchor man for Ames, had a slight advantage over Reinke of Michigan at the start of the last relay. Conger held the lead until the back stretch of the last lap, when the Wolverine runner managed to pass him. The Ames runner challenged on the home stretch, but Reinke had just enough stamina to breast the tape by two yards. The Wolverine quartet covered the distance in 7:51 4-10, which lowered the former Drake relay record of 7:52 2-10 made by Ames in 1921.

Michigan runners scampered to victory in the 880 yard university relay in 1:27 5-10. This performance tied the Drake relay record made by Illinois in 1923. Michigan, however, might not have been so fortunate had not Roland Locke of Nebraska violated the rules of racing. Locke passed the ten yard line in advance of the start when trying to receive the baton from Hein, the third Nebraska runner. At the time the Cornhusker team had a nice lead and the team might have broken the world's record of 1:27 made by Illinois at Kansas last Saturday if Locke had made the pickup in the designated zone.

Kansas City High Nips Three.

The day of brilliant performances was started by the Northeast High school team of Kansas City, which won three races and broke the Drake records in all. In the 880 yard relay for class A high schools, Northeast won in 1:33 8-10, which lowered the old record of 1:33 1-10 made by University High back in 1923. Northeast also cut the one mile class A record to 3:30 5-10, and the quarter mile mark for same schools to :45 3-10.

George P. Guthrie of Ohio State won the 120 yard high timbers in :14 8-10. This performance tied the Drake record made by Robert Simpson of Missouri back in 1917. Roland Locke of Nebraska then came along and won the 100 yard dash in :09 8-10, which tied the Drake record made by Jackson Scholz of Missouri in 1920 and afterward tied by Irwin of Kansas in 1923.

Schwarze Gets Two Merits.

Herbert Schwarze of Wisconsin, who is fast developing into one of the leading weight men in this country, won two events and established new Drake records in both. In the shot put he beat yesterday's performance by tossing the lead ball, 47 feet 9 2-8 inches. He also hurled the discus 146 feet 7¼ inches.

Butler college of Indianapolis, coached by Pat Page, won two relays today and established new Drake records in both. In the one mile college, the Indianapolis boys won in the fast time of 3:18 2-10, a mark which bettered the old record of 3:23 2-10, made by Cornell in 1921. The Butler team also won the 880 yard college relay in 1:27 8-10. The old mark of 1:30 2-10 was made by Wabash in 1917.

Haskell Takes Two Mile.

Haskell institute won the two mile college relay in 8:04 4-10 which lowered the old Drake record of 8:10 3-10 made by Monmouth last year. The new Drake record of 196 feet, 2 inches made by Cox of Oklahoma in yesterday's trials in the javelin throw was not bettered today and will stand as a new Drake record.

The last Drake mark to go into the discard was the running hop, step and jump. Captain Merwin Graham of Kansas, leaped 47 feet 8 3-4 inches, a performance which bettered the old record of 46 feet, 1 1-2 inches made by DeHart Hubbard of Michigan, last year.

Build New Stadium.

From the standpoint of performances and ability of athletes entered, this year's relays will go down in history as the most successful ever held by the blue and white institution. In fact, the games have grown to such proportions the old stadium will be dismantled at once and construction of a new one started immediately.

A cannon had been obtained from Ft. Des Moines and as the last runner in the one mile university relay crossed the line it was fired. Immediately afterward a bugler sounded taps as the crowd of 12,000 stood at attention.

The University of Iowa band furnished music during the few delays in running off the program which was well handled by competent officials. Summaries:

120 YARD HIGH HURDLES — Won by Guthrie, Ohio State; Kinsey, Illinois, second; Taylor, Grinnell, third; Marigold, Illinois, fourth. Time, :14 8-10. (Ties Drake record established by Simpson of Missouri in 1917.)

SHEFFIELD BEATS CARDIFF, 1-0, FOR SOCCER TITLE

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, April 25. — An invading mob of English football fans, wearing red and white colors, tonight is wildly celebrating the victory of the Sheffield United team over the Cardiff City players by a score of 1 to 0 at Wembley stadium this afternoon, in the annual soccer classic which is Great Britain's greatest popular athletic event.

Thousands of disappointed Welsh rooters are drowning their sorrows over their team's heart breaking defeat in its first chance to get the cup since the competition started in 1871.

A 100,000 madly excited spectators witnessed the match, while thousands of other visitors were unable to obtain admittance.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

San Francisco, Cal., April 25.—[Special.]—The Olympic club of San Francisco battled into the lead in the four day program of the National A. A. U. swimming championships here today but the Illinois A. C. and Chicago A. A. are within striking distance of the championship, and likely one of them will be on top when the meet closes tomorrow. The Olympic club took the lead by virtue of the fifteen points awarded for winning the game for first place in the water polo championship, 3 goals to 1, against Chicago A. A.

Earlier in the day, the Cherry Circle relay team sprang a sensation when the quartet of Jones, Topp, Greenberg, and Breyer captured the 200 yard team race by an eyelash finish against Venice, Cal., Swimming association. The I. A. C. four, Weissmueller, McGillivray, Miller, and Horn, was a surprised third.

Spence Wins Pentathlon.

While the athletes of the three big clubs were battling it out, one individual star notched himself into a position of prominence. He is Walter Spence, cinnamon skinned wonder from British Guinea, swimming under auspices of Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. Spence

Georgetown Four Sets World's Record as Rivals Quit Race

Philadelphia, Pa., April 25.—[Special.]—Georgetown university's relay supremacy was established here this afternoon on Franklin field at the close of the thirty-first annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival. With the cheers of close to 40,000 followers of collegiate athletics ringing in their ears, the lads wearing the blue and gray of the Washington institution swept to victory in the two outstanding events on a card which bristled with spectacular performances, winning the two mile relay in the world's record time of 7 minutes 42 seconds, and snatching victory in the one mile college relay title by a matter of inches in the closest and most exciting race furnished for a major relay title in this annual fixture in recent years.

The Blue and Gray lads, who three times last winter shattered the world's indoor two mile record, showed today that they are as invincible on the cinder path. Eddie Swinburne, John Holden, Willie Sullivan and George Marsters instilled such deep respect within the breasts of runners of rival team members entered from Holy Cross, Harvard, Princeton, Cornell, Ohio State, and Pittsburgh, that all six of the rival teams withdrew from the race, leaving Georgetown alone of the original field entered. These wholesale withdrawals made a farce of what was expected to be a competitive test, but the day was saved as far as Georgetown and her record aspirations were concerned when a fearless though hopelessly outclassed Fordham university four consented to take the track against the formidable Blue and Gray quartet.

Mark Will Be Credited.

Georgetown made a purely record trial of the event and was successful, moreover. Thanks to the presence of Fordham on the track, Georgetown will receive credit for the record. In its victory, this Blue and Gray four dislodged the world's American and carnival record of 7:47 3-5, established by Boston college in winning the title last year.

A wonderful quarter mile anchor race by Jimmy Burgess, New York lad who holds the national junior quarter mile title, gave Georgetown its second relay championship in the mile title race. Burgess just managed to throw himself over the finish the width of his chest in front of C. Gage, Yale's anchor runner, who carried the Eli blue home second. Burgess broke the worsted in 3:19, one second short of the carnival record and 2 3-5 seconds away from the world's record of 3:16 2-5.

Penn university's Red and Blue runners captured the half mile college title and the four mile college relay championship went to Boston college after a bitter struggle with Penn State from the start of the event.

Hubbard Wins Century.

Six other carnival records were shattered and one was equaled, in addition to the record half mile relay championship race. Outstanding among the other record performances was the victory of Dehart Hubbard, Michigan's Negro sprinter and jumper, who holds the western conference century title, in the international 100 yard special sprint. Hubbard, breaking well from the starting mark, overcame the wonderful sprinting of A. E. Porritt, Oxford student, who holds the Australian and English intercollegiate sprint title, and led the English champion to the tape by a yard and a half in :9 4-5, equaling the carnival record established in 1900 by Arthur Duffy, and equaled by J. Alfred Leconey of Lafayette two years ago.

The other international event witnessed another English setback, for the titled Lord David Burghley, running below the form he exhibited yesterday, was shut out in the first heat of the 120 yard hurdle test, finishing third to G. B. Woods of Butler and

A. A. U. Rules on Amateurs Seem Elastic

BY FRANK SMITH.

Just where does an amateur stand in the estimation of the A. A. U.? We are curious to know after reading the rules and then turning over in our minds the alleged antics of Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola, the great Finnish runners, and their connection with Hugo Quist, who roams about the country as their manager.

Searching through the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union we come to section 10 of rule 4, which has to do with the expenses of athletes competing for the A. A. U. or any of its member clubs. This is what we find:

"The traveling expenses which an athlete is allowed to ask for, receive or accept are limited to first class railroad fare, including parlor car and single berth sleeping car fares actually paid, and the amount actually paid for meals and lodging, which amount for meals and lodging shall not exceed $7 per day in any case during the time necessarily occupied in going and returning from a meeting, and which amount for any single meal shall not exceed $2. In a case where the meeting is more than 150 miles from an athlete's home expenses also may be allowed for not more than one day before and one day after the meeting, unless a longer period is specially approved by the local registration committee.

No Pay for Manager.

"No traveling expenses or payment of any kind for manager, trainer, rubber, friend or relative, and no payment for loss of time or wages, shall be asked for or received directly or indirectly, except that women swimmers may be allowed to ask for and receive actual traveling expenses for a chaperon, not to exceed the amount hereinbefore allowed for an athlete. ## HOUSER, GIRL RUNNERS BREAK WORLD MARKS; NURMI BEATS INDIANS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 25.—[By Associated Press.]—Paavo Nurmi, the silent and marvelous runner from Finland, trotted down the cinder path to an easy victory over eight Indian entrants in a three mile event here today. Nurmi's time was 14:15.9, a new American record for the three mile run.

Clarence "Bud" Houser, Olympic shotput and discus champion, set a new world's record in the discus event by tossing the platter 156 feet 3¼ inches, three-quarters of an inch farther than the former record of 156 feet 2½ inches, held by Tom Lieb of Notre Dame university.

Another world's record was broken in the 440 yard women's relay, which was won by the Pasadena Athletic club team in :52 7-10.

Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A. C. won the mile run in 4:16.9. The one mile walk was won by Willie Plant of the Morningside A. C., New York.

ELLIOTT, FORMER CUB, MAY NEVER PLAY BALL AGAIN

Seattle, Wash., April 25.—Ace Elliott, Seattle's new first baseman, obtained from the Chicago Cubs, was today on his way east to have Dr. Robert Hyland, physician for the St. Louis Browns and Cardinals, break and reset his left leg. When Elliott left here last night fear was felt that he would never again be able to play professional baseball.

Elliott broke each of his legs within twenty games, the right playing with the Cubs against the Pirates at Kingman, Ariz., last year and the left against the Senators at Sacramento April 16. The latter injury, diagnosed at first as a green tree fracture, was found, after it began to heal, to require drastic and highly specialized treatment. Hyland handled Elliott after the injury at Kingman.

NAVY CREWS WIN RACES FROM MASS. TECH OARSMEN

Annapolis, Md., April 25.—Opening the schedule of intercollegiate rowing here today, the Naval academy crews won from the varsity and junior varsity eights of Massachusetts Institute of Technology on the Severn river course. The Navy varsity defeated its rival by four lengths in the fast time of 6:43. Tech's time was 6:56.

In the junior contest, which was merged into a triangular affair by entrance of the Navy plebes, both of the Navy eights crossed the line ahead of the New Englanders by a margin of about two lengths. The Navy juniors almost suffered defeat at the hands of the plebes, scarcely three feet separating these craft at the finish. The time of the juniors was 7:06; the plebes, 7:08; and Tech juniors, 7:20.

A. A. U. RULES ON AMATEURS SEEM TO BE ELASTIC

athlete violating this rule shall thereby render himself ineligible for further competition as an amateur."

If that A. A. U. rule were followed, then Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola and a whole bundle of other "amateur" athletes should be declared ineligible. Nurmi and Ritola have never tried to hide the fact that Hugo Quist, listed as a bricklayer by profession, is their manager. He has been traveling all over the country with the wonderful Finnish runners. Perhaps he saved enough money from his trade to permit him this vacation, which on the face of it is rather expensive.

Ineligible Once More.

In Section 11 of Article 4 we find the following:

"An athlete who permits any one other than an officer of the club which he is entitled to represent in competition to make arrangements for his appearance at an athletic meting shall thereby render himself ineligible for further competition as an amateur."

Our information is that Nurmi represents Finland and that Ritola runs for the Finnish-American A. C. of New York. If these facts are true, why did the officials of the A. A. U. permit Nurmi to engage Quist as his manager? If Quist is a member of the Finnish-American A. C., which is probable, he would be permitted under the rules to book Ritola, but also under the rules his expenses could not be paid by the A. A. U. or any of its affiliated clubs.

Looking through the constitution of A. A. U., we run across section 1 of article 12, which reads:

"No prizes shall be given by any individual club, committee or association, or competed for or accepted by any athlete, except suitably inscribed wreaths, diplomas, banners, badges, medals, timepieces and mantel ornaments, or suitably inscribed articles of jewelry, silverware, table or toilet service, unless authorized by the registration committee, and said prizes shall not exceed in cost of $35 for first, $20 for second, and $10 for third prize, unless by special permission challenge trophies or other similar prizes are authorized by the registration committee and a record kept of such authorization. Suitable team and individual prizes may be awarded for team competitions in single specialty."

Forget Their Prizes.

If Nurmi, Ritola, and other athletes who have been winning with regularity have taken down a prize for each victory they are carrying around excess baggage, but from information received from the east Nurmi and Ritola have often left meets in a hurry, without taking trophies with them.

Article 10 of the A. A. U. constitution defines an amateur as follows:

"An amateur sportsman is one who engages in sport solely for the pleasure and physical, mental, or social benefits he derives therefrom, and to whom sport is nothing more than an avocation."

This definition seems to be flexible, depending on circumstances.

All of which leads on to remark, where will it end?

"FISH HOG" SHOULD READ ANGLER'S CODE.

SPORTSMANSHIP in America is undoubtedly on a higher plane today than it was years ago. The American outdoor lover has experienced a quickening of conscience and he appreciates more than ever the meaning of the words "sportsmanship" and "conservation." However, we still have some distance to go before the "fish hog" is left by the wayside and experiences in the last three or four months have shown that there still are too many hunters who go in the "bum sport" class.

Here is what the true fisherman believes in and does:

1. He holds that a good fisherman not only can catch fish but is one who rigidly conserves angling as a sport.

2. He realizes that fish must have homes in which to live. Therefore he sees to it that good forests and waters are made available and kept available for abundant fish life.

3. He knows well the enemies of the fish—and he takes of his time and money to rid fish life of these menaces.

4. He loathes that human fish hog who ruthlessly wastes and destroys, and he vigilantly brings to bay these robbers of our fish.

5. He is tortured by that ghastly nightmare, pollution of waters, and he fights everlastingly to keep clear waters clear, and to redeem foul waters to purity.

6. He is a student of fish life and habits. Thus he knows that both the size and number of fish depend directly upon the abundance of the food supply. Therefore he conserves bait life.

7. But he obeys the fish laws, not out of fear but because he understands that they are absolutely necessary for the preservation of the fishing sport—for himself, his associates, and posterity.

8. He has found that artificial propagation is necessary to keep the supply of fish abreast of the growing numbers of fishermen. As a result he is in touch with fish culturists and their work.

9. He believes that the "compleat angler" is a result of wholesome development from boyhood and girlhood days. Therefore he is as much interested in dating a fishing trip for the youngsters as he is in arranging one for himself.

10. He is a dynamic part of the spirit of American democracy and therefore holds as inviolate that all fishing waters shall be open to the people.

CHIEF OF A. A. U. STARTS QUIZ IN NURMI AFFAIR

New York, April 25.—Frederick W. Rubien, chairman of the national registration committee of the Amateur Athletic union, today took steps to obtain from Paavo Nurmi, Willie Ritola, and Hugo Quist, their manager, statements answering allegations that Quist had demanded excessive expense allowances for the appearance of the athletes in certain western cities.

Asserting that he was determined to get to the bottom of the charges, Rubien telegraphed the Pacific coast branch of the union to get the statements upon the arrival of Nurmi, Ritola, and Quist in San Francisco. He said he would question Quist personally upon the latter's return east in about two weeks.

Rubien would make no comment on the press dispatch which said that G. P. Wendell, chairman of the midwestern registration body, had exonerated Nurmi and Ritola from any complicity in the alleged demands of Quist.

Quist Ready With Statement.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 25.—Hugo Quist, manager of Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola, commenting on New York reports that the Amateur Athletic union sought complete statements from him and the runners concerning Omaha reports of demands for excessive expense money, said that he would be ready to make a complete statement at any time.

Quist said that he saw no argument about negotiations with Drake university representatives, "and, of course, Nurmi and Ritola had nothing to do with any negotiations, for I as their manager acted for them in all negotiations."

Will Be Absolved.

Omaha, Neb., April 25.—[By Associated Press.]—After a long distance telephone conversation this morning with Kenneth L. Wilson, athletic director at Drake university, at Des Moines, relative to the alleged exorbitant expense demands made by Hugo Quist, manager for Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola, Finnish running stars, G. P. Wendell, chairman of the Midwestern A. A. U. registration committee, told the Associated Press that Nurmi and Ritola "undoubtedly would be absolved from any blame in the affair."

Denies Wendell Statement.

Des Moines, Ia., April 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Kenneth L. Wilson, director of athletics at Drake university, today took exceptions to statements accredited to G. P. Wendell, secretary of the Mid-western A. A. U., Omaha, that he had absolved Paavo Nurmi and Willie Ritola from connection with the expense account scandal.

The Gifts of Packard

DURING the last twenty-five years it has been Packard's privilege to make many fine gifts to those who buy motor cars.

A few years ago it was the fuelizer, found only on Packard cars, and then last year, four wheel brakes, for Packard was the first well-known motor car builder to include four wheel brakes as standard equipment.

Now, Packard is offering at one time three gifts, the most important improvements since the days of the electrical starter, nearly fifteen years ago.

The thousands who have taken delivery of new Packard cars, both Six and Eight, during the past few weeks have found in them:

1. The motor oil rectifier
2. The chassis pressure lubricator
3. The new steering and front spring suspension

Numbers 1 and 2 should double the life of your car, reduce operating and maintenance charges and add years to your peace of mind.

Number 3 makes available the advantages of low pressure tires with the elimination of dangerous wheel wobble.

No other car has these three improvements.

May we show you why those who own Packard cars need to change motor oil but four times a year, and how they lubricate their cars in less than one second of time?

And will you, as our guest, drive one of these new cars over a route selected to bring out the advantages of the new steering and spring suspension?

If it will be any hardship for you to stop at our store during the next few days, a 'phone call will bring a car to your door where you and your family may inspect —the latest gifts of Packard.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 25.—[Special.]—A pair of home runs was all Killefer's Cubs needed today to annex their third straight triumph over the Pirates. By dint of these homers—one being Charley Hartnett's seventh of the season—the Chicago gang hopped away to a four run lead in the first two innings, and by hustling behind the pitching of Fred "Sheriff" Blake, they made that advantage win for them by 4 to 3 after nine stirring rounds before about 20,000 customers.

Aside from the chapters in which scoring was perpetrated, the matinee was a tussle of pitchers, in which Lee Meadows, the bespectacled curvist, played the other rôle. Lee was practically invincible after the Cubs had done their real damage, and Blake was just about as finished a slabber as one could care to see, except in the sixth, when the Pirates bunched six hits and threatened to drive him to cover. All the hostiles' runs were scored then and there, but after that Blake did things to suit himself.

Two Walks and Homer.

Hartnett's healthy poke, incidentally his fifth of the season against this same club, occurred in the opening inning just after Meadows had found himself lacking in control. The bespectacled gent couldn't get the ball over for Statz, the lead-off man, so Arnold walked. The same treatment was accorded Heathcote, after which Barrett fouled out in an attempt to bunt.

Hartnett came up, and evidently had no intention of waiting 'em out. The first pitch came right through the middle, and Charley leaped on it. The ball sailed away on a low line and disappeared over the left field fence, well toward center. There was nothing fishy about the wallop, and while Statz, Heathcote and Charley were sauntering leisurely homeward the crowd was cheering for something that isn't a common sight in the home of the Pirates. So much for that inning.

Grimm Has Big Afternoon.

With the opening of chapter No. 2, Charley Grimm, former Pirate, and anxious that Pittsburgh should remember him as a pretty valuable man, walked up and walloped a half liner and half fly to the foot of the left field line. The ball came down just inside the mark and then took a peculiar hop over the chalk line and into the bleachers for a home run. It was a bit lucky, but none the less satisfying.

Grimm's homer is the only noteworthy thing that stands out in the box score, but he did a few other things worthy of mention. He made any number of hair raising stops around his chosen station, but when in the second inning he fell headlong from the bag to grab a throw with one hand and complete a double play, the crowd stood up and convinced him that he is still well thought of hereabouts. And when it came to hustling, he was all over the field, giving advice and encouraging his mates, and when he made the final putout he hopped on the bag as though the win meant a million bucks to him.

One Run Lead Enough.

After Grimm's homer, the Cubs had only two chances to do business, and neither materialized. Friberg and Miller singled with two out in the third, and this put matters up to Grimm, but the best he could do was a grounder to Niehaus. The only other Cub hits were produced in the seventh, Statz and Heathcote singling with one out. Barrett couldn't help them, and neither could Hartnett, who lost his head and reached out to swing and miss for a third strike at what the Pirate battery intended as a pitchout.

Blake was so steady with his speed and curves for five innings that only two hits were notched against him. Trouble started in the sixth when Carey led off with a safety. Cuyler fanned, but Moore singled, Barnhart doubled and Traynor singled, the attack netting three runs and leaving the Cubs only one to the good. That was sufficient for Blake, however, and only one Pirate reached first in the three concluding rounds.

ROBINS, 9; PHILS, 6.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 25.—[Special.]—Brooklyn won the final game of the series from the Phillies today, 9 to 6. The contest was featured by wild hitting, the Robins getting twenty safe blows and the Phils ten. Zack Wheat, Brooklyn outfielder, made his [illegible] straight hit of the series when he singled off Betts in the first inning. Then he was retired on the next time up, but he made two more singles before the game was over, getting thirteen hits in the four game series. Fournier made two home runs and two singles. Score:

RUNS WITHOUT HITS

The Sox got a run they didn't deserve in the third. Kamm was trapped between third and home when Faber bounced to the pitcher, but arrived safely at the plate when Catcher Bassler dropped a throw from Third Baseman Jones. Before Bassler could pick up the ball Mr. Kamm was past him and over the plate for the first Sox tally.

CUB NOTES

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 25.—[Special.]—The Cubs moved out of here tonight for Cincinnati, where a four game series will be opened against the Reds tomorrow.

President William Veeck of the Cubs intended to go home two days ago, but when the team won he decided to stay. Now he thinks he'll go home from Cincinnati tomorrow night, but if the Cubs cop their Sabbath engagement he probably will linger longer.

Home runs are so plentiful this spring that the wise ones are beginning to crack that the baseballs are livelier than before. It's a tough matter, however, to make the manufacturers admit that the pill is any different.

Grimm hurt an ankle sliding into first base in the sixth inning, but he refused to quit the pastime. He hobbled around like a one-legged man during the last three innings, but the injury didn't interfere with his playing.

Blake has won three games to date and all were against the Pirates. He trimmed them in the opening series at Chicago, was credited with victory when he finished a game here Thursday, and then came back today. He had a world of speed and a neat curve today and was able to control both.

The poor fellows who own major league clubs certainly have tough sledding. The Cubs and Pirates played to only 64,000 admissions in the four games here.

SOX NOTES

TRIS SPEAKER and his Cleveland Indians begin a four game series at Comiskey park today.

The Indians have won seven and lost only three games and are a bit ahead of the Sox, who have won eight and lost four. Hollis Thurston is due to do the slabbing today.

Rabbit Maranville, Cub captain, who still is hobbling about because of his lame ankle, was reported to be a spectator at the game.

The first time Ike Davis went to bat he was given a round of applause from the fans. Then he went out and did his stuff.

Bill Cunningham, outfielder of the Braves, watched the game from the balcony. He is on his way home to San Francisco. His only explanation was that the boss of the Braves didn't think he was able to play yet. Bill had an operation for appendicitis last winter.

Mostil's triple in the fifth was one of the longest blows he ever landed. It hit the center field fence on about the first bounce. Had he hit it to left field it would have been a sure homer into or over the bleacher.

About eight times during the game the Tigers tried to get on by bunting the ball. One of them made it.

Cobb changed his lineup and switched his batting order, but it did no good. Jones was back in the game, replacing Haney. Blue went back as leadoff man and O'Rourke was shoved away down. Heilman was out for the second day in a row with a lame ankle.

ROBINS, PHILS TRADE HURLERS

Philadelphia, Pa., April 25.—The Brooklyn Robins today traded Arthur Decatur, right handed pitcher, to the Philadelphia Nationals for Wilbur Hubbell, also a right hander. No cash was involved.

Each pitcher last season was credited with winning ten games and losing nine. Hubbell, however, pitched nine complete contests to four for Decatur.

MRS. RUTH, BABE MUCH IMPROVED, SAYS PHYSICIAN

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—Babe and Mrs. Ruth are much improved today, it was learned at St. Vincent's hospital, where the home run king has been confined since his arrival in New York. Mrs. Ruth's collapse yesterday was brought on by the strain of caring for her husband.

Dr. Edward King, who has been attending the Babe, is also looking after Mrs. Ruth. He says she must remain in bed for several days, at least. Her room is two floors above that of her husband, but 4 year old Dorothy runs in between and maintains communication between "mamma" and "daddy."

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

TURF NOMENCLATURE.

TURF nomenclature always has been an interesting subject to The Wake. Some of our leading breeders have a happy faculty of attaching particularly appropriate names to the offspring of their stallions and matrons. Somehow we pay greater attention to the progress of a colt or filly aptly designated along breeding lines.

The Kentucky Derby eligibles of 1925 do not average up to the usual standard in this respect, but there are a number in the list whose names reflect family trees. Master Charlie, future book favorite, is an imported colt by Lord Archer-Bachelor's Choice. There is nothing there from which to reason out the name. Quatrain, however, is by Omar Khayyam-Bonnie Mary.

Looking over the list, we find suggestions from these:

Moon Magic, by Torchbearer-Mirka.
Bright Steel, by Spur-Jingling.
Boon Companion, by North Star III.-Blushing Beauty.
Blue Ridge, by Friar Rock-Blue Grass.
American Flag, by Man o' War-Lady Comfey.
Hedge Fence, by Whisk Broom II.-Homely.
High Water, by Rapid Water-Vanity Box.
Elector, by Ballot-Sister.
Sunny Man, by Sun Briar-Romagne.
Drowsy Waters, by Cataract-Bronzewing.
Bankrupt, by All Gold-Quicksand.
Candy Kid, by Peter Pan-Matinée.
The Bat, by Broomstick-Fly by Night II.
Mother Goose, by Chicle-Flying Witch.

Greatest Baseball Player.

Critics of Babe Ruth as the greatest baseball player are comparing him with the composite abilities of other great players instead of with individuals.

Babe was a great southpaw pitcher, is a good outfielder, batter, and if necessary as good a fielding first baseman as half the regulars in the big league.

Reversing the comparison, were Clarkson, Walsh, Cicotte, and Faber, as great hitters, outfielders, and first basemen as Ruth; were Kelley, Duffy, Lange, Speaker, Cobb, and Collins greater pitchers than Babe?

Ruth is no slouch on the bases, despite his size. He possesses almost unerring baseball brains (very seldom does he do the wrong thing when it is a question of thinking). Considering all qualities, Ruth will not suffer by comparison with any famous player of the past for the honor of Greatest Baseball Player.

CONFESSES TO SHOOTING OF BALL PLAYER

Atlanta, Ga., April 25. — George Young, charged with shooting Matt Donahue, star outfielder of the Mobile Southern Association club, in a local hotel last night, today surrendered and was released on bond.

Police said Young admitted shooting Donahue, and charges of disorderly conduct and shooting at another were entered against him.

Donahue told police he and Pat Hargrave, Mobile utility player, were in the same room when some one knocked at the door. When Donahue opened the door, he said, a man whom he recognized as Young shot at him twice, the second bullet hitting him in the thigh. Young then ran, Donahue said.

An X-ray of Donahue's wound was made today. Norman Elberfeld, Mobile manager, expressed the opinion the player would be out of the game several weeks.

"SMART MONEY" BET ON CHANTEY, DERBY UNKNOWN

BY FRENCH LANE.

Lexington, Ky., April 25.—[Special.]—There has been a tremendous plunge all over the country during the last few days on a Kentucky Derby dark horse candidate owned by the Whitneys of New York.

Chantey is the colt's name, and until yesterday at Havre de Grace, when he won the third race in which other eastern Derby colts were starters, he had never faced the barrier. He is a son of Pennant-Enchanting and is a half brother to Enchantment, Derby favorite of two years ago, which failed under Whitney silks.

So much money and apparently from such smart sources has poured in on him his future book price has tumbled from 150 to 1 to 20 to 1. The last big commission was placed in Kentucky at 30 to 1.

Colt a Real Mystery.

In Kentucky, even those connected with the western divisions of Whitney horses, seem to know little about this colt. Some Derby entry lists carry him as one of the Harry Payne Whitney nominations. Others have him listed as belonging to Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable.

Whether the money, which has cold chills doing gallops up and down the spines of the future book operators, represents the Whitney interests or even the stable connections could not be learned here today. Thousands of dollars have been played on the colt all over the country.

Almadel Wins Handicap.

The plunge on the eastern dark horse shared the spotlight today with the performances of a number of Derby eligibles on the opening day's program of the Kentucky racing season. They were slow track tests, for after two scorching summerlike days a thunderstorm broke early this morning and provided heavy going.

Almadel, son of Ultimus-Busy Lass, was the sensation of the afternoon and when he showed his flying heels to such noted performers as Beau Butler, Chacolet, and Corinth in winning the Phoenix Hotel handicap he established himself as one of the most formidable of all Western Derby colts.

Over a track that was a few seconds slow he stepped the mile and seventy yards in 1:47 1-5, leading Beau Butler to the wire by a length. He was always the leader and for the first half was under mild restraint.

To Run in Preakness.

As a result of his sparkling victory Almadel will likely be sent east to the Preakness and Kentucky tonight sees a chance of a Kentucky victory in the Derby. The colt is owned by Hal Price Headley, one of the most popular breeders and owners in the Blue Grass region.

Two of the Derby candidates scheduled to go on today's program were withdrawn with the change in track condition, Kentucky Cardinal and Old Slip, neither of which has shown a liking to heavy going.

Of the Derby fillies that started in the Ashland Oaks, won by Little Visitor, none showed enough class to be seriously considered of Derby caliber. These included Bridesmaid and Deeming.

The rain made it an easy day for all the other Derby candidates training here. Few were out and of those who were sent through gallops none was extended. Reputation breezed a half in 48 4-5, Tilka in 46 3-5, Supremeus five-eighths in 1:03, and Dr. Tanner just galloped the same route in 1:10.

CHICAGO HORSE WINS MARYLAND STEEPLECHASE

Baltimore, Md., April 25.—[Special.]—Before a crowd of approximately 7,000 people gathered from many states Burgoright, owned by B. L. Bahr of Chicago, won the thirty-second annual Maryland Hunt cup point to point steeplechase today at Worthington Valley.

In defeating the rest of the field of nine horses representing the best steeplechasers in the east Burgoright proved himself to be the best cross country steeplechaser of the season.

Only four horses finished of the nine which started in the four mile race. The favorite, Oracle II., owned by Mrs. M. M. Maddox of Virginia, took the lead shortly after the race started, but fell at the fifteenth jump.

The rider, Raymond Belmont, son of the late August Belmont, remounted, but the famous 14 year old horse was injured in the fall and could not continue the race.

The winning horse, Burgoright, was among the leaders in the race from the start and was running second, about ten lengths behind, when Oracle II. fell.

Burgoright refused the next jump, but his rider, Joseph T. Bowen Jr., forced him across. From that time on Burgoright maintained a long lead and crossed the finish line in a trot.

A quartet of genuine Kentucky candidates for the Derby. They have the railbirds at Lexington taking notice by speedy morning Derby trials. Benedict Vow and Blue Warbler are two from Edward R. Bradley's string. Each has been showing great speed in Derby training gallops. Blue Warble is a filly, but some say she may be Bradley's chief Derby hope. Menifee, a brother to Chilhowee, and Kentucky Cardinal have shown a bit more speed than either of the Bradley candidates and both are regarded as likely Derby starters. Some say Menifee has more speed than Chilhowee. All are Kentucky owned candidates.

PLAN TO WAVE OLIVE BRANCH AT AURORA OVAL

Judge Joseph A. Murphy, presiding steward at Columbus, O., during the spring meet, will arrvie in Chicago today for two appointments, one with John P. Sullivan of the Louisiana Jockey Club of New Orleans, and the other with Aurora officials in an effort to create harmony in the situation there.

The Aurora troubles never were bad from a racing standpoint and from present indications the storm is fast clearing.

Clifford Trimble of Aurora went to Columbus Wednesday night to see Judge Murphy and with the cooperation of the officials of the Chicago Business Men's Racing association of Chicago, the attorneys for the two factions have been brought together and an adjustment of the pending affairs will be made to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Many Seeking Stables.

Representatives of the Chicago Business Men's Racing association at various tracks report the greatest interest is being shown by the horsemen in the coming Hawthorne meeting. The stables will be opened on June 1, and many reservations are waiting Judge Murphy's approval.

At the present time there are more than 1,200 applications, and it is estimated on the opening day about that number of horses will be quartered at the track. At the present time there are more than 900 stalls, and with the added facilities this will run the number needed up to that required.

Plan Many Improvements.

Two hundred and fifty beds of shrubbery, besides 100 twenty foot beds of perennial plants, have been planted in the infield. All will be in full bloom during the summer months. The paddock and the clubhouse lawns will have been put in park shape and many flower beds will adorn the premises.

Byron W. Everitt, auditor, is arranging with the Chicago and West Town Railway company of Oak Park for the installation of steel rails along 52nd avenue and the paving of the street between the car tracks. Negotiations with several well known contractors have been made for pavement from sidewalk to sidewalk. Operations are expected to be started immediately and the township of Cicero is straightening out Ogden avenue at 48th avenue, taking out the jog under the viaduct and making it a straight thoroughfare.

NAVY WINS TENNIS MEET.

LIABILITY FOR BILLS OF JOCKEY SANDE STILL UNDECIDED

NEW YORK, April 25.—[Special.]—The question of who is going to pay Jockey Earl Sande's hospital and doctor's bills, arising from his injury at Saratoga, was still undecided today when Referee C. B. Wickham of the state board of compensation indefinitely adjourned the third hearing on the matter after he had heard further discussion concerning the responsibility of James Butler, Harry F. Sinclair, the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company and the Aetna Insurance company at the offices of the commission, 124 East 28th street.

Last August, Sande, while under contract to Sinclair, rode James Butler's Spurt at Saratoga Springs and was severely injured when the horse fell. The hearings are to determine liability for Sande's bills.

This Popularity Points to Value of Chrysler Results

The continued popularity of the Chrysler Six is a very definite suggestion to the buyer. It is evident that a car so eagerly desired delivers valuable results that belong to the Chrysler alone. This fact suggests the wisdom of studying the Chrysler Six at first hand.

A ride, for example, shows at once why Chrysler Six owners are so enthusiastic. After trying the acceleration and testing the tremendous power of its motor, with its high-gear range of from 2 to over 70 miles an hour, come to a quick, smooth stop with the self-equalizing Chrysler-Lockheed hydraulic four-wheel brakes. You'll find it possesses a flashing pick-up that no words can describe. It must be experienced to be comprehended. This is a desirable result that Chrysler alone gives you because its engineers have developed a new perfection of gas distribution, special combustion chambers and a scientific heat distribution through the applied science of thermo-dynamics.

Chrysler facts are worth knowing because there is no other car on the market that offers a similar performance or an equal enjoyment. Once you ride in the car you will never be content until that enjoyment is yours. We are eager to demonstrate Chrysler's superior and different results.

TRIBUNE BIKE DERBY SET FOR SUNDAY, MAY 24

The fourth annual renewal of The Tribune A. A. bicycle Derby will be held at Humboldt park on May 24. Selection of the Derby on this date was made by the Tribune Athletic association last week at a meeting of the western board of control of the Amateur Bicycle League of America, the governing body of the cycle sport in the middle west.

As in former years the races are open to all amateurs and are free. No entry fee is charged and the only requirement is that the riders qualify as amateurs in good standing with the Amateur Bicycle League of America.

Seven races again make up the program. The list of events includes races for boys and girls and the club riders of various classes. The boys and girls' race and the novice class event will be run over a 2 1-5 mile course, while the class C, B, and A races will be 4 2-5 miles in length. The twenty-two mile handicap will again feature the program and is open to all, regardless of classification.

For Clean Sport.

The bicycle Derby is promoted each year by the Tribune A. A., pursuant with the policy of promoting clean outdoor sports for the youth of the city. Outdoor sports aid in making better and healthier citizens and it is for this reason that the prominent athletic and civic officials of the city coöperate with the Tribune A. A. each year in putting on the numerous sporting meets and carnivals.

The bicycle derby each year is recognized, along with the various other Tribune A. A. sporting meets, as the leading event of its kind held in this section of the country. Bike racers of national reputation compete in the tournament and the caliber of racing is well known throughout the country.

Last year a field of 296 riders competed in the derby in the seven races. The twenty-two mile handicap, always the feature of the program, attracted an entry of 205 riders and provided a fitting climax to the derby.

Must Have Age Certificates.

All riders competing in the derby must be registered with the western board of the Amateur Bicycle league of America. Registration can be made with Secretary Harry Berz at 1225 South Avers avenue, or at 3846 West North avenue or with the secretary at Humboldt park on the morning of the race.

Secretary Berz also announced yesterday that in accordance with the new rules of the Western Board all riders competing in the race for boys under 16 years must present age certificates.

Entries positively will close at midnight on May 17, with Walter Eckersall, Sporting Department, Tribune building, 435 North Michigan avenue. No entry fee is required. Just clip the entry blank appearing on the sporting pages and mail as directed. The blanks should be filled out in pencil and the names printed in order to aid officials in compiling the entry lists.

TABERSKI WINS CUE CROWN AND PRIZE OF $2,500

The race in the National Championship Pocket Billiard league has come to an end with F. J. Taberski of New York winning the title from former Champion Ralph Greenleaf, who for six years has been looked on as almost invincible. Winning eighty-one games and losing only twenty-seven, Taberski captured the $2,500 first prize and the $3,000 annual salary which goes with it.

Outside of games won and lost, Greenleaf's record is more brilliant than that of Taberski. He scored the second best high run, eighty-four, and shared the season's best game mark of three innings. Greenleaf collects $1,800 for second place and $50 for half of the best game prize.

Otto Reiselt's victories during the last ten days aided Robert Cannefax of New York, the champion, to climb into first place on 87 won and 37 lost in the National Three Cushion Billiard league, and gave Reiselt third place with 71 victories and 37 defeats.

It was the defeats handed him by Reiselt that started Copulos on the toboggan. He slipped to fourth by dividing with Charles Ellis at Pittsburgh and then losing four to Harry Wakefield at Cleveland. Johnny Layton is in second place.

CHICAGO GOLFER BEATS MEDALIST IN JERSEY MEET

Morristown, N. J., April 25.—[Special.]—It took the medalist's nemesis a long time to catch David H. McAlpin II. in the special invitation tournament at the Morris County Golf club, but it got him in the end. After successfully dodging the time honored jinx for two rounds, the home club player became a victim today, his conqueror being Robert A. Gardner of the Onwentsia club, Chicago, former national champion.

Gardner's victory marked the second consecutive time the hoodoo of golfers has run true to form, for last year W. C. Fownes Jr. of Oakmont carried off the medal, only to lose out to Reid in the final round. The ex-champion had his work cut out for him, however, McAlpin hanging on until the seventeenth hole, where a topped tee shot ended him.

WALKER TAKES Y.M.C.A. NATIONAL HANDBALL TITLE

Cleveland, O., April 25.—L. A. Walker of the Toledo Y. M. C. A. won the singles championship in the National Y. M. C. A. handball tournament here today, defeating Harry Goldman of Cleveland easily in two straight games. The scores were 21—17, 21—5.

Herman Dworman and Al Schaufelberger, Detroit, were the winners in the doubles, beating Young and Tyler, Cleveland, 21—7 and 21—9.

THIS IS HOW "RED" FABER FOOLED THEM YESTERDAY

Here is the veteran White Sox twirler and his four favorite ways of sending opposing batters back to the dugout. The knuckle ball is thrown, as Red always flings, with something of a sidesweep. It breaks much the same as a spitball, but instead of being thrown with speed it is a slow ball. In delivering his curve ball with the fingers gripping the ball as the picture shows, Faber uses a more obvious side wheel throw. To heave a fast ball Red's fingers grip the seams to secure a better hold on the ball and to give it a spin and make it hop. The spitter is a mighty hard ball to hit as the Sox veteran twirls it. He uses the side sweep, of course, and puts a lot of speed on the pill. The ball breaks down and to one side. Red decides, by the way he delivers the ball, to which side the ball will shoot, but the batter doesn't have much of an idea where it is going.

SYRACUSE AGAIN TRIMS MICHIGAN NINE BY 9 TO 2

Syracuse, N. Y., April 25.—[Special.]—Out of the torn and tattered pattern of a speedy rout on Friday big Bill Van Lengen, southpaw pitcher of the Syracuse university baseball team, won a brilliant victory over Michigan at Archbold stadium today. Bill toyed with the Wolverines after the first inning, and because of the wizardry of his good left arm the Orange scored its second consecutive win over the visiting host. This time the score was 9 to 2. Score:

35,000 GOLFERS TO INVADE LOCAL COURSES TODAY

BY MORROW KRUM.

There must be a great element of surprise to those who are unused to the ways of the great game called golf to consider that approximately 35,000 ardent tee box tourists, most of them of the stronger sex, will give their undivided attention to their favorite pastime this morning—unless it rains.

Now it may be stated in all frankness that the figure of 35,000 is conservative. If the actual truth be known there may be 40,000 or 45,000, or even 50,000 men touring the meadows today in the Chicago district. There are approximately 130 golf clubs in and around Chicago, and each of these will send 300 or 350 players away from the first tee. Therein you have the figures for a rough estimate.

Most Popular Sport.

It is worthy of remark that less than two score years ago there were no golf players in Chicago, and today there are at least 35,000! The 35,000 fans are actual participants of the game and not onlookers. It means golf is the most popular form of sport with Americans.

There are two good reasons for the game's popularity. One is that the most of us have trouble in making good scores. The second is that it is a pastime that gives health with its pleasure. Consider such a day as yesterday and try to find a better way of enjoying the wonders of nature than playing golf. It cannot be done. Golf is the game that gives the actual participant a genuine benefit, that of health.

Provides Thrill and Health.

That is why there are 35,000 persons among our 3,000,000 who today give their attention to golf, and that is why there will be 300,000 of them in five more years. Watching a baseball game gives you a thrill, but golf gives you the same thrill and a great deal of health besides. It's the reaping of personal benefit that makes golf so popular.

Low scores are possible at Flossmoor. Warren Wood, who once won the western amateur title, breezed around the course the other day in 35—34—69. But it takes a good shooter to accomplish a low score at Flossmoor.

The Edgebrook Forest Preserve Golf club will hold an invitation tournament today. Many old timers will be there.

CHAMP CLAIM IS VERIFIED

BY FRANK SMITH.

It always is an agreeable feeling when one is vindicated in his judgment. That is the case with us. Ever since the Ed (Strangler) Lewis-Wayne (Big) Munn match in Kansas City in which Munn threw Lewis from the ring we have contended that Lewis was fouled and should have been awarded the match, and to make sure of our ground we wrote to Walter Bates, veteran wrestling and boxing referee, who was third man in the ring on that eventful night, asking him some pointed questions.

We weren't sure he would want to reply, but he did, and the wrestling fans should be thankful to him for his candidness. His prompt reply and the stand he has taken verify the many reports we have heard regarding his fairness.

Here is the list of questions and Mr. Bates' replies:

Q.—Was Lewis fouled? A.—Yes and no.

Q.—If so, was it an intentional foul? A.—My contention was that it was not a deliberate foul.

Q.—Did it cause injury to Lewis? A.—Lewis was taken to the hospital after the match and remained there for about a week and then was confined to his bed at home for some time.

Q.—On March 14 you issued a set of rules. Is that your present attitude? A.—Copy of rules inclosed. [Yes.]

Q.—Was Munn refused injunction by the court restraining Lewis from advertising himself as heavyweight wrestling champion? A.—Yes; at Independence, Mo.

Q.—Do you know if one or more courts refused to order Lewis to turn over the championship belt? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was it a fact that before the third fall Lewis was brought back under protest and did the club announcer from the ring so inform the spectators before the wrestlers resumed? A.—Yes.

Q.—Would you, as referee of the contest, uphold the opinion of various sports writers and sports authorities who have stated that under the conditions as they exist that Lewis still is the champion? A.—Yes.

The reason we asked particularly about Mr. Bates' new set of rules which will govern wrestling matches which he will judge was the clause regarding fouls, one of which created such a storm of protest and indignation as a result of the Lewis-Munn match. That clause is repeated here:

"Striking, scratching, gouging, kicking, butting, strangle holds, or deliberately throwing an opponent over the ropes or pushing out of the ring or off the stage or platform for the purpose of injuring an opponent will be declared foul and THE OFFENDER WILL BE AT ONCE DISQUALIFIED AND THE MATCH GIVEN TO THE OPPONENT."

From all accounts of the match at the time it was staged Referee Bates concluded that the foul charged to Munn was not deliberate and for that reason he conceded the fall and not the match to Lewis. That is where we disagreed with the veteran referee. In our mind a foul is a foul, no matter how committed, and the match should go against the man transgressing the rules.

Referee Bates now agrees with us in drawing up the rule that "the offender will be at once disqualified and THE MATCH GIVEN TO THE OPPONENT."

The advertised match between Lewis and Munn at Michigan City on May 30 prompted our questions to Mr. Bates. We wanted to know what he thought about it as a real championship affair and his answer to the final question in our list indicates that he, too, believes Lewis is the champion. That lets Munn, and lastly Stanislaus Zbyszko, out of any claims on the title.

AMATEUR GOLF TITLE QUALIFIERS TO BE CUT TO 16

New York, April 25.—The number to qualify by medal play in the tournament for the national amateur golf championship is cut in half under the new conditions of competition announced today by the United States golf association. The tournament will begin August 31 at the Oakmont Country club, Oakmont, Pa.

Steps also have been taken to reduce the number of competitors, which in recent years has been unwieldy.

Players eligible to compete for the championship are limited to those with handicaps of three or less, but a handicap alone will not entitle a golfer to seek the title. Each entrant must submit before August 1, a statement of his performances in competition during the last two years.

Since the tournament began in 1894, the 32 lowest scores in medal play beginning the tournament have survived for match play. This year there will be only sixteen qualifiers.

The change was necessitated by reduction of the time of the tournament from seven days to six, a step decided upon last January in order not to keep star amateurs away from private duties more than a week.

This year's qualifying round will continue at thirty-six holes, eighteen being played Monday, August 31, and eighteen on the next day. Match play at thirty-six holes will begin Wednesday with eight matches.

The Question.

Who, do you think, could logically claim the lightweight crown?

Where Asked.

LaSalle and Madison streets.

The Answers.

Babe Barron, Morrison hotel, manager.—Joe Benjamin, of the coast, should be given a bit of consideration, for, I think, he is the best lightweight in the game today. If he will stay in shape he will lick all of them in that division. Perhaps, when he sees he has a chance to better himself, he may start a real grind to show this to the fans.

Mike Trant, 179 North LaSalle street, detective sergeant.—The reason I pick Joe Benjamin as the right man to claim the title is because he can hit harder than any of the others who are always yelling to fill the vacant shoes. He is faster on his feet and with the gloves than the best who have been in the game and have done much in the way of getting a claim to the crown. He is here to force Mandell to fight him in July.

Arthur Winch, 175 West Madison street, trainer.—I think Sid Terris should be the one to get the lightweight crown. I saw the Mandell-Terris match in New York, and I cannot see how they gave the match to Mandell, as Terris won nine rounds. He had Mandell on the canvas not a few times.

Ray Alvis, 3265 Wrightwood avenue, fight manager.—I think "Ace" Hudkins, the Omaha "Wildcat," is the logical contender to fill the vacant shoes left by Bennie Leonard. His victory over Joe Benjamin shows what he can do. I think Sammy Mandell or Sid Terris would find it difficult to defeat Hudkins.

James J. Hogan, 506 North Cicero avenue, cameraman.—I think Sammy Mandell of Rockford could logically claim the lightweight crown. He has beaten such boys as Sid Terris and Joe Benjamin. He has beaten others who claim to be the topnotchers. He should be given the undisputed claim to the title.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

Facts vs. Fiction

Five Facts that mean Greater VALUE!

(1) More than four out of every five Stutz cars built since this factory started are still in service.

(2) Stutz factory parts records show that Stutz owners are paying one-third the average owners cost for like cars on parts replacements.

(3) Actual statements from Stutz owners in our significant booklet "What Stutz Owners Wired" show wonderful records of Stutz performance at low up-keep costs over hundreds of thousands of miles of service and years of satisfactory use.

(4) The Stutz "Second Demonstration," in a car with over 50,000 miles of service behind it, gives you conclusive evidence of the stamina of the Stutz cars of the past.

(5) A demonstration of any of the new Stutz Sixes shows these are the best cars that ever bore the Stutz name. Their ease of riding and driving and beauty of line, finish and appointment backed by the wonderful ability of the Stutz Six, unequalled by any comparable cars, sets a new mark for automobile value.

Any automobile advertiser can use superlatives—his limitations are his imagination and the dictionary. FACTS are stubborn but important things that point out the actual VALUE of one product to any careful buyer.

Consider these five facts carefully. They give you the greatest actual evidence of real automobile value that can be presented. This evidence awaits you here and now.

THE ROLLIN BROUGHAM
A car that meets the new generation's idea of motoring—small size, but with the finest workmanship and appointments that can be put into any car at any price.

Everywhere you hear it: "Give us a smart, long-lived, reasonably priced small car to meet the new motoring conditions"

YESTERDAY, in the light of its best knowledge, motor engineering decreed weight, long wheelbase, multi-cylinders, in order to produce road stability, ease of riding, power and speed. And the penalty these exacted was heavy first cost and high upkeep.

To meet the purses of the multitude outside this class, there sprang up a flock of cars whose chief claim to popularity was price. There has been a race for production—and America has been so flooded with cars that traffic conditions have virtually robbed motoring of its pleasure.

The man of means is finding his big, heavy, super-powered car a handicap. It is a chore and an effort to drive it in town. Glutted traffic cramps and hampers him. Eight, ten, twelve miles to the gallon has become an operating burden. His sons and daughters, starting life on their own hook, cannot afford the big car, and the car built-to-a-price does not appeal to them.

And now comes the Rollin—the car of the hour—to fill this wide-open gap in motoring requirements.

In the development of airplane engines in the last two years of the war, motor engineers learned more about gas engines, compression, combustion, power, mechanical fineness, economy of fuel and oil than in all the years of motor engineering that had gone before. Today, motoring America stands on the threshold of a new motor-car era.

The Rollin is a small car—small in the sense of length and bulk—but roomy and comfortable, and with a sense of substantial solidity.

The Rollin is an engineering accomplishment that begs pardon of nothing running on four wheels. There is no car made at any price which contains any material which is superior to the Rollin. In mechanical precision, design, assemblage, the Rollin is superbly engineered. In every sense, it is a car that will avoid the repair shop. Its lines are low, graceful and sweeping. It is powered with an engine of surprisingly flexible smoothness. Magnificent acceleration, amazing swiftness on the open road and a veritable hunger for hills.

It slips in and out of traffic with the sleekness of a cat. Its four-wheel brakes stop it definitely with unconscious effort. It parks in the minimum of space.

On this beautiful chassis is built a series of bodies that are a joy to behold. Phaeton, sedan, coupe, brougham—whatever the individual choice of the motorist—the Rollin is de luxe in every detail of fitting and finish. It is a car that Mr. Multi-money will drive with conscious pride. It is a car that his son or daughter, used always to the finer things, will drive with complete complacency. It is a car that people with modest means can own with a knowledge that, if they had unlimited means, they could buy nothing more perfect in quality of mechanics or appointments. It is a car unsurpassed in riding comfort.

And, best of all, it is a car of extremely low upkeep cost. The Rollin engine, designed by Rollin H. White, is of the powerful, economical, European type. It will develop fifty to sixty miles and hold it without a tremor. It is good for a hundred thousand miles. It will give you twenty-five to thirty miles to the gallon. It is a car you can exult in and exult with.

Come and see the Rollin. Drive it. Examine it, inside and out. Compare it with any car, at any price, and you'll say it's the most car—most in mechanical excellence, most in class, most in smart beauty—that you ever saw for the money. The Rollin Motors Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

Industry Wages Warm Battle to Kill Excise Tax

$31 Off Cost of Average Car If War Time Levy Is Lifted.

BY J. L. JENKINS.

THIRTY-ONE dollars will automatically be sliced off the cost of the average automobile to the consumer, if the motorists of the country succeed in their efforts to get a repeal of the present war time sales taxes on motor vehicles and parts.

This fact was pointed out to Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, at a conference in Washington last week. The motor clubs and farm organizations have been opposing these war taxes from the users' standpoint, and the automobile manufacturers sought this conference to call attention to the burden which this tax imposes on low cost transportation.

Prices of automobiles are under prewar, 29 per cent less than in 1914. To present prices, however, are added the war tax which the consumer pays. The automobile makers, who have developed production economies and passed the savings on to the public, ask to have this federal tax burden removed in the belief that widespread low cost motor transportation is sound national economy.

Administration leaders at Washington have indicated that there will be a $300,000,000 reduction in taxes at the next session of congress.

Among the reasons advanced against this federal excise tax levy on automotive products are:

It is a tax on transportation.

It is a special tax, in addition to all the other general levies which motor vehicle makers and users pay.

It is discriminatory. Only a few products were burdened with special federal war time taxes.

Others have had relief. Most of the other items especially taxed as a war time measure have since been freed from these burdens.

Special automobile taxation is a state function. The motor vehicle now pays $305,000,000 in special state taxes, most of these special fees being devoted to highway purposes.

THERE IS SOMETHING ROMANTIC AND ADVENTURESOME IN CAMPING—FOR THOSE WHO HAVE NEVER CAMPED.
W. W. SHAW, Jr.

ILLINOIS' hospitality is written graphically over every county in the state in this, THE TRIBUNE'S first tourist map of the 1925 season. A total of 159 free camps have been reported by towns and cities to date, and there are doubtless several additional "homes away from home" that have escaped the careful checkup.

In addition Cook county forest preserve commissioners have equipped and thrown open sixteen regular camp sites to supplement the vast natural preserve areas which lend themselves to outdoor life.

Add Workmen.

For the ninth consecutive week employment in the various automobile plants of Detroit showed an increase. Last week this increase was 677, bringing the total employed up to 226,303.

The high point in the industry, set in the early months of 1924, was nearly 15,000 greater than the present number of men employed. Then the manufacturers were producing cars for storage, whereas they are now producing for immediate sale, and many of the leading factories are behind in filling orders.

NEW DRIVER.

Otto Wiedfeldt, the new German ambassador of the United States, has purchased an American made automobile.

14 Free States.

Only fourteen states in the union and the District of Columbia have opened the tourist gates with full reciprocity as to license fees. A motorist registered in any of these states may go into any other of the thirteen and use his original license plates without being required to pay an additional fee. In the remaining thirty-four states the time limit for visiting cars varies from fifteen days' free use of the roads to six months.

EVERY 1,000 MILES.

For every 1,000 miles a car has been run it is essential to pack the universals, ball and socket boots and hub caps, oil magneto, electric motor, electric generator, and lubricate the spring leaves.

Safety Rule.

One of the new features of the new motor law of Virginia is a requirement that pedestrians using the highway shall keep to the left hand side of the road—a rule contrary to the traditional practice, but adopted to promote safety. The idea is that the pedestrian is placed in a position where he will see danger as it approaches and will not be run down from behind.

Protest Speed.

The Pedestrians' Protection society of London is opposing a new highway ordinance which permits automobiles to travel at greater speed than at present.

Driving some cars gives you the feeling that you are supplying the power for their propulsion from your own nerves and sinews.

That's because the intervals between power impulses—the whipping of crankshaft and vibration under stress—permeate your own nerves.

If you ask wherein the "Vertical-8-Superfine" differs from and excells other types, we would say, in the elimination of this evidence of strain—by the ever present feeling of great power.

But—you must sense this difference to appreciate. Drive it yourself.

Supply and Demand Run Neck and Neck in New Car Race

Day and Night Shifts Meet Crisis in the Big Plants.

BY WHITCOMB WILLIAMS.

DETROIT, Mich., April 25.—[Special.]—From practically every leading automobile plant the warning is being broadcast of the probability than within another month purchasers of new automobiles will be told that immediate delivery cannot be promised. Present indications are that by the first day of June at the longest, there will be a shortage of cars for immediate delivery.

Everything right now points to this fact. Practically every Michigan plant is behind on orders, schedules are being increased, Saturday half holidays cancelled, and in several plants, night shifts are being started. All this, and the never failing labor barometer which shows a steady increase, together with a shortage of skilled labor in some of the automobile departments, means that the prospective buyer should not wait longer if they do not want to wait for their car.

Any car shortage that may occur will not be the result of manufacturers not running at capacity and unable to supply the demand, but rather because production schedules in most instances are today, and have for some time past, been to an extent curtailed. The business of producing and selling automobiles has undergone a change.

Cars are no longer being built regardless of what the market may be in future weeks or months as once was the case. The result of this stocking of cars against the demand in some cases led the factories to the conclusion that they, on their part, could continue to expand and make new production records each day, week or month. There had to be an end to record-breaking, and that end came in 1924 when dealers found themselves so overstocked with cars that could not be disposed of for months. Some of the dealers rode out the storm, but with profits so small as to be almost negligible.

Now the general public has had a change of heart towards the ownership of an automobile—and its the general public that must be satisfied. The narrowing of the gap between prices of open and closed models brought about principally by the introduction by many manufacturers of the closed type of vehicle, and the lowering of prices on closed models by all, has resulted in making the motor car an all year round piece of merchandise. This, in turn, has brought about a more equal distribution of cars throughout the year. The "closed season" has been practically eliminated. The buying public is favoring closed models, and manufacturers are steadily increasing their outputs of coaches and sedans to meet the demand. The prediction that closed models will herefater predominate is true even now, and the percentage is sure to increase, but there will always be a demand for open models, and many of them.

Manufacturers are proceeding with the utmost caution, due to the change in sentiment on the part of the buying public. There will be sufficient cars built in 1925 to take care of the demand, but there will be none to store when the public has been satisfied. The dealer is taking orders and filling them; the factory is not insisting on the dealer being overloaded. Warehouse floors are practically clear of cars, and it is doubtful if there will be sufficient to take care of the demand.

Production and sales figures issued from Michigan factories during the last week point strongly toward a steady speeding up of production that is certain to bring the industry up to full capacity output by May 1, and swell the total figure for the second quarter of the year. Short summaries follow:

Ford's approximate daily output is 7,300, with increased closed car demand; Dodge Brothers are behind in orders, although the output is 1,200 daily; Cadillac sales and deliveries have been marked by a continuous upward trend since the beginning of the year; Studebaker demand is for 75 per cent closed models, compared with 75 per cent open models in 1924; Hupp has dispensed with its Saturday half holiday, and night work in several department is being carried on. Seventy-six per cent of March shipments were closed models; Cleveland Motor company is increasing forces and working hours. Sixty per cent of the cars produced are special sixes. Rickenbacker is unable to supply the present demand. Moon Motors report an unusually large volume of spring business with production and sales running ahead of all previous records.

"Death Crossing."

The sum of $52,500 has been appropriated by the St. Joseph county council as the county's share in the expense of eliminating the notorious grade crossings on the Lincoln highway at New Carlisle, Ind. At this point the transcontinental highway crosses the New York Central, Chicago, South Bend and Northern Indiana, and the Chicago, Lake Shore and South Bend railways.

Three subways are to be constructed, the balance of the large expense to be borne by the three railways affected.

ADVOCATE AMERICAN RUBBER

British restrictions limiting the production and exportation of rubber from English possessions may cost American car owners $300,000,000 in advanced rubber costs during 1925, according to estimates made by H. S. Firestone, pioneer in the movement to produce sufficient rubber in the United States to meet the increasing need. He is shown here with Thomas A. Edison, watching a plantation expert tap a large rubber tree on the Edison estate in Fort Myers, Fla.

Gossip of the Auto Trade

G. A. KISSEL, president of the Kissel Motor Car company of Hartford, Wis., has backed up motor prosperity reports with the latest record production figures. According to his report, issued yesterday, the week ending March 28 was the greatest sales week except one in the company's nineteen years of manufacturing. March sales increased 310 per cent over the same month a year ago.

In an effort to balance production with sales, the Hupmobile factory has been operating twenty-four hours a day during the spring rush. Factory reports show more cars produced in April than during any like period in company history.

The Stewart-Warner Speedometer corporation, pioneering in the automotive-radio equipment hookup, has opened a new branch organization at 5657 Broadway for the sales and service of the entire corporation accessory line. In addition to its automobile accessories the new Stewart-Warner radio set is being featured in the display.

Directors of the Maxwell Motor corporation are completing plans for the creation of a new company to be known as the Chrysler corporation, to manufacture and sell Chrysler and Maxwell cars. Conversion of Maxwell shares into those of the proposed new corporation is planned.

Final road and operation tests of the new Nash-made Ajax car have been completed, according to reports from the Racine factory, and the much discussed newcomer is expected to enter the Chicago merchandising field in the near future. C. W. Nash yes-

De Palma Returns to Speed Battle on Hoosier Track

Popular Pilot Will Tool Miller Special in Five Century.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 25.—Ralph De Palma, favorite son of automobile racing for many years, has entered the thirteenth international 500 mile automobile race to be held at the Indianapolis motor speedway, May 30.

He returns to the Indianapolis event after skipping last year's thrilling contest. It was the second running of the great exhibition in which he had not competed.

De Palma is one of the few veterans of the first few 500 mile races, when speed was generated with bulky, locomotive style motors of pretentious construction, to enter this year's contest. The majority of the veterans of yesteryear have gone into retirement, leaving the higher speed creations of today in the hands of younger men with younger nerve and younger eyes. But De Palma drives on year after year, losing none of his skill and cunning.

Ralph De Palma has been a favorite for many years. Along with the retired Barney Oldfield, he undoubtedly is better known than any of the present drivers, despite the sensational careers of many of them and despite the fact that they have won more important races in which De Palma has competed.

He is one of the few men in this world who became popularly famous through defeat. In 1912, at the second Indianapolis 500 mile race, De Palma was on an equal footing as to public attention with any one of a score of pilots, when he drew the attention of the crowd to him by a sensational driving race that sent him into a comfortable lead only five miles from the finish wire.

There was no question with the crowd as to who was going to win. They were all cheering for De Palma. Then on the home stretch his car went dead. The crowd was awed. De Palma and his mechanic hopped from the car and did everything in their power to get the car going. But to no avail.

Then as Joe Dawson, who was in second place, passed De Palma's stalled car to take the lead and the race, the disappointed Italian waved to Dawson and began the heart breaking exhibition of pushing his car to the pits. But he smiled every step of the way. The crowd liked his attitude of sportsmanship. He garnered more plaudits in defeat than Dawson did in victory, and as a reward he always is cheered in victory or defeat. He won the Indianapolis race in 1915.

If De Palma wins a race the crowds go wild. If he loses the mobs shake their heads, bemoan his fate, and blame it on the bad luck that made his an outstanding personality of automobile racing. He will drive a Miller Special in the coming event.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

He's Out to Learn the Truth About Motordom.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question $5 is awarded to Mrs. E. N. Biddy, 3825 Rokeby street, Chicago.

The Question.

In touring do you prefer to follow named trails or numbered state roads?

Where Asked.

Michigan avenue and Ohio street.

The Answers.

Arthur Hanson, 3435 North Kilpatrick avenue, salesman—I like numbered state roads such as are found in Illinois and Wisconsin. They are always plainly marked and are usually the roads that are best paved and repaired by public money.

Allyn P. Alexander, 2130 Sedgwick street, photographer—I prefer the numbered state roads, although in long trips it is well to follow such marked roads as the Lincoln highway and Yellowstone trail. The states have now marked their road systems and you can be sure that the numbered roads are the best.

A. Eland, 1636 Cortland avenue, inspector — The numbered state roads are the best for the modern tourist to follow, although the old established trails have a real historic interest. The new numbering systems can be used easily with the aid of a state map.

Leroy S. Kusay, 933 Grace street, druggist — I think the new numbered state roads are the best bet. The old trails can be used to good advantage, but many of the new named roads lead the tourist into all sorts of difficulties.

Dr. Edward W. White, 707 Kenesaw terrace, physician — I like to follow numbered state roads. A stranger can always bank on their being the main highways of any state and roads that are given official attention by maintenance and improvement crews. The old named trails sometimes lead the motorist over county roads that do not have state protection.

Build Test Road.

A new test road for automobiles, costing $25,000,000, is nearing completion at Montlhery, France. It will provide twenty-four miles of practice ground closed to all save experimental motor tests. A hair raising hairpin turn will form one of the salient features of the track. Hitherto motor trial races have been limited by local by-laws, ridiculously framed to protect public safety. The new track promises perfect freedom from such hindrances.

HORSE IS TIED.

There is now an automobile for every horse in the United States and at the close of 1925 the auto will have a decided numerical edge on the horse. Ten years ago there were nine horses to one automobile.

Decreased Buying Power Slows Up Dairy Business

Federal Chief Says Surplus of Butter Is Not Due to Overproduction.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

ROUND AND ROUND goes the wheel of contrariness in the field of agriculture — when farmers are supposed to let loose they hold tight, and when they are supposed to hold tight they let loose. It usually happens that when they are advised to cut down on the production of milk, wheat, corn, or hogs more milk, wheat, corn, and hogs are produced, upsetting all the dope for the economists. It is about as tough for the agricultural economist to predict what is ahead for the farmer as it is for the astronomer to tell when the next tornado is coming, and where it is going to hit.

For example, last summer when attempts were being made to figure out why butter was piling up so high in the cold storage plants in this country it was natural to assume it was due to a greater increase in production. But when figures became available, later in the year, they indicated that dairymen were hanging on to the wheel of contrariness, but not as firmly as the piling up of cold storage butter indicated.

Giving Dairymen Data.

Dr. C. W. Larson, chief of the dairying bureau. Washington, D. C., with figures and charts, gave dairymen a graphic picture of this condition in a recent talk on the dairy situation given in Chicago before members of the National Dairy club.

He pointed out that despite the month by month piling up of butter in cold storage last year there were only two months—February and August—in which the increase in butter production over 1923 was as great as the monthly increase of 1923 over 1922.

"The only months in 1924 when we produced much more butter than the year before were July, August, and September, when we increased our butter production over 1923 by 25,000,000 pounds," he said. "But during the same month in 1923 we increased our production over the corresponding months of 1922 by 30,000,000 pounds."

So the reaction last year which pushed prices of butter down throughout the summer was not due to any rapid increase in production, although that was the natural assumption. When economists had harvested all of the 1924 crop of figures the real cause of the trouble was discovered in an entirely different field from where the search was being made.

Purchasing Power Less.

Decreased buying power of the consumers of butter seems to be the answer to last year's depression in the dairy industry, Dr. Larson believes.

"The buying ability of our people in the summer of 1924, as compared with the same period of the previous year, showed a marked change. In addition to a decrease in the wage scale there was a marked decrease in employment, as well as in the total wages paid workers throughout the country.

"From ten to twenty out of every 100 that were employed during the summer months of 1923 were not employed during those months in 1924, and the total wages received by those employés was from 10 to 20 per cent less. These conditions of employment and wages, it seems to me, are the chief cause of our accumulation of stock in storage last summer," the dairy chief said.

Even with an increased population in this country 27,000,000 less pounds of butter were consumed last summer than during May, June, July, and August of 1923. Aside from those months there has been no time in the last five years when consumption was not greater, month by month, than in the preceding year.

Down Go Values.

But why cry over spilt milk? Dr. Larson is strongly convinced that "dairymen, the same as persons engaged in other enterprises, will be guided along the best lines when they make a thorough study of influences that affect their industry.

"Although we had a little over a half million more cows than the year before, the farm value of dairy products was $66,000,000 less last year than in 1923," Dr. Larson explained. "Their value is estimated at $2,652,419,000 in 1923 and $2,586,148,000 in 1924. The average farm value of the product of each cow last year was about $100, while in 1923 it was about $107. Although this was a material decrease, it was not great, considering the situations that developed during the year, which were beyond the control of the dairymen."

His figures show that 533,000 more cows were being milked at the beginning of this year than a year ago, but many were being milked principally because of the stress on many farms primarily concerned with other types of production.

Cheap Feeds Stimulate.

"Experience has shown," according to the nation's dairy chief, "that when other types of production improve there is a decline in the number of cows milked the next year. During the last several years feeds have been relatively cheap, and dairy products relatively high. The effect of this was to stimulate dairying."

Butter prices went down during the winter, and feed prices are higher. There is some speculation among agricultural students as to just what effect this condition will have on the future dairy cow population.

There are in this country about 30,000,000 dairy cows, producing an average of approximately 4,000 pounds of milk a year, while the average consumer requires 1,000 pounds of milk each year. At that rate the nation's great herd of milkers is producing enough to supply 120,000,000 people, and the population of this country is about 113,000,000, according to the latest figures.

But the population figures are increasing at the rate of a million and a half a year, which means that until the average production is increased there will be needed an additional cow each year for every four additional persons, according to the dairying bureau's calculations, or 375,000 additional cows annually. In increasing their herds last year dairy farmers went over the nation's quota 158,000 cows, but the additional milkers were apparently not up to the average, because the total production did not keep pace with previous years.

"We started off in 1925 with indications of somewhat lower production, with rather remarkable recovery in prices of all dairy products, and with relatively small stock on hands," added Dr. Larson, turning to see what dairymen need in the future. "The cost of production, however, has increased because of the increase in cost of feeds. This emphasizes again the importance of attention to the matter of cost of production. The price of feeds is, of course, a factor that demands consideration, but the need is for a program of feeding for every community that will insure the most profitable production.

"The average cow is not good enough. The developments of the last year, when reviewed from every angle, are full of encouraging features, but the greatest need in our industry today is to increase, not the number of cows, but the amount of production per cow. The future success of the industry will be largely measured by the success of dairymen in developing herds of cattle of greater producing ability, for it is upon this factor more than all others that the economy of production hinges, and the opportunity of greatest prosperity in the dairy industry of this country depends."

DAIRY SITUATION BOILED DOWN

COLD STORAGE HOLDINGS OF BUTTER IN 1923, 1924, AND 1925—The shaded columns from Jan. 1 to the last of December indicate the amount of butter in cold storage in this country in 1923, while the range from the zero line to the top of the column indicates the amount in storage in 1924, the clear portion representing the excess of butter in storage last year over the previous year. The chart shows that the surplus has gradually dwindled away until there is no excess in April, 1925, over a year ago.

RELATIVE COSTS OF FEED TO BUTTER PRICES—The prices are expressed as percentages of the pre-war (1910 to 1914) average. Note that a few weeks ago corn prices hit the butter line, knocking the profits out of dairying. The feed lines and the butter line were far enough apart in 1921, 1922, 1923, and the early part of 1924 to make it advantageous to feed rather heavily, accounting, in part, for the increased production during the last four years.

EMPLOYMENT BY INDUSTRIES—This table shows the employment conditions for the months of May, June, July, and August of 1923 and '24. The number showing employment is an index number based on the whole year of 1923 as 100. This shows how the buying power of workers was reduced last summer below the year before. About ten to twenty out of every 100 employed in 1923 were out of work last summer, and at the same time butter was piling up in cold storage. Cutting the employment and total wages of these employés caused accumulation of storage butter.

CONSUMPTION OF CREAMERY BUTTER—The above chart shows a comparison of butter consumption in millions of pounds. The comparison is made with the same month in previous years. The spaces below and above the base line indicate the change in consumption. This shows clearly that the only months in the whole four years when the consumption was less than the year before were May, June, July, and August last year, when butter was piling up in storage and industries were laying off workers.

DAIRYMEN'S JOTTINGS

Two hundred and twenty-six cows in Iowa went to the butcher's block during March because they failed to prove themselves profitable producers of milk and butter fat, according to reports sent to the Iowa State college from the fifty-one cow testing associations. That's one way dairymen have of bringing their cows above that low nation-wide annual average of about 4,000 pounds of milk per cow in Uncle Sam's big herd of 30,000,000 dairy cows.

The per capita consumption of ice cream in America last year was 2.56 gallons.

Maywood Boy Best Judge of Cattle at Illinois U.

EDWARD J. BALES.

Edward J. Bales, junior in the college of agriculture, and the son of Leonard J. Bales, 427 South 17th avenue, Maywood, Ill., won the highest honor awarded in the fifth annual students' live stock judging contest held at the University of Illinois a few days ago. He made the highest score in the advanced all around division of the contest and the best score in a special cattle judging event, also scoring highest in the judging of both cattle and sheep in the regular classes. Though only a junior in school, he has the distinction of being the best student judge of live stock in the entire university.

Howard O. Watson of Arcola, Ill., was declared the best freshman judge, winning the Farm House fraternity trophy. Victor E. Anderson took the highest honors, a trophy given by Dr. W. B. Nevens of the college, for being the best freshman judge of dairy cattle.

Triple Role Tree May Be Starred in Reforestation

IN America's great reforestation movement, which must be backed by farmers with woodlots, city dwellers with shade trees, as well as foresters who are interested in the big stretches of timber grown commercially, the triple purpose tree ought to play an important part. Emphasizing the immediate value of a tree in terms of shade and nuts or other fruits along with the ultimate value of trees to be made into lumber twenty-five to fifty years after they are planted, would no doubt stimulate interest in planting and conserving trees in this country.

In many cases where there is room for a tree, whether it is in a farmer's woodlot, a city park, along a highway, or on a town lot, a walnut or pecan tree could be set to furnish shade, nuts, and eventually material for lumber, instead of oaks and maples that do not produce edible nuts.

Useful and Ornamental.

In Michigan nut trees are being planted along the highways, according to A. S. Colby, horticulturist at the University of Illinois. He is urging commercial plantation owners in southern Illinois to plant chestnuts, walnuts, and in some cases pecans.

Mr. Colby says there are various places about the home in the city and country where shade trees might be both useful and ornamental. Little attention, he finds, has been paid to the possibilities for using nut trees where the soil and site are suitable for beautifying roadsites, streets, and parks with various hardy species of the best varieties of native as well as the introduced species of nuts.

Not even nurserymen have forseen the need. Mr. Colby explains that nut growing is comparatively recent in this country, and few nurserymen have devoted much attention to the propagation of named varieties. Many show photographs of superior nut varieties in their catalogues, but list for sale practically nothing but seedlings, he says. He considers this unfortunate, disappointing, and expensive because the buyer has to take trees and care for them with the mistaken idea he is getting good varieties.

Must Be Grafted.

"Many persons do not realize that nut varieties do not come true to type from seed any more than do apples," said Mr. Colby. "Like other fruit trees, therefore, nut trees have to be propagated by budding or grafting. Seedling trees will result from the planting of nuts no matter how desirable they may be. These trees will seldom produce nuts as good as the parent and will, if they bear at all, be slow in beginning. Because of this difficulty it is desirable to grow named varieties, propagated by reputable nurserymen, or to work seedling trees with scions or buds with stock of a named variety."

In discussing the kinds of nut trees to use in this state he says the chief native nut tree of Illinois, and the one to be most recommended for general planting, is the black walnut. It is found growing wild from one end of the state to the other where soil conditions are suitable. It is adapted to a deep but moist, well drained soil, such as is usually found on the so-called prairie types in Illinois. Walnut trees are heavy feeders and need rich soil.

See Commercial Side.

Its excellent quality of wood has been in the past the walnut's chief asset commercially, but quite recently improved horticultural varieties of the black walnut, such as the Thomas and Stabler, have been found and are being propagated and sold for general planting.

Egyptians in the southern part of this state are taking a great interest in the commercial possibilities of the black walnut. One grower claims that he got ten pounds of meat to the bushel from the Thomas black walnut and sold it at $1 a pound.

"The named varieties sell for higher prices because of their easier cracking qualities, larger size, and better flavor," according to Mr. Colby. "The kernels of the black walnut are the most desirable for many purposes, especially in cooking and making candy. The black walnut produces the only nut meat which retains its full flavor upon cooking. The meat is more palatable and lighter in color if the nuts are allowed to cure properly and the husk is removed from the shell before it stains the meat a dark color."

Black walnut flavor prepared by a Chicago manufacturer is selling at $2.50 a pint or $18 a gallon.

Selling fruit growers in Union and Pulaski counties in this state are becoming interested in the growing of walnuts. They are top working seedling walnut trees and growing them on hillsides and other out of way places.

Mr. Colby says black walnuts begin to bear early. He found thirty-nine walnuts on a four year old granted tree of the Thomas variety in Williamson county last October. The species is well known as a long lived tree, and if properly cared for it should increase in productivity annually for many years.

GARDEN NOTES

City lawn keepers can afford to use bone meal on the weak spots of their lawns, and there are plenty of the bald patches to be scratched and reseeded this season. Where the lawn is small it will pay to scatter bone meal over the whole surface.

Golden bantam sweet corn is now considered the best for roasting ears. It is a common practice with many gardeners, especially those who have a small amount of ground, to plant a few hills of this variety about every two weeks, so they will have fresh, high quality corn throughout the season.

In trying to figure out just about when you can harvest the first batch of roasting ears from your garden, remember the earliest varieties mature in about fifty-five days, and it takes the late varieties about ninety days. Sweet corn planted the first of May will put roasting ears on the table about the last of June.

Iowa Plans Dairy Congress.

Iowa's three state dairy breeders' associations, Holsteins, Jersey, and Guernsey, are going to give trophies to the highest butter fat producing herd in the respective breeds this year. The year began in September, 1924, and will end in September, 1925, according to the Iowa State college. The trophies will be given out at the dairy cattle congress, to be held in Waterloo in the fall. Grades and pure breds are eligible. Each herd must contain at least eight cows which have been in milk during the association year.

I. C. C. DISCLAIMS ONUS FOR PLIGHT OF ST. PAUL ROAD

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—The interstate commerce commission in a formal statement today in effect disclaimed any responsibility for failing to come to the financial assistance of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad in an effort to prevent a receivership. The statement was in answer to reports that the commission did not do all it could have done to help the road.

"H. E. Byram, president of the company, had a conference with division 4 of the commission, at that time composed of Commissioners Meyer, Eastman, and Potter, some time early in the autumn of 1924," said the commission's statement.

"Mr. Byram expressed his solicitude regarding the general St. Paul situation and inquired whether it would be possible for the commission to make a loan to his company, either out of the contingent fund or out of the revolving fund.

Saw Help Via Treasury.

"He also wanted to know whether the commission would recommend to the secretary of treasury the substitution of collateral for other collateral now on deposit with the treasury because from the standpoint of government security the collateral to be substituted would be just as good as that now offered and from the standpoint of the company the collateral to be released would be very much more useful.

"Division four advised Mr. Byram that the amount of money in the contingent fund was small and none of it was at present available for the making of loans.

"With respect to the revolving fund provided by the transportation act of 1920, Mr. Byram was advised that the applications had been granted in full in the loans already made and that there existed no statutory authority for making further loans.

Only One Source of Relief.

"This left only one possible source of relief through the commission open to the St. Paul, namely the substitution of collateral. Mr. Byram was told that the commission would do everything possible; that the substitution of collateral would be given most careful consideration when a definite proceeding must be made in the form of an application of the St. Paul road.

"No such application was ever filed and the commission had no further conference with Mr. Byram. Whether or not the directors were in a position to avail themselves effectively of this possible source of relief we are not advised. Division four did not and naturally could not make any promises to Mr. Byram in the absence of specific application."

BUSINESS MEN OF NATION TO STUDY SHIP PROBLEMS

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—A national conference to formulate a permanent merchant marine policy is to be convened by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Participating will be representatives of all interests directly concerned in shipping. It is proposed to make a survey of shipping conditions and to formulate recommendations dealing with various phases of the shipping problem. The recommendations would have a bearing on proposed comprehensive merchant marine legislation which is to come up in congress at the next session.

Announcement of the plan for a national conference was made today by Richard F. Grant, president of the national chamber.

Four broad aspects of the question will be considered—the relation of the merchant marine to American foreign trade and the national defense, administrative regulations to the shipping industry, government aid to shipping, and the disposal of the government owned merchant ships.

WALL STREET NOTES

The actual condition of the New York clearing house banks and trust companies for the last week shows an excess reserve of $20,042,060, according to the statement issued today. This is an increase of $34,638,190 over last week, when there was a deficit in reserve of $14,596,130. Loans and discounts decreased $39,095,000. Demand deposits gained $66,553,000, while time deposits dropped $1,572,000.

The stockholders' protective committee of the Texas Oil and Land company has sent a letter to stockholders soliciting proxies to be voted at the annual meeting to be held on May 5. The committee in its letter to stockholders makes certain charges against the management, including one that stock was issued and sold without the knowledge of stockholders.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has placed orders for approximately 500,000 boxes of tin plate, which at current prices will cost about $2,750,000. This is the largest order for tin plate placed in many months. This product, it is understood, will be used in the manufacture of tins, chiefly to the export trade of the company.

Gold shipments last week totaled $4,065,000, of which $2,900,000 was sent to Germany and the balance to India and Indo-China. Added to the figures for the previous week, which was the first this month in which any export of gold was reported, the total for the month to date was increased to $7,580,000.

The Hudson Motor Car company has announced reductions of $95 in the price of the coach and $100 each on the five and seven passenger sedans. The reduction was made with no comment. It brings the price of Hudson cars to the lowest point in the company's history.

The wholesale commodity markets are still featured by an excess of declines, 47 out of the 66 changes that appeared last week in the list of quotations compiled by Dun's Review being in a downward direction. In the preceding week's statement there were 43 reductions and 28 increases; in a similar record for the corresponding week of last year, 59 recessions contrasted with 25 advances.

The Standard Oil of Indiana has reduced tank wagon price of gasoline 2 cents to 15 cents at tank wagons in South Dakota. This is the lowest registered this season. Independents met the cut. The Standard Oil Company of Louisiana is quoting 40 cents a barrel for all Smackover crude oil below 24 degrees gravity. Previously it paid 60 cents a barrel for this oil run through pipe lines and 40 cents for oil into storage.

A merger of the Kings County Lighting company, with assets exceeding $12,000,000 and gross revenues of more than $2,500,000 annually, with the Long Island Lighting company, has been approved by the directors of both companies, and awaits indorsement of the public service commission.

There were 470 commercial failures in the United States last week, according to figures compiled by R. G. Dun & Co., compared with 430 in the preceding week and 370 during the corresponding week last year.

The Binghamton Light, Heat and Power company reports consolidated gross earnings were $1,545,640 for the twelve months ended Feb. 28, 1925. The company last week marketed an issue of $1,500,000 first refunding mortgage 5 per cent bonds through Halsey, Stuart & Co., Chicago.

Restricted buying on the week-end session forced the bulk of hogs under the $12.00 line, for the first time in nearly two months, the day's average at $11.95 being 65c below previous Saturday and $2.35 lower than the high day last month.

Business was transacted on a 5@10c lower basis compared with general selling Friday, although light and light light in spots showed losses of 15@25c after limited shipping orders were filled. Choice 180@280 lb averages reached a top of $12.15 early, which was no criterion of the market later. Larger packers were principal operators and only 3,000 were estimated in the pens at the close.

Large Hog Receipts.

Hog receipts last week at 135,200 were largest in about a month and 9,000 greater than previous week's supply, but stood smaller than usual for this time of year, being 15,600 below the five year average. The estimated average weight of hogs at 234 lbs, equaled previous week, but stood lighter than any corresponding week in over five years.

Hog prices last week averaged $12.29, lowest since February and $1.85 below week ending March 21, when average at $14.05 was highest since 1920. The average was $4.85 above a year ago.

Uneven Cattle Prices.

Extremely uneven prices featured last week's cattle market, a big share of the sharp losses suffered at the opening being recovered in an upward swing of the trade after mid-week. Closing quotations were on a parity with a week previous, but were still sharply under the recent high time. The week's extreme top at $11.25 compared with $12.50 previous week, being the lowest weekly top price since middle of September and $3.50 under the peak in December.

However, range of prices was narrowest of the year, due partly to quality, which held the average price at $9.90, within 50c of previous week and same as a year ago.

Butcher stock closed steady with a week ago and 25@50c under the recent high time. Calves tumbled $1.00. Stockers and feeders strong to 25c higher.

Lamb Market Erratic.

Sharp fluctuations in prices under stress of heavy supplies characterized the lamb market last week, which staged a comeback after a series of sensational declines and closed on an upgrade. Prevailing quotations are unevenly 15c to $1.00 above a week ago, light and handy weight wool lambs showing the least gain, while stock weighing 90 lbs. and heavier advanced sharpest. Aged sheep closed 50c below a week previous. The week's top lambs rested at $15.00. Receipts at 86,000 were largest since the first week of the year, when arrivals at 105,286 were largest in several months.

Receipts for Monday are estimated at 19,000 cattle, 46,000 hogs, and 18,000 sheep, against 21,701 cattle, 49,432 hogs, and 20,736 sheep a week ago, and 19,810 cattle, 55,574 hogs, and 16,000 sheep the corresponding day a year ago. Next week's receipts are estimated at 54,000 cattle, 140,000 hogs, and 70,000 sheep, against 46,851 cattle, 151,612 hogs, and 63,992 sheep a year ago.

MATING INSTINCT LURES GIRLS TO OFFICE POSITIONS

BY SCRUTATOR.

Study of the latest available figures on employment confirms the census results, which show that the movement of women into industry is long past its crest.

Ethelbert Stewart, commissioner of statistics in the department of labor, after investigating employment in the manufacture of cotton and woolen goods, men's clothing, hosiery and underwear; industries into which women were swarming some years ago, reaches the conclusion that "the extension of the economic activities of women, therefore, will be outside of the manufacturing industries, and may be looked for in the clerical, commercial and professional fields."

Two years ago the writer expressed the opinion that the higher wage standards now prevailing have checked the movement of women from the home.

How reconcile this with the swarms of pretty girls, gowned up to the minute, which chain the eye in great office buildings or on the business streets?

These charming mobs really do not represent a major industrial trend at all. They signify a change in the mating mechanism of society.

Most of such "business" careers are but preliminaries of marriage and home making. The area of husband selection has shifted from the small town and residential city neighborhood to the business districts and the great offices, that's all.

Formerly daughter helped mother in the kitchen, met the young men at school and church, entertained callers in the parlor and went buggy riding.

Now the neighborhood is not so much a social unit. The auto scatters the members of "sets" over many square miles. Mother needs little help in the kitchen, except the gas and electric companies. Modern builders know not the parlor.

But the mating instinct still informs the young girl where eligible males may be found. The range of husband selection is far greater in the business district than it ever was among the home boys.

The business girl is occasionally laughed at because she wears such flimy things to work. But she knows her business. From the standpoint of the species, the wearing of those good clothes and that come hither make up is really the most important part of her job.

She seeks the office not the factory, because she cannot wear an attractive lay out in the factory, cannot hope to meet such a variety of eligibles and there are few such opportunities to form acquaintanceships while bending over an insistent machine that absorbs all her energies. In the manipulation of the typewriter or other office devices she sets the pace, not the machine. Automatic machinery is no friend of Cupid. And Cupid is not securing any labor for factories, but offices and stores find him a first class employment agent.

This variety of the supposedly new economic independence of women really means in the end more of the old fashioned economic servitude of men to the family group.

WHEAT, CORN AND OATS CLOSE AT BOTTOM PRICES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Scattered liquidation developed in the grain markets with wheat in the lead and the finish was about the bottom, with wheat off 1⅝@4⅛c, the latter on May. Corn declined 2⅛@2⅞c. Oats were off ⅝@½c and rye 1⅛@2⅝c.

Despite the sharp decline in grain values the latter part of the week the net losses as compared with the previous week weer not severe, May wheat being 1⅛c higher, July ⅛c lower, and September ½c higher than a week ago. Corn showed the most weakness and lost 1½@3⅝c with July leading, while oats were unchanged to ⅝c higher, and rye ⅛c lower to ⅝c higher.

Rains Help Wheat Crop.

Further rains were reported over parts of the winter wheat belt and had considerable influence on sentiment combined with a decline of 1@2d in Liverpool prices, the latter market showing more weakness than expected. Local sentiment was decidedly bearish and while there was rather persistent commission house buying, especially in the May on scale orders, the undertone was heavy. Further purchases of Duluth and Minneapolis spring wheats have been made to come here and it is estimated that around 1,500,000 bu. will be brought down for delivery on May contracts. Duluth No. 1 Northern was reported offered at 3c under Chicago May c. i. f. Buffalo, and the demand for cash wheat in practically all positions was decidedly slow.

The trade look for moderately bullish worlds and domestic statistics on Monday, but the beneficial rains over the winter wheat belt, the favorable outlook both sides of the international line and the slow cash demand more than offset this view. Export business was limited and estimated at 150,000 to 200,000 bu. in all positions.

Liquidation on in Corn.

Eastern demand for cash corn was very slow and sufficient scattered liquidation developed in futures to carry them off readily, there being a noticeable lack of support on the way down. Reports from Texas indicated that the corn and oats crop of that state would be small, and that large purchases would have to be made in the north, but until the May liquidation is out of the way the disposition is to go slow on the buying side. Oats held within narrow limits and averaged lower with corn. Basis in the sample market was easier at ⅝c under to 2c over May for No. 3 white.

May and July rye sold at the same price during the day for the first time on the crop, and moderate changing was done at that difference. At the last May was about 1c over the July. Export demand was limited.

Eastern Longs Sell Lard.

Commission houses with eastern connections were free sellers of lard and with stop loss orders uncovered prices declined and at the last showed 7½@10c under the finish of the previous day. Packers' brokers were the best buyers. Rye were 2½@10c lower and bellies unchanged to 10c lower. Prices follow:

CASH·GRAIN N·E·W'S

Export demand for grain at the seaboard was slow with sales of 150,000 to 200,000 bu wheat, 80,000 bu rye, and 150,000 to 200,000 bu oats.

Chicago cash handlers sold 35,000 bu wheat, 70,000 bu corn, and 60,000 bu oats to the domestic trade with 100,000 bu rye to go to store.

Offerings of cash wheat at Chicago were limited, and the basis steady with No. 2 red normally 23@25c and No. 2 hard 3@4c over May. Outside markets were 2@4c lower. At Minneapolis the basis was unchanged to 1c lower.

While offerings of cash corn were small, the demand was only fair with No. 3 grades ½c over to 4c under May, and No. 4 grades 5@6½c under. Outside markets were 1@3c lower.

Basis on cash oats was easier with No. 2 white 3@5½c over May and No. 3 white ⅝c under to 2c over May.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Saturday: Wheat, 17 cars; corn, 73 cars; oats, 43 cars; rye, 10 cars, and barley, 20 cars.

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

The absence of rallying power of importance and the liberal selling, with a close at almost the lowest of the day on all grains, was regarded as showing a lack of confidence among holders. The main support was attributed to week-end short covering with local sentiment very bearish. In some quarters it was regarded as too much so and the markets are said to be in a position to respond to any good bull news and improved buying.

Indications are that statistics on Monday will be bullish, with good decreases in the visible supply of all grains. A fair gain in the quantity of wheat on passage to Europe may result from the larger Australian and Argentine shipments. World shipments are estimated at 13,400,000 bu, against 13,535,000 bu last year.

There is said to be 1,500,000 bu of wheat bought at Minneapolis and Duluth to come to Chicago for delivery on May contracts. This had a bearish influence and the May-July spread here was reduced to around 10c. There was a difference of 8c between Minneapolis and Chicago May, and 8c between Chicago and Winnipeg, the latter being a premium, while Chicago is a premium over Minneapolis.

Cash handlers say that the scarcity of elevator room in Chicago is a bar against bringing down as much wheat as is available for shipment from Duluth to Chicago. There were free offerings yesterday at the same prices as for several days past.

Winnipeg messages claim No. 1 Duluth northern wheat now at Lake Erie ports can be bought at equal to 3c less than their No. 3 northern now afloat at Buffalo.

There are indications of a small increase in the movement of corn from the country. A Fort Dodge, Iowa, message said weather conditions were ideal for corn planting and that it looked like there would be a small movement of corn from that section. Receivers in Chicago reported a small increase in the consignment notices from Illinois points.

The Government's weekly weather forecast is for showers the middle of the week or later with temperature near normal for the first part and probably below, the latter half for the lake region and the greater part of the Ohio and the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys.

Winnipeg reported that Stewart, Cathcart and a few other local traders covered considerable short wheat on the break there, which accounted for the relative strength in their market. The May wheat in Winnipeg closed at losses of 2⅞c, July 2¼c, and October 1c, for the day.

"A local statistician says that the world's supply of wheat in sight is only 1,000,000 bu, less than last year, while stocks in North America are 43,000,000 bu smaller. This shows the necessity for another liberal crop here at home. Just now the market shows no definite trend," says Thomson & McKinnon. "But underlying conditions warrant no permanent weakening in values and the forthcomig Government stock reports estimate of abandoned acreage will be of a decidedly bullish character."

The Red Book Annex, compiled by Howard, Bartels & Company, is out, giving the grain and provision statistics for the first quarter of 1925.

COTTON MARKETS

Cotton trading was liberal and the movement of prices irregular, especially at Chicago, with May and July showing tightness, the latter closing 64 points higher, while May was up 8 points and the current futures unchanged to 4 points higher at the close. New Orleans gained 1 to 7 points, while in New York the nearby deliveries were weak and 1 to 4 points lower, with October 5 and December 11 points higher.

Texas and Oklahoma had good rains and in many sections the drought has been relieved. In some sections rains have been from 1 to 3 inches, except through Dallas and southward, where drought is unbroken. Predictions, however, are for rain. Spot news was moderately bullish and the selling pressure limited. Prices in the leading markets follow:

U. S. BANK BACKS BRITISH RETURN TO GOLD BASIS

LONDON, April 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The report of a verbal agreement between the Bank of England and the New York federal reserve bank under which the latter will discount sterling bills whenever presented, after the pound has reached parity, is confirmed in banking circles here. It is pointed out, however, that such a course would naturally follow in the event of the pound reaching its normal value of 4.86⅝.

Bankers explain that such discounting will aid in keeping the pound at parity, but it is only one of many factors which will do so.

Expect Big British Loan.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—The New York federal reserve banks reported agreement with the Bank of England to take pound sterling bills in the open market as an exchange stabilizer was regarded among many officials here as tantamount to placing the New York bank's gold reserve behind the British pound. It was agreed that the New York bank would be of incalculable aid to the British by open market operations in aiding the British efforts to maintain a gold basis.

It was believed, of course, that London later, when conditions make such action propitious, would counter the bills taken by the New York bank with a credit established through a loan here. The amount of this loan has been estimated variously from $500,000,000 to $750,000,000.

Sterling Nears Parity.

New York, April 25.—Anticipating Great Britain's early return to the gold standard, sterling exchange continued its march toward parity today, reaching a new post-war high price of $4.82¼, less than 4½ cents below its normal value.

The growing belief that Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill will make a formal announcement of the gold resumption policy to parliament next Tuesday, stimulated speculative buying of sterling bills which accounted for much of the day's advance of about 1½ cents.

PRIMARY RECEIPTS LARGER

How to Select SAFE Bonds

This book is gratis
but to thousands it has pointed the way to investment safety

A MAN who in the past fourteen years has accumulated over one hundred thousand dollars in Forman securities recently sent his check to us for ten thousand dollars. Accompanying instructions were as follows: "Forward me 6½% bonds for the amount. Correspondence relative to any particular issue is unnecessary. All I need know about bonds is that they are Forman bonds."

This man is just one of many hundreds of our clients who have learned that bonds, like automobiles or silverware, have a label—an identifying mark that denotes safety and desirability.

If all bonds were equally meritorious, investors would neither need be particular nor cautious. But thousands know that the opposite is true; that invested money often goes astray; and many times it goes beyond recall.

To those, in particular, the little volume shown above is especially valuable. It deals in plain investment facts. It speaks frankly and truthfully. It tells what every investor should know. And to thousands it has pointed the way to safety and splendid income. You should have a copy. Send for it without obligation.

New York, April 25.—Stock prices developed a rallying tendency toward the close of today's brief session of the market after a period of extreme irregularity during which violent declines took place in some of the high priced specialties. Fluctuations generally represented the usual week end evening up operations of professional traders.

Commercial Solvents A and B broke 15 and 15½ points to 90 and 85, respectively, on reports of serious German competition in the production of butanol, one of the company's most important products. At today's lows, both stocks were off 100 to 110 points from the year's highs. Nash Motors broke 16 points and then recovered half its loss.

CORPORATION EARNINGS

PAIGE-DETROIT MOTOR CAR.

Statement of the Paige-Detroit Motor company for the year ended Dec. 31, 1924, as filed with the New York Stock exchange, was in error inasmuch as it omitted profits on branch operations. With these profits included, 1924 net available for dividends amounted to $1,588,085, equal, after deduction of preferred to $2.37 a share, par $100, on 600,000 shares common stock at the close of the year, instead of $1.94, as shown in the statement to the exchange. This compares with $3,002,824, or $4.69 a share, on the common in 1923.

WALDORF SYSTEM.

Net earnings after expenses, taxes, depreciation and preferred dividends amounted to $223,751, equal to 50 cents a share on the common stock, as compared with $286,063, or 63 cents a share, in the corresponding quarter of 1924.

HERCULES POWDER.

For the quarter ended March 31, net profit was $604,224, after depreciation and federal taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $2.95 a share on the common, against $433,828 net, or $1.77 a share earned in the first quarter of 1924.

RAILROAD NOTES

Freight rates on vegetables from Mississippi producing points to consuming territory all over the United States were held to be generally reasonable by the interstate commerce commission. A charge of $10 per car more for refrigerating tomatoes and cabbage than is charged for refrigerating other vegetables was held to be unjust. Railroads were ordered to cease altogether collecting the extra refrigerating fee after June 1.

A reduction of from 5 to 12½ per cent in freight rates on cigar when shipped in carload lots was ordered by the commission. The decrease will be brought about by placing such shipments in class 2 of the freight rate schedules instead of class 1. The minimum weight to constitute a carload was fixed at 30,000 pounds.

The Missouri Pacific, anticipating a need for funds to meet debts maturing in 1926 asked the commission to authorize the issue of $35,417,000 in 5 per cent bonds. Of the issue $25,000,000 will be sold immediately and the balance held in its treasury.

The Detroit, Cairo and Sandusky railroad has been organized to take over and operate a section of the defunct Detroit, Bay City and Western railroad, recently sold at a receiver's sale to a group representing the bondholders of the line, the price being $200,000.

Stockholders of the Pennsylvania increased 777 in March, making a total on April 1 of 146,163.

Importance of the Specialist

MOST of the achievements in our present day civilization have been due to the efforts of the specialist. He is constantly working, improving and giving to the world the benefits of his labor in his particular field.

Today we all seek out specialized knowledge and accumulated experience—the doctor, the lawyer, the architect, the contractor. We go with our problems to the men or companies that know—those with practical and successful experience.

And in our investment problems, where safety is the first consideration—we seek out houses with long successful records. That is why each year not merely tens of thousands of old customers but thousands of new ones are purchasing American Bond offerings.

For nearly half a century the founders of this company, who are still actively directing its policies, have been specializing in the real estate investment field. This first hand knowledge of land and building values, rentals, and costs, assures strong protection for First Mortgage Bonds.

In buying bonds, seek out safety. Go to the specialist.

NEWS OF THE CROPS

The aggregate wheat acreage of nineteen countries reported up to April 17 amounts to 132,729,000 acres, compared with 128,159,000 acres for the same countries last year, according to reports from the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome. This is an increase of about 4,600,000 acres, or 3.6 per cent.

"Spring seeding of small grains is well advanced in some of the European countries, with conditions favorable except in India and the United States, where they are below the average," says the weekly report from the United States department of agriculture.

George M. Le Count wires from Beatrice, Neb., to Stein, Alstrin & Co.: "From Belleville here, wheat improves, though some thin patchy fields on high land. General condition fairly promising. Oats looking fine."

Winnipeg Free Press report bearish on new crop prospects. Season about two weeks ahead of last year with seeding well along and plenty of moisture.

if you've ever doubted the ability of the American people to recognize value when they see it ‚ ‚ if you've ever been skeptical about merit bringing its own reward

‚ ‚ read this true story of what has happened to KISSEL and KISSEL dealers since the new Six and Eight were announced ‚ ‚ .

FOR the first quarter of 1925 Kissel piled up a 287% increase in sales over the same period in 1924. March alone was 310% better than the previous March.

No other car manufacturer, big or small, we believe, can point to such a phenomenal record.

As a matter of fact, the whole industry for the first quarter fell off 17% in sales compared with January, February and March of 1924.

Why this rising tide of Kissel popularity that is smashing all precedent in the industry and is forcing the output of the Kissel factory to the utmost?

Value—that is the answer!

FOR 19 years Kissel has progressed surely and steadily, building fine motor cars and maintaining its reputation for style leadership. Every characteristic of Kissel craftsmanship—the low-cradled bodies, wide doors, oval windows—all have been copied by other manufacturers . . . a year or two later. You could have foretold the general body styles of 1925 by looking at the 1924 Kissels. You have only to see the 1925 Kissels to know what will be new with other cars in 1926.

Last year Kissel introduced an Advanced Engineered Motor, Six and Eight. It was a sensation from the start.

Everywhere people began to talk about this power plant that would do 75 miles an hour for hours at a stretch and would run 25,000 miles without the usual need of taking up bearings or replacing any parts due to wear. That was the beginning of this great swing to Kissel.

AND here is another record—more remarkable even than the stupendous gain in sales. Think of this! Since the Advanced Engineered Kissel Motor was introduced we have not replaced so much as a wrist pin or bushing in any one of these motors—either Sixes or Eights. And many have gone over 30,000 miles.

With this tirelessly performing motor, with a chassis long famed for sturdiness and with the style that only Kissel can build into motor cars, a beautiful new line was introduced at the New York Automobile Show in January, at noticeably lower prices.

Value! The American public recognized it instantly! Kissel style, Kissel quality and a great Kissel engine in a closed car at $1895.

Immediately, from coast to coast, the demand for Kissels began to mount higher and higher.

Production was increased. The working force was enlarged 50% and output increased again. Still the demand grew and grew. Now the factory is working day and night at peak production and still orders for Kissels and more Kissels are coming in.

BOSTON is 332% ahead of last year. Indianapolis shows a 408% gain. Chicago sold as many Kissels in the first three months as it did in the twelve months of 1924. Los Angeles is 273% over. Minneapolis a gain of 361%. Philadelphia is 264% ahead.

April will show a 350% increase over last April. Indications are that May will make a similar gain. We have orders on hand that will keep the factory running at top speed through June and July.

There is no stopping Kissel now, because Kissel is giving the value and the American public has found it out.

WAISTLINES AND YOKES ARE INVITED TO ATTEND OUR SPRING EVENING AFFAIRS

by Corinne Lowe

A frock for the sub-deb at the evening wedding is transposed from Chanel in a willow green chiffon posed over matching crepe slip and appliqued with cire chiffon roses in tones of rose and deep green. Next, a Berthe model of black lace exploits a yoke of contrasting mesh and a novel disposition of geranium pink silk roses. In the center Chanel demonstrates the power of the blonde lace gown—here developed over blonde satin. A fourth imported model is executed in Burgundy red flat crepe combined with a lighter red veiled in flesh color. Last, Drecoll combines black lace and black satin and adds an artful touch of narrow pink ribbon punctuated by long black silk tassels.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—This spring's clothes are much like a relative or some near friend. We feel as if we had always known them. They look as familiar as the moon or a bath towel. We can't believe, indeed, that they have changed one bit. And it is only when we compare today's models with those of last spring that we are convinced of time's handiwork. To leaf over last season's fashion drawings—this is exactly like looking at an old photograph of our relative or near friend who we have fondly imagined, hasn't changed one iota. Involuntarily we gasp, "Doesn't she look different today?"

She—Miss Silhouette—certainly has changed when it comes to the evening costume. Yes, we do continue to encounter the platitudinous sheath, but we don't run into it nearly so often, and when we do it usually apologizes for its protracted existence by some brand new kink in flounce or godet. The truth of it is that the waistline has been bidden to attend our evening ceremonies, and seldom does it decline the invitation.

Now, when we say waistline, we don't always mean something absolutely open. True, the frankly defined bodice fitted and attached to a full skirt is the freshest mode today. Foreshadowed last autumn, this fashion has long since got out of the creeping stage, and at the present time this tenth carbon copy of 1890 modes is walking upright and unafraid. We have a thousand various interpretations of the revived fashion, most of them pleasing to the eye. However, the interesting phase of this change is that often the waistline is merely whispered rather than uttered. There are all sorts of ways to suggest it.

One of the frocks most eloquent of the new treatment is the model second from the right. If you inspect this from the front, it looks much like the evening gowns of last season. Turn to the back view, however, and you see the waistline has broken into the party. There it is, slightly elongated and defined by a girdle of self-material, which is laid in soft folds and which drops at the [illegible] long loops headed by a rose of flesh and red crepe. The rose on one side and the balancing tucks on the other have also their bearing on this matter of the waistline, for they see to it that only the direct front of the costume is left without a boundary.

The model is achieved of Burgundy red crepe, and the under bodice is of a lighter tone of red veiled in flesh color. Such selection of fabric is interesting, for it reveals the fact that crepe is still with us and is prepared to sit up until all hours. There are many popular fabrics for spring evening gowns. Satin and tulle, lace and silk net, the new soft taffeta, and many chiffons all answer the roll call, but it is significant that flat crepe and georgette are used time and again by world famous concocters of the evening gown. They are, indeed among the loveliest of all the spring offerings in this province.

Of course, we all know a waistline has no settled convictions about a place of residence. It shifts from one neighborhood to another and has got as used to moving as a circuit rider's wife. So, although the dominant silhouette prescribes a zone slightly longer than normal, we find many gowns of the season leaning toward that under-the-arm effect, which was the habit of the Empire and Directoire periods.

One of the yoke experiments is presented in the sketch of a Drecoll model at the extreme right. Observe how the deep yoke of fine black lace alters a familiar silhouette and waves over the sheath of other days a transforming wand of novelty. You will see also that the flounce, obedient to the demand for a skirt fullness considerably higher than that of the winter, prescribes a depth more pronounced than the accustomed "penny" frill.

This model brings up another point for discussion. Both pastel and vivid tints are practiced continually in the spring evening modes. Never mind about that. You can wear black nowadays and be just as comfortable as if nine billion other women had not been doing exactly the same thing for nine years. Black satin and crepe and, above all, black lace, bear witness to the fact that we can't stop wearing the ebon hue any more than we can stop making ten excuses for one thing.

Black lace seems to reserve for itself an especially tenacious hold on the evening situation. One of Molyneux's most charming creations selects this medium in a two tier frock adorning its flounces with appliqued chiffon flowers in several bewitching hues. And that is just it. We may wear black, but we seldom risk it without some atoning touch of color. We find the responsibility for this contribution put squarely up by Drecoll to narrow rose ribbon run through the black lace yoke of our model at the right. In the long black silk tassels that terminate these ribbon ends we find yet one more reminder of the fact that tassels are as good for us as they ever were for a bell cord.

There is another black lace frock on the page. Second from the left is a Berthe evening model that chooses this same familiar avenue for self-expression. In this frock we find the popularity of the yoke re-asserted in a delicately striped black lace which contrasts effectively with the floral pattern employed elsewhere. Here again the waistline is boldly asserted, and in the three geranium-pink roses apportioned to the frock we identify the habitual impulse to brighten up that black corner where we are. Here is a new form of floral behavior, for on yoke and skirt the roses are placed under the lace—they are flat—while the third member of the triumvirate is placed squarely on the outside of the corsage.

One certainly does not need to attach one's sentiment exclusively to black lace, for this is a season when every type of this raiment is up and about. The metallic group, those dyed to match the frock and, above all, the blonde meshes, are found in every assemblage of fashionable women. In the center we show a Chanel interpretation of the blonde lace gown which is developed over blonde satin and accented on the shoulder with a huge rose of slightly darker tint.

This new and assertive waistline has as many aliases as a master criminal. The halfway girdle, the groups of tucks at the waistline, the upward draping are mere names under which the belt plays its old game. Still another alias is to be found in the graceful shoulder cape which is used again to quite an extent by Molyneux and with some enthusiasm by some of the other Paris couturiers. As an example of how a graceful little shoulder cape may contribute the effect of a waistline and thus break the evil spell of the unbelted mode is afforded you by a glimpse of the model at the extreme left.

This is a Chanel model—black chiffon over black crepe—and its appliqued roses of cire chiffon shade from a deep red to a tone that just escaped being yellow. This frock makes a charming selection for the afternoon affair or the informal evening party. Here it has been adapted to the uses of the sub-deb. Carried out in a pale willow green chiffon over self-color crepe, it is trimmed with cire chiffon in rose and deep green, and, thus transposed makes an evening frock for the girl who is not yet "out." Please notice that the shoulder cape is attached to the top seam of the short sleeves and that the waistline is still farther enunciated by tiny tucks taken at the side at almost the normal waistline.

The Last Word in Paris Fashions

MODELS THAT ESTABLISH THE SILHOUETTE.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Standardizing the silhouette of the season occurs in March and April, when Woman (with a capital "W") gets into the couturiers' salons. Paul Poiret says that out of his collection of three hundred new models not more than ten get to be popular, and that women insist on buying them over and over again. They become styles, and the rest languish in dark closets or wherever it is that couturiers keep their costumes when not on the mannequin. They are the sartorial wallflowers of the season.

This spring every woman is getting herself tricked out for evening in one of those litite chiffon frocks with a lot of departures from the straight and narrow line in the form of godets or panels around the skirt. There is at least one magnificent example of this silhouette for dance and evening wear in every important showing, and often there are twenty, so it is just a matter of picking out the variety which pleases you the most.

I have chosen two versions of this type of model that is going to be the belle of the ball at most of our spring soirées, and if you will glance at our first offering you will see one of them, which combines a lot of minor attractions with its all conquering line. It is a very simple problem in mathematics to reduce this dress to its first common denominator, i. e., the straight shift, which makes it easier to assimilate the complications that make it chic.

First of all is the shading of the slip, that is made of georgette. Beginning with the hem in the deepest purple, it runs through all the tones of violet and mauve into rose, which pales to flesh at the top.

A deep yoke effect, which is smart this season, is secured by means of diamond shaped motifs of embroidery done in almost all the colors of the shaded georgette that forms the dress. However, it is in the six flaring pointed panels, that the secret of the silhouette is to be found. These panels are picoted around their edges, and shaded to harmonize with the body of the dress, only in paler tones. The waist-deep arm holes are edged with pearl embroidery. This model was one of the successes of the Becboff collection, which everybody wants.

To accompany it he designed the coat shown in our second sketch. The material is a fine old brocade, in gold and colors, which looks like some of those rare tissues you see in the Louvre or in old Florentine paintings. It has a simple and successful line, chiefly produced by the slight flare that results from the shirred neckline.

It is the lining which makes it unquestionably the companion to the gown, for it is lined with crepe de chine shaded from purple to flesh just as the gown is shaded, and edged with the same embroidery.

The collar and cuffs are made from real chinchilla, a fur that you see little of in this season of imitations—chinchinella, chinchilla rat, and such—and in consequence almost prohibitive in price. The closing of the cloak is achieved by two long cords, made of twisted silk and gold and terminating in tassels. It is a bit smarter to have some kind of official closing for your evening, as well as your daytime coat, this season, than simply to hold it together in the familiar hand clutch.

In fact, the flare and the fastening of your coat are its distinguishing marks this spring, details that separate it from the coat of last season. A lot of the newest and smartest coats flare slightly, as this one does from the neck line, by means of a bit of fullness expertly introduced at that point, and gently gored side seams. Other coats have little shoulder yokes from which the fullness begins. They are more feminine than those double breasted redingotes we have worn so continuously, and this is a season that veers away from the garçonne mode.

An American litterateur, now in Paris, who is doing a book on the psychology behind feminine fashions down the ages, contends that our clothes must inevitably revert to the feminine in this and next season, since the masculine type of costume was popular because women were establishing their equality with men, and now that it is admitted, they will revert to their natural predilection for the dainty and diaphanous in clothes. Having the vote, and other substantial evidences that they have equal rights, they will no longer ape man in the matter of dress.

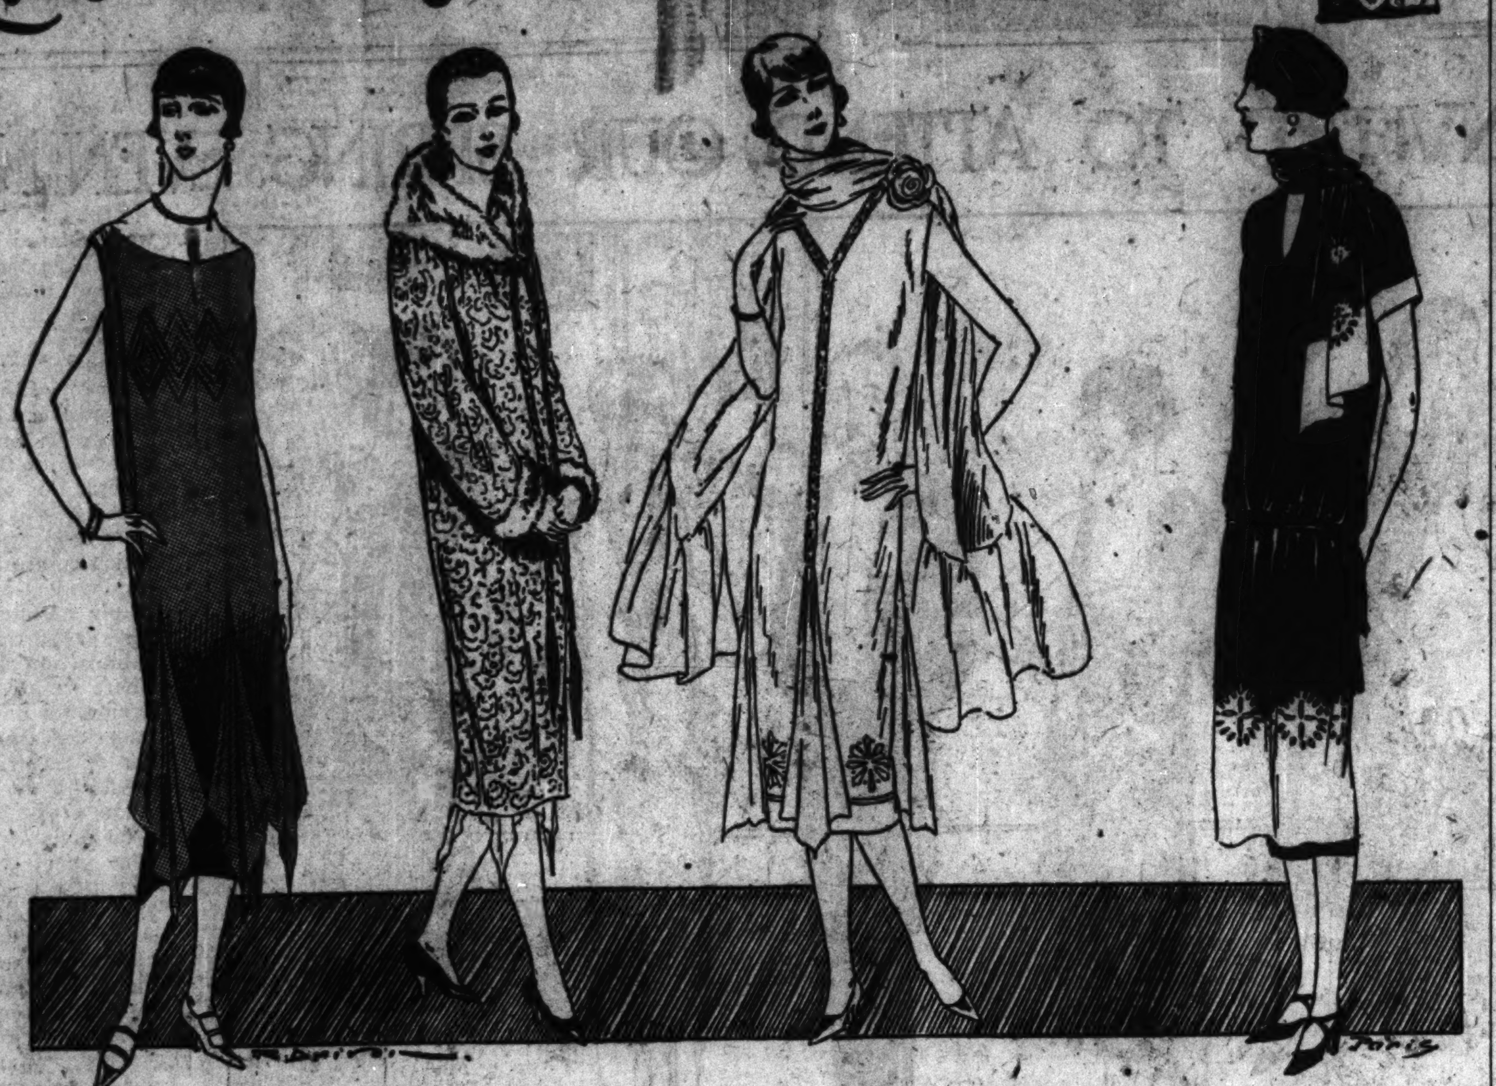
Certainly our third offering, which Mme. Yteb tells me was the big success of her spring collection of evening clothes, is as feminine as any frock could be, and seems to substantiate the theory of my friend the litterateur. It is the second of our models that show the predominating silhouette for evening, and everything about it speaks of the feminine. In color it is flesh pink. In fabric it is chiffon, and it is embroidered with pearls. The long tunic is worn over a satin slip of slightly deeper pink, which shows for several inches at the hemline. This tunic, without its four circular godets, would be our old friend the tube tunic, but the addition of this quartet of amplifiers makes it into another thing altogether. These circular godets are not allowed to float in their wild free fashion, but are held down by bands beneath, so the tunic retains its form. Between each godet is placed a motif of pearls and the edge is banded with lines of pearls.

The V neckline, quite the smartest cut of the season, is edged with lines of pearl embroidery, which extend down the center front to meet the top of the godet. Similar lines of pearl embroidery are placed under the arms.

You should take special note of the scarf, which balances so neatly the flare of the tunic. It is attached to the gown on the left shoulder with a large shaded rose and floats backward like floating panels. Circular pieces give it added flare at the ends.

Our fourth offering promotes the new blouse-waist silhouette, and it can also boast of a new material, chiffon ciré, which has the same surface as the stovepipe ribbon that was used so much a few years ago. It has the thinness and delicacy of chiffon, with this highly polished surface. The body of the gown is black, with a deep hem, cuffs, and scarf band of white ciré chiffon. The contrasting colors are joined by black eyelet embroidery. There is considerable fullness in the waist, introduced at the round neck, and the brief raglan sleeves are also gathered into the neckline at the top.

The scarf is firmly attached to the back of the neckline, so that it may not wander from a certain prescribed line. It is supposed to be worn in two ways—the manner illustrated, and hanging straight down the front on both sides of the neck, in which case the slight at the center front becomes a V with small revers.



Unusual evening frock of violet shaded georgette embroidered with pearls. | Accompanying evening cloak of lamé brocade has a shaded lining. | Scarf of chiffon completes the long godeted tunic of pale pink frock. | Ciré chiffon in black and white makes a smart afternoon dress.

NEW CLOTHES FOR SPRING.

This department will be glad to answer any questions regarding men's fashions, the correct thing to wear on different occasions. Address communications to A. T. Gallico, The Tribune, Chicago. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for personal reply.

BY A. T. GALLICO.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Faithful readers who have followed this department during the last twelve months will perhaps remember my old friends, Mr. Smith and Mr. Brown, two characters of sartorial imagination, who have served to illustrate some of the what's whats in men's fashions.

For those of you who have forgotten them, and for those others of you who have never met them, let me introduce Mr. Brown as the young man from the country who occasionally makes visits to his New York cousin, Mr. Smith, an older man, well versed in the art of good dressing. Mr. Brown's visits are not purely sartorial in spirit, of course. But he does manage to find plenty of time to fit himself out in the New York manner, with the aid and expert advice of his cousin.

Jim Brown was last in New York, I believe, last fall. His cousin has just received a wire that he will arrive in town for a week's visit. He has met him at Grand Central station, and the cousinly salutations being over, the question, "What do you want to do now?" has been brought up.

"I couldn't do much but go to a dog fight in the clothes I have now," said Jim. "I haven't bought a single thing to wear since I was here last fall, because I wanted to wait until I came to New York. My shirts are almost in rags. Take me to that shop I went to before and tell me what to get. Then we'll see about doing something. That's a dandy looking outfit you're wearing."

Which was quite true. Mr. Smith, who is a well set up tall man, was wearing one of the smart double breasted dark blue suits which are one of the chief joys of the smart dressers these days. With it he wore a figured shirt in blue and white, with stiff bosom, wing collar, and a bow tie of blue and white checks. His hat was a pearl gray, and he carried a smart malacca stick.

"If I could look like you," said Jim admiringly, "I'd make a living going around being a shining example of how to dress. I'd pass the hat at every street corner."

"We'll soon have you looking like ten Beau Brummels rolled into one," said his cousin. "However, we won't let the effect be such that people can tell you are trying to be a perfect example of the sartorial art. One of the secrets of good dressing is to give a certain air of nonchalance, an 'I-don't-know-that-I-am-well-dressed' air. Good sartorial effects must not look set and precise, as though the whole thing would be spoiled if one little detail were changed."

Meanwhile the two had progressed along Madison avenue, after checking Jim's baggage, to be picked up later. "I didn't bring a trunk," said Jim, "because I didn't have anything to put in it coming this way, and I am going to get a new trunk to go home with. Dad's going to give me a month's vacation this summer from the business to take a trip out west and I need a new trunk. I'll also need a bunch of clothes, and I'll be coming to you to get them before I go."

Jim wanted a new suit that afternoon, and so they went to a smart shop to pick him out one ready made. Jim is a blonde young man and had always found that dark blue was one of the most becoming colors for him. But he didn't want every suit to be dark blue, and had tried out various other colors, some good and some not so good. The first time he had come to New York to see his cousin he had been wearing a suit of some yellowish shade of brown which was terrible on him. Mr. Smith had him get one of medium gray, which proved to be exceedingly becoming.

This spring day Mr. Smith suggested he get one of those soft light browns, in a flannel suit, just as a change from the dark blue and grays he had been wearing so much. It was a brown that looked well with his blonde hair, and it had a faint overplaid of pale pastel green. "This green touch will make it necessary to watch your color schemes carefully," said Mr. Smith, "but it will also insure attractive combinations."

Jim got a shirt of green figure to wear with this, a shirt with a self collar. It wasn't a suit that suggested a wing collar and a bow tie. It was more informal than that. The tie he wore with the suit that day was a foulard four-in-hand in a green and tan coloring, which blended with the light brown suit and a green shirt. The hat Mr. Smith selected for him was of a soft shade of tan, with a dark brown band. His oxfords were a light tan; and the socks light weight wool of green and tan mixture.

Jim got some other shirts to go with this suit for other days. He selected one of brown and white stripes, with self collar, one of a solid color tan, with plaited bosom and self collar, and another of light green with a self checked pattern. The ties he picked out were all in the green and brown atmosphere. One was a striped tie in light and dark green. One was a checked tie of two shades of tan, and one was of the new figured crêpes in tan and white coloring.

"There seems to be as many striped ties as ever," remarked Jim, as they wandered along the avenue looking in the shop windows.

"Yes, there isn't anything else in the cravat line that threatens to put the stripe from its throne," said Mr. Smith. "But there is plenty of competition furnished by checked neckwear, and the crêpes with their mottled patterns. These latter are purely summer ties. The stripe goes on from season to season, merely getting a little gayer in color in the summer months."

Doris Blake's Answers TO LOVE PROBLEMS

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going with my sweetheart for a year and love him with all my heart. The only time we can't get along is when we are at a dance or party, and then we have the usual row about his being attentive to the other girls, one in particular, who knows we love each other and does all she can to hurt my feelings. My friend says he has to be sociable and cannot be rude when other girls speak to him. I know he loves me dearly, and since I cannot hide my feelings on these occasions, will you please advise me whether I am in the wrong by quarreling with him? Is it that I am jealous? T. T."

You funny child. Of course, you are wrong. He must be sociable when other girls speak. And you exaggerate the trouble every time you raise an objective voice. One way to make a boy turn away from you is to assume that proprietary air about him in company. If you want to hold a man, dear, don't make him conscious of the fact that he is held bound to you for good and all. Give him a long rein, else he will kick over the traces and run. It's the nature of the creature and you cannot change it.

Height Unimportant.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 17 and am in love with a girl the same age. I have known this girl for almost two years but now I am just growing to care for her. She is a sort of old fashioned girl. She is about five inches taller than I. I have never taken her out but I have seen her home several times because the fellows say I am too small to go with her. Please give me your advice as to whether I should ask her to go out with me or not. "SHORTY."

Shorty, if she hasn't offered any objections to your being short, why listen to what your friends have to say? Maybe they would prefer you to spend your time with them, and use this means of trying to discourage your attentions to the young lady. If you make yourself attractive to her by your manner and actions, she won't give your height a second thought.

PLEA FOR CONVALESCENTS.

IF you ever have had illness in the family at this season you know what a joy the spring days are—how wonderful it is for convalescents to get out in to the warm sunshine, to see the flowers and budding trees. And how happy we are to see them regaining strength and joy in living!

Yet there are thousands who cannot take advantage of spring weather for their loved ones unless we help them. In our families we take the warm clothes, the robes and blankets, the wheel chairs for granted; but in many a family these things are something to be dreamed about. There isn't the slightest chance of providing what means so much to invalids—unless we help them.

And most of us can help easily. One of our greatest needs right now is wheel chairs. Many a family in Chicago has a wheel chair and no use whatever for it. We can place every one of them where it will do untold good, speeding recovery, even making recovery possible in many cases.

Rugs, blankets, warm clothing for people of every age are even more easily given. And there are sickroom comforts of every sort, and articles with which convalescents may be entertained—phonographs and records, old books and magazines, crocheting materials, and games for children. There is scarcely a family which can't give some of these things easily—and every one of them will do good.

Think over what you have and let me know what you will give.

Wants Something to Read.

"Has any one magazines or books of fiction which are about to be discarded? I have a 17 year old daughter who has been ill for many weeks, and who would appreciate any gift of reading matter. W. H."

It will not matter to this young invalid if the magazines you have to give are a few months behind time. She will be glad to receive any kind of diversion.

Complete Bed Outfit.

"I have a bed, spring, and mattress, all in fine condition, which I wish to give to some one who can call for it. We are moving, and the bed must be called for almost immediately. "K. K."

This offer comes from the north side of Chicago. It is open to you, if you wish to avail yourself of it and can call for it.

Request for Wheel Chair.

"Your kindness has come to my ears, and I am coming to you with the plea for a wheel chair, for one of my sisters who is 82 years old and crippled. It may be some generous person has an invalid chair not in use. The chair we have is too large for the elevator door, which is 28 inches, and that is a serious difficulty. Therefore, the chair we need would be one about 24 inches from hub to hub. We would truly appreciate the gift. S. M. I."

We have so many requests for wheel chairs from our invalid friends, we hope you will offer one if you have such a chair to give, whether or not it is the size needed by this 82 year old shutin.

For a Music Lover.

"I have two dozen records to give to some one who would like them. I am moving the 20th of the month and they must be called for before then. Do you know of some one who wants them? M. J. L."

This gift comes to you from the north side of Chicago. Can you call for the records before April 20?

Invalid Makes Plea.

"I will be in the hospital for a long time, and have a great desire to make a real study of English while I am here. I speak English now, but somewhat imperfectly, and the use of a good English-Italian grammar would be a real help to me. I am also in need of clothing, especially of shirts, size 14½, and will be grateful for anything you may be able to do for me. L. M."

Surely this request is deserving of your attention, if you can fill it. Our invalid friend should be commended for his enthusiasm for learning English well.

Blind and Deaf.

"I have a friend, an elderly woman, who is both blind and deaf, and whose only pastime is crocheting rag rugs. They are pretty and well made, but she has run out of rags. I wonder if some of your readers have a few they could pass on to her? She uses only cotton rags, including cotton stockings, and will be happy to receive anything that can be spared. MRS. H."

Do some of you still save in what is known as a "rag-bag"? Or has it passed out of existence by this time? At any rate, we shall be glad to supply you with this address, if you wish to help.

Needs Spring and Mattress.

"I am greatly in need of a bed spring and a full sized mattress, but cannot afford to buy them. I wonder if any of your many readers have one or the other in fairly good condition, to donate? I should appreciate the gift. "M. T."

If you have either spring or mattress or both to give to our applicant, we shall be glad to notify her to call for them.

Deserving of Help.

"Reluctant as I am to ask for help, I would like to put my name temporarily on your list of needy, as I am in need of help for my sister, brother and myself. My sister has been sick for over two years and is again to undergo an operation. My brother is still in school, and I am working in a factory and attending night school. I have been able to provide my sister with clothing, but my brother and I are sadly in need of new wardrobes. I am 5 feet 11 inches tall, and weigh 164 pounds. My brother is the same height and weighs 150 pounds. We shall appreciate anything at all in the way of clothing which your readers may have to give. T. A. P."

We hope this request is granted. This young man is worthy of your encouragement, your assistance, and your admiration.

Records to Give.

"I have forty or more phonograph records to give to some one who wants them. They will have to be called for. So do you know of some one who would like to have them? C. C."

This is a splendid offer. Would you like to increase your own stock of records? We shall be glad to hear from you if you are interested.

Dancer Makes Request.

"I have an opportunity to study classic dancing, but am unable to buy a practice costume. I am 5 feet 3½ inches tall. Has some reader a discarded costume to give? ANNA."

Anna will be glad to pay the postage if you are able to give her the costume.

I found a new way to TAKE off FAT

......Dr. Folts soap is the up-to-date way to reduce arms, legs, hips, double chin.

The latest way to take off fat does not call for drugs, exercises, diets or creams—all one needs to do to have a trim, slender figure is to get from the drug store some of Dr. Folts' Soap for Reducing, and apply it night and morning on fat parts. Mrs. W. B. writes us that for five weeks she faithfully used this soap with the most wonderful results. This is all she did: Every night she made a good lather with Dr. Folts' Soap, applied it on her bust, hips and double chin, left the lather on a few minutes, then washed off. Her measurements before starting this simple, easy way were as follows:

Bust, 53. To-day Bust is 38.
Hips, 64. To-day Hips are 44.

She says that she had a double chin which made her look years older. It has entirely vanished. Dr. Folts' Soap has already helped a great many people to take off excess fat, although in the past it had only been made in a limited quantity by the Doctor himself, who kept his formula for his private practice. Lately it has been put up in convenient cake form, and can be had from most leading Drug or Department Stores. No diets or exercises are necessary. It is guaranteed ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS, and is remarkable to beautify the skin and rid it of pimples or eruptions. BEWARE OF WORTHLESS IMITATIONS. ASK FOR AND GET DR. FOLTS' SOAP. If your druggist is out of it, he can get it for you from his wholesaler, or you can send a check or money-order direct to the Scientific Research Laboratories, 30 W. 31st., N. Y. C. Dr. Folts' Soap sells for 50 c. a cake, or 3 for $1.25.

On sale at WALGREEN'S, Buck & Rayner's, MacLean's, Hensel, Home, Kidder & Lewis, Van De Bogart, or any Department Store.

For Sagging or Hanging Cheeks and Chin

Flabbiness of cheeks, chin or neck was considered very difficult to correct until the discovery of what has proved to be a veritable wonder-worker for such conditions. The preparation is so simple and harmless any woman can easily make and apply it. It is all the more remarkable in that its beneficial effects are apparent even after the very first application, both as to appearance and the feeling of comfort.

The formula is: One ounce powdered Saxolite, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. The solution tends to contract and solidify the loosened, baggy tissue, smoothing out the folds, creases and wrinkles, besides having a refining influence on skin of coarse texture and large pores. As witch hazel and Saxolite can be had at any drug store, anyone can try this successful recipe.

DEARBORN SUPPLY CO., Chicago, Ill.

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes—blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out, and that is to dissolve them. Get about two ounces of Calonite powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores, and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of Calonite powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition.

If your druggist does not have Calonite, send $1.00 to the Research Laboratories, 760 Thompson Building, Chicago, and a package will be sent you by mail.

How to Use the Patterns

THESE one piece dresses like pattern No. 2348 are becoming alike to women, both young and old. Made of one of the wash materials—for instance, percale or cotton poplin—the design is just the thing for morning dresses. And if one wanted a pretty dress for summer afternoons at home, one of the lovely cotton broadcloths would be just the thing.

The dress is cut in two pieces—front and back—and then there are the patch pockets and collar. It is a good idea in a dress of this kind to button the entire length—the ironing is so much easier—and besides buttons are one of the most popular trimmings at present. Pearl buttons, having a shank, will be the best kind to use; and these will necessitate making eyelets on the button side of the dress. Buy the rings to hold the buttons in place, and take the buttons out when the dress is to be laundered.

The collar, cuffs, and bands across the tops of the pockets will look well made of a contrasting color. Or, if the dress is made of a solid color, those pieces could be made of a printed design.

Before cutting out the dress, apply your length and hip measures to the pattern pieces and see if they are the same. If they are not the same, allowances may be made for them in placing the pattern pieces on the material.

With a sharp, soft pencil, or a sharpened piece of French chalk, mark the alterations on the material. See that the drop shoulder will be loose enough to allow for any shrinking, for wash materials do shrink, and often a lot of trouble can be saved by shrinking the material before cutting into it.

Unless the material is really heavy, French seams will be the best finish; only take care not to make the second stitching so close to the first that the seam will have a hard feeling—like a cord.

When the collar is ready to put on the dress, pin it first in the middle back—getting the middle of neck and collar. Then pin to the dress at each end, and in basting on, hold the dress next to you. Baste an inch wide strip of the material, cut on a true bias, in a seam over the collar and then stitch the collar to the dress, stitching through the bias facing etc. Then clip the seam edge all along, and turn in the raw edge of the binding over the seam and hem down.

The wrong side of the cuffs is basted in a seam to the right side of the sleeve, then the seam should be overcast and the cuff turned up to the right side of the sleeve. It should be invisibly tacked at the seam and at the outside, to hold it in place.

Gingham, percale, cotton poplin, or cotton broadcloth are good materials for these little rompers. Pattern No. 2337 is an excellent one, and no doubt many mothers will find it just the one they need. The front is cut in one piece, and the back in two. The full length sleeve is perforated for a short length, and the neck of the rompers may be cut in a little square in the front, and faced; or the neck may be cut high and finished with a round collar.

The lower back is buttoned to the bottom of the upper part, and a belt is set on that extends beyond the back—buttoning in the front. The lower part of the rompers may be joined in a seam, or buttoned.

Pattern No. 2312 is for an apron that practically covers the front of one's dress. It is cut in two pieces, and joined in a seam on the shoulders and under the arms. In the back at a slightly raised waist line there are extensions that lap and button. An apron of this kind doesn't take long to make, and it would be a good idea to make several of them; for there are many times when a woman who keeps house needs aprons.

Ric rac always makes a pretty finish and a strong one as well. It is set on the wrong side, letting it extend beyond the edge so that one half its width shows from the right side. It is then stitched on twice—once close to the apron edge, and the second time enough below this to catch in the lower points. Of course, the apron edges all have to be faced first or turned in carefully.

TOO LATE.

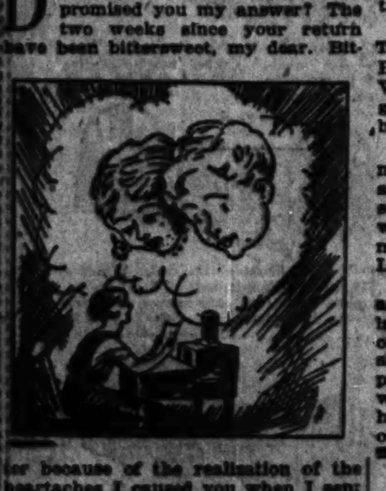
DEAREST RALPH: Is it a lifetime or only three days since I promised you my answer? The two weeks since your return have been bittersweet, my dear. Bitter because of the realization of the heartaches I caused you when I sent you away ten years ago, and because of my heartaches made by my own folly. Sweet because of your presence.



Since my earliest years mother taught me happiness is founded on righteousness. Now it is my religion, and I find I cannot do what you ask and what I want to do with my whole being. Ah, I know I married Paul in a moment of madness. He made me supremely happy for a tiny spell—but the years of misery!

You say youth may rectify mistakes; that I could not plan my future at 17 because I had no past; that no one should question another's way of happiness, because happiness is so hard to find.

In answer, I say, "My children." They love me, trust me. And they love Paul. They look to us for happiness. Without us—that is, both of us together—their little hearts would be broken.

My childhood was heaven, Ralph, made so by my daddy's and mother's sacrifices. Yes, I know Paul is weak, selfish, and unfaithful. But in his way he loves me, and does rely on me in the same way Junior and Louise do.

My dear, I am sending you away again; back to your home in the southland. I'm proud of your success; proud of you because you are you. My arms shall always be around you and my prayers shall be for your happiness. I wish we might be just friends; but how—when I shall always be the wife of your heart?

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed, and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid, and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take, and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

BAD BLOOD AND SPRING

by Antoinette Donnelly

Dame Nature Gives the Remedy—and It Doesn't Come in Bottles.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Even in our advanced hygienic age you hear "bad blood" spoken of as a natural phenomenon of spring. Some there are who still believe in the old sulphur jar, the sarsaparilla vendor, and the bottled spring tonic as heaven sent messengers to show the way to the delights of the golden springtide.

Taking sarsaparilla in the spring will not purify the blood. Neither will sulphur and molasses; nor the spring tonic.

The "badness" in blood, in the general run of beings, arises from bad habits of eating, lack of exercise, and lack of elemental care of the body as life has been lived in the cold months preceding the appearance of that first jolly crocus. That's what makes the crocus look a sicklier yellow than it is—that and little else.

Folk who have followed throughout the long winter months a hygienic course of conduct aren't standing around any sarsaparilla vendor's basket, or standing in line to dip a spoon into the sulphur jar. Spring to them is "full of sweet days and roses," tulips, jonquils, and all that goes with new life and promise.

If you are one of them by now, you are probably occupied with roaming fancies that have nothing to do with a laggard's step or a sluggish complexion. If you're not one of them, you probably want to know how "to get that way" in the quickest possible time.

Taking Your Medicine.

Dame Nature is a good old soul, after all. You offend her to death by cooping yourself up in a hot and badly ventilated house for months, by overeating, and sometimes abstaining from bathing, even, because of the inclemency of the weather. She unrolls a new season for you and invites you to get in on it before all its joys are sped, in spite of the way you had ignored her.

She offers you blood purifiers—the real thing. Indulgently, she coaxes you into taking your medicine like a little man by spreading before your eyes a whole earthful of rewards. A bit of heaven she throws in if you're young, and in love, no matter what your age.

She's a practical old dear, though, you'll note from her springtime offerings on converting "bad blood" into good, dull complexions into bright ones, drab figures into gladsome ones.

Her tonics do not come out of the patent medicine bottle. They come out of the air, lungsful of which you may have for the small sum of stepping out into it with a good pair of walking, golf, or tennis shoes. She offers you fresh fruits and green vegetables from her gardens, and begs you to partake plentifully of them.

These two measures are means to an end, the most important in the whole scheme of spring rejuvenation. They remove the waste products of the body without which removal the most brilliant spring day is as cheerless as bleak November.

Removing the Waste.

To get down to straight health to health talk, spring is only spring in the veins when the intestines and bowels are active and free of accumulated waste. The only reliable procedure for purifying the blood is by removing the waste. This may be done by exercising, especially in the open air, and by lightening the diet; by eliminating from the diet pastries, sweets, greasy foods, all alcohol, and much meat. By partaking freely of fresh fruits, green vegetables, coarse whole cereals, pure milk, eggs, and a little meat.

When you learn to eat moderately, to exercise regularly in the open, to live in well ventilated rooms, and to keep the body in all parts scrupulously clean, then and then only, our best medical authorities agree, will the question of "bad blood" be removed.

The common ills of spring—bad color, bad complexions, depressed and depressing spirits — are merely the price paid for living poorly and at a low level.

Attention to Diet.

Constipated persons are the ones whose physical bearing bespeaks the lowest level in springtime. They, more than any others, should practice the general laws of health and give particular attention to diet. It is from the diet that most damage is done—and from diet that most help can be gained. The necessity of eating less meat and of being partial to vegetables, fruits, coarse breads, and cereals is emphasized. If these measures are not enough, bran or mineral oil may be added. Diets consisting largely of white bread, potatoes, rice, tea, meats, peas and beans are especially to be avoided.

Bran may be served in various ways—taken with cream or sugar, with cereals, vegetable purees, sauces, soups, etc. It may be taken before, after, or between meals by itself. Moistened, it can be swallowed readily; it is best taken with food, however. A tablespoonful three times a day is not too much. While it is generally sufficient in itself, it may be combined with liquid petrolatum—also known as mineral oil—the bran to be taken during the day and the petrolatum at night in dosage of a tablespoonful. Neither bran nor mineral oil is a cure for constipation. They are merely helps, but neither has any of the ill effects of a drug.

The thing to bear in mind is that the better the general health, the better the health of the intestines, and the more quickly are the disorders of the latter removed.

Physicians will tell you that in many cases constipation is due solely to insufficient water drinking. Constipation occurs because the intestines become dry, food passing through them with difficulty. Furthermore, except in a few instances free water drinking will cure or materially aid a cure.

Dr. William S. Walsh recommends these vegetables as particularly laxative in effect: Fresh greens—such as dandelions, spinach, kale, turnip and beet tops—rhubarb, tomatoes, salsify, cabbage, lettuce, asparagus, celery, corn, beets, squash, pumpkin, and boiled Spanish onions. Potatoes, he says, favor constipation, for the starch contained in them is the hardest of all starches to digest. Some digestive disturbances are doubtless due to overeating of potatoes or to poorly cooked potatoes, and in some instances indigestion is cured or greatly benefited by limiting the potato intake or by omitting potatoes entirely from the diet.

With so many vegetables to choose from now, there is no reason why two different vegetables should not be eaten at at least two meals every day.

Beauty Answers

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

What's your beauty ill? Too fat? Too thin? Shy on hair? Oily hair, oily skin, freckles, pimples, or blackheads? Flat chested or flat footed? Write to me. I have a tonic, a diet or a set of exercises for what ails you, and you're welcome to them and to all the advice I can give you. If you wish a personal reply, send a stamped, addressed envelop. Address Antoinette Donnelly, The Tribune, Chicago.

This department appears every day in the Daily Tribune.

SARA M.: BORAX ADDED TO the water for your bath will soften the water, but its general use is not recommended, as it is an alkali and abstracts fat from the skin, leaving it dry. The same is true of sodium bicarbonate. Too much cannot be said in favor of the daily bath. A warm bath at night and a cold shower in the morning tone up the skin and keep the blood in circulation. For further information on care of the skin, send stamped, addressed envelope.

B. T. R.: I SHOULDN'T USE THE comb and bush furnished by the office, as scalp diseases are conveyed from one to another in this way. Bring your own brush and keep it in your own desk to be sure none other than yourself uses it. You cannot be too particular about it. Undoubtedly your dandruff is the result of your having used it the few times you did. Send stamped, addressed envelope for booklet on care of the hair, which covers dandruff.

X. Y. Z.: THE FOLLOWING FORmula is excellent for an oily skin: Orange flower water, 6 ounces; tincture of benzoin, ½ ounce; witch hazel, 2 ounces. Mix the witch hazel and the orange flower water, shake lightly and add to the tincture of benzoin. Apply with a piece of absorbent cotton night and morning. If your face is very oily, wipe off once or twice during the day with diluted alcohol. For mild cases of oiliness of the skin 1 dram of boracic acid mixed with 4 ounces of rose water is helpful.

MRS. G.: THE ACTUAL CAUSE of the growth of hair on the face I cannot say. It is usually a peculiarity of the skin structure. In many cases it is hereditary. The only means of permanently removing superfluous hair is by electrolysis, but the work must be done by a reputable skin specialist. Peroxide, used half strength or full strength, is recommended as a bleach.

LUELLA: IF YOU WISH TO HAVE nice hands while doing your own housework you must give them some little time and care. Rubber gloves may be used when doing work which requires the hands to be in water, such as dish washing and cleaning. When the hands become stained from fruits or vegetables, apply lemon juice or pumice. Then, equal parts of camphor and glycerine rubbed into the hands two or three times a day will keep them soft and white. For manicuring instructions, send stamped, addressed envelope.

T. R. J.: IN CHILDREN RUNNING ears may be the result of an ordinary head cold, or the condition may follow an attack of scarlet fever or measles. If the discharge continues, there may be tonsil or adenoid trouble, which needs correction, or there may be a condition in the ear itself which needs treatment other than local treatment. Douche twice a day with warm boric acid solution. If this is not sufficient, you had better consult an ear specialist.

MRS. J. R. M.: MANY ARE OF the impression that left handed persons are mentally inferior. This belief was tested out by a psychologist recently and found to be false. It was found that among the subnormal there is a large percentage of left handed, also that there are more left handed boys than girls, and that left handedness runs in families.

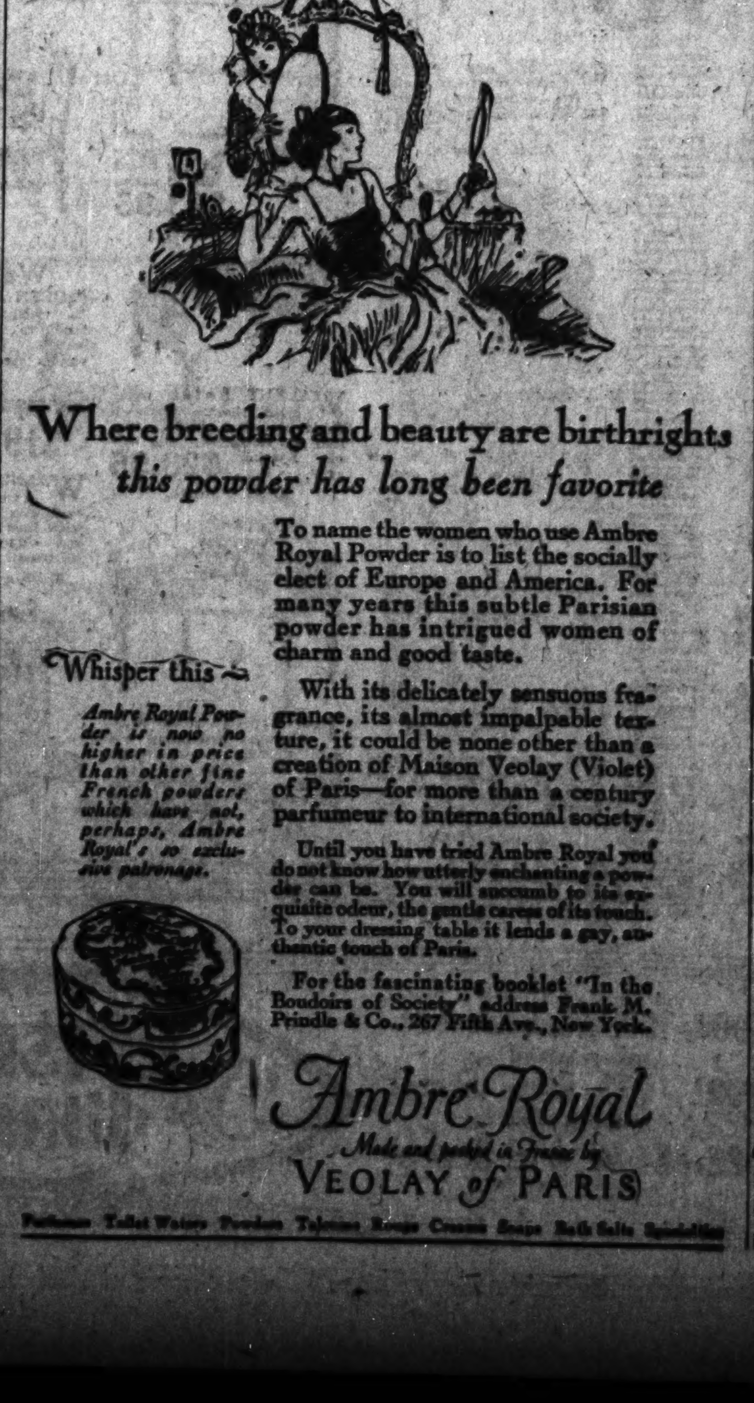
ENERGINE THE PERFECT DRY CLEANER



Where breeding and beauty are birthrights this powder has long been favorite

To name the women who use Ambre Royal Powder is to list the socially elect of Europe and America. For many years this subtle Parisian powder has intrigued women of charm and good taste.

With its delicately sensuous fragrance, its almost impalpable texture, it could be none other than a creation of Maison Veolay (Violet) of Paris—for more than a century parfumeur to international society.

Until you have tried Ambre Royal you do not know how utterly enchanting a powder can be. You will succumb to its exquisite odeur, the gentle caress of its touch. To your dressing table it lends a gay, authentic touch of Paris.

For the fascinating booklet "In the Boudoirs of Society" address Frank M. Prindle & Co., 267 Fifth Ave., New York.

Whisper this—
Ambre Royal Powder is now no higher in price than other fine French powders which have not, perhaps, Ambre Royal's so exclusive patronage.

5 Tubes Just One Dial to Turn

YOUR enjoyment with a Mohawk is never hampered. If you do not care for one station, you can instantly tune it out and tune in another. With a slight turn of the dial, you can eliminate that particular station and listen to selections from your favorite station. The pleasure of getting what you want when you want it, in a clear, bell-like tone with as much volume or as little as you choose—that pleasure will be yours when you own a "Mohawk Radio." And bear in mind, that this is the first time that the "Mohawk" has been sold for less than its regular price.

The Golden Voiced "Mohawk" Radio Has All These Outstanding Features—Distance, Clarity, Selectivity, and Simplicity of Operation

Radio Experts from the Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Daily News Selected the "Mohawk" as the Ideal Set When They Gave Radios to the Blind Soldiers

Only One Dial to Tune—A Child Can Operate It

JUST one dial to tune to get your favorite station. Just one dial to adjust to get perfect tone reception. Just one dial to tune to get the utmost in selectivity. Every quality of fine reception—selectivity, distance, tone and loud speaker volume—everything heretofore possible with any other 5-tube set is now achieved much faster, easier, and better on The Mohawk with its single Dial Control.

William S. Hedges, Radio Expert From The Chicago Daily News, Says This Of The "Golden-Voiced" Mohawk Radio:

"INTELLIGENCE in radio, as in all things, will give better results, but the watchwords of radio of today are 'simplicity' and 'fool-proof.' Selectivity and distance with volume are now demanded, and they must be given without requiring one to call in the neighbors to help tune the set. One of the manufacturers who has made great headway along these lines is the Mohawk Electric company. The mention of the 'Mohawk' set, which was tested by the staff of the Radio Department of the Daily News as one of its service features to readers of the radio section of the Daily News, illustrates what is believed to be a distinct trend in development for simplicity in operation."

The Inner Construction

THIS set is the tuned radio-frequency type with two stages of radio frequency, a detector, and two stages of audio frequency. All batteries and head phone or loud speaker connections are made from the rear. Ordinarily this type of receiver requires three dials for tuning, the dials being attached to condensers. "The Mohawk" uses a gauge condenser which is the result of several years of scientific research. The three condensers are mounted in tandem.

Barbie had been taught she must not ask others to give her anything.

One day she came home waving a beautiful little silk flag in her hands and said, "O, look, mamma, what Aunt Lucy gave me!"

"Now, Barbie," said mamma a little suspiciously, "I hope you didn't ask Aunt Lucy for it, did you?"

"O, no, indeed, mamma," disclaimed Barbie. "I just said, 'O, Aunt Lucy, what a beautiful flag that is! I wish I had it,' and then she gave it to me."

Ruth ate several pieces of candy and asked for more.

"Why," said mother, "when I was a girl my mother never allowed us to eat any candy, and you aren't satisfied with three pieces."

"Well," answered the child, "I'm glad I got a gooder mother than you had."

Betty was the only girl in her immediate neighborhood; all her playmates were boys. One day they were playing house. One little boy was her husband, several her brothers, a number her children.

He hesitated, and then said: "I'm her husband what's dead." J. W.

ISN'T IT ODD?

By William Atherton Du Puy

ISN'T it odd that so fundamental an invention as the backbone, used by all the vertebrates, should have been made by the fishes, there in the waters of an earlier world!

Life began in the water and was of the mollusk type for millions of years before any of the higher orders developed. Though the mollusk is usually a water animal, few of them are any good at swimming. They progress mostly by crawling snail-like along the bottom. One of these mollusks finally got the idea of swimming by dint of wiggling his tail. He and his descendants stuck to the idea, kept practicing at propelling themselves in this way. They needed stiffening within themselves that they might wiggle more effectively. The more they wiggled the stronger grew their backs. First a gristle and then a backbone developed within them.

If one should attempt to estimate the value of this invention, he has but to compare the status of some of those animals that have built on the backbone idea and those that have gone along contentedly as mollusks. The snail in the garden is the nonprogressive type that was contented to let good enough alone. The man who owns the garden and hoes the weeds is a descendant of the mollusk that tried to work into a better order.

Among men there are nonprogressive individuals who scoff at the idea that men descended from the monkeys, a claim to which is made by the evolutionists who compare the relative anatomies of living creatures. Those who dig a little deeper feel quite sure that going back to the monkey is but a small part of the journey. They are equally sure that all creatures in the world possessing backbones, of which man is one, unquestionably tie back to the fishes that first developed them. This backbone device is a thing so peculiar that it must tie back to a common ancestor. All reptiles, birds, mammals, have backbones. All must have come from the fishes.

You just KNOW they're Well
You, too, can keep yourself and baby well and happy
You just know they're NOT Well
There is no reason for you or your baby to look and feel this way

CONSTIPATION means MELANCHOLY and DISEASE

Melancholy for the Mother, disease for the Child! The responsibility of the mother does not end with properly clothing and feeding the baby. Her own health is directly reflected in the little one, and the poisons bottled up in her body by constipation transfer themselves to the innocent child and too often result in serious sickness. Mother's bowels should act at least twice a day, and baby's bowels more frequently. Physicians agree on this subject.

Dr. Caldwell's
SYRUP PEPSIN
The Family Laxative

—relieves constipation. It is a pure, harmless, gentle combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics in liquid form that opens up the bowels, and promotes and encourages Nature to perform her proper functions. No doctor could give you a better laxative than this one of Dr. Caldwell's which has been used for over thirty years.

As Pleasing, Easy and Effective For Mother as For Baby

It is mild and wholly free from opiates or narcotics. Because it is so pleasant to take, babies and children like it, and it should be in the medicine chest of every family for instant use. More than 10,000,000 bottles used annually prove its effectiveness.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold—and guaranteed. Try it at our risk. Your druggist will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

HARD ON THE EARS

by Doris Blake

Careless, Slovenly Speech May Be Death Blow to Romance.

MATILDA has a young man calling on her. He is a good dresser, except for an occasional tie of extra high voltage. Matilda doesn't mind that so much, knowing what a wife can do with a Christmas fund and a tie counter. He is a kindly chap, generous, and wants to do the right thing by Matilda. He is crazy about her.

Along about the time Matilda makes up her mind that she is going to be more open hearted and accept Hank as is, he opens his mouth and outrages Matilda's sensitive ear with something like, "They ain't got nothing on me, them boids."

And it's all off with Hank for the time being!

Petty of Matilda? She asks if it is, in the face of Hank's good and manly virtues. But the truth is she is ashamed of Hank's cruel and inhuman treatment of the king's English. If it gets on her nerves now, she fears for Hank's personal safety should she ever be tied to him legally. And women are doing time for crimes less aggravating than persistent assault and battery on a sensitive ear.

Man's ear may prove organs of hardiest resistance, providing the girl who is pouring ungrammatical sweet solace therein is pretty; nevertheless, you do hear of romances suffering a flat tire when the fair Gertrude greets a horn rimmed spectacle youth with: "Hello, kid, watje gonna do tonight?"

Which goes to prove that love is blind, but the ears aren't off duty entirely. They're the little traffic cops, so to speak, that arrest in time to save a life or two.

Anyway, it proves that some romances depend for the growth and sustenance upon a nice understanding of what is correct form in English and what is not.

Sense of Pride.

One of our most popular columnists reminds us of the romantic appeal of accent. Perfume, complexion, and the influence of a grandmother's image have not half so much to do with leading a man to the altar, in his opinion, as an accent. The world has always fallen for it, he says, since the clipped Egyptian speech of Cleopatra and the vocal charm of Sheba which set Solomon all a-tingle.

The romantic appeal of good English is more local than that of an accent playing upon the heartstring. It plays upon the ear and it plays upon that sense of pride the loved one has toward him she wants to show off to friends and family. There is something devastating to the success of an honest pursuit for a well educated hand when it approaches the fair one with a "dese" and a "dat" or an "ain't got nothing."

For such as these and others afflicted with speech defects but not necessarily afflicted with romantic difficulties, there has been recently established in the New York university a clinic to take the "deses" and the "dats" and the subway metal out of the voice. Two young professors, R. Borden and Alvin C. Busse, have set out to clean up and restring vocabulary and voice.

The baby talk, made famous by Booth Tarkington and indulged in by some of our twenty year babies and older, is on the list to go. But the young men in charge of the clinic touch lightly upon it, no doubt sensing its power to reduce man to the lowest level of susceptibility. Nor would we urge its being ousted from the vocabulary, knowing too well its vital force in the matter of mate selection and the continuance of the race. In fact, we think it might be classed with the accent and be allowed to go at that.

On Clinic Day.

If you wonder if there is a field for the work of these two young enthusiasts of the New York university, you ought to peer into their clinic room down in Washington square, New York, and see the throngs there on clinic day, to say nothing of the waiting list of thousands anxious to have their enunciatory peculiarities remedied.

Some there are who want to have their "woild" straightened for them, others to have their "Thoid" avenue made to conform to the spelling on the street signpost, others to have the larynx examined for more serious faults of speech. Always there is the desire on the part of the two worthy young educators to help in the matter of enunciation and the correct use of words, a cultured use of them, in fact.

"Dictionaries," says Prof. Borden and Busse, "are distinctly a help in acquiring correct pronunciation of a word," an enormous help, to be true, but our only sure guide in the matter of enunciation is the current usage of spoken language by the majority of cultured, educated, traveled citizens of our country today. If we model our enunciation after the enunciation of these people we cannot go wrong. We will avoid, on the one hand, the vulgarities of gross carelessness, the telltale taints of foreign accent, the corruptions of provincial dialect, the absurdities of personal speech eccentricities and, on the other hand, the offensive affectations of ultra-correct "high-hat" speech.

One of the most conspicuous errors in enunciation is the substitution of d for th—as in dis for this, dat for that, radder for rather, dem for them, and so on.

Affect Business Success.

That such faults affect a young man's success in business, as well as in romance, the clinic directors tell this story of an applicant for a job as salesman in a large publishing house.

"Young man," said the general manager, opening the interview, "I like your appearance. I like your manners. I like the way you shook hands just now. Now, tell me, can you talk well?"

"Talk well, sir?" came the reply. "Dat's de best ting I do. I'd radder talk dan do anyting else. My fadder was a good talker and my grandfadder before him. When I say dat I've got de knack of expressing tings well. I'm only saying de troot in all modesty."

The young man's name was placed on file for future reference. His outstanding error in enunciation was the substitution of d for th.

Do you say any of the following, which are typical of the errors commonly heard and reported by the two teachers of the New York university clinic?

Chanct for chance.
Wisht for wish.
Athaletic for athletic.
Henery for Henry.
Detecative for detective.
Hisn for his.
Municipal for municipal [accent on third syllable instead of second].
Cus for because.
Breds for breadths.
Deps for depths.
Wids for widths.
Wid for width.
Hoozis for who is this.
Smatter for what's the matter.
Jeet for did you eat.
Partikly for particularly.
Considble for considerable.
Govment for government.
Hunnerd for hundred.
Allus for always.
Gimme for give me.
Prehaps for perhaps.
Childern for children.
Preform for perform.
Presperation for perspiration.
Lantren for lantern.

Other forms of defective enunciation such as nasality, harshness, thin tone quality, stammering neurotic monotone, lalling, lisping, and so on, are treated at the clinic.

It is possible there by the aid of a special reproducing process apparatus to hear your own voice, an experience I found quite painfully illuminating, nevertheless an advantageous one, to "hear yourself as others hear you."

Can't Stop Drinking.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have kept company with a boy for seven months. We love each other dearly. My family likes him. We intended to get married, but he has told me he cannot give up drinking. What is your advice? BLUE EYES."

Blue Eyes, if he thinks more of drink than he does of you, my advice is to give him up. Do so quickly and feel that you are well rid of him. The rôle of a drunkard's wife is not one to be chosen with your eyes open, dear, for it is a life of anxiety, poverty, and shame. I am sure if you saw him and listened to his foolish talk, you would be disgusted and every illusion would be killed.

Milk of Magnesia Users Try This!

Science combines Milk of Magnesia with Mineral Oil to fight constipation and acidosis

Modern civilization with its heavy overeating and its lack of exercise has brought two great foes of human health: constipation and acidosis (sour stomach). Your indigestion, heartburn, that dark brown taste in the morning—are all symptoms of this condition.

Milk of magnesia is fine for neutralizing harmful stomach acids but milk of magnesia, alone, goes only half way. Therefore Science has combined pure mineral oil with this splendid agent.

Haley's Magnesia-Oil is the name of this perfect emulsion upon which the U. S. Government has granted a patent.

The milk of magnesia counteracts and neutralizes the acids and the mineral oil lubricates the intestines, overcoming constipation naturally without forming a habit. Haley's M-O can be taken safely by young or old. It is non-habit-forming and contains no drugs or other harmful agents.

Stop at your druggist's today and get a bottle of Haley's Magnesia-Oil. Take some tonight before going to bed and get up tomorrow morning feeling like a new person. All druggists. Large family size $1.00. The Haley M-O Company, Indianapolis, Ind.

The biggest furniture sale in the country by the largest furniture concern in the city does not fully express the magnitude of our great close-out sale of the stock of the Jacobson Furniture Co. We have been taxed to the limit to care for the crowds that have attended this sale. The sensationally low prices advertised have attracted such vast numbers of buyers that we have been forced to change our original plan of holding the sale only at Jacobson's Store, 3121-23 Lincoln Ave. We have found it necessary to distribute the stock to our own stores (11 of them) in order to separate the stream of visitors and have room to handle the crowds. You may now make your selections at our nearest store, and for the convenience of evening shoppers, we will hold the Jacobson Store open every evening during this sale. Our own stores will be open only on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. All purchases will be subject to credit and there will be no storage charges on goods held for future delivery.

SPRINGTIME GREENS.

COINCIDENT with the "crocus walk," in which there seems this year to be a revival of interest as an entertaining feature of the landscape, is the old fashioned and highly intelligent country woman's interest in greens. She knows them all, cooks them all, loves them all, even when her cooking of them yields no such savory and melting products as the chef—he who has not yet been spoiled by the convenience of the can—can produce with them.

Of all the relishes of the year, there are none quite like those offered by the greens, but some of the relish of them comes from a knowledge of them and the out of door experience of getting them. The dandelions lead the list, and are the best of all when rightly treated—so delicately bitter, so savory, so like the finest of shell fish, when at their youngest. In their brief season we may, if we are alert, get three different sorts of greens from this plant. The last sort is when it is just ready to blossom and the main flavoring is in the bud.

The greens or "pot herbs" each carry their own inimitable set of flavors, which may all disappear in poor cooking of them but which, when preserved, are so good as to make any addition, save perhaps a little salt, unneeded for the sake of palatability, although a little butter will in almost all cases enhance that palatability.

Flavors and Seasonings.

1. Butter. Almost any properly cooked green, whether it is the dandelion or the green cabbage, is made delicious with sweet butter.

2. Butter and Cream. In finishing any fine, soft, and particularly savory green, like chicory or escarole, chopped fine, the combination of a little butter, cream, salt and perhaps a bit of pepper and nutmeg for the final word may be ideal. The greens must first be blanched, cooked, the water rapidly dried out, and then these seasonings added. Hot cream salted a bit and flavored with butter is an acceptable finish for asparagus on toast, and for green beans instead of the almost always hateful thin white sauce sometimes used for them.

3. Melted Butter and Lemon Juice. This combination for spinach and cauliflower and green cabbage if managed just right is highly satisfactory. It makes the spinach into what is comparable to the cooked sorrel, so much appreciated in France and worthy of our attention. One of the ways to use this combination is to make a sort of sauce of it and heat drained and chopped spinach in it. Use two tablespoons of melted butter, the juice of one lemon or juice to taste, a little paprika and salt. Always serve at once when lemon juice is used.

4. Bacon Fat. Wilted lettuce owes its attractiveness to its finish of bacon fat. This fat is also good with other greens but seldom equal to butter although when acidulated it is excellent with white string beans.

5. Oil or a French Dressing. Many greens when hot have piquancy when served with a French dressing and, when cold, oil and tomato mixed will turn into a gratifying salad. Oil is not good on wet greens, but excellent on dry.

6. Meat Gravy, instead of a cream or a plain unheated meat stock, will give a character to some greens that will be acceptable, at least for a change. Or butter, cream and meat stock may all be used; the cream to soften the greens, the butter to make savory and the meat stock to add a certain body. Butter may be added while a green is being rapidly dried, but cream and meat stock are best added a little at a time to a green, so that no more than can be absorbed will be used.

7. Flavors and Thickening. In preparing a bit of greens for a garnish, after cooking them tender and chopping them fine, use half as much flour as the butter that would be used to dress them, stirred together and cooked a bit, then add the greens and blend all with a bit of cooking. You can add cream or reduced meat stock also. These are not essential, but just make it different.

8. Cook greens in the pot liquor from corned beef, ham or salt pork. Never cook them with the meat.

Preparing Greens.

The preparation of greens does not require so much time and patience and water as some cooks suppose, although some greens will hold more sand and dirt than others, and require more water, especially if they do not get a good shake. Always clean the greens dry to save work. In digging dandelions—which you may do even in city parks if you will step on the spot afterwards to press back the earth—it is a fine plan to clean as you dig; or, at any rate, to do the work out of doors in the sun. Pick off the dry leaves and give each plant a good shake or two to remove any dead grass or sand. Trim the root and the greens are now ready to wash in as many waters as may seem necessary to get out sand, and any other dirt that may have escaped your eye as you inspected them.

While each different green requires a little different treatment, in general each must be examined, trimmed, or picked over and washed thoroughly. After this to blanch them is but another step in the cleaning of them, and after that the dipping in cold water is but to finish the process. There is an acrid flavor to spinach which is removed by blanching. This may have something to do with the bloom on the leaf which is also to be found on the smooth pigweed or lamb's quarter, and the milkweed. The latter is a wonderfully palatable green when in full bud.

In the interest of their tonic value, greens should be but slightly blanched for all the so-called "salts" in the greens are soluble in water. Some of the greens with strong and bitter flavors, like the older dandelions, have this modified by blanching, which process the old fashioned cook called "sweetening the greens."

Cooking the Greens.

Calling the first step "preparation" of the greens, we might call the second the saving of the health insurance principles in them through the right method of cooking them, always retaining their green color. Heat may change that color in a second to yellow, so we either must keep it from being a strong heat, or shorten the time to which they are exposed to the heat, etc. These insurance principles may also be lost in water, so we do not cook them in much water. After they are blanched they may be cooked in none at all except that which clings to them—as we do spinach. Or they may be cooked in the double boiler to save them from being destroyed by heat, although this method takes longer. It is absolutely the best for asparagus.

The Dandelion Season.

From the first sunny days in March until the middle of May or, where the plants grow in long grass in shaded spots, till June, is the wild dandelion season. Cultivated winter dandelions used to come into fine markets. But the plant one may see on a sunny March day and perhaps for a month thereafter—the real growing season for everything not being started—is nothing more than a sort of dull reddish ball, white or blanched at its heart and with tiny red leaves.

But this same piece of dullness is a rarely delicious bit when cooked. It is far more truly vegetable lobster than salsify is vegetable oyster. Later on it is more like spinach, but as much superior to ordinary spinach as pecans are superior in delicacy to peanuts, and nothing derogatory is intended in making the comparison of that entirely worthy food, the peanut.

At the other extreme, or after it blossoms, the dandelion is coarse and bitter, but just before it blossoms we get a third stage or variation of our green, the cooked buds being a particular and excellent epicurean bit of themselves.

Other Greens.

If people do not know greens, do not want to go to the trouble of them, what can we do? Perhaps there is nothing to do but to make them appreciate what the market does offer better. But the enviable ones with gardens, and a true garden spirit, will do most to increase that table variety that the country woman can secure by going in early spring to field or woods or even the humble roadside, or the still desolate garden spot of the year before, where the dandelion often comes up single and of agreeable tender spread. There will be other sprouts besides those in the asparagus bed that are worthy the pot in which they really should not be choked, though called "pot herbs."

The New Zealand spinach is interesting. It is said to have been brought to Europe by that Capt. Cook who was the first to make a voyage around the world. Those were the days when philosophers and great travelers were highly interested in increasing the food resources of the world. As to the other greens, does not the seed catalog make you envious and desirous?

Wilted Lettuce.

One way to prepare leaf lettuce with bacon—note that we may get whole boxes of this now often at the price of a pound of peas, and that we can get it so early in our gardens—is to wash and crisp and cut the lettuce slaw fashion, then pour over it some sort of hot bacon dressing.

The following is a good one: Take a fourth of a pound of well chilled bacon and pare and slice it. If it is already sliced, pare off any smoky edges and take out any kernels of gristle, then put all through the coarsest disk of the food chopper. It will not go through well if it is warm and flabby. If it is good bacon, but proves to be stringy, cut it with a fine knife or scissors. Put it into a frying pan, gently stir it while it is cooking, and do not allow it to get smoking hot. When the smallest pieces are deliciously toasted it is ready to receive the seasonings of two tablespoons of vinegar and a little sugar to make it a bit mild. If it is liked a bit milder yet, add a tablespoon or two of sour cream and pour it hot over the lettuce.

This Bacon Dressing.

Instead of using this bacon preparation with the chiffonade lettuce or lettuce cut slaw fashion, try it with green string beans or with the white beans. Or leave out the vinegar and use it with boiled potatoes or plain boiled rice or rice boiled with sweet green peppers, etc.

Practical and Fancy Needlework

By CLOTILDE

What is your sewing problem? Do you have trouble in following a pattern? Do you find difficulty in making a skirt hang evenly or making a sleeve that doesn't twist? If there is anything you would like to know about these or other problems of needlework write to Clotilde, The Tribune, Chicago, inclosing a stamped addressed envelope if a personal reply is desired.

MATCHING HAT AND SCARF.

AFTER the Easter holiday, with its lilies and tulips, is past, we turn to more personal adornment. The set illustrated is like a spring song. The hat shown is of flesh colored horse hair trimmed with violets. The flowers are cut off the stems.

Mark center of front and back with pins, also sides. Measure two inches each side of the pin on sides. Begin at outer edge and sew violets four inches wide across brim up to crown. Keep this same width until four and one-half inches up on side crown. Then begin to graduate until at the top of crown it will be two inches wide. Continue down the other side of crown, graduating from two inches until the four inch width is reached.

Do not sew the flowers too closely together. Sewn with the petals just touching gives an airy appearance. Sew with thread the color of hat. Put knots under flowers. When bringing thread through to under side do not make a large stitch but put it back as nearly as possible to the place where it was brought through from upper side. As there are no facings in these transparent hats the under side must present as finished an appearance as the upper side.

Four bunches of violets will be required for the hat. The violets come in deep and light shades. Using half light and half dark sewing so the two shades blend will make a harmonious and attractive trimming. Narrow silver ribbon one or one and a half inches wide drawn around bottom of crown with a lover's knot at the back gives a pretty finish. One and a quarter yards are required.

The small corsage shown is to be worn on sleeve of coat or suit. Take one dozen of violets, wind the stems with fine flower wire and then with green or purple tinfoil.

The scarf shown is of flesh colored georgette two yards long. One-half width of material is used. To make this, turn a hem of five inches deep on each end. Have this hemstitched across ends and on both sides in flesh color or violet thread. To make pocket of violets, take a piece of silk or lace net five inches long and five inches wide. Round off corners. Sew violets on this the same as on hat. Set this pocket in center of hem, bring bottom of pocket to end of scarf and with silk thread slipstitch this to the upper edge of hem. Six bunches of violets are required in all. Four bunches for the hat, one for the pocket, and one for the corsage. Instead of the pocket two rows of flowers can be sewn across the end of the scarf just below hemstitching.

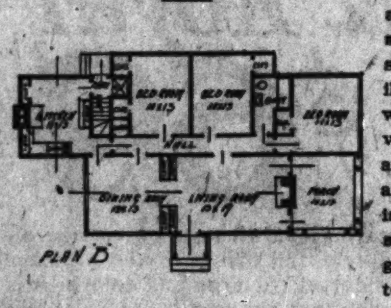
PLAN A



PLAN B

NEW ENGLAND COTTAGE.

THERE is an irresistible fascination surrounding the New England style of cottage. White walls, green shutters, and sheltering roofs present a homelike atmosphere which can hardly be duplicated in any other type of architecture. The low, comfortable lines of these houses are eminently picturesque from every point of view. It is an established fact that the simplicity and proportions of the colonial cottage appeal strongly to the lover of a real home.

Characteristic of colonial architecture is the symmetrical arrangement of the cottage illustrated today. Robert L. Stevenson of Boston, Mass., is the architect. Whether it is intended as a permanent home in the city or suburb or as a holiday house in the country or at the seashore it is admirably suited to the needs of the average family. Its adaptability is marked by the showing of two different schemes in the floor plans. The house, as illustrated, was designed for either plan, dependent upon the requirements of the prospective builder.

The well proportioned entrance porch is centrally located, its cornice tying into the main roof cornice. As shown, the front door opens directly into the living room. However, a vestibule could be provided should this be desirable by having the entrance porch closed. An open fireplace dominates one end of the living room. This may be flanked by French doors leading to the pergolaed porch, as in plan B, or may have but one pair of French doors, with a built-in bookcase below a window on the opposite side.

Living and dining rooms may be separated by means of French doors, as in plan A, or may have built-in china cabinets and bookcases at each side of the opening, as in plan B.

Being located in a little wing, the kitchen is well supplied with cross ventilation and plenty of light. These two important factors will be appreciated by the woman who does her own cooking. In both plans the sink is placed under the double windows facing front, and there are built in cupboards and pantry cases conveniently arranged. Each kitchen is provided with a closet for brooms, etc. Opening from the rear entry is a separate compartment for the refrigerator, alleviating the annoyance of having the iceman dirty the kitchen with his inevitably muddy feet. From this rear entry, too, stairs lead down to the basement.

Two bedrooms are shown in plan A, while in plan B there are three. In either plan each has at least two windows and plenty of closet space. In addition to the bedroom closets, there is a linen closet in the hallway, which connects the bedrooms and bath. This ample provision of closet space is in keeping with the excellent practicability of the plan as a whole.

The width over all of plan A is 47 feet and the area 930 square feet. Plan B is 57 feet, with an area of 1,400 square feet. To show to advantage the house should be built on a lot having a frontage of 65 feet or more, and should be surrounded by trees and shrubs to give it its proper setting. As illustrated, the exterior finish is cream white stucco, with a soldier course of variegated red brick around the base and chimney tops, and with brick walk and steps to the entrance porch. Roof is stained deep, reddish brown, and shutters and entrance door are bottle green. The house would be effective, too, with exterior finish of clapboards, painted cream white.

T. G. L.: Have all of the woodwork enameled either old ivory or French gray. Have the downstairs ceilings calcimined cream color. In the living rooms and reception hall, paper the walls in two toned ecru, showing a small, allover pattern. Let the dining room walls be calcimined light sage green. Have a chintz wall paper in one of the north bedrooms, cream paper polka dotted in jade pink, in the other. Use corn yellow calcimine on the east room walls. Finely striped light gray and amethyst paper would be nice in one of the west rooms, and soft sand color in the other.

E. A. N.: Have ecru walls in the living room. Blocked linen, in a colorful floral pattern, with touches of jade green introduced, would be nice for the draperies. Ecru sateen could be used for a lining. The poles and rings should be painted jade green. Get an escritoire, or wall desk. Use the same wall paper in the dining room, and have French blue draperies edged with green and sand braid. Have warm, pinkish gray walls in the bedroom, jade pink casement silk draperies, and a deep mulberry rug.

Women the World Over

Women now compose nearly seven per cent of the total membership of the German reichstag.

The new women in China are giving themselves unsparingly to all sorts of reform movements.

Women doctors in London who marry are barred from remaining in the service of the London County council.

Woman's influence and interest in the automobile industry has just been shown in an unusual way in the appointment of Mrs. Calista Conwell to have complete charge of the final body inspection in the Hupp Motor company. She will have charge of between 300 and 400 men and is the first woman to receive so responsible a position.

With a population of about 7,000,000, Austria now is turning out more cigars and cigarets than the country did when it had a population of 50,000,000. The cause of the increase is found in the fact that women are smoking, not only after their meals but at all times of the day and everywhere.

Miss Louise Meyer, assistant to Mrs. Mary Hamilton, head policewoman of New York City, is a mental expert and is of the opinion that juvenile delinquency should be treated scientifically.

Making rural life more attractive to farm daughters is the life work of Miss Gertrude Warren, leader of the girls' club movement of the United States department of agriculture.

Mrs. Sarah Heyman of Woodcliff, N. Y., celebrated her one hundred and second birthday by waltzing with her grandson.

Though she is past 83 years of age, Mrs. D. H. Newman of Tivola, Pa., is an ardent angler and has secured her license for the present year.

When appearing in public or at social functions Queen Elizabeth of Belgium wears a diamond diadem to cover her shingled hair.

Dressed for Hard Times.

I decided late one afternoon to attend a hard times masquerade to which I had been invited, and for want of a worse costume, sewed two brilliant green patches to the rear of a blue dress I had, which was not really ragged, and with a few ragged accessories attended the party and promptly forgot all about it.

A few days later, desiring to shop uptown, I accordingly slipped into the dress, pulled a hat over my head, and sallied forth, elicitating stares and broad laughs as I stood at a counter in a department store. Finally a kind woman whispered to me the cause of the mirth and helped me pull the basting threads which held the patches.

He Laughed Alone.

We have a teacher who likes to tell jokes, and expects us to laugh at his stories.

One day when teacher, who is somewhat nearsighted, came into the school room, the boy who sits next to me said, "I was out late last night and I am going to sleep a little. If the teacher tells something funny wake me up so I can laugh."

I promised I would. The teacher was in a bad humor and instead of telling stories began to ask us questions about our last lesson. By chance he called upon my friend, who by that time was asleep.

Remembering my promise, I punched his ribs and he, having the idea it was the signal to laugh, started a deafening uproar of laughter W. D. S.

One Sunday Morning.

One sunny Sunday morning I was riding my new bicycle in the company of several other girls. Some perverse gust of wind tangled my skirt in the chain and sprocket just as we approached a church.

I fell and the church doors opened, simultaneously. Immaculate men and women seemed to flow from the place of worship just as the weight of the bicycle and my struggles to free myself left me in a grotesque position on my head in the middle of the street.

I have been embarrassed often since, but never have I felt quite the same alternate waves of heat and cold nor the same desire to be swallowed by the earth.

CORNS Lift Right Off With Fingers

No pain at all! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the foot calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Look for the Simmons Label
The Simmons Ace

Eliminate side-sway and sagging

Simmons patented stabilizers, acting like automobile shock absorbers, prevent side-sway and sag. An exclusive feature.

Spring-tied for luxurious comfort

302 small, fine coils tie the 99 big Ace spirals together at both top and center. Note the great extra comfort this gives.

The Ace, the finest open-box spring built, costs no more and lasts longer

The Simmons Ace spring cushions you in matchless comfort not only on the first night of its use, but also for years after other makes are carted away by the junk man.

Tempered steel wire, shaped to special design, makes its 99 main spirals more responsive and silent and adds years to their youth. Tying both their centers and tops with 302 small lively coils keeps them upright and lets each carry its own load. Stiff wire center ties restrict free action of main spirals in all other open-box springs.

Two patented stabilizers, exclusively Simmons, eliminate side-sway and spreading and prevent The Ace from growing lop-sided. Longer life is added, too, by the heavy top border rod and the stout frame of riveted angle steel.

In lasting economy, the double-deck Ace has no equal. Its price is very moderate. Your merchant can also supply Simmons springs in all wanted types—box, coil, wire fabric and steel strip. Each is the best the world's largest bedding maker can build at its price. Whatever you pay, look for the Simmons label before buying.

Two Wasted Lives —By H. L. Mencken

I.

ONE commonly hears of such persons as Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman only as remote and horrendous malefactors, half human and half reptilian. Editorial writers, on dull days, exhume ancient bills of complaint against them, and give thanks to God that they are safely beyond these Christian shores, and for good. They are denounced by orators before the American Legion, by suburban pastors, and by brave congressmen. While they were still in our midst one heard only that the Polizei were hot on their trail, that the gallant catchpolls of the so-called department of justice were about to trap them, that the hoosegow at Atlanta was being warmed for them. Since the Buford sailed the science of jurisprudence has made immense progress among us. Had it leaped a step Berkman would have had a padlock through his snout and La Goldman, I suspect, would be outfitted with a ceinture de patriotisme.

All this indignation, unfortunately, conceals something, and that is the somewhat disconcerting fact that both are extremely intelligent—that once their aberrant political ideas are set aside they are seen to have very sharp wits. They think clearly, unsentimentally, and even a bit brilliantly. They write simple, glowing, and excellent English. Their feelings, far from being those of yeggmen, cannibals and prohibition enforcement officers, are those of highly civilized persons. How, then, is their political nonsense to be explained—their childish belief in the proletariat, their lifelong faith in Utopias? Go ask me something easier! I am no professor of morbid psychology. But I know a very intelligent man, a scientist of national fame, who believes that drinking a glass of beer is a mortal sin. I know another man, eminent in public life, who patronizes chiropractors. I know a third, worth at least $10,000,000, who believes in thought transference. I know a fourth——

Their Private Folly Unpopular.

But it is unnecessary to go on. The fact that a human brain of high amperage, otherwise highly efficient, may have a bee in it is surely not a secret. All of us, in our several ways, are illogical, irrational, almost insane. It is the misfortune of Berkman and La Goldman that the form their private folly takes is very unpopular—that it greatly alarms all the more simple minded types of men—that it is the custom in America to combat it, not by laughing at it but by yelling for the police. The fact, I believe, has given them undue eminence in the national demonology. They are ranked with Benedict Arnold, the James brothers, Brigham Young, Sitting Bull, and J. Wilkes Booth. What is good in them is completely overlooked.

These reflections are inspired by a reading of Berkman's "The Bolshevik Myth," preceded shortly by a reading of Miss Goldman's "My Disillusionment in Russia." Both, it seems to me, are very good books, books of quite unusual distinction—perhaps, indeed, the best books that the Russia debacle has yet produced. There is not the slightest hint of the usual propaganda in them. They were not written

By Mae Tinee.

GOOD MORNING!

If you don't believe that a river, given a chance, can pretty well settle a man's destiny, I respectfully refer you to the picturesque stream that figures largely in this story from the flowing pen of Harold Bell Wright.

While speaking of the river, let me tell you a little more about it.

HELENE CHADWICK in "The Re-Creation of Brian Kent."

It's a beautiful river that winds among some of the loveliest scenery you've ever beheld on a screen. It's a gracious, peaceful river in its quiet stretches, but it has whimsies in the shape of eddies and treacherous moods that it expresses in swift rapids and dangerous falls that precipitate the unlucky to rocks and sweet, calm, sparkling pools far down.

Like a woman—some men will say. Well, there have been men like that river, too.

When the hero of the story, Brian Kent, wanted by the police for robbing the bank where he was cashier, sets himself afloat in his boat and throws away the oars, he thinks, hopes, and intends that the river shall be the death of him. But the river decides differently, and details a whimsical eddy to park him in some willow boughs that bend over to take a drink at the foot of the hill on which is the home of Auntie Sue.

Auntie Sue is a beloved character thereabouts. For years and years and years she has taught school in the neighborhood, and throughout the country legions of former pupils call her blessed. Retired now, is Auntie Sue, but she's never got out of the notion of helping folks, and her "maid" is a poor misshapen girl whose twisted body is the result of a drunken father's beatings when she was a baby. Judy, her name is, and Judy becomes quite enmeshed in the hero's affairs.

Judy spies the visiting rowboat with its drunken, sleeping occupant. Derisively and insultingly, she helps him up to Auntie Sue, and from then on the dear old lady takes upon herself the re-creation of Brian Kent.

"He needed us, and so the river brought him to us," says auntie. She gives him a new name—Burns—and lies bravely when the sheriff comes looking for him.

The story goes on to tell at length of how Brian Kent finds himself. Ambition awakens in him and he writes a book which, miracle of miracles, is promptly accepted by publish-

New York Takes Chicago Ballet

By Edward Moore.

IT is with decidedly mingled emotions that one reads the news of John Alden Carpenter's new ballet, "Sky Scrapers," being bulletined for production at the New York Metropolitan next season. There is pleasure in the fact that so significant and interesting a composer will have his work performed, undoubtedly in an entirely lavish and sympathetic fashion. They do new things well at the Metropolitan. But it is disconcerting to realize that this Chicago composer must go to New York and not to Chicago for a production.

There is no getting around the fact that Chicago has overlooked a bet, not the only bet it has overlooked in the past and probably not the only one it will overlook in the future, but an important one this time. The piece was written here and should have been brought out here. Ballet is getting to be a more important consideration every year in America, but it is left to the Metropolitan to see that fact and prepare for it.

One hears also that it is to be staged by a Chicago artist, Adolph Bolm went there this winter to put on Stravinsky's "Petroushka," and made the hit of his life in so doing. He will go back next season to stage the Carpenter piece. It will not be his only activity. The rest of the world would seem to be pretty well in touch with his merits. In about a month he will leave for Buenos Aires to stage "Coq d'Or" and "Petroushka" and appear in the latter. Next winter he and his ballet will tour with Karsavina and hers. If there is any time left, he will continue some of the lovely things he did here last winter under the auspices of the Allied Arts. As those performances ranked among the most interesting and stimulating events of the season, it is to be sincerely hoped that the time will be found.

American All the Way Through.

"Sky Scrapers" is American all the way through, in theory as well as construction. It is based upon two themes: American work with rhythms taken from the clatter and rattle of pneumatic riveters, and American play, which is jazz. It is an exhilarating prospect, the more so as its place here will probably be taken by "The Pearl Fishers" and "The Jewess" and similar faded antiquities, presented by a company which slowly but definitely is getting rid of its personalities.

This is by no means the only new piece that the Metropolitan plans to do. There is word of Stravinsky's "Le Rossignol," in its operatic form, not the symphonic poem that the composer afterward made of it, Manuel de Falla's "La Vida Breve," Umberto Giordano's "La Cena delle Beffe," and an old opera by Gaspare Spontini, "La Vestale." In addition to these and Mr. Carpenter's ballet, there will be added Ravel's "L'Heure Espagnol," Wolf-Ferrari's "The Jewels of the Madonna," Puccini's "Gianni Schicchi," Peter Cornelius' "The Barber of Bagdad," Smetana's "The Bartered Bride," and Massenet's "Don Quixote," the last to be

TEN NEW PLAYS, BUT NOT A SINGLE HIT

By Burns Mantle

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—There were ten new plays last week, and nary a hit among them. Neither was any a sensational failure. A drama called "Thrills" came pretty close to being bad enough to be funny. Was, in fact. And the audience giggled openly at scenes its author had written to be taken seriously. But, on the other hand, it had enough sanely written bits to redeem it in part.

"Thrills" was written and produced by A. William Francis Dugan. "A love drama glorifying the American wife," he calls it. And perhaps it is. I am more inclined to believe, however, that it exposes rather than glorifies the wife, as Will Rogers said of the "Follies" girls glorified by Mr. Ziegfeld. This wife is a nervous wreck and a bad bridge player. For weeks she has been on the verge of a collapse. Her husband, a large, coarse, cruel person, has a habit of staying out at least five nights a week, and he is not worth knowing the other two.

Then she meets the professor. He is a writer of novels, and he certainly knows women. All novelists certainly know women. Ask any of them. One look at an unhappy wife and this lad is master of the situation, with a master's lien on her destiny.

The novelist lives, as so many of them do, in a rich, red apartment. "Yamamoto," he calls to his Japanese servant early in the second act, "Yamamoto, lay out my pajamas." And even though you may have no particular feeling for the symbolical drama, you seem instinctively to catch the author's significance.

Merely for Curiosity.

Later, when the unhappy and misunderstood wife calls, and her intentions are hopelessly misinterpreted; when she frankly tells the novelist that she is there merely to see what a bachelor's apartment looks like, and figuratively has left the taxi running, you are pretty well prepared for the novelist's frank refusal to let her go and his practical imprisonment of her in the next room.

An hour later, however, there is a surprise. The large, coarse husband has broken into the novelist's apartment and demanded his wife. And the novelist, triumphant and unperturbed, produces the lady with her mind cleared and her honor intact.

"Your wife has undergone the test of fire," says he, smiling confidently. "Believe me, Horace, she is worthy of your love. Take her and be happy."

That, at least, is the burden of his speech. The audience giggled so I could not quite catch the words. And Horace, still a little suspicious, but quite nonplused, takes his wife and leaves the house.

He does not keep her long, however. There is a scene at the end of the play showing the novelist burning the midnight electricity. He is writing, we discover, the story of how he happened to marry the glorified wife of his friend, the coarse fellow of the earlier acts.

Much of the Dugan dialogue is pertly written. There is

This Thing and That Thing of the Theater

By Frederick Donaghey.

EXPRESSING a fear that he was too courtly in an earlier communication about the Actors' Theater, Mr. David Wallace sends further explanation of that emprise as he views it from his coign of intendent, régisseur, and business-manager. He doesn't yet make clear why it is called the Actors' Theater, nor in what measure it has been divorced from the actors' union; but he responds alertly to my having said that the entire matter was of but collateral interest to Chicago's theatergoers, lets go some words of sorrow that his institution's successful venture with "Candida" and "The Wild Duck" will not soon be shown here, vouchsafes a tentative murmur of belief that Chicago could well do with an actors' theater of its own, and then (God love him!) tries to belasco me by asking if I will take a hand and help establish one.

EDDIE DOWLING. He is having his own way in his own piece, "Sally," Irene, and Mary."

I give to him the credit that resides in believing that he doesn't suspect that I could be of the slightest assistance in such a project; whereas, I have limitless faith in myself for just such a task. My one drawback is a sordid insistence on being paid for what I should do; and my one shortcoming is a vain insistence that nobody else should have anything to say about the direction of such a project. "Bid me discourse," and I would write endlessly of the reasons why. I am ready on a moment's notice to start the work that would give to Chicago "something like the Theater Guild," or something like the Actors' Theater, or like the Moscow Art Theater, or what you will. I should even be willing, for proper consideration, to let such a venture be called the Actors' Theater, with no other condition than that actors should have nothing to say, and should have nothing to do save to do as told.

As I think I have said ere this, the Theater Guild of New-York is the most successful of all known commercial enterprises for the vending of drama through the box-office. The name of the Guild is today the best ticket-selling trade-mark in the business; the subscribers pay in the guarantee against losses before the investment on a production is made; actors who classify as well-knowns and as somebodies thankfully cut their wages for the sake of a Guild job; and the drama-critics of New-York, with but one important exception, are come-on press-agents, ballyhoos, and pullers-in for the concern, and in their frenzied immaturity believe that they are doing something for Art.

Many comic letters come to this desk from sad laymen who think THE TRIBUNE should work up réclame for "something like the Theater Guild." Neither magic nor genius was involved in organizing and establishing the Guild in New-York, although some hard work was put into the matter by the original toilers. Now the Guild thinks that a subscribers' list of 20,000 is within easy hailing-distance. . . . Much of their success is due to the executives' having kept a sense of humor alive but under good control. They kept their faces straight even when they announced that the Guild would establish a school of acting under the direction of Miss Winifred Lenihan, who when I saw her in an important part could profitably have taken lessons from the least of her associates. . . .

And what's been done there may be done here—and thanks to Mr. Wallace, of the Actors' Theater, for a letter that has given to me something to write about at the end of a dull week.

The men who produce plays and manage stars, having nothing else to do in April, are giving out what they say are their plans for next season. My impression is that fewer than five plays in every ten announced about this time of last year have been actually staged. The big successes in all lines were unknown even by title in the announcements then put out by the managers. I am certain that "What Price Glory!" was not mentioned; nor "Is Zat So?" (which by report is still among the banking successes in New-York, if something less in Chicago); nor "Rose-Marie"; nor "The Student-Prince"; nor any one of the six or seven others belonging in the list of wows.

"No! No, Nanette!" was unknown a year ago save as the title of something being tried out elsewhere with a Chicago hearing in view. . . . The importations from which most was expected have been failures: "Madame Pompadour," for one; and "Havoc," for another; and ever so many others, including "Tiger-Cats" and expensive "Hassan." . . . Mrs. Fiske last April was praying for a manager with faith in her idea of acting Mrs. Malaprop; while the wise men of the business were sighing enviously because Mr. Dillingham had the notion of putting Miss Marilynn Miller into "Peter Pan." Mrs. Fiske is prosperous for the first time in years; and Miss Miller's Peter is among the gassed casuals of the season.

Inquiry.

SIR: Is the story true that Michael Arlen, while in Chicago, told you that, technically, you were the only American he met who was eligible for membership in the English-Speaking Union?

CHEYNE WALK.

No. . . . He probably didn't think of it, being here barely forty-eight hours.

Novelties for Manhattan.

New plays of the week in New-York will be:

"The Poor Nut," by J. C. and Elliott Nugent, with the latter in the principal rôle. . . . The Nugents, as playwrights, keep on trying. They nearly succeeded with "Kempy," in which they acted in the Selwyn for a brief time in 1922.

"The Gorilla," by Ralph Spence, with Miss Betty Weston, Frederick Truesdell, and Frank McCormack. . . . The author has occasionally contributed matter to the Ziegfeld Follies, and is known as a writer of stuff for the films.

Another matter of the week in New-York is a revival of Ibsen's "Rosmersholm" by The Stagers, which didn't do well with its first effort—an importation from England named "The Blue Peter." Actors and managers haven't fooled with "Rosmersholm" since Mrs. Fiske staged it back in 1907. Miss Margaret Wycherly, Warren Williams, and J. M. Kerrigan are to be in this revival.

G. B. S.

Shaw is said to have insisted that the Theater Guild of New-York, in reviving "Cæsar and Cleopatra" in New-York make use of a prologue he wrote for the play. The Guild obeyed; and the prologue, I am informed, was one of the numerous reasons the revival bored the first-night audience. The Guild now explains that he has cabled his permission to drop the prologue; and there is much paragraphing in consequence to the effect that this is the first time he has ever sanctioned the cutting of one of his plays. . . . Which is nonsense! "Man and Superman" was given with the omission in performance of an entire act; and virtually all his plays have been edited for performance in this country and in England. Nobody who writes for the theater knows better than he that his delightful and entertaining stage-directions cannot successfully be carried out.

G. J. N.

More than any other form of criticism is that concerned with drama subject to the enthusiasm of the moment; more than any other form is it influenced, whether intentionally or not, by more-or-less immediate comparisons. The best and worst dramatic critics are alike in this: neither can resist entirely the hypnotic eye of a similar play that has preceded the one which they are reviewing, or of a dramatist whose antecedent work makes the presently considered dramatist seem relatively good or bad, or of an actor or actress who has played the present rôle in the past, or of a half-dozen other such phenomena.

It is thus that we must account, in part, for the otherwise somewhat puzzling enthusiasms of an Archer for a Pinero, of a Huneker for a Maeterlinck, or of a Shaw, in a measure, for a Barrie. And it is thus that we do account, on the whole, for lesser critics' enthusiasms—and megrims, no less—over nine-tenths of the things about which they suffer enthusiasms or megrims.—George Jean Nathan in the American Mercury for May.

There may be something in what Mr. Nathan says about critics. But the enthusiasm of Archer for Pinero and of Huneker for Maeterlinck had reason and warrant in their favor. Pinero in his day was as good as Archer said he was. Maeterlinck, if never as important as Huneker for a time seemed to think, had a distinct and interesting influence on modern drama. Huneker, unlike Archer, was not a practical man of the theater, and lacked a sense of measure when he wrote about it, whether with enthusiasm or megrims.

Maxwell Anderson, one of the authors of "What Price Glory!" is mentioned as the author of "Outside Looking In" and "Beggars of Life," new plays listed for next season; and it may be that they are the same piece by different titles. . . . Anyway, Rollo Peters is to be the star of one: he's the chap who was fairly good as Romeo to Miss Cowl's Juliet and pretty bad when he acted vis-à-vis with her in the stupid, dirty piece named "Who Knows."

Miss Katharine Cornell, now here in "The Green Hat," is expected to pass to Mr. Belasco's management in the Autumn. . . . The play he has in mind for her is said to be "The Desert," by Lorenzo Azertis: the adaptation is by George Middleton, Senator La Follette's son-in-law.

Performances will be given in five New-York theaters next Sunday night for the benefit of the National Vaudeville Artists, who are further to benefit by a performance in the Auditorium here and one in Los Angeles. . . . The N. V. A. is an organization built up by E. F. Albee, head of the far-flung Keith interests, as a means of overcoming the influences on variety-actors of the White Rats, whose idea was that nothing else than a strike every year or so would better the condition of its members.

Miss Justine Johnstone, who used to be in the Ziegfeld Follies and afterward had a brief spree of stardom in a war-time entertainment named "Over the Top!" is to go into the varieties with Effingham Pinto in a sketch named "Judy O'Grady." . . . And Mrs. Mary Carr, whose heartbroken mothers are the lachrymal delight of movie-goers, also is to have a sketch in the two-a-day.

Among recent deaths of performers was that of Frank Fogarty, for a time in high favor with two-a-day audiences as a story-teller in Irish dialect. Variety-stage actors looked upon him as a sort of Moses in succession to the late George Fuller Golden, for a time their spokesman in disputes with the managers.

en New Plays, but Not a Single Hit

By Burns Mantle

"Follies" girl, for instance, who has d great success as a comforter of ing and lonely papas.

Questioned as to the reasons for her cess, she answers frankly. "I am rified Flo, the girl without a blem-," cries she. "Even my vaccination as an inside job."

abeth Risdon suffers something rible as the nervous wife, and Ram- Wallace was the novelist. The is himself playing the part , I hear.

Tiresome Domestic Wrangling.

They certainly do live exciting lives Hungary. Mysterious lives, too. hat with husband wondering where ife is, and why. And wife never ing quite sure where husband is, r with whom. And both clever ough, with the help of almost any d playwright, to keep the other essing.

Take, as you are about to, "The pphire Ring" as an example. This, clares the advertisements, is a pic- e of "married life on the continent en through a keyhole."

I don't know much about married seen through a continental keyhole, but from what I have been able learn through a fairly thorough dy of the continental drama I am vinced that most Hungarian wives born adulterous, that others ieve adultery, and that those who either careless or hesitant have ultery thrust upon them.

In "The Sapphire Ring" the husband is angry and suspicious. Accus- the lady who is his wife of this and t, he finally badgers her into telling him the whole story.

The story forms the second act and ws the lady visiting the rooms of lover, a young doctor. She is, as so often are, of two minds on ar- al. Then she decides to stay. A mer mistress of the doctor calls, owed by her fiancé. There is a row the dark, during which the wife apes.

The husband listens to this story pa- ntly, and then decides it is not true. es she think him chuckleheaded ugh to believe such a yarn? He ll divorce her.

Then he thinks perhaps the story y not be true, and begs for forgiveness for doubting her. Then he decides ain it is true, and so on, and so on. ally he knows no more than the dience, which knows no more than it seen.

A tiresome domestic wrangle for f its length, "The Sapphire Ring" ghtens toward the end and is fairly resting. Helen Gahagan, Frank roy, and Kenneth MacKenna play little heavily. Lasslo Lackatos te it.

Barrymores in "Taps."

For a frail person Irene Fenwick rrymore certainly does her share work. Husband Lionel, I hear, is ious that she should rest and con- ve her health. He closed his tour "Laugh, Clown, Laugh" last season cause she caught cold and was eatened with pneumonia in Massa- setts.

They began late this year with "The ," and in that Mrs. Barrymore a fairly hard job. Now they are ying a revival of the German mili- y play "Taps," and she is the only man in the cast. Looking none too ll either. She should, I think, take ng, quiet rest.

Barrymore plays the honest Sergt. lkhardt. Thirty years in the serv- e and as loyal a Uhlan as ever pulled a boot. A widower for play pur- oses, and the father of an 18 year old ughter—sweet Klarchen, the pride the barracks.

You know the sergeant and Klar- hen. They have figured in many love d loyalty dramas under one disguise r another. In this one Klarchen, the y puss, forgets the honest though mble corporal her father hoped she uld marry, and takes up with the thborn Lieut. Von Lauffen. Every ght—or nearly every night—after es Klarchen sneaks over to the lieu- nant's quarters and into the lieu- nant's strong arms.

Then there comes the night when the jured sweetheart, back from two ars at school, invades the lieuten- t's quarters, also after taps, and ually assaults his superior officer hen he goes hunting for Klarchen in e bedroom.

Follows a dramatic court martial, rticularly well staged, with all the ller men lying like troopers to save archen's honor. Follows the final sure and old Volkhard't brain- m, of which Lionel takes full emo- nal advantage. Follows finally the ting of Klarchen by her father and e play's end.

NAMES AT TIMES COME OUT THIS WAY

MISS MABEL KNIGHT

MISS EDNA MORN

AND that isn't at all the reason the Misses Knight and Morn are run together in the picture. The latter is the player of Mary in "Sally, Irene, and Mary," and, so, the one who has most of her scenes face-to-face with the star, Mr. Dowling. She is busy in the part. As to Miss Knight, she is in "Rose-Marie," doing an unremembered something or other: the picture is run because it is as near the Mona Lisa sort of thing as actresses get when they try hard—and The Tribune isn't aware that Miss Knight has ever heard of Mona Lisa.

New Playbills

What Is Due in the Chicago Theaters as Far Ahead as the Managers Know or Care to Tell About.

OPENING TONIGHT:

"The Knife in the Wall" in the La Salle.—A melodrama by Mrs. Frances Lightner that has been running in New-York, where it was known for a time as "Puppets." The story has to do with love, rivalry, feuds, and white-slave plotting in New-York's Italian district: the place of action is behind-the-scenes of a marionette-theater. . . . Fredric March, Miss Michelette Burani, Ralph J. Locke, Dwight Frye, Frederic Burt, Miss Miriam Hopkins, and Miss Elizabeth Taylor are of the cast.

"Bringing Up Father" in the Olympic.—A stage version by R. F. Carroll and others of the like-named "comic strip" by George McManus. The piece, in one form or another, is not new; but this is the first time it has been proffered in a Loop theater.

MONDAY, MAY 4:

Frank Craven in "New Brooms" in the Blackstone.—The author-actor of "Too Many Cooks" and "The First Year" in his most recent comedy, first acted last Summer in Milwaukee under the title of "Fool's Hill." He took over the principal part in New-York, after announcing that he had retired from acting. . . . The management says it is to try two dollars as the price of the best seats for Mr. Craven's engagement.

MONDAY, MAY 11:

Miss Grace George in "She Had to Know" in the Studebaker.—The distinguished comédienne in her own adaptation of a comedy by Paul Géraldy named "Si Je Voulais!" The New-York critics were warm in praise of her acting in the principal rôle—that of a young wife who fears that she is lacking in the essential charm that attracts men. . . . Bruce McRae, Miss Charlotte Ives, and Frederick Worlock are in the cast.

SUNDAY, MAY 31:

"Artists and Models" in the Apollo.—Second issue of the revue designed by the illustrators for their annual entertainment in New-York, as revised and amplified for the general public by the Messrs. Shubert. It has been on view in New-York since October 15.

HE'S BACK

FREDRIC MARCH

He was here a year ago in "Henky," with Lew Fields, and seemed to be better than his rôle. He returned in the beginning of this season as the love-reformed youth in "Tarnish," and was all right. . . . Mr. March comes back tonight in "The Knife in the Wall," wherein he has been acting in New-York.

Actors as Playwrights.

"Peace Harbor" is the name of a play tried last week in Providence; and it is believed to be one formerly tried elsewhere under the title of "Sign Here!" The authors are William H. Macart and his wife, known in the varieties as Miss Ethlyne Bradford. . . . Macart was for a time joined with Joseph Cawthorn and Harry Bulger in the comic rôles of some of the Drury-Lane extravaganzas imported by Klaw & Erlanger: "The Sleeping Beauty" and "Mother Goose" are recalled.

Stage-News

The performers in the floor-shows of the night-clubs and the gin-and-juice cabarets are being asked to have a go in the two-a-day. . . . Miss Francine Larrimore, in a sketch, and Wallace Eddinger, in another, are listed as likely additions to the hot-weather list of two-a-day entertainers. So also is Miss Dorothy Jardon, for a season a member of the Chicago Opera.

Weber and Fields, Miss Marie Cahill, Miss Emma Trentini, Miss Cissie Loftus, and Miss Blossom Seeley were in last week's bill in the principal Keith theater in New-York; and all of them are held over for this week, with an addition in Miss Laurette Taylor, acting the part of "Pierrot the Prodigal."

"All American," Louise Fazenda's Plan for New Home

By Rosalind Shaffer.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—[Special Correspondence.]—Louise Fazenda, slick in a black crêpe gown with a long, throat-wrapping scarf which, by the way, did not impede her flow of language, was holding forth at a tea on Friday about her new house which is in process of going up, out Hollywood way.

Louise was so busy working in "Grounds for Divorce" that two weeks after the carpenters started building was her first chance to inspect the premises.

She approached a carpenter, hard at work with hammer and nails, and shouted above the din, "How are you getting along?" The hammering continued. She tried again. Same result. "Say," hollered Louise, "I own this house!" Still no answer.

"Right there I left," said Louise, "for he was hammering nails in the floor two feet away and working towards me. I am perfectly sure if I had held that pose three minutes longer he'd have nailed me right into the architectural design without stopping, except to get longer nails."

Early American antique stores are getting a terrible going over from Louise, for she plans to make her furnishings all American. A stunning colonial quilt, an heirloom in the family, will grace the four poster, a family piece in old mahogany, in the guest room. Several hooked mats made by her mother will carry out the same early American plan.

The same tea party boasted several other celebrities, including Carmelita Geraghty, in a flame crêpe de chine made with a circular yoke into which the blouse was fulled, with pin tucks, and with a flat set in panel on each side, and a small felt cloche.

Florence Ulric, younger sister of Lenore Ulric, was another guest, and appeared with a red brown headful of curls worn loose on her neck, an orchid georgette dress, quaintly fitting in the bodice and trimmed around the short sleeves and low neck with double ruffing, with rosebuds caught through it here and there. A bouffant petal skirt set off the slimness of the petite movie aspirant, who, with considerable experience as a stage dancer and the family fame to recommend her, is just breaking into picture work. Betty Bronson and she have become fast chums in two weeks.

An admiring friend remarked to Florence: "You came a little late to Hollywood. I'm sure if you'd come a few months ago you'd have been the second Mrs. Chaplin."

"O, no," said the blushing miss of 16, "I'm much too old for Mr. Chaplin."

Some demon driver of rubberneck wagons which ply in Sunset boulevard pointed out the Hollywood High school buildings as "the new Chaplin laboratory."

Film Lets River Settle Destinies

By Mae Tinee.

ers. Romance and real love comes to him in the form of one Betty Jo—"girl who always spends her summers with me," says Auntie Sue.

Unhappiness comes to him in the shape of Mrs. Brian Kent—the wife for whom he had committed crime in order that she might flit along the paths of the ungodly.

The river attends to her, though. She takes one drink too many, and goes out rowing. The laughing pools at the bottom of the falls know the last of her sad story.

And, finally, Auntie Sue is the means of setting him squarely on his feet so that he needn't be afraid to look anybody in the eye.

The rather remarkable fact that nobody recognizes the stranger at Auntie Sue's, even though there's a large reward offered for his capture and his picture has been published—and he is in no way disguised—sticks out at you like a sore thumb.

In the main, however, "The Re-Creation of Brian Kent" is quite pleasing photoplay material. It is well acted, and the scenery and photography are something to sit up and give thanks for.

HOW the Harold Bell Wright fans will love it!

See you tomorrow!

Kinds Words for Junior.

I noted several months ago that Douglas Sr. wished his son to study awhile, and after the youngster's first starring vehicle, "Stephen Steps Out," nothing much was heard of him. This silence is no doubt due to paternal influence.

You can't keep a good man down—and no matter how obscure the place now, Doug Jr. is bound to come to the front in short order. Public approval means money to producers, and in these days of the elusive dollar, this approval should be heeded. A. B. C.

On and After April 27th

The MEN'S DEPARTMENT of the PUBLIC HEALTH INSTITUTE

Will Occupy 4 Floors at 159 North Dearborn St. [Just North of Randolph]

A steadily increasing number of patients has made it necessary for us to provide larger quarters for our Men's Department which, after April 27th, 1925, will be located at 159 North Dearborn Street, just North of Randolph.

Four floors will be occupied and this large space will be completely furnished with the most modern equipment devised for the treatment of "social" diseases.

There will also be a greatly increased number of treatment rooms which will permit of a greater privacy in the reception and treatment of patients.

The Women's Department, 72 East Randolph St. and Health Center No. 1 at 129 East 31st St. will remain where they are.

Effective Treatment Conquers "Social" Diseases

The steady growth of the Public Health Institute is the best proof that could be given of its necessity to victims of venereal infections.

In 1920, the year of its organization, its average daily attendance was 77 and the total number of treatments was 21,747.

In 1924 the average daily attendance was 1011 and the total number of treatments given was 311,433.

During the five years in which it has been in operation, the institute has received more than 60,000 patients and has given more than one million treatments. It has examined and treated one out of every 50 people in the city. It now treats more than 1200 patients daily.

Besides giving its practical help in restoring these thousands to health and efficiency, it has contributed largely to extending information about the serious nature of social diseases; it has supported the preventive educational work of the Social Hygiene Council; and in connection with the University of Wisconsin and Northwestern University, it is doing valuable research work, which has already resulted in a very valuable contribution to the treatment of paresis and certain effects on the spinal cord, offering a renewed hope to many affected.

The Institute was organized by Chicago business men, not for profit, and its income is used in providing proper medical attention, supporting research and educational work and developing the best possible facilities for the treatment of patients.

The fees are small so this service is available to people of even the most limited means. No one is refused treatment because of lack of ready money.

To Those Who Need This Help

The Public Health Institute is ready to examine and treat anyone who has become infected or exposed.

Every patient of the Institute receives the individual attention of a trained physician and is given the treatment best adapted to his case and condition.

We say particularly to those who, through a feeling of false modesty or who for any other reason, are hesitating to obtain medical help, that delay in treatment will simply give the disease a stronger hold on the system. The earlier treatment is taken, the sooner will be the recovery and the more certain will be the avoidance of serious effects.

If you have become actively infected or have been exposed to one of these diseases, the Institute offers you the benefit of its modern facilities and the experience of its physicians.

Women and Children

A special department for women and children, with women as physicians and assisting as nurses and attendants, is located at 72 East Randolph Street. Every facility is provided here for effective treatment, and the utmost privacy with the highest degree of comfort is assured. No charge is made for treating the children of parents under treatment.

With such service as this available, no one who needs treatment should delay. "Social" diseases can be cured.

New York Takes Chicago Ballet

By Edward Moore.

done by Feodor Chaliapin, whose name has been taken off the Chicago list.

Another item of news from the Metropolitan tells that Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, now sixty-four years of age, will return there to sing Erda in "Siegfried" and Fricka in "Die Walkuere." She lacks just three years of having been a half century on the stage, having made her debut in 1878 as Azucena in "Il Trovatore" at Dresden. Her first American performance was at the Metropolitan in 1898.

A final bit of information is that Mr. Gatti is looking more than one season ahead for a novelty. He has commissioned an opera to be written for the 1926 season, and they say that Deems Taylor is the writer. Mr. Taylor is now concluding a brilliant term as music critic of the New York World, and is entering that condition, envied of all composers, when he can lay aside his other activities for the sake of composition. It is worth while, too, as his "Through the Looking Glass" and a number of songs have proved.

Just off the press is "The Chicago Symphony Orchestra, Its Organization, Growth, and Development, 1891-1924," by Philo Adams Otis. Here is an important collection of historical material. Mr. Otis is the secretary of the orchestra, he has been devoted to it since its foundation, he helped to nurse it through its impecunious babyhood, he has been of material assistance in building it up to its present commanding position.

Mr. Otis' recollections go back as far as 1857. He, therefore, in the preluding chapters of his book includes a number of the occasions when Theodore Thomas used to come to Chicago as the conductor of a traveling orchestra. These are dealt with briefly but completely, reserving, however, the principal amount of space for the time beginning with 1891, when Mr. Thomas came here, to remain until his death in 1905. Mr. Otis has had access to all the documents of this period; he has also had the valuable habit of keeping a detailed diary touching upon orchestral events; his collection of newspaper clippings, programs, and other memorabilia is probably unique.

Out of the mass of material he has constructed a book which not only sets forth the orchestra in its outlines, but makes public, perhaps for the first time, many interesting inner details of problems and their solutions, conversations, and entertaining side lights, all in a chatty and entertaining manner. The same detailed care that takes the orchestra up to Thomas' death is continued from 1905 up to the end of the 1924 season, under the direction of Frederick Stock. Many illustrations are included. The book is published by Clayton F. Summy company.

Mainly About Music.

The Civic Music association will give its annual spring festival at Orchestra hall this afternoon, and it emphasizes the item that the hour is 3:30 according to daylight saving time. The Civic orchestra, of which Frederick Stock is musical director and Eric DeLamarter assistant conductor, will play. There will be a children's chorus of 1,000 voices under the direction of Herbert E. Hyde, secretary of the organization, and they will sing French, English, German, Austrian, Russian, Finnish, Italian, and Flemish folk songs in English, also some works by Chicago composers.

"Elijah" dramatized is announced for public performance at Orchestra hall next Friday night. According to the information relayed to this department, they have taken the salient dramatic points of Mendelssohn's oratorio and so staged, lighted, costumed, and illuminated it with song and gesture that it has become music drama. Mrs. Benjamin F. Langworthy wrote the scenario and is the dramatic director. George L. Tenney will direct the musical performance, which will be sung by the united choirs of the New First Congregational church of 300 voices.

Mencken Is Wrong on Dictionary, U. of C. Professor Declares

BY JOHN MATTHEWS MANLY.

[Head of the Department of English at the University of Chicago.]

AMERICANS who know the "American language," a large staff of American men and women fully conversant with dialects and eager to search out from the remotest sources anything bearing on the historical and racial bases of American speech, will do the actual research for the Dictionary of American English, work on which is to begin at the University of Chicago this year. The entire task will have the supervision of Prof. William A. Craigie, who is coming to the university from Oxford; and this fact, bringing a man of unique gifts and experience in organization, will not only insure progress in the work, but also will enlist the efforts of one who may be counted upon to recognize American differences from English usage more quickly than many American scholars.

Henry L. Mencken, in a recent article, has criticised the dictionary project on the ground that an Englishman was to direct the work. Mr. Mencken wrote that what he called "the pedagogues who profess the English language and its branches among us" regard it as their duty "to enforce relentlessly the rules of a tongue that exists only in books, and that the overwhelming majority of Americans never speak, seldom hear, and often cannot even understand." Mr. Mencken in his article inquired: "Why is it impossible to find sufficient talent in America?" He also complained that when his own book, "The American Language," was issued, "the gentlemen of the English faculty fell upon it with ferocity."

Mr. Mencken wrote his article without having informed himself about the plans for the Dictionary of American English. If he had taken the trouble to inquire about these plans he would have learned that two professors of American birth and training, who are as familiar with the American language as Mr. Mencken is, will take part in the editorial work on the dictionary; that funds are being sought for a research assistant and two fellows to devote their whole time to helping in the work, and that the editors hope, and have reason to expect, that a large number of American citizens of both sexes, including all the leading professors of the English language, will coöperate with them by collecting materials for the dictionary. Public announcement was made at the Christmas meeting of the American Dialect society, and promises of coöperation were secured. If Mr. Mencken had attended that meeting, or had made inquiry of the president of the University of Chicago, he could have learned the facts about our dictionary project.

The principal reason for enlisting the services of Prof. Craigie was that he had had twenty-eight years of experience on the greatest dictionary undertaking the world has ever seen. It cost the producers of the Oxford Dictionary years of time and piles of money to learn the simplest, best, and least wasteful methods of collecting, organizing, and presenting their materials. It seemed wise to profit by their experience and begin with a full knowledge of all they have learned in the sixty-five years since they began work on the Oxford Dictionary.

Even Mr. Mencken is not aware of all the peculiarities of his own speech. That Prof. Craigie will not always understand American idioms is admitted, but his American associates can be trusted to understand any variety of American English that has yet been produced.

The value of the foreigner's point of view is often very great. The standard book on our form of government is "The American Commonwealth," by Viscount Bryce. The best study of the present status of the British constitution is the recent book by President Lowell of Harvard.

Concerning the point that American professors confine themselves to enforcing the rules of "book English," Mr. Mencken knows, or ought to know, that the best teachers in America welcome freshness of idiom, even to the extent of approving current slang when it is apt and expressive.

As regards the "ferocity" of attacks on Mr. Mencken's own book, he admits in the preface to the second edition of "The American Language" that the reviews of the first edition in philological periodicals were always friendly, and "in many cases exhaustive and valuable." Certainly this was true of the two reviews by men connected with the University of Chicago, Profs. Hulbert and Knott, and that by Prof. Bright of Johns Hopkins. Even where Mr. Mencken's incompetence as a philologist was too obvious to be passed without notice, they made allowance for him that they would not have made for a professional scholar, and all of them recommended the book cordially.

Two Wasted Lives

By H. L. Mencken

either to gilt the bolsheviki as angels or to bedaub them as devils. Both, so to speak, were done against the grain: there is in them a confession of profound error. But they are frank, they are fair and straightforward, and they are written with quite extraordinary skill. I attempt no choice between them. Miss Goldman's volume is perhaps the more moving, for there is something finer in her than in Berkman, but his is surely the more dramatic and devastating.

Glad to Get Away.

Berkman starts with his departure from the United States on the Buford. He was, he says, glad to get away, and I believe him. He had spent more of his years here in prison than in freedom; ahead, at worst, was liberty. He was, of course, an anarchist, and hence an opponent of the bolsheviki—despite the belief of federal district attorneys, newspaper editorial writers, members of congress, and other such morons that the two are identical—but he was far more interested in the revolution than in the notions underlying it. Here, at last, the great experiment of his dreams was on. Here, at last, the Chandala had overthrown their masters, and were hard at work upon the New Jerusalem.

Berkman stepped upon Russian soil with his heart leaping like that of a Kansas deacon landing at Bimini. The bolsheviki were instantly polite to him. More intelligent than the rulers of older countries, they had observed the fact that he was a man of parts, and they determined to make use of those parts—perhaps even to win him over by keeping him busy and showing confidence in him. He was received and made much of by the highest dignitaries of the state. He was given important work. He was given authority. He was turned loose.

Alas, for the plans of mice and men! His sharp eyes, it quickly appeared, were just a bit too sharp. Day by day they began to penetrate further and further into the bolshevik sham. They discovered abuses innumerable—graft, injustice, petty tyranny, downright oppression. They found politicians getting rich at the expense of the starving toilers. They found courts run by brutes, and the jails full of innocent men. They found corruption and incompetence everywhere, cynicism and self-seeking in high places, misery almost inconceivable under the surface show. In brief, they found that life in Utopia was ten times as hard, a hundred times as unhappy, a thousand times as savage, as under the hellhounds of capital—worse, even than life in a Pennsylvania mining town; almost as appalling (to a humane man) as life in Los Angeles (to an intelligent one).

End of a Dream.

Poor Berkman was staggered. His bald head, I dare say, streamed with clammy sweat. So this was the revolution! This was the end of a lifelong dream, cherished for years and years in dungeons! It would be difficult to imagine any more crushing disillusionment. Nor any more realistic dealing with it. Berkman wasted no time trying to see the better side. He didn't counsel himself to be patient, and wait for a miracle. Instead, he asked for his passports, went to Berlin, got a comfortable pew in a respectable beer house, spit on his hands, and wrote "The Bolshevik Myth." I believe it will do more to blow up that myth than all the pious snuffling of the late Charles Evans Hughes—nay, more than the hottest tears of ten thousand Charles Evans Hugheses.

For Berkman is a transparently honest man. There can be no question of his bona fides. Nor the soundness of his information. Nor of his capacity to weigh it, estimate it, determine its bearings. His book constitutes a criticism that is absolutely shattering. Nothing is left of the bolshevik balderdash when he has finished with it. He searches out its every weakness; he exposes the dreadful fraudulence of all its principal exponents; he turns it completely inside out. When the department of state attempted the same job only Babbitts believed it; its own fraudulence was too manifest. But Berkman, I suspect, will convince even the liberals.

Now to my point: it was a great mistake, I am convinced, to let so shrewd, forthright and frank a fellow go, and La Goldman with him. The defect in our system is that it utilizes men badly—that it throttles more talent than it makes any use of. The bolsheviki seem to be surviving Berkman's devastating onslaught; it may even strengthen them at home, if only by making them more careful. But in the United States, where such criticism is needed quite as sorely as in Russia and where it could be turned to use ten times as well—here the only thing we can think of doing to such a man as Berkman is to lock him up in jail. Because his fulminations alarm a few profiteers, we hunt him as if he were a mad dog—and finally kick him out of the country. And with him goes a shrewder head and a braver spirit than has been seen in public life among us since the civil war.

1¢ Per Square Foot PROTECTS YOUR LINOLEUM WITH SHEDWATER WHITE LINOLEUM VARNISH

Shedwater Is the Varnish Made Specially for Linoleum

Recommended by Leading Linoleum Manufacturers

Protect your linoleum, intensify its beautiful colorings and lengthen its life with SHEDWATER, THE SPECIAL WHITE LINOLEUM VARNISH. It is unlike ordinary floor and linoleum varnishes. SHEDWATER is especially made for linoleum, Congoleum, oil cloth, Sanitas, felt base and grass rugs. It is the palest waterproof varnish made. It will not darken the light patterns in linoleum, instead it beautifies, makes more lustrous and preserves the original colorings.

SHEDWATER WHITE LINOLEUM VARNISH will not crack, check, peel or blister when properly applied, neither will it spot, stain, nor turn white should you accidentally spill hot liquids, ammonia, alcohol, vinegar or hot grease.

No More Scrubbing

The smooth, tough surface of SHEDWATER naturally resists dirt and is easily wiped clean with water and soap. Scrubbing is unnecessary. SHEDWATER is more easily cleaned than wax, and gives far greater protection. Should a wax finish be desired, it can be applied over a coat of SHEDWATER White Linoleum Varnish.

The Armstrong Cork Co., Bird & Son, John S. Clement Co., Inc., and others recommend SHEDWATER WHITE LINOLEUM VARNISH as the result of practical tests. Its special qualifications are transparency, waterproof, quick drying, alkali resisting, toughness and elasticity.

SHEDWATER WHITE LINOLEUM VARNISH takes the wear off the linoleum itself, prevents dirt from being ground into it, keeps out moisture and thus preserves both surface and body.

Wonderful Results at Trifling Cost

For less than one cent per square foot you can beautify and protect your linoleum, save money, time and labor. Linoleum protected with SHEDWATER should last a lifetime. SHEDWATER is easily applied—dries over night—a trial will convince you of its superiority over ordinary varnish.

52nd Anniversary Sale: Wearing Apparel Week

For months past we have been planning and working for the success of the Fifty-second Anniversary Sale—just as we always do for our Anniversary Sales—that is why they stand out apart from all other sales Chicago knows of—and prominently so, too—varieties, seasonable, desirable merchandise, the fashions of the hour, dependable qualities, all come under the sway of Anniversary Sale prices, which means, value considered, the very lowest prices of the year. Tomorrow every corner of every floor of our great Block Long Store will be as busy as ever a beehive has been, for Chicago awaits these annual events with keenest interest and attends en masse—knowing full well that the values offered will gauge the offerings of others for the balance of the season—we tell Five Pages of the story here—it would probably take fifty to print it in its entirety, but the observant shopper will take advantage of the many economies we have provided and cannot tell of here as readily as she will those that follow. ## A Welcome Corset Story

52nd Anniversary Sale

Third Floor—Dearborn Street

Our Corset Section is ever alert to offer the women of Chicago the newest creations in corsetry. Youth is the fashion—but even Miss Eighteen needs the assistance of the corsetiere to attain that charming, smart appearance of "Flaming Youth," not one superfluous, inflexible garment does she wear under her slim spring frock, so

Out of the softer subtleties of the mode has come the newer corsetry—things gracious, supple, slender, fashioned from light and lovely fabrics that are nevertheless extraordinarily firm about reminding your figure to take lines of easy grace.

We have devoted one section to the needs of the younger set, where are shown the "Snuggle Band Combination"—one feels free to fly in it—step ins, soft beautiful girdles, Netheralls, circle sash and a beautiful array of two in one garments that subdue any bit of flesh that tries to appear.

But we have not forgotten mother and show a great variety of garments that she should wear to achieve that likewise slender look, comprising Compacts, Dussettes, Nemo-Flex, corselettes, wrap arounds, step ins, Detachs, Treo-garments, Doublette, Ensembles, also many styles of the "two in one" garment that are heavily boned.

Corsetieres highly specialized in each division of corset service will be glad to advise you. No store shows nearly so complete varieties AT SUCH REASONABLE PRICES.

RADIO COMPASS FOR LAKE BOATS BEING TESTED

New Device to Guide Ships in Fog.

Alpena, Mich., April 25.—[Special.]—Interest in marine circles of the great lakes was focused last week on this city when the new radio compass which had been installed on the lighthouse tender Amaranth was tested and calibrated in Thunder bay with the assistance of the radio station at the Huron Portland Cement plant. The establishment of a radio compass station aboard the government lighthouse ships marks a new era in lake navigation, in the opinion of ship masters.

Under the new arrangement it will be possible for any boat on any of the lakes to get its location after the supplementary wireless stations have been installed at the more important lighthouses on the great lakes.

Former Operator Aids.

When the Amaranth arrived in Alpena it had aboard the new radio compass which had just been installed before it left Detroit by two representatives of the Federal Telegraph company of Palo Alto, Cal. Capt. Gunderson of the Amaranth asked the assistance of Carl Wesser, radiotrician of the Huron Portland Cement company, who formerly was radio operator on the Amaranth, to aid in the tests.

While the government vessel cruised in the bay the new compass set was calibrated with the assistance of the cement company's station. The new set is one of the advanced type, and an improvement over the two radio compass sets on the two new Ford boats, which went into commission last year and are the only boats on the lakes besides the Amaranth so equipped.

Under the plan which the government is now testing out the important lighthouses are to be equipped with radio compass apparatus that will send out distinctive signals, much the same as the lighthouses, being distinctive either by their color of the variations of their flashes.

Signals Continual in Fog.

The signal of the radio signals from each station will be continual during fogs, storms, and other periods, when the light is not readily visible. The radio operator or the mate can pick up the signal and identify it. To get a cross bearing he would intercept the signal from a lighthouse at some angle to the first station and from his chart, carrying the respective lines across his map to their intersection would learn his location. Just now the tests are under way and results indicate that the radio compass stations will be installed on the great lakes this year. The Amaranth would use its equipment for testing, checking up the various signals from the lighthouse on the lakes.

Under the new system no costly equipment or experienced men would be needed at the lighthouse stations, since it would not be necessary for the lighthouses to receive messages. They would start broadcasting their characteristic signals whenever visibility was poor in much the same way as they now operate foghorns.

Storm News by Radio.

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—Weather conditions involving barometric pressure, temperature, wind direction, velocity, state of sky, state of sea, and visibility at Sandy Hook, N. J., are now broadcast for the benefit of navigation approaching New York harbor from radio station WCC, operated by the Radio Corporation of America at Marion, Mass., and WSC, at Tuckerton, N. J.

These observations are taken at 8 a. m. and 4 p. m., and are sent out at 9 a. m. and 5 p. m., seventy-fifth meridian, respectively.

RADIO MESSAGE FROM SHIP HEARD 6,000 MILES AWAY

What was believed to constitute a record distance achieved in radio transmission by a ship at sea was reported by the Red Star liner Belgenland, on its arrival at New York recently, from a cruise around the world.

"When at Shanghai, on Jan. 27," said Thomas R. Walker, chief wireless operator, "we transmitted messages to a station at San Francisco, KHP, more than 6,000 miles away, using our 1,500 watt continuous wave transmitter. We continued to report our position daily to this station until our arrival at Hongkong, 820 miles further south. I have never heard of a similar distance being covered by a set like ours."

Another interesting statement made by Mr. Walker was to the effect that on the night of Jan. 3, when the ship was in 179 degrees east longitude, half way round the world from central Europe, he received clearly a press message sent out from the German government station POZ at Nauen.

"We did not know which way the wave was traveling," said Mr. Walker, "but to reach us it had to come not less than 12,000 miles either way, and across a great continent, Europe and Asia if it came eastward, and America if it came westward."

THREE NOTED ANNOUNCERS

HIGH POWER TO KILL BUGABOO OF SUMMER STATIC

Twice as Many 'Super' Stations This Year.

The unprecedented increase in the number of broadcasting stations using 500 watts or more will give summer static a real run for its money. There will be almost twice as many of the larger stations than there were last summer. This marks an appreciable advance in the fight on static, for in the communities which are served by these stations—and they now dot the country freely—the programs in the immediate vicinity and in a considerable surrounding area ought to come through as well in summer as in winter.

The following is a list of the higher power stations, 1,500 watts or more, which will form the background of the summer static fight:

2,000 WATTS—WEAF, New York City; KGO, Oakland, Cal.; KFI, Los Angeles, Cal., and KYW, Chicago, Ill.

1,500 WATTS — KFKX, Hastings, Neb.; WBZ, Springfield, Mass.; WTAM, Cleveland, O.; WGY, Schenectady, N. Y.; WOC, Davenport, Ia.; WLW, Cincinnati, O.; WOCO, Anoka, Minn.; WCBD, Zion, Ill.; WTAS, Elgin, Ill., and the new Wrigley station, WHT, Chicago, Ill., which opened yesterday.

The second line of defense against static will be the stations of 1,000 watts and slightly less, among which are:

1,000 WATTS—W-G-N, Chicago; WEBH, Chicago; WGBS, New York; WJY, New York; WJZN, WNYC, KDKA, Pittsburgh; WBAP, Fort Worth, Tex.; KFKX, Hastings, Neb.; KOA, Denver; WEAR, Cleveland, and WOAW, Omaha.

750 WATTS—KFMX, Northfield, Minn.; KTW, Seattle, Wash.; WGR, Buffalo, and WMH, Cincinnati, O.

Reinforcing the higher power stations are 108 stations of 500 watts, such stations as:

KFUA, St. Louis, Mo.; KGV, Pittsburgh; WLS, Chicago; WGST, Atlanta; WEEI, Boston; WEAY, Houston; WEBJ, New York City; WIP, Philadelphia; WTIC, Hartford; WRC, Washington, D. C.; WHAD, Milwaukee; WABN, La Crosse, Wis.; WEBX, Nashville; KFDM, Beaumont, Tex.; WFAA, Dallas; KTHS, Hot Springs, Ark.; WOAN, Lawrenceburg, Tenn.; WMBF, Miami; WSAG, St. Petersburg; WOAI, San Antonio; WJAD, Waco, Tex.; KOB, State College, N. M., and WMC, Memphis.

It is predicted that stations of such power as these, more numerous than ever before, hold forth the promise of the best summer radio reception yet attained.

GOLF PLAYER TRIES TEACHING GAME BY RADIO

The golf bug and the radio bug have joined forces, creating a new urge in the breasts of radio listeners in the western part of the United States and Canada.

This is evidenced today by a flood of mail which is pouring into KGO from radio listeners who want to learn how to play golf over the air. Joe Novak, professional player and teacher, is giving a series of lessons over KGO Thursday evenings at 7:15 and listeners have been requested to send in for charts showing fundamental positions of the club and body, which he will use in the course of his talks.

While most of the requests for radio golf charts are coming from cities, many are being received from farmers and others in small towns and communities.

Popularity Proves Ruin to Certain Radio Stars

Following in the footsteps of their movie brothers and sisters the popularity of some of the radio stars is going to their heads. It is a matter of considerable comment that at least one of the big New York stars, the possessor of an unusually fine voice, recently lost her job as a result of what her manager declared was too good an opinion of herself, brought about by the adulation of the listeners.

10,000 FANS SEND IN FOR TRIBUNE BOOKLET ON RADIO

Two weeks ago THE TRIBUNE got out a little book on radio, its theory, and practice, containing a chapter on tuning, with maps, charts, logs, graphs, and a complete list of call stations and to date 10,000 radio fans have taken advantage of the opportunity offered and have purchased it.

The chapter on tuning is well worth the price of 10 cents (13 cents by mail) that is being asked for the book. This chapter clearly explains how to tune in the stations you want to hear, pointing out that only a small percentage of radio owners get the maximum of efficiency and enjoyment out of their sets for the simple reason that they cannot tune the instrument properly and blame the set for their own failure.

The book can be obtained from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Public Service bureau, 11 South Dearborn street—10 cents if you call for it, 13 cents by mail. If you order your copy by mail THE TRIBUNE requests that you answer the following questions for the purpose of trade research which THE TRIBUNE is conducting in behalf of radio manufacturers: Have you a radio set, and, if so, how many tubes? If home made, what type? If factory built, give name. Where did you buy it—at a radio store, a music store, a department store, etc? If you were to get a new set, which one would you buy or build?

W-G-N NOTES

Carl M. Roden, librarian of the Chicago Public library, will talk at W-G-N during rocking chair time next Tuesday afternoon.

The second of the radio college reunions — Northwestern's — will be staged next Thursday evening between 8 and 9 o'clock at W-G-N. Northwestern alumni in all parts of the country are invited to send in greetings to the radio station for transmission to other alumni during the program. The big campus program will consist of songs by the Northwestern University Glee club, directed by Rollin Pease; talks by Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite and Dean Asa Kent; ten minutes of Northwestern songs played on the Lyon & Healy organ by Charles Martin; and "Do You Remember 'Way Back When'" greetings from the alumni.

Have you any questions you would like to ask "The Weather Man" or Sally Joy Brown in a radio-interview? You will have the opportunity soon, for Prof. Henry J. Cox, head of the United States weather bureau in Chicago, is to be radio-interviewed at W-G-N on Friday, May 8, and Sally Joy Brown, conductor of the "Friend in Need" column in THE TRIBUNE, appears before the microphone on May 14. Shoot in your queries right away!

U. S. MAY USE RADIO TO CATCH MAIL ROBBERS

Plan to Send Wireless Photos of Thieves.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—It may not be long before the postoffice department at Washington avails itself of photographs sent by radio or telephone wire to aid in capturing mail bandits and postoffice yeggmen. Everyone is familiar with the circulars now seen in postoffices bearing the picture and description of the criminal sought.

These are mailed to postmasters, but Postmaster General New has had his attention called to how the process may be speeded up in important robberies by transmitting these rogue's gallery photographs by radio or telephone to central points and redistributing them by air mail and other faster facilities.

$13,462,042 Stolen.

In fact, fifty-eight postal robberies during the past five years were of sufficient importance for radio or wired photographs. During this time mail bandits made away with $13,462,042. Chief Postal Inspector Rush D. Simmons reports that out of fifty-eight cases thirty-four arrests were made and the surprisingly large amount of $8,556,659 recovered by the postal inspectors.

A great majority of the mail robberies during the past five years have been committeed in the middle and far west and it is there undoubtedly the photograph-by-air method would be tried out. Illinois led by fifteen, California was second with eight, and Texas third with four.

The Million Dollar Jobs.

Those in the million dollar class were the Dallas postoffice holdup in 1921, Chicago Union station, 1921, New York City mail truck, 1922, St. Louis mail truck, 1923, and Roundout, Ill., mail train, 1924.

Thousands of these rogue's gallery circulars are sent out each year by the postoffice department, but at best it is a snail-like process in comparison to how it may soon be done with the aid of radio or a telephoned photograph.

RADIO FADEOUT LATEST WRINKLE IN BROADCASTING

What movie fan doesn't knew what a "fade-out" is? And now comes the radio fadeout.

Ralph Shugart, engineer at WJJD, the Loyal Order of Moose station at Mooseheart, Ill., has added the new twist which is receiving many comments.

When Jack Nelson, director and announcer, is half way through the concluding song, it begins to decrease in volume until the last notes of his singing and playing fade away into silence. The effect is such that the listeners feel they are drifting into space. One listener said the only way he could describe it was to say, "It makes me feel just as though I were dropping off to sleep in a clover field in the middle of a drowsy summer afternoon. Boy, he certainly gives me the spring fever!"

Wagner Not a Diamond Star, Fans Learn by Radio

Radio has done more and continues to do more to generate popular fondness for good music than anything that ever happened in the United States, according to Leonard Liebling, editor of the Musical Courier, New York.

"People nowadays," Mr. Liebling said, "are beginning to know that Schubert was not a New York theater owner and that Wagner was a musical genius and not a former baseball idol."

Miss Howl Is Added to Roxy's Radio Entertainers

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—The newest member of "Roxy's" gang of radio entertainers is a charming soprano. Fate seems to have been a bit unkind to the young singer, for her name is Howl. Now if "Roxy" will also take D. Lirious, the harmonica champion, and Miss Take, the sobbing saxaphonist, all will be forgiven.

RADIO PROGRAMS FOR TODAY

(Sunday, April 26) (Chicago Daylight Savings Time)

How good a critic of music are you, if you hear it on the radio? You can test your ability today and incidentally have a chance to win one of the money prizes, totaling $500, which the Chicago Musical college is offering for the best essays on your choice of the most meritorious musicians in the contest to be staged between 2 and 5 this afternoon at Central theater and broadcast by W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel.

The final competition in the Chicago Musical college annual contest will be broadcast today, with three competitors in each of four groups—violin, vocal, graduate piano and post-graduate piano. To the winner in each group the college will award a violin or piano. And after the artists have played today for you on the radio they will appear on May 9 at Orchestra hall, where judges will decide the best pianist and the best vocalist and the best violinist. It should be your aim today to try to pick the three whom the judges will later pick, and the $500 in prizes will go to the best twenty essays.

Today's contestants will be:

ALD. ARVEY OPENS QUIZ ON "SILENT NIGHT" PROBLEM

Advent of WHT Brings Up Question Again.

BY FRANK HINMAN.

The addition of WHT, the new radio station in the Wrigley building, to the growing list of broadcasting stations in the Chicago district has again raised the question of how silent "silent night" ought to be, and as a result the mayor's radio commission, of which Ald. Jacob M. Arvey is chairman, has begun an inquiry into the matter.

Several years ago, when radio broadcasting was a novelty for most Chicagoans, "silent night" was instituted. Through the efforts of George E. Carlson, at that time commissioner of electricity under Mayor Thompson, and John Toman, at that time alderman, the Chicago broadcasting stations agreed to remain silent on Monday nights so that radio fans with a mania for DX might try out their sets on far away stations.

Most Stations Obey Rule.

Since then numerous broadcasting stations have "come on the air" in this district. Most of these have agreed to the "silent night" rule, but several, whose broadcasting equipment and antenna towers are outside the city limits, still broadcast on Monday nights. They take the stand that they are not Chicago stations, despite the fact practically all of their broadcasting is done from Chicago studios.

Several other stations, too, are laying plans to move their power equipment to the less congested districts around Chicago, where they will be free from interference and can use higher power. Under the present interpretation of the "silent night" agreement they, too, would not have to abide by it, so the advent of WHT on the air brings the question up again. WHT is a Chicago radio station, but its broadcasting equipment is at Deerfield, Ill., twenty-eight miles from the city.

"Silent if Others Are."

In view of this, Ald Arvey conferred yesterday with General Manager Carlson of WHT, who, incidentally, is the same Mr. Carson who originally backed the "silent night" plan in Chicago.

"Mr. Carlson told me that he was just as great an advocate of a silent night as he ever was," Ald. Arvey said after the interview. "He said that WHT was in accord with the rule and would cheerfully obey it if all the other radio stations with broadcasting studios in Chicago also comply, and I think that his stand is a just and equitable one.

"It is generally conceded that the silent night program was instituted for the benefit of the radio fans of Chicago and vicinity at their special instance and request, and with this new powerful station embraced in the fold, I have no hesitancy in saying that all the other stations will follow suit.

"I hope that the newspapers of Chicago who have interested themselves in radio will give proper publicity to this statement to the end that the radio fans of Chicago who insist on silent night for Monday, be impressed with the seriousness of the problem and that they may by their insistence for silent night, prevail upon all nonconforming stations to come into the fold and make the radio broadcasting field of Chicago a great big coöperative family, at least so far as Monday night is concerned."

SIX OUT OF EVERY 10 MUSIC STORES HANDLING RADIO

Wireless Making U. S. More Musical.

That radio has taken its place among the essentials in the field of music is the belief of students of things musical, this belief being supported by a survey just completed in the interest of the music trades. This survey indicates that six out of every ten music stores in the United States now handle radio sets along with the general run of musical instruments. Radio's place in music will have a conspicuous spot on the program of the silver jubilee convention of the music trades, to be held in Chicago June 8 to 11, inclusive.

Seven hundred music stores in all parts of the country sent in questionnaires relative to radio in the music store, and the deductions were based upon these questionnaires. Most of the stores consider radio as "just another musical instrument," and sales of radio sets are "lumped" with the sales of pianos, players, phonographs, and other musical instruments, only a few of the stores conducting separate radio departments. There is a strong feeling among music merchants in general that the radio is doing much to "make America musical"—the slogan of the silver jubilee convention of the music trades—and music merchants are counting on a general increase in the demand for musical instruments as a result of the radio.

The radio exhibit at the convention will be one of the most complete ever assembled, and the subject of radio will be one of the features of the discussion periods.

STEP IS TAKEN BY MAKER FOR STABILIZATION

An important step in the direction of the stabilization of the radio market, too long flooded with frequently changed models and cheaply assembled sets, is seen in the action of an eastern manufacturer who has assured his dealers and agents that no change would be made either in prices or models of his receiving sets.

The mushroom growth of the radio industry made for rapidly changing conditions, which sometimes made a set obsolete almost before models were in dealers' hands. A slash in prices was then the only way to unload, and for a long time dealers never knew what to expect.

While the prediction that the ultimate in radio has been achieved would be obviously untrue, the industry is now on a sounder basis and increased stabilization is on the way.

New Aerial Has 1,600 Feet of Wire in 50 Foot Strip

A new aerial, having 1,600 feet of copper wire in a fifty foot length, has made its appearance in Chicago. The aerial is made out of copper mesh or screen, cut into strips about two inches wide.

CRYSTAL SETS IN SWEDEN.

Crystal sets lead tube sets about 2 to 1 in Sweden.

FACTORY WORKER KEPT HAPPY BY RADIO PROGRAMS

Make Up for Lack of Amusement.

Each day seems to bring some new application of radio, but none is more important than what it is doing for the people employed in plants in small industrial towns and villages away from cities.

Because of lack of amusement and excitement the labor turnover has been high and it has proved almost impossible to get people to stay. All this now seems something of the past, according to the Iron Age of Cleveland, telling of what happened to the workers in a somewhat remote New England factory village.

Whole Town Gets the Fever.

The town got the radio fever, in which it was no different from the rest of America. Those who could afford it, and some who could not, bought sets. The boys, of course, got deep into it. The women and children enjoyed the results. They were in touch with the world, joining in the pleasures of the people of the cities for hundreds of miles about them. There was music for every taste, talks and lectures, time signals, crop and market reports, and all the rest. The argot of radio was the common talk.

Betters Relations.

"If the radio is serving to interfere with gatherings of idle, discontented talkers, it is doing an inestimable good toward bettering the relations between employer and employé," the Iron Age concludes. "And the economic influence thus exerted can hardly be exaggerated."

WJJD TO GIVE NEWS OF EVENTS AT LEGISLATURE

Believing that a broadcasting station is a semi-public institution, the Loyal Order of Moose station, WJJD, at Mooseheart, Ill., has arranged for a weekly report of the events of the legislature at Springfield, Ill., to be broadcast from its Chicago studio in the Palmer house.

Senator Harold C. Kessinger of the Fourteenth senatorial district has consented to speak at 11:15 p. m. every Friday from now until the session closes, which probably will be late in June. He will talk for a few minutes on the bills which are up before the legislature in a fair and unbiased way. In his talks Senator Kessinger will give first hand reports of the arguments advanced by all parties and factions, upstate and downstate, either for or against those particular issues under discussion.

NAVY MEN GIVEN CHANCE IN NEW RADIO GRADING

A competitive examination for the appointment of enlisted men to the new grade of radio electrician in the navy will be held next October.

An advance date has been set so that applicants will have plenty of time to prepare. The preliminary examination will be held by commanding officers so as to permit reports to reach the bureau of navigation about the middle of September. Applications received subsequent to that time will not be considered.

It is emphasized that applications must be made on form N. NAV. 334 and must be accompanied by a transcript of the candidate's current service record. Detailed information as to the examination is contained in the bureau of navigation circular letter No. 15-25, issued by the navy department at Washington.

SPACE NEARLY GONE FOR SECOND N. Y. RADIO SHOW

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—Practically all of the exhibiting space in the second radio world's fair, to be held here in the 258th Field Artillery armory Sept. 14 to 19, is now under reservation, and even at this early date the success of the gigantic enterprise is assured.

Three unique features have been arranged this year. The first will be a "radio factory employés' night," the second a "radio salesmen's night," and the third an "amateur radio club night."

ZITHERS ON THE AIR.

Practically every known musical instrument has been heard by radio. Yet there's the zither, for instance, that is still to make its debut. It is scheduled for appearance at WOC, Davenport, Ia.

HYDE PARK PREACHER TALKS TONIGHT AT SUNDAY EVENING CLUB

CHARLES W. GILKEY.

"America and India" will be the subject of an address by Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, pastor of the Hyde Park Baptist church, before the Sunday Evening club tonight. This and other features of the program will be broadcast by KYW, including the music program of the choir of 100, songs by the Imperial Male quartet at 7 o'clock, and a twenty minute address by Prof. Gerald B. Smith of the University of Chicago. John W. O'Leary, a vice president of the club, will preside.

Dr. Gilkey returned a few weeks ago from a ten months' trip abroad, during which time he visited Great Britain, Egypt, Palestine, and India. He spent four months in the latter country, lecturing in Bombay, Lahore, Calcutta, Lucknow, Rangoon, Madras, and other leading cities in centers where the educated classes and native students congregate in large numbers for the exchange of ideas.

LEAGUE PLANS WORLD'S LARGEST RADIO STATION

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, April 25.—A campaign has been started here urging the league of nations to erect a gigantic superstation for broadcasting from Geneva to the world. English radio experts suggest building a station 10,000 feet above sea level, operating on a wave length of 5,000 meters, with 250 kilowatts power. The effective reception range of such a station would be 14,000 miles. It would be by far the most powerful station in the world.

The station's main purpose would be to nullify propagandist talks by broadcasting the world's news, ostensibly unbiased. The league's committee on communications considered the idea a year ago, but postponed action, fearing the larger nations among the fifty-five who would have to share the expense might attempt to use the station for the expression of their own policies.

U. S. EQUIPMENT MAKES FRENCH RADIO MEN HOWL

Quite a rumpus has been raised by French radio equipment manufacturers and the Paris Chamber of Commerce because of the choosing of American equipment for the main radio sending station of the French Post and Telegraph Service.

The action of the French government service in choosing American equipment for the Paris station is contrasted there with that of a number of foreign governments, which chose French equipment for sending stations and which are now said to be entirely satisfactory.

WHISTLES—WHERE THEY COME FROM WHAT THEY ARE

Three Causes Make Them in Your Set.

When you tune your receiving set to the broadcast station you will often hear whistling sounds in the head phones, according to M. S. Strock, assistant physicist, United States bureau of standards. These whistles in your receiving set may be due to three distinct causes:

[1] The radio frequency currents generated in your receiving set may combine with the radio frequency currents set up in your receiving circuit by the carrier wave from a broadcasting station.

[2] Your receiving set may pick up the whistle from the antenna of some other receiving set.

[3] Your receiving set may have radio-frequency currents set up in it by the carrier waves from two broadcasting stations, and these currents will produce a resultant whistling sound.

"The next time you listen in with your receiving set, try to identify these three different kind of whistles," Mr. Strack said. "Remember that the first kind of whistle, that which is produced by your own receiving set adjusted to a generating condition, is under your control. Since this whistle is radiated from your receiving antenna and picked up by other sets, you should make an effort to reduce it as much as possible. In regard to the whistle which your own receiving set picks up from some other improperly operated set, you may, by taking some sort of action in your community, bring this matter to the attention of the owner of the set with resulting benefit to a great many broadcast listeners.

"There is very little to be done about the third class of whistles which are caused by the carrier waves of broadcasting stations. As previously mentioned, these whistles cannot be tuned out on the receiving set; they can be eliminated only by tuning to some other station."

CHICAGO PUPILS TO TALK FROM STATION WCAP

Chicago high school students who left for Washington yesterday will broadcast tomorrow night at 9:20, eastern standard time, from radio station WCAP. More than 300 students are making the trip.

The program, which has been arranged by Noble Cain, teacher in Senn High school, includes a few words of greeting to Washington, given by Miss Ruth Lueder, daughter of Chicago's postmaster and a member of the touring party. There will be songs and piano solos by members of the party, after which Mrs. Noble Cain, soprano, will sing a group of songs and Secretary of Agriculture Jardine will speak for fifteen minutes. At the conclusion of his speech the singers, who have been selected by Mr. Cain from among the membership of the touring party, will sing a farewell song to Washington. Chicago people who wish to tune in will remember that this program has been specially placed on Monday night through the courtesy of station WCAP.

WILL CIRCUIT GLOBE.

A wireless station that may be heard around the world and communicate with ships everywhere has just been installed on the crest of Mount Saleve, overlooking Geneva, Switzerland.

Including your favorite sport whatever it may be. Yes, and in your enjoyment of one of the most wonderful holidays that can be had on the American continent you may find time to note the rapid stride Oregon is making in industrial and agricultural development.

Why OREGON has hit its stride

The people of Oregon have awakened to the fact that they have a state of enormous natural resources. Equable climate, unsurpassed scenery, and where living conditions are as near perfect as possible.

All classes of citizens have become united to bring more people, more money, and more effort to convert our natural resources into new wealth. Thirty million dollars has been authorized for reclamation work to bring water onto some of the hitherto untilled fertile lands of Oregon. Six million dollars will be spent on a highway program this year; millions of dollars in railroad construction, power development and in new buildings in Portland and other progressive cities. Over one million visitors will spend twenty-five million dollars upon their vacations in Oregon.

Oregon is a land of diversified farms and orchards, situated in the most beautiful country out-of-doors. The people of Oregon in our cities and our country districts know the joy of living, and it is a vacation land, not only to the visitor, but to the people who live here.

The New Morrison, when completed, will be the world's largest and tallest hotel, with 3,400 rooms

THE NEW MORRISON HOTEL

Largest—and Least Expensive—in the World

BY taking a short ride in an elevator—instead of a long trip by taxi—a guest at the New Morrison will have access to atmospheric conditions as desirable as those at a suburban hotel. Of the 850 rooms in the new Clark St. section, 400 will be in the tower, under what is virtually a "sky-lease;" they will be practically free of ground rent, so that the hotel will be able to practice on a far larger scale its policy of renting rooms for $3 to $5 that would cost $5 to $8 in any other leading hostelry. Valuable store subleases make these economies possible.

The Morrison now contains 1,054 outside rooms, each with bath, but ultimately there will be 3,400—the world's largest hotel.

The Morrison is the home of the Terrace Garden, "Chicago's Wonder Restaurant," internationally famous for brilliant entertainments, tastefully served meals and perfect dance music. The artists engaged for the week beginning Monday, April 27, will be:

Leisurely Manner of Gotham's Shops Tries Chicagoite

By Mme. X.

DEAR me! The world is so full of a number of things, and such interesting ones, that this chronicler doesn't know where to begin. The five days in New York fade away in the distance, but a few facts noticed there remain vivid in the memory, points in which the city by the sea is behind its sister by the lake. Its shops, for instance, are archaic in some of their methods in comparison with the customs of our brilliant, up to date, huge departmental establishments.

Even the most enterprising of New York shops have old fashioned elevator service, slow running cars with two sets of doors to open and shut, doors through which one cannot see the several floors as one passes up and down, elevators that stop at every floor with great deliberation whether there is any one to get on or off. To the sprightly Chicagoite who has only a few hours to give to Gotham shops it is the acme of strain to ride in these sturdy, steady, slow going cars.

Old Fashioned System.

Then there are still some otherwise enterprising shops that have the old fashioned counter boy or girl, who comes only at call to take parcel and change to a remote desk and return it at leisure. Also the system of return of goods is cumbersome compared to the alert and efficient service given by our much more swiftly run establishments. There, in one of the biggest shops, the writer wished to return an object purchased to take home as a gift and to buy at the same counter a handsomer, more expensive thing of the same kind. Could she turn in her first purchase as part payment of the second? She could not. It had to be sent up to a remote desk, was kept there a long time, then returned by a boy to the original counter, signed again by the clerk who made the sale—and who, by the way, wasn't there—also by the floor walker, then returned to the exchange desk, kept there another few minutes, then sent back by another boy to the clerk who was making the second sale, and who by that time had disappeared with the article picked out and could be found only after a distinct lapse of time.

She in turn made out another check, called another boy, who took it and the purchase in leisurely fashion up to the distant desk, where in time the parcel was done up and at length found its way into the impatient and despairing hands of a once eager buyer. Over a half hour was thus footlessly spent, and this was one of the greatest, most important, and most famous New York retail emporiums.

Nor are the shop windows, even in 5th avenue, to compare with ours in arrangement and elegance. Altogether, after this, when this p. p. p. goes a-traveling it will stop in State street or any of the adjacent thoroughfares and make all gift purchases on the way home from the station. Shopkeepers, take notice; we sometimes spend as much as $2.49 on a present for the home folks.

Ravinia in 1925.

Even those who don't care passionately for opera can hardly fail to thrill at the amazing achievement of Louis Eckstein, the dauntless and able impresario of Ravinia, our delightful open air summer opera, in gathering together for the thousands who live within reach of Ravinia one of the most remarkable collection of brilliant and delightful stars of the first magnitude that has ever been assembled on this side of the Atlantic. I do not say there have not been greater singers at other times and places, but never a more complete, well balanced troupe of absolutely high class and renowned artists has been offered to a public than this one which will make our summer tuneful and interesting.

The tennis players, golfers, riders, gambling bridge and mah jongg players may protest they do not want extraordinary and beautiful music in the long, lovely summer months. May the Lord help them then! Pearls before swine were an utterly inadequate symbol to express their place in a civilization which thoughtful, cultivated people are trying to plant in this over prosperous, over material country.

Wake up, friends, to the realization that without music, art, literature, if we do not cherish these, if we provide no place for them, we and our gorgeous prosperity will become a stench in the nostrils of history. You do not have to go out and work hard and urge Bori, Schipa, Martinelli, Rosa Raisa, and the rest of that remarkable galaxy to come to Ravinia's lovely groves. It is all done for you. The park is protected from the misguided intentions of possible marauders. The orchestra is secured with all the infinite pains that it takes nowadays to secure such an organization, added to which, it is composed of probably the finest body of players in the country today, being picked members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The opera, chorus and costumes are all of them of the best that can be assembled. This great ensemble is offered to you for the lowest prices that grand opera has ever known, and under circumstances and conditions not to be matched anywhere else in the world today.

Land of Dreams.

So might the ancient Greeks have listened to opera had they had it, under trees in fragrant gardens, with sunset, moonrise, and starry skies as accompaniments. All the paraphernalia which makes indoor, winter grand opera tedious to some unmusical ones, is here lacking. Mr. Man, you may come to Ravinia in your comfortable summer flannels, and you may smoke your cigar or cigaret as peacefully as if you were at home on your own porch. Mrs. Housewife, at Ravinia you will find that sense of rest and refreshment which will make you forget the fractious children, the captious maid, the unsuccessful garden. You can float off into a land of dreams with visions of love and romance and sensuous emotion, all purveyed by the most distinguished artists of today, a band such as you could not find anywhere else on the globe at this season. It fairly takes the breath away to think of the amazing audacity of the mainstay and promoter of Ravinia in preparing such a feast for us who live in, on, or near the north shore.

He pays us the sublime compliment of thinking we really are a cultivated, intelligent, art loving people. Such faith is the best way to produce such qualities. The power of auto-suggestion comes into play here. To fall below what is expected of you is something that goes against the grain of the average mortal. Therefore, it is not too much to hope and plan that the support, moral and financial, of Ravinia shall go beyond anything yet accomplished and that the attendance shall follow suit by exceeding anything ever yet known.

Let us cherish this unique and extraordinary possession; let us make Chicago, still more than it has been, the musical center of the land, so that the rest of the world shall think of us not only as the industrial heart of the globe, but as the focal point for the development of the fine arts among which music is by no means least. Perhaps, who knows? By our music we may even make the world forget we have ever been acclaimed "the crime center of the world." "Music hath charms," you know, "to soothe the savage beast."

The Ravinia company of 1925 will include the following well known and beloved artists: Lucrezia Bori, Helen Freund, Margery Maxwell, Graziella Pareto, Rosa Raisa, Marie Sundelius, Merle Alcock, Ina Bourskaya, Anna Correnti, Philine Falco, Ada Paggi, Mario Chamlee, Giovanni Martinelli, Giordano Paltirniere, Tito Schipa, Armand Tokatyan, Mario Pasiola, Louis D'Angelo, Giuseppe Danise, Desiré DeFrere, Giacomo Rimini, Paolo Ananian, Virgilio Lazzari, Leon Rothier, Vittorio Trevisan, with Louis Hasselmans and Gennaro Papi, conductors, while assistant conductors will be Wilfrid Pelletier and Giacomo Spadoni; concert conductor, Eric DeLamarter; and stage manager, Armando Agnini. The season will open Saturday evening, June 27, with Montemezzi's "Love of the Three Kings." During the ten weeks and three days of its course Ravinia opera will present thirty-seven operas, an ambitious and high souled program. It is up to us all, to you and your neighbors and to me and mine, to make this coming summer opera season a high water mark in the history of Chicago's musical development.

Back to the Stage.

Every one is agog since the announcement that that delightful, popular, and gifted member of Chicago's beau monde, Mrs. Samuel Insull, is to return to the stage, which she left when she married a little over two decades ago the present able, farsighted, and public spirited autocrat of several of the most important of our public utilities, Samuel Insull. At that time she was known all over the land as Gladys Wallis, the most brilliant and popular impersonator of juvenile rôles of her time.

She looks hardly a week older than she did in those days when, with her dark curly hair down her back and clad in what in those simple times were called short skirts (today they would be considered too long even for grandma), she acted the part of a girl of 16. Alas that I have forgotten the name of the play, though the vision remains.

For the sake of one of our oldest and finest philanthropic enterprises, St. Luke's hospital, she is returning to her once cherished career—for she loved it dearly—for a week or two early in June and in one of the greatest, most famous of classic rôles, that of Lady Teazle in Sheridan's play, "The School for Scandal." She has been assembling a professional troupe in New York the last six weeks and is spending most of her time there nowadays training and rehearsing with them to present what will be probably the most brilliant dramatic performance that has been known here for many a long year, for neither Mr. nor Mrs. Insull would be contented to offer any but a gilt edged entertainment to the public that will gather here from all the adjacent territory during the engagement of this enterprising and interesting troupe.

The Woman's auxiliary of St. Luke's, of which Mrs. William L. Baum is chairman, will assist in making the affair an enormous success. The members of this board are meeting Mrs. Insull in her drawing room at 1100 Lake Shore drive tomorrow afternoon to talk over plans for coöperation. Mrs. Insull is returning to New York on Tuesday to go on with her rehearsals.

Mr. Insull will have entire charge of the active management of the entertainment and to it will devote those talents which have made him Chicago's most energetic and conspicuous citizen.

MISS HERTA VAN ELKAN.
[Walinger Photo.]

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Herta Van Elkan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Van Elkan of Evanston, Ill., to Dr. T. T. Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stone of Chicago. The wedding is to take place in late August.

Mestrovic Is Coming.

The most interesting piece of news for the general public is the impending visit of one of the really great geniuses of the day, Ivan Mestrovic, the Serbian sculptor, who arrives here next Friday. He will have as cicerone the Serbian consul in Chicago, Bojidar Pourritch. There will be an exhibit of his work at the Art institute, opening May 1. He will be much entertained during his stay. Mr. Pourritch is giving in his honor a luncheon at the Casino next Friday, and is arranging other affairs for him.

When I call Mestrovic one of the world's great artists I speak from the verdict of eminent authorities.

Rodin said once: "There are only two great sculptors today; myself and Mestrovic." He also called him "a dominating figure in the history of art," which makes him a world figure of all time.

Sir John Lavery wrote of him after seeing his work for the first time: "I felt in the presence of a great spirit . . . Certainly those who have seen these collections can form some idea of the almost godlike grandeur of the work."

James Bone, director of modern art in the British museum, says of him: "It is not given to our generation to have many such experiences as that which the first sight of the art of Mestrovic offers. . . . Mestrovic's statuary will certainly stand as a communication of that spirit of passionate freedom and sacrifice that withstood the great challenge to civilization, towering over the sculpture of its time."

So we Chicagoans are to have the opportunity of seeing one of the great events in the art of the age, if not of the ages.

Mestrovic himself is a simple Dalmatian peasant, timid and retiring, seeking not fame or renown but the expression of the spirit in its most splendid manifestations. It is a notable event, his coming, and it is an immeasurable privilege to see his works.

Among the Travelers.

A glance around the social horizon which incloses Chicago's enterprising and lively gay world presents a rapidly dissolving and reappearing set of scenes. The safe hail to give those you meet after a short lapse of time is "Hullo! Where've you been?" or "How are you and when are you going away?" You have to have a certain instinct to know which of these salutations to use at the moment. If you see a blank look when one is tossed lightly off, hasten to insert the other with a laugh and an "I mean."

Some of our spring and winter wanderers are already returning to this vale of cheerful tears. Mrs. Samuel T. Chase and Miss "Libby" arrived in Chicago last Tuesday and went direct to their Lake Forest abode, where, before unpacking her trunks and valises, Mrs. Chase rushed immediately to her garden and began to plant bulbs and roots and seeds, until the place looks as if a beneficent hurricane or earthquake had visited the place overnight. But in a few weeks the fruits of her labors will be evident in that utterly delightful and gay little estate in Oakwood avenue.

One of the changes that many Chicagoites and Lake Foresters will regret is the seemingly permanent departure of Mrs. Frank C. Letts from this part of the world. After leasing her attractive country house in Green Bay road in Lake Forest for the summer to the James H. Douglases, she lately sold it to them, which means a renouncing of her life in this gay suburb. Mrs. Letts plans to make Washington, D. C., her chief pied-à-terre, leaving herself free to roam at such times of the year as she is not at the national capital. For the next years or so winter will find her at the Wardman Park hotel in Washington, where she and her daughter, the present Mrs. John Borden, spent last season.

Other changes in Lake Forest will be made by the sale lately by Charles Garfield King of his lovely place to the Frank Bartholamays of Highland Park. The latter will move in some time this summer.

The Kings, meanwhile, have taken the Ambrose Cramer house in Lake Forest from June until November. This is a delightful and spacious mansion, built after the manner of the old Virginia home of Ambrose Cramer's ancestors. It stands in a secluded grove on the edge of the bluff overlooking the lake and the Kings' nearest neighbors will be the Albert M. Days, the John V. Farwells, and the Francis C. Farwells.

Something to Remember.

Apropos of the Kings, is one more chapter in the sad tale of their losses in the now historic Breakers hotel fire at Palm Beach in mid-March. It was more of a tragedy to the Kings than they at first realized. For over two years Mrs. King had been at work on a fine and exquisite piece of embroidery. She was making the back and seat for a chair in what is known in handcraft parlance as "petit point," which is finest cross stitch. When she finished the last stitch on March 17 there was great rejoicing on the part of Mrs. King and the family, for the work had been long and somewhat tedious. The result, however, justified the labor. On March 18 the Breakers burnt to the ground, consuming, among other things, all the Kings' belongings, including the petit point chair covers. Furthermore—and I wouldn't tell this story except that it may serve as a warning and guide to others in like case—when the Kings came to realize on their generous insurance they found that for them there was nothing in it. Their policy did not include fire in a hotel. It covered fire at home, in a ship, on a train, but not in a hotel. As they lost practically everything that they had with them, except the clothes on their backs, and as in the loss there were many precious things, such as old family jewels, this final discovery came hard.

Missionaries to China.

Mr. King's sister, Mrs. Arnold Klebs, arrived in this part of the world on Friday, going directly to her daughter in Lake Forest, Mrs. William Burry Jr. The latter has been quite seriously ill and her mother came her especially to be with the now conv lescing invalid. Dr. Klebs and M Nancy Newell, Mrs. Klebs' daugh by a former marriage, accompar Mrs. Klebs to this country, but stayed in the east.

Dr. Klebs' daughter, Miss Sarah Klebs, is to be married the end of this month at the home of her great-aunts, two New England maiden ladies, with whom she has made her home the last few years. She is marrying a clergyman, and the two will go to China to make their home.

I never hear of one of our devoted missionaries going out to carry the word to the "heathen Chinee" without recalling the comment of Wu Ting Fang, a former Chinese minister to the U. S. A., when I asked him whether the Chinese really liked the youngest nation in the world coming to teach them, the oldest in the world, how to live and think. His jolly little slant eyes twinkled.

"Perhaps we smile just a little," he replied, "because you know that our ancestors were a highly civilized people when yours were still hanging by their tails from the trees." However,

Catholic Woman's League Sums Up Year's Activities

By Kate Webber.

A LUNCHEON celebrating thirty-two years of existence will close the activities of the Catholic Woman's league for the season. The gala affair is to be held next Saturday at the Congress hotel. Mrs. Thomas J. Healy is chairman and Mrs. Frank A. Healy is treasurer of the luncheon.

The league members feel that many strides have been made in advancement under the leadership of the retiring president, Mrs. M. Frank Ryan, and her board of directors.

With a membership of 1,100 members, consideration and financial help has been given every civic and philanthropic enterprise of local or national importance.

Two successful social affairs have added a sufficient sum to the treasury to enable the league to establish a scholarship at Quigley Preparatory seminary for the education of young men for the priesthood. The league also maintains a scholarship at Rosary college. Aid has been given De Paul university, the Sisters of Mercy at St. Xavier's academy, and to the Calvert association.

The young woman's auxiliary, composed of unmarried members, has added several to its list this year. Miss Marie Tobin, the president, has been assisted in numerous bits of good work, outstanding among which was the visit last Christmas morning to the county jail, where a religious service was given.

The officers for the last two years have been Mrs. M. Frank Ryan, president; Mrs. C. M. Hanley, Mrs. J. V. Kerr, and Mrs. John R. Geary, vice presidents; Mrs. Genevieve M. Wilken, corresponding secretary; Mrs. David A. Harley, financial secretary; Mrs. Lewis Brannock, recording secretary; Mrs. George W. Hanson, treasurer.

Austin Club Ranks with the Largest

FROM a small group of women meeting in each other's homes, the Austin Woman's club has grown to proportions that entitle it to be considered as one of Chicago's largest women's clubs—with a membership of 850 women, an associate membership of 100 daughters of members, and a large nonresident membership.

Mrs. Vinton E. Sisson of 5456 Ferdinand street is finishing her second year as president. Mrs. Sisson's appreciation of the more important phases of club work, as well as her active interest in civic affairs in general, have made her administration successful and progressive. She was formerly regent of Gen. Henry Dearborn chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and vice regent of Illinois, which latter office she resigned to accept the presidency of the Austin Woman's club. Mrs. Sisson is also a member of the West Parks safety commission.

Associated with her in the Austin Woman's club are Mrs. F. Percy Boynton and Mrs. J. H. Smith, second vice presidents; Mrs. Irwin R. Hazen, recording secretary; Mrs. Thomas McGill, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Jess Ford, treasurer.

The club was founded "for the purpose of intellectual and social culture, general philanthropic work, the establishment of a public library in Austin, and a united effort toward self-improvement and the elevation of humanity."

The five departments into which it is divided are art and literature, home and education, history and travel, civics and sociology, and music.

In addition, the club maintains a generous fund for charity, one-fifth of its income each year being used for philanthropic work. The organizations benefited include the woman's auxiliary of the West Suburban hospital, students' aid fund of Austin High school, Sarah Hackett Stevenson Memorial lodging house, Park Ridge School for Girls, Y. W. C. A., and others. Toward the fund for the erection of the new Y. M. C. A. building in Austin this club contributed more than $2,000.

Meetings are held each Monday from October to April, inclusive. The programs have included some of the foremost speakers, lecturers, and musicians who have been heard in Chicago.

The destinies of the North End club, which enjoyed its first season during 1924-'25 in its new home at 6200 Sheridan road, will be guided by the new president, Mrs. Arthur P. Burland. Mrs. Burland has been chairman of the club's permanent building fund for five years, and during her incumbency the property holdings have increased five times.

Like the other two club presidents' pictures in today's news, Mrs. Vinton E. Sisson heads one of the most interesting groups of women on the west side, the Austin Woman's club. A brief account of the club's origin and growth is to be found in today's club notes.

Mrs. Albion L. Headburg was elected president of the Arché club, one of the most active and important clubs of the city, at its annual meeting recently. Mrs. Headburg has been closely identified with club and civic life in her community and in the city for several years. She is state chairman of the I. F. W. C. for restoration of the Columbian Fine Arts building, also president of the South Side Art association.

CLUB ETHICS

By Maude Swalm Evans.

"WE have a rule in our club whereby the nominating committee must present the names of two candidates for each office to be filled at election time," chatted the league delegate during the conference recess.

"Don't think much of the rule," commented the delegate from the civic association. "It's too apt to work out so that a member is put up just to be bowled down."

"That's what happened in our club," rejoined the league delegate. "The first nominee for president had served only one year, and served it well, and we were all sure that she would be elected again. When the nominating ballot was taken she received all but a few scattering votes—69, I think; the scattering votes were mostly ones; one member received three. The two receiving the highest number of nomination votes are supposed to go on the election ballot, but the committee couldn't persuade the three vote member to run."

"Not many women are good natured enough to run for office unless there's a fair chance for election," put in the delegate from the improvement society.

"The committee kept on asking until a woman who had received one vote consented to run. They couldn't tell her that the first nominee would undoubtedly be elected, and she took the matter seriously—went around stating her qualifications and asking the members to vote for her. When the returns were read she had received two votes!"

"Her own and one other," mused the civic association delegate.

"She's as mad as a wet hen," went on the league delegate, "and I believe the occurrence will probably result in a change that will allow our nominating committee to present just one name when there's such a difference between candidates in the nominating vote."

NEWS OF CHICAGO SOCIETY

as today's missionaries carry the lessons of sanitation and modern scientific handling of disease and pestilence there is more acceptable reason for the millions annually spent by the pious of this country in foreign missions. That is, if it be really a good thing to enable the prolific Chinese to increase without the checks hitherto placed on their multiplication by plague, pestilence, and famines.

However, that is neither here nor there. This is no forum for the discussion of profound problems like the sowing of our occidental civilization on oriental soil. It is merely a p. p. p. on which are posted chronicles concerning the doings and plans of Chicago's more or less élite folk.

On Psychic Phenomena.

Eames MacVeagh is entertaining a party of friends at dinner at the Casino on Wednesday evening, when the pièce de résistance will be a talk from J. Malcolm Bird on "The Present Status of Spiri Phenomena." The subject is one that intrigues every one and is said to be handled by Mr. Bird with rare skill. He spoke on it at one of the University club's Saturday afternoons, when he held spellbound between 300 and 400 members from 3 o'clock until nearly 6. The latter part of the time he was answering all sorts of questions, including many that dealt with celebrated cases to which science had not yet discovered the answer.

Mr. Bird is the editor and investigator of the Scientific American. This periodical offered $2,500 for a single case of unmistakably genuine psychic phenomena, an investigation which brought to light much chicanery and fraud, in this doing great service to the people of the present time. Who was it said that mankind is always longing to be humbugged? It must have been some one who knew his kind extra well.

LITTLE more is needed in assembling a beautiful room than this unique Floor Pattern. Dress patterns stop guesswork and disappointment. You can do the same with your home. The piano is the dominant article in the living room. Other furniture should be placed in relation to it. Learn in advance where to place your piano. But do so without toilsomely pushing it about. Try out arrangements with this Floor Pattern. Place it in different parts of the room. Then group the other furniture to get proper balance.

Scientifically accurate, a Lyon & Healy Pattern shows you how. It gives the actual floor space required by the Lyon & Healy Grand. Even the keys are shown—it is so realistic. In a minute you can get a complete picture in your mind. You will be surprised to see how little space this golden-toned, distinctive instrument requires. Barely more than an upright.

Write for this pattern today. It will suggest new ways of placing your furniture. If you are wondering whether your room is big enough for a grand piano get this pattern and be sure. (Upright Piano Floor Pattern free also.) If you are concerned about your next apartment use a floor pattern before you move. Let it help you. Use the coupon below. Tear it out and mail it today, or call. Absolutely no obligation of any kind.

ART AND ARTISTS

"Evening Work," by Elsa Backlund-Celsing, is from the fifth annual international water color exhibition that will open on Friday in the east wing galleries of the Art institute.

Sculpture Balance for Charm of Brush at Woman's Fair

Sleep comes, a thief at night,
Out of the deep,
And takes her from me. God!
How I fear sleep.

Love in the day is mine,
Warm to caress,
Love in the night flies far—
Will she confess?

Truant at night she plays,
Though I may weep,
Dreams sweep her soul away.
God! I fear sleep. E. J.

SOME time ago an American sculptor, Daniel Chester French, unless my memory much deceives me, found inspiration in the lines "And the Sons of Gods saw the Daughters of Men that they were fair," and from those lines and the inspiration they lent him, he created a marvelous group of sculpture. In the exhibition of paintings and sculpture given by the fine arts department of the Woman's World's Fair during last week, there was a beautiful group modeled by Harriette G. Bingham and its name was "Marriage" and its inspiration came from the words:

> When she sleeps her soul I know
> Goes a wanderer on the air.

There is, if you are given to speculation, much food for thought in the juxtaposition of the title and the verse. The ties that bind are loosed at night, and what our freed selves do with that liberty even we ourselves do not know.

There was a great deal of splendid and beautiful sculpture in the Woman's World's Fair exhibit. In the first place, the galleries that sheltered the exhibit were the most marvelous refuge from the flooding tides of commerce and industry that raged beyond their limits, that one could hope to find. Minus all unpleasantness, it was a perfect haven for tired brains, souls, hearts, and bodies. The sculpture balanced the paintings for charm and beauty, and the various offerings in the applied arts gave just that touch of the exotic that kept the serenity of the exhibit from becoming cloying in its nature.

Nancy Cox McCormack, whose splendid one man show at the Art institute closed last Friday, was represented by a powerful portrait, a bust, of Henry P. Fletcher.

Sylvia Shaw Judson showed a delightful and mischievous composition in "The Naughty Fawn," a fat, smiling, baby Pan, with pointed ears and hoofs like a goat, sucking an orange.

A group of great beauty and fine delicacy was seen in "Consecration" by Evelyn Longman Batchelder. There were other single figures and groups of figures in which delicacy of line and beauty of expression vied for mastery. "The Young Diana" by Janet Scudder was one; another was "The Water Nymph" by Nellie V. Walker; the "Lady with Fan" by Brenda Orloff; "Fountain of Youth" by Daisy A. Taake; the "Nun," by Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney.

Several pieces in which animals were the center of attraction proved themselves worth while. First, perhaps, among these was the portrait of the horse, Epinard, by Katherine Wheeler. Then there was the delicious young goat "Nancy Lee" by Gertrude Lathrop and the amusing "Puppy Book Ends: Speed" by Edith Barretts Parsons. Still others were the "Yawning Tiger" by Anna Vaughn Hyatt, "Shoats" by Grace Mott Johnson, and the "Animal Medals" by Laura Gordin Fraser.

Among the paintings the principal properties were color and youth. Memory does not show me a single depressing or dull canvas. There was the rich, autumnal tinted landscape "Red Oak" by Lucie Hartrath that struck one's eye first upon entering the rooms. The lovely portrait of the former Helen Campbell of Chicago, much courted and sought after, now Mrs. Roland Hazard of Peacedale, painted by Lydia Field Emmet, showed her with two of her beautiful children. They seem to have inherited the sunny charm that their mother has not lost.

Mary Cassatt was represented by a canvas rich in color and strikingly in her vein. She called it "Children Playing with Cat," but truth to tell the cat was a minor personage. Interest centered in the chubby, naked baby perched on his mother's knee and on the red snub nose and vast bright blue hat of the little girl who, one conjectured, was responsible for the introduction of the cat. It was a fascinating group, exceedingly French.

Marie Laurencin, whose exhibits usually excite controversy, though the critics as a whole have been won over to her extremely peculiar, slant eyed, slim, and scantily clad figures, showed the "Three Graces." It has all the charm and oddity that are so inexpressibly hers.

Pauline Palmer was represented by "Rosita," a graceful little figure in the wide spreading skirts that are associated with the image of the Infanta.

Josephine L. Reichman, whose paintings seem to grow in loveliness and sincerity and spirituality with the years, had a beautiful canvas in her "Spirit of the Evening."

The etchings of Barbara Field and Marshall Field IV. by Elizabeth Telling have been shown before, but are always welcomed favorites. Elizabeth Telling succeeds in her child portraits as do few artists. Another splendid portrait by her, which was shown when the Field children's were exhibited at the Art institute, is that of little Lee Sturgis Thomas, the grandson of Lee Sturgis, himself an etcher of note.

Among the other artists whose contributions meant a great deal to the exhibition were Peggy Bacon, Nell Coover, Cecil Clark Davis, Hilda Belcher, Pamela Bianco, Jessie Arms Botke, Mary Foote, Lilian Westcott Hale, Helen West Heller, Bertha E. Jaques, Jean M. McLane (with an adorable portrait sketch in color of a baby), Agnes Squire Potter, Anna Lee Stacey, Agnes B. Street ("The Star Gazers," by this young Chicago artist, who died a sad death some few years ago, was lent by George F. Porter), Florence White Williams, and Martha Walters.

The thirtieth annual exhibition of paintings and sculpture by members of the Palette and Chisel club is now in full force at the club galleries, 1012 North Dearborn street. It is a splendid exhibition. There are more good pieces of painting in it than have been in any previous club effort for some time past.

"The Moonlight Sonata," by Rudolph Ingerle is a marvelous blending of clouds, sky, and earth, a veiled unity under the misted skirts of early twilight. The black of night is still a thing to fear; the purple, moon-shuttered dusk is an absence of light to rejoice in.

A dainty, charming bit of painting is found in "The Tryst" by Otto Hake. Stark Davis has two stunning decorative panels of birds. He excels in this type of painting. The results he gets are pleasurable to the spectators.

"Summer Flowers," by Frank Gavencky is a brilliant, decorative canvas. Glen C. Sheffer shows two nudes which make a strong appeal to one's sense of beauty. "Languor" is particularly lovely, in its nonchalance of pose. Had the model but had slim ankles and pretty feet, she would have been a shy, fair dryad worthy any satyr's pursuit. As it is, her lower limbs detract from her charm and you turn, suggested satyr, almost coldly away. In his other picture, "Vanity," the artist has secured some good color values and a depth to his painting that was missed in his earlier work.

Oscar Erickson shows two interesting landscapes and James Topping gets away from his customary forty mile an hour gale with a beautiful "Winter Landscape." "The Quarry," by Holgar W. Jensen is good and Karl Ouren has a charming landscape, "Towards Spring."

"On the Hudson Bay Trail," by John A. Spellman is a bewitching picture of the lure of the north woods. The unbroken forest reaches behind, to the fore is the river, alive with trout, and two men, masters of all they survey, move to conquer wood and water with the flat paddles of their fleet canoe.

A new painter to exhibit is Charles H. Worcester. He shows two, and both tell his love for the out of doors.

"The Tea Clipper," by Ralph E. Power, is a stunning marine, a boat, sails high and white, flying before the wind, alive, vital, real. It is one of the most picturesque and virile seascapes I have ever seen.

Among the other artists in the exhibit are Oskar Gross, with a lovely canvas in soft, blended colors, "Sunday"; J. Jeffrey Grant (his "Maxwell Street" is great), Joseph Tomanek, E. T. Grigware, Edward C. Klotz, Sam Byer, Anthony Buchto, Earle R. Kirkbride, J. H. Carlsen, Ramon Shiva, Julian Dove, and Fred T. Larsen.

The exhibition will close on Saturday, May 2.

Calvin Coolidge has recently sat for a portrait bust to Bryant Baker, a New York sculptor, which will be placed on exhibition in the Corcoran Art gallery at Washington.

The death of John Singer Sargent spells another great loss to American art. Though Mr. Sargent lived much of his time in England, and died there, he was an American and one of whom America was proudest and will be proudest as long as art and history endure. His art was unlimited. We find portraits, figure pieces, and landscapes from his brush. Though he excelled in portraiture, the personal equation which must naturally be a part of any portrait bored him so that lately he had given up painting portraits and interested himself only in landscape.

The Art institue owns three works by Sargent: "Portrait of Mrs. Charles Gifford Dyer," "The Fountain," and "Portrait of the Hon. Mrs. Swinton."

From THE OUTLINE OF SCIENCE

Edited by Prof. J. Arthur Thomson.

THE NATURE OF LIFE REPRODUCTION

BY JULIAN S. HUXLEY, M. A.

FROM the earliest times human beings have pondered over the nature of life. At the beginning they tended to think of all things in terms of themselves—to read a life into the wind, a spirit into the river, a soul like their own into the birds and beasts, nor did man even hesitate, as Voltaire so succinctly put it, "to construct God in his own image." But this projection of oneself into the objects of the world around, or anthropomorphism, as it is generally called, is, from any scientific or rational point of view, one of the cardinal vices of the mind. To discover the real nature of things we must discard all prejudices, all purely instinctive ways of thinking, and labor along the stony but sure path of reason and verification.

At the outset it seemed self-evident to anthropomorphism that all living things were alive because endued with some vital principle, some spirit of life, which departed from them at death. But all recent work is making it ever more probable than there is no such specific vital force, and that life is but one name for the manifestations of particular types of matter of complicated construction.

But putting a man or an animal into a special chamber, fitted up as a calorimeter, we can measure the amount of energy produced by him in the form of work and of heat; and we find that within the ordinary limits of experiment it is identical with the amount of energy which would have been produced in the form of heat, if the food supplied to him had been burned. The principle of the conservation of energy thus holds good for a dog or a man as well as for a steam engine or a dynamo; no special vital energy is being mysteriously introduced.

It is the same with the chemical composition of living organisms. There are no elements in our bodies which do not exist in lifeless matter; and, indeed, the chemical constituents of living matter are all to be reckoned among the commoner elements. The bulk of living substance is composed of four ubiquitous elements—carbon, hydrogen, nitrogen, and oxygen; besides these, iron, phosphorus, sulphur, sodium, potassium, calcium, chlorine, and probably iodine, seem to be universally present.

The most complicated chemical substances which have been isolated from living matter are the proteins (such as the albumen of egg white), consisting, as they do, of hundreds, often thousands, of atoms; these are combined first of all into comparatively simple compounds, called amino-acids, and the amino-acids in their turn are linked together in definite ways to form the the hundreds and thousands of different proteins that we know.

Emil Fischer has succeeded in artificially linking together a number of amino-acids to form a complicated synthetic compound; and there can be little doubt that it is only a question of time until synthetic proteins can be made out of lifeless material in the laboratory.

There is thus no measurable scientific criterion by which we can distinguish living from lifeless matter. The kinds of matter are the same; the ways they work—their energy transformations—are the same; it is only their arrangement that is different. Living matter is a particular and elaborate arrangement of ordinary matter. If this at first sight seems startling, we may remind ourselves that it is only the arrangement of the same twenty-six letters that distinguishes, say, Hamlet's soliloquy, or Keats' "Ode to a Nightingale," from a page of advertisements or a limerick.

Of the origin of life we have, in the nature of things, as yet no definite knowledge; but everything points towards this conclusion—that during the gradual cooling down of this planet a state of affairs arose which inevitably led to the production, in that cosmic laboratory, of molecules which were alive in that they had the power of reproducing themselves and reacting to stimuli, and gave rise to the living things that we see today; in other words, that there has not only been an evolution of all living things from one common ancestor, but of all life from not life.

Can Mind Arise from Lifeless Matter?

But, it will be immediately objected, what about mind? Man and the higher animals possess mind; can we suppose that that too has arisen from lifeless matter? It may very well be that we can—if we somewhat enlarge our ordinary view of the nature of matter. It is now a commonplace of psychology that self-consciousness is not the only, but simply the highest, development of mind. Below it are various grades of mental being, leading through the types of consciousness that young children seem to possess down to and beyond the subconscious types of mind that hynotism and psycho-analysis reveal. We have only to be completely logical and believe that something of the same general nature as mind exists in all life, to make the further step, and believe that it exists, even in the matter from which life sprang. In that case, as G. H. Parker has well said, we would have to enlarge our definition of matter, for the properties of matter, that is to say, of the world stuff, would include mind.

Theories of the Origin of Life.

There have been other theories of the origin of life on this planet—for instance, that its germs were transported here on meteorites from other stars; but this only removes the problem of life's origin one step back, and does not solve it.

At the present day, when conditions must be very different from those which could have existed when life was first evolved, there does not seem to be any spontaneous transformation of lifeless into living matter. This has only been proved in quite recent years; the doctrine of spontaneous generation has been held by all primitive peoples, and maintained itself even among scientific men, until the middle of last century. The popular belief that a dead carcase would breed bees is found in the Bible and in Virgil. Country folk believe to this day that a horsehair put into a pond will become transformed into an eel; and it was only in the eighteenth century that Redi disproved the popular supposition that maggots were bred from decaying meat, by showing that none appeared when the meat was screened and when the flies could not, therefore, lay their eggs on it.

The discovery of the microscope, however, and its revelation of the teeming, hitherto invisible world of protozoa, unicellular plants, molds, and bacteria altered the position; and it was believed almost universally that these low forms of life were generated spontaneously in the processes of decay. It was Pasteur, the great French scientist, who, together with Tyndall and others finally gave the theory of spontaneous generation its death blow. By a series of ingenious experiments he showed that liquids, which in ordinary circumstances would become a mass of bacteria in a day or so, remained free from all living organisms if thoroughly boiled. This was true even if fresh air was admitted to them, provided that it was filtered through cotton wool, or in some way first made to deposit any solid particles it contained. In fact he showed conclusively that whenever life appeared spontaneously in a culture fluid it had always really been transported there through the air in the form of invisible germs, and thus, without realizing it, he laid the foundations of the whole science and practice of bacteriology. Nowhere is there to be found a better example of vastly important practical results accruing from the simple pursuit of knowledge for knowledge's own sake.

It is safe to say that every organism living today has descended from a preëxisting organism; the chain of life has been unbroken since before the first records of geological history millions and millions of years ago.

50 YEAR COUPLE WANTED

Somewhere in these United States there is a sensible, practical couple, around 50 years, who would be delighted to settle down on our modest little 11-acre country estate in the contentment of an assurance against life's financial uncertainties and the provision for good pay and for every reasonable creature-comfort during the balance of their days. No superintendents, managers or other such "ornaments" wanted; only folks considered who have learned that true happiness can only be found in cheerfully assumed responsibility and service rendered. The duties are everything connected with the reliable upkeep of the place, but not arduous; the hours are easy; and the right folks can name their own pay. Only occasional cooking; family of two who travel considerably and are very busy with other matters when home. Successful applicants must therefore possess uncommon capacity and genuine liking for responsibility, and must be well recommended for honesty, loyalty and stability. No time for correspondence with you; and no time for fancy applicants who feel it necessary to come out and "look us over," so state your case fully in first letter—assured that if you are the right folks you will be instantly "spotted" and highly appreciated. A MESSAGE TO SALESWOMEN.

Every woman wants success. They want to make money and they want the luxuries money will buy. There is no profession that pays better than real estate. Yet hundreds of good saleswomen are afraid to take a chance. We realize their position and are willing to go out of our way to help them. There are saleswomen in Chicago today working hard and earning from $50 to $75 a week, who have the ability to earn $10,000 a year. THE LOCATION of your home is most important. 3530 Sheridan-rd., right at the Yacht Harbor, is the key location of the near North Side and assures you permanent light and view.

A Beautiful Lake View

unbroken for miles and miles enhances the value of a home many per cent.

3530 Sheridan-rd.

co-operatively owned, is without a doubt an ideal spot for a smart apartment home. Every co-operative apartment here has a view of the lake, and the arrangement of rooms is truly like a residence rather than an apartment.

Co-operative Owners are being very carefully selected and must have the best of references in order to receive consideration. Reservations are now being made by those who desire to have their apartments finished to their own individual taste.

THE ALDINE APT. HOMES

have the same plan. The units here are smaller (4, 5, and 6 rooms), the equities are very much less, and the maintenance is considerably lower. Investigate our proposition.

These apts. are ideally arranged for those who desire homes of the highest grade, eliminating the necessity of a retinue of servants. This bldg. will afford you a real home without the undesirable apt. hotel atmosphere. Located ½ block from lake and Lincoln Park extension; convenient to Clarendon-av. bus, but not on a noisy thoroughfare. Rentals most reasonable for apts. of this unusual type.

Big Sale of RENEWED Franklin Cars

Our New Series 10-C and New Series 11 Franklins are bringing us the choicest stock of used cars we have ever had. We need the room—they must go—you profit.

American Roads Are Not Race Tracks

Imagine a car which does not ask you to slow up for rough roads. A car which does not rattle and bump around when it strikes a rut. A car which will travel roads at 40 miles per hour where other cars beg you to slow down to 20.

Imagine such a car and you have a picture of the way the Franklin will behave for you on any road anywhere. We do not need to tell you that such a car will give you the most comfortable tour—that it will not wear you out, whether driver or passenger.

American roads are not race tracks for smoothness and easy corners. They never will be. So the speed of a car on the track or in a smooth road race is no gauge of its touring ability. The Franklin's traveling ability, in miles per day, is the equal of any road car built—even those which will do better than 75 miles per hour.

Renewed Franklins Insure Satisfaction

A Renewed and Guaranteed Franklin will come up to your requirements. Franklin is the most comfortable car built, regardless of price; is economical to operate, easy to operate [consequently SAFE to handle], and has a longer life on the average than any other car selling within $1,000 of its price. Try to match its value.

The Franklin offers you genuine motoring satisfaction in warm months as well as winter months. Consider the distinct advantages of the Franklin. It has no water to boil, leak or freeze. It cannot run dry and stall the motor. Franklin comfort, economy, safety and durability are famous throughout the automotive world and every year a greater number of water-cooled car owners become Franklin owners and enthusiasts.

The fact that Franklin owners are the most loyal group of motor car owners any manufacturer can boast of means a great deal to the prospective purchaser who checks up on owner satisfaction before he purchases. And, for this reason, Renewed Franklins, rebuilt and guaranteed by us, insure you motoring satisfaction even as they did the former owner who, perhaps, traded in his touring car on a sedan, or his 9-B model on a late model 10-C or 11.

Priced Less Than You Expect

Come in and see these cars. The prices are less than you would expect. Renewed and Guaranteed Franklins never lose the efficiency of new Franklins. The assortment is wide enough to insure the selection of the model and type you prefer. Nearly all are completely refinished. All are guaranteed. Investigate. A demonstration serves merely to call your attention to distinct Franklin advantages—not to prove them. Daily performance in the hands of owners is doing that.

RIP VAN WINKLE ACT SCHEDULED FOR MT. PROSPECT

600 Acre "Sub" to Wake Up Sleepy Village.

Mount Prospect, sleepy, attractive little suburb out to the northwest of Chicago, between Des Plaines and Arlington Heights, is due for the inevitable subdivision wakeup every Chicago suburban community undergoes eventually. And the Lonnquist company, subdividers at Edgebrook, Niles Center, Ford City, an dother points in metropolitan Chicago, is going to assist Mount Prospect in its Rip Van Winkle act.

"Yesterday Axel Lonnquist announced that his firm had bought more than 600 acres in the south and southwest parts of the village, both inside and outside the corporate limits, and was having the property laid out as an ideal modern suburb."

Will Have Winding Roads.

The most important feature of "Prospect Park" will be the elimination of the old fashioned gridiron street layout, so much beloved by most subdividers and so unattractive and inconvenient for a growing community. Instead Mr. Lonnquist will have curving roads throughout his 600 acres, laid out in such a manner that the resident at the corner farthest from the Chicago and Northwestern railroad station won't have to make a long right angle to get to his train but can cut diagonally across town and thus save time, temper, and shoe leather.

Parks and playgrounds are announced and a community clubhouse is to be erected, according to Mr. Lonnquist. A concrete parkway is to be built along one of the winding banks of the brook which rambles across the subdivision; on the other bank will be a bridle path.

Concrete pavements, walks, gas, water, sewer, trees, and shrubs are to be put in by the Lonnquist company. Work will begin at once on several attractive brick houses by the subdivision firm.

Old Fashioned Alley Taboo.

Mount Prospect already has banned the alley in its village plan, so there'll be no alleys in the new Lonnquist subdivision.

The lands acquired embrace the major part of the Busse family holdings and comprise seven farms.

Safety of Principal More Important Than High Rate of Interest.

It is much better to have a 5 per cent investment with safety than 7 or 8 per cent without.

A very large number of people got their first experience in bond investment at the time of the Liberty Loan drives during the war. When the war was over they found that they could get bonds bearing much higher interest rates and a great many disposed of their Liberties in order to purchase these others.

During the period of inflation in the years immediately following the war a great deal of financing was done and interest rates of 7½ and 8 per cent were quite common, even on sound bonds.

Those who had had no previous experience with bonds came to look upon these high rates of interest as the normal rates for bonds, and it seems very hard still for many to realize that they are not.

Those high rates were abnormal and temporary, just as the postwar period of inflation and subsequent readjustment were abnormal.

Oldtimers in the game remember when 3½ and 4 per cent were the normal rate on high grade bonds. And such rates may conceivably come again.

Those who are still expecting to average 7 to 8 per cent on their investments with safety should realize that interest rates change with the times and conditions, and that such high rates—with safety—are practically unattainable at present.

Safety of principal is and should always be the chief aim of the wise investor. It is a very foolish thing to jeopardize the safety of 100 per cent of principal for the sake of 2 or 3 per cent additional interest a year. You cannot have both safety and high interest rate—or rarely.

Better 5 per cent with your principal safe than 8 per cent with it in danger.

CHICAGO CURB MARKET

Trading in the local unlisted securities market last week was at higher prices in the majority of instances, with a firm undertone prevailing. Elgin National Watch continued in good demand, advancing another point to sales at 67, and closing with stock offered for sale at this price and buyers at 66½. Godchaux Sugar preferred added another 6 points to its previous advance in changing hands at 48; stock was offered at this price at the close with bids of 45. American Seating was erratic with high sales around 143, although it later relinquished a portion of this gain, closing at 139 bid, 142 asked. An easier tendency was noted in By-Products Coke, stock being offered at 64 with buyers at 62, a decline of 2 points. Beatrice Creamery shaded a point to 61 bid, offered at 62. The preferred was steady at 104 bid, 106 asked.

Both the full voting and non-voting shares of the Creamery Package company were in better demand, the former moving up fractionally to 29¾ bid; while the latter was wanted at 29½. Sullivan Machinery reversed its trend, stock being wanted at 49 with small offerings around 52. Kellogg Company firmed up to sales at 62, and was later wanted at this figure with offerings at 65. McCord Manufacturing common reached a new high for the current movement, selling up over 2 points to 7¾. The preferred closed at 48 to 50, up 4 points. Albert Pick preferred was fractionally better, being quoted 95½ to 96½. 93½ was again bid for Interstate Iron and Steel without attracting sellers below 94½. Kraft Cheese was quiet at 102½ to 104; while Wahl preferred was somewhat easier at 70½ to 72½. Strength was noted in Chicago Railway Equipment preferred, which moved up from 25¼ to 26½, an improvement of a full point.

American Light and Traction common was the feature of the public utility group, advancing over 20 points in the late trading to high sales above 159, and although it reacted somewhat from this level, it closed strong at 153 bid, 154 asked. Adirondack Power and Light gained another 3 points to sales at 59, closing with a net advance of 2¼ points at 58¼. Although sales in American Gas and Electric ranged between 72 and 75, it showed little change at 74¾. An easier tendency was noted in American Super Power "B," which sold down 2 points to 27¾, later recovering for a net loss of 1 point at 28¾. Few transactions took place in Appalachian Power between 77¾ and 78. Arizona Power and Light moved up to high and last sales at 21½. Commonwealth Power became active and strong, rising about 3 points to high and last sales around 118. The warrants were traded in between 33 and 37½. Interest was renewed in Continental Gas and Electric, stock being wanted at 83, an improvement of over 1 point.

Electric Bond and Share sold up to 60¾, but later developed a reactionary tendency, losing over 2 points, in closing at 56 to 57. Lehigh Power securities continued erratic, rising about 8 points to 109, and closing at 103 to 104—up 2. Transactions in National Power and Light ranged between 240 and 252, last sales reflecting little change at 245. Northern States Power was traded throughout between 109 and 110. The preferred moved up a full point to 97; while the warrants were fractionally lower at 9¾ to 10. Tennessee Electric Power and Light was steady at 58 to 60. The second preferred continued at 75 bid, 75½ asked. Western Power held its previous advance in selling between 34 and 34¾. The preferred moved up another ½ point to closing sales at 90½.

PLAN TEN STORY OFFICE BUILDING FOR SHERIDAN RD.

To Be Opposite Pantheon Theater.

BY AL CHASE.

Sheridan road, in the Wilson avenue district, is to have its second skyscraper. Four hundred feet north of the Sheridan-Plaza hotel, which was the first tall building in that neighborhood, on the east side of Sheridan road, at No. 4649, a ten story steel frame shop and office building is to be erected from plans by Architect Ralph C. Harris.

Also, this project is expected to give the Wilson avenue district, at present far outdistanced by the Cottage Grove-63d rialto in the matter of gastronomical and terpsichorean facilities, one of the Manhattan type of night clubs where food and fox trotting may be indulged in till sunup. The proposed supper club-restaurant will occupy the entire tenth floor.

Not a "Shirt-Front Building."

The new structure is to be known as the Central Uptown building and will be owned by the Central Uptown Building company, of which Benjamin Neiger is president. Mr. Neiger operates the North Shore Fashion shop across the street. The Pantheon theater is also almost directly opposite the new building.

The building will have only 30 feet frontage on Sheridan road, but will be 133 feet deep. It will front south on the first alley north of the Sher-Lac hotel.

Architect Harris promises that the new uptown skyscraper will not be a "shirt-front" building. He says it'll be of rough gray terra cotta on all four sides.

May Use Colored Flood Lights.

Tentative plans call for an elaborate lighting system. Probably colored flood lights, as well as stud lights, will be used.

The first floor will have one store. On the second, third, fourth, and fifth floors will be shops, beauty parlors, etc.

The sixth, seventh, eighth, and ninth stories will be given over to small offices. The building lobby will be of marble and there'll be two high speed elevators.

Work will start as soon as leases expire on June 1. The first floor store will be ready for a tenant Nov. 1 and the balance of the building completed by Jan. 1. There's an old three story house on the property now.

WILL TELL 'Y' CLASS ABOUT WORKINGS OF BROKERS' LICENSE LAW

Joseph K. Brittain, secretary of State Real Estate Brokers' License commission, and Chicago realtor, will address the class in real estate practice of the Chicago Real Estate board's realty course conducted by the Y. M. C. A. school of commerce, on Tuesday evening, at Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street. Mr. Brittain will discuss "Ethics of the Real Estate Business and the Operation of the Real Estate Brokers' License Law in Illinois."

News of the Architects

Arthur Foster has moved from 64 East Van Buren to suite 407 in the Massasoit building, 235 North Michigan avenue.

New Skyscraper for Uptown

This is the Central Uptown building, to be erected at 4649 Sheridan road, across from the Pantheon, from plans by Architect Ralph C. Harris. According to Mr. Harris, the total investment in land and building will be approximately $550,000. More is told in a nearby column.

3,000 Seat Cinema for Waukegan

Waukegan is to have a new cinema. Edward P. Steinberg designed the above $1,250,000 structure for W. C. Burnett, president of the Waukegan National bank; David T. Webb, and A. L. Brumund, and Lee McDonough, to be erected at the northeast corner of Genesee and Clayton. Louis L. and Meyer S. Marks, composing the Chicago theater firm of Marks Brothers, have leased "The Waukegan" for fifteen years. It will have 3,000 seats, it is claimed. The commercial part of the building will have stores and fourteen kitchenette apartments. James J. Redding & Co. will supervise the construction of the project.

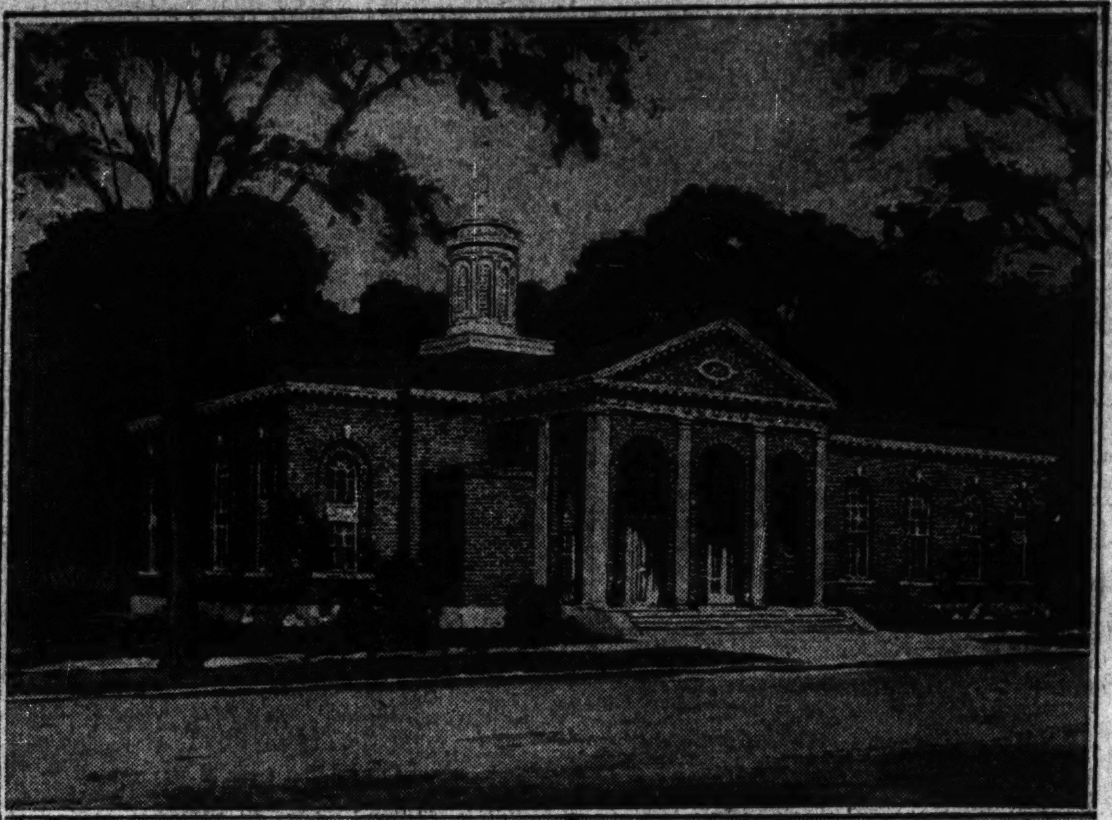
Plans Sixty-one Flats at Leland and Central Park

Architect B. Albert Comm has drawn plans for a sixty-one apartment building to be erected by M. Bakoff at the southeast corner of Leland and Central Park avenues, 125x180. It'll have two, three, and four room flats and will be completed Oct. 1.

There'll be a 45x65 lobby into which all stairways will open. Plans call for rest, smoking and recreation rooms.

The total cost of land and building is placed at $350,000. It will be of brick with terra cotta trim, designed in English Tudor style.

World Famous Design for Glencoe Scientist Church



The beauties of New England ecclesiastical architecture are gradually being transferred to the middle west by a few architects who realize how appropriate it is for suburban church edifices. Architect Leon E. Stanhope has designed the above building for First Church of Christ, Scientist, Glencoe, and it is interesting to know that the motif was the First Universalist church of Lancaster, Mass., which was one of the few religious edifices designed by the world famous English architect, Bullfinch, when he was in America.

The above church building will be at the southwest corner of Greenleaf avenue and Beach road, Glencoe, and will have an auditorium seating 400. At the other end of the building will be a Sunday school room with 250 seats. For lectures Mr. Stanhope figures a total seating capacity of 700 can be arranged. The building will cost $125,00. Plans have been accepted by the church and work will start in the near future. It will be of red brick with Indiana limestone trim.

PA DEARBORN'S SWEET TOOTH LURES BUCKEYE CANDY SHOP TO LOOP

Old Dad Dearborn's sweet tooth and the liberal way he buys candy to satisfy it is attracting confectionery dispensers of other towns. The fame of Mrs. Snyder's saccharine success is international; the rapid development of Martha Washington, Fannie May, De Met's and others also has attracted attention in other cities.

So it isn't surprising to learn that Crane's, a Cleveland candy concern, with several stores throughout the country, has decided to start an invasion of Chicago with a loop shop. They have leased the store at 106 North State, formerly occupied by Spoehr's, in the Stewart building, and when remodeling is completed will open an elaborate confectionery establishment and tea room.

Crane's have a factory in Kansas City and another in Cleveland. They have four stores in the Ohio metropolis and one each in New York, Detroit, Kansas City, Youngstown, O.; Akron, O., and Canton, O. They will pay $20,250 rent annually for their initial Chicago store and have leased it through Hall & Ellis for six years.

They hope to open ten Chicago candy shops within the next two years, according to Manager Hanson.

Anyone who has ever gone shopping for fuller balls to put the quietus on a leaking faucet will give three rousing cheers for a faucet that hasn't any.
Chicago Faucets have no fuller balls. They are too perishable, too troublesome for poor weak mortals to struggle with.
Chicago Faucets have a standardized, renewable unit that can be taken out as easily as an electric bulb. A renewable "seat" of phosphor bronze and a vulcanized washer stand all the wear. Either can be replaced in a few minutes for a few cents. Only one size for all faucets. No guesswork.
Chicago Faucets are made to fit every kind of fixture of any make, old or new. When you replace with Chicago Faucets, you replace for the last time. Buy from your plumber, or ask us for complete information.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

April 26, 1925

WHERE CHRISTIANS WERE FED TO LIONS in the crumbling Colosseum at Rome, the famous holy procession of the Via Crucis was witnessed by the greatest crowd of modern times. Participants in the annual ceremony, which dates from early years of the church, follow the cross to scenes where Christians suffered persecution in the days of the emperors. (Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic.)

AMBUSHED BY COMMUNISTS, King Boris of Bulgaria escaped injury in a hail of bullets, though part of his mustache was clipped off by a missile, two companions in the royal automobile were killed, and the chauffeur was wounded. The ambuscade was followed by the explosion of an infernal machine in the Sofiia cathedral which killed scores, injured hundreds and wrecked the edifice. Boris then put the country under martial law, and it is reported that 400 alleged communists were executed for the cathedral outrage. (Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic.)

EXPECTS RESTORATION OF $350,000,000 ESTATE—Prince Felix Youssoupoff (shown here with his wife), slayer of the monk Rasputin, has announced that he hopes to get back the vast family estate confiscated by the bolsheviki. The admission came in court at New York during the suit of the prince to recover two Rembrandts from Joseph E. Widener of Philadelphia, who contends that the deal in which he gave the Russian $500,000 was an outright purchase of the masterpieces.

MOVING A RIVER—Workmen at Pueblo, Colo., paving the new channel of the Arkansas, which is being diverted to prevent another such flood as cost 100 lives and $20,000,000 property damage in 1921. The embankment, paved for more than two miles through the city, averages more than thirty feet in height.

MOTOR LIFEBOATS EQUIPPED WITH WIRELESS are required for liners under a new order by the British Board of Trade, which stipulates that one craft must be provided for each ten emergency boats carried by vessels in the passenger trade. Here is one of the boats, photographed aboard the Orbita at New York, that meets the new requirement. (Photograph from Wide World.)

THE NEW CHICAGO—The flowering of the near north side, dominated by The Tribune Tower as it approaches completion, is strikingly called to attention by this April airplane view. The Municipal pier may be noted, thrust into the expanse of the lake; and, from the south across the river, the Bell building, the London Guarantee and Accident, the Wrigley twins, The Tribune Tower and —to the north on the shore—the Furniture Mart.

HE'LL RULE OVER INDIA—Lord Lytton, governor of Bengal, who is to assume the post of viceroy while Lord Reading goes home to England on leave. Rumor, though unsubstantiated, is that the latter will not return to the position.

AMERICAN PRINCESS TO WED—Princess Bertha Cantacuzene and Bruce Smith of Louisville, Ky., whose betrothal is announced. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Prince and Princess Cantacuzene of Washington; and her mother, the former Julia Dent Grant, is a granddaughter of President Grant.

SWEEPING AMERICAN WATERS clean of rival crews is the easiest thing these stalwarts of the University of Washington do. Intercollegiate champions for two years, they will defend their title against the east in Poughkeepsie. From left to right, they are: Walling, Sanford, Mathews, Condon, Kearns, Hart, Luft and Malone, with Coxwain Morcom in front. (Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic)

INDIA'S STORMY PETREL and public idol, Gandhi, does not hold with pomp and display in religion or politics. Apparently the niceties of dress do not bother him either, as indicated in this exceptionally good picture, snapped after his release from imprisonment. He is shown operating a "charka" or old-fashioned spinning wheel while his disciples carry on a public meeting. (Photograph from Underwood & Underwood)

If you want Sound Teeth

Kill the Germs that cause decay

The Mouth That Harbors Germs is a Danger to Every Tooth

By Ira Davis Joel, B. S., M. S., Department of Bacteriology

In a paper read before the Stuyvesant Medical Society, a famous dental surgeon gave this advice to those who would avoid abscesses in their teeth:

Protect the enamel and you protect the life of the nerve; a tooth with a live nerve is a healthy tooth.

You brush your teeth faithfully. You brush them carefully. Yet when you visit your dentist you are often surprised at the number of cavities his instruments reveal.

You feel baffled. Others seemingly no more careful than yourself enjoy the blessing of sound teeth. What is the trouble?

The trouble is that your teeth require a certain kind of protection which your are failing to give them—the protection they need is adequate dental care and the daily use of a germ-killing dentifrice.

THE protection they need is the germicidal protection of Kolynos Dental Cream. Kolynos not only keeps your teeth white and glistening, but its main properties are highly antiseptic—extremely important properties if you are to have sound teeth, teeth free from dangerous, offensive, and painful cavities.

Kills germs—washes them away

Did you ever watch snowflakes collect upon a window-pane? That is the way germs collect upon your teeth. The first few find it hard to cling, but soon they build up rapidly.

Section of a Molar

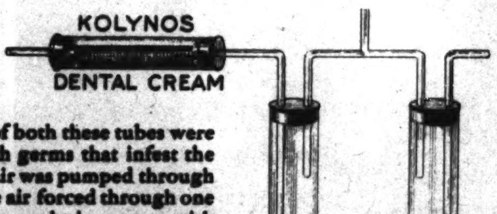
A—The sticky, web-like film of germs, mucin and food particles begin to form. B—Acid then begins to eat into the enamel rods and separate them, before it finally destroys the rods themselves. C—Germs swarm in through the break in the enamel and attack the dentine under it. D—When the decay reaches the pulp which surrounds the nerve, toothache follows.

First, Bacilli Acidophili lodge on the enamel. They are tiny, short threads of germs. In your saliva is a sticky substance called mucin. Little flakes of this adhere to the teeth. Thus a, close, sticky, web-like film spreads across the enamel, a film of malignant germs that cause decay.

These germs multiply with amazing rapidity. Each produces tiny quantities of harmful acid. The film holds this acid against the teeth while it gradually eats into the enamel.

Kolynos checks this. To begin with, it kills the germs. It breaks up the film. It washes away the film, with its multitude of germs. It leaves comparatively few germs in your mouth; hours pass before there are again enough to be dangerous to your teeth. And even then, so thoroughly polished are your teeth that it is very much harder for the germs and the mucin to cling to the glossy enamel surface.



The contents of both these tubes were inoculated with germs that infest the mouth. Then air was pumped through the tubes. The air forced through one tube was first brought in contact with Kolynos. The air forced through the other was not. At the end of the experiment, for every 200 germs in this tube, there was only one in the Kolynos tube. Kolynos kills germs.

Less danger from tartar

The accumulation of tartar on the teeth is greatly retarded by the use of Kolynos. How important this is! Consider the ugly aspect that tartar gives your teeth and the pyorrhea which it so often causes. Your teeth stay beautiful. They glisten. Their full natural lustre shows in your smile. Then, too, Kolynos is delicious in taste. It leaves your mouth with a clean, fresh, wholesome feeling. It counteracts the acidity in your mouth caused by the fermentation of food particles and the excretions of germs.

KOLYNOS
DENTAL CREAM

You can understand better how valuable all these qualities of Kolynos really are when we tell you that 51,000 dentists and 89,000 physicians, after trying this dental cream, asked us for samples of it to distribute to their patients. You can appreciate why the use of Kolynos has spread to the people of seventy-seven nations in all parts of the world.

FREE—Enough Kolynos to brush your teeth 22 times—½ inch to the brushing.

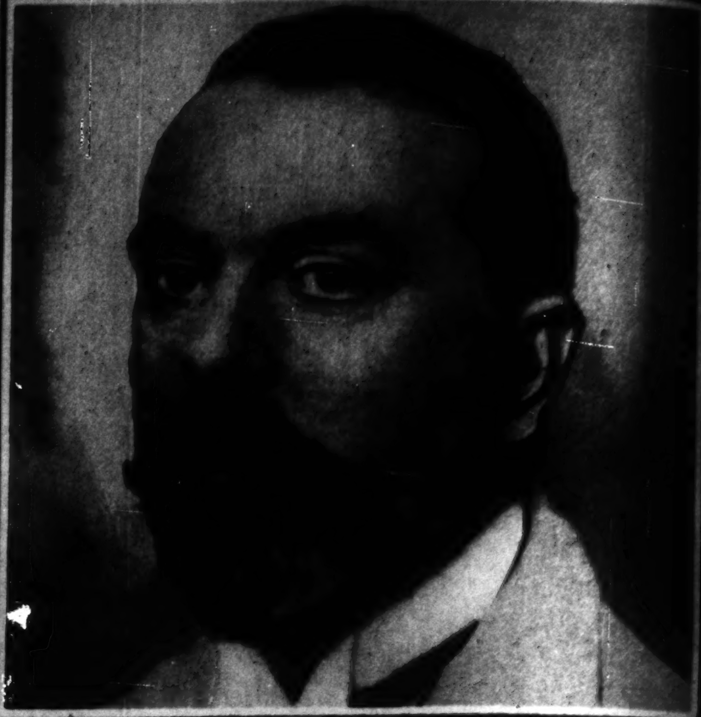
PURELY UNOFFICIAL—Gen. Pershing, ending a dignified day in Chicago as guest of officers of the Eighty-sixth division, organized reserve, topped it off with a revel at the circus in company with Vice President Dawes, his army associate and friend. Small boys are supposed to enjoy circuses; hitherto it hasn't been so certain about generals. You may want to revise your opinion after one peep at the eminent visitors. The Dawes children, Virginia and Dana, are at the left. (Tribune Photograph.)



HIS BRUSH STAYED BY DEATH—John Singer Sargent, American member of the British royal academy and one of the greatest portrait painters of the age, was found dead of stroke April 15, 1925. He was born in Florence, Italy, in 1856; his father was Dr. Fitzwilliam Sargent, Boston physician and author. No portrait painter since the days of Reynolds has attained such success in England, as is attested by likenesses of eminent men and women that survive the master. They number hundreds—and possibly thousands.

600,000 Women Have Stopped Falling Hair This New Way!

800,000 men and 600,000 women have tried Van Ess Scalp Massage. These users say: YES!

Here's what one enthusiast writes:

Baltimore, Md., December 2, 1924

After using three bottles of Van Ess Scalp treatment, I have found its results marvelous. I am 75 years old and after forty years, my head is free of dandruff. My hair has ceased to fall out and is soft, glossy and full of life and bald spots of many years are covered with a growth of fine, new hair.

I consider Van Ess Scalp treatment just as essential in keeping the hair clean and healthy as a tooth brush is essential in keeping the teeth clean and healthy, therefore, it should accompany regularly the tooth-brush in its daily use.

Yours truly,

Afraid to smile—Pyorrhea's price
Tooth neglect demands it toll
A needless victim of Pyorrhea

4 out of 5

Dental statistics show that four out of every five over 40—and thousands younger, too—are victims of dreaded Pyorrhea. Will you escape?

Pyorrhea is a disease of the gums—not the teeth

That's one outstanding fact everybody should know. And if everybody did know it, the number of Pyorrhea's victims would soon be greatly reduced.

You may take splendid care of your teeth—brush them several times a day—and still get Pyorrhea. Once Pyorrhea secures a firm hold, pus pockets form, gums become weak and flabby, the teeth loosen and fall out no matter how white and sound they may be.

Forhan's means healthy gums

It contains the right proportion of Forhan's Astringent, as used by the dental profession in the treatment of Pyorrhea. Forhan's protects and preserves the gums, keeping them in a firm, pink, healthy condition; cleans and whitens the teeth, and keeps the mouth sweet, fresh and wholesome. If you don't care to discontinue the tooth paste you are now using, at least brush your teeth and gums once a day with Forhan's.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for Forhan's For the Gums. All druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

FOR THE GUMS

More than a tooth paste—
it checks Pyorrhea

She alone knows the penalty

Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the water-line, so do your teeth under the gum-line . . .
FOR GUMS
"BRUSH YOUR TEETH WITH IT"
THE MOUTH

Does your figure belie your face?

Women who concentrate their energies on preserving the youthful beauty of their faces must remember that the face is no younger than the figure. In fact, the figure is the one thing which most nearly dominates the ensemble of a woman's attractiveness. This emphasizes the importance of a correctly designed figure-moulding garment—one which combines smart, straight lines with proper organic support and perfect freedom.

The H & W Bandeau illustrated, average and full figure type G-3157, is skillfully designed to give flattening effect over diaphragm. It is a long-line model which comes down well over the girdle top. Made in a variety of materials retailing from $2 to $10. Other Bandeaux and Bandettes $1 up. Corsettes and girdles $1.50 up. In all leading stores.

Served piping hot in PYREX!

AND how good it is not to have to worry about keeping foods hot—before and during the meal. That's because you bake and serve in the same PYREX Dish. No platters to heat; no foods to transfer from pan to platter!

Yet keeping foods hot is only one of the many advantages of PYREX Cookery. There's the baking, for instance! PYREX distributes the heat so perfectly that foods are thoroughly cooked; pie crusts—even bottom ones—are beautifully crisp and flaky; and all foods are improved and made most savory.

Then, the serving! Foods are decidedly more tempting when brought to the table in these gleaming transparent dishes.

And, after the meal! No pots and pans to scour—only beautiful, easily washed PYREX—that you can put right into your dish pan with the pretty china!

SPRING, GENTLE SPRING

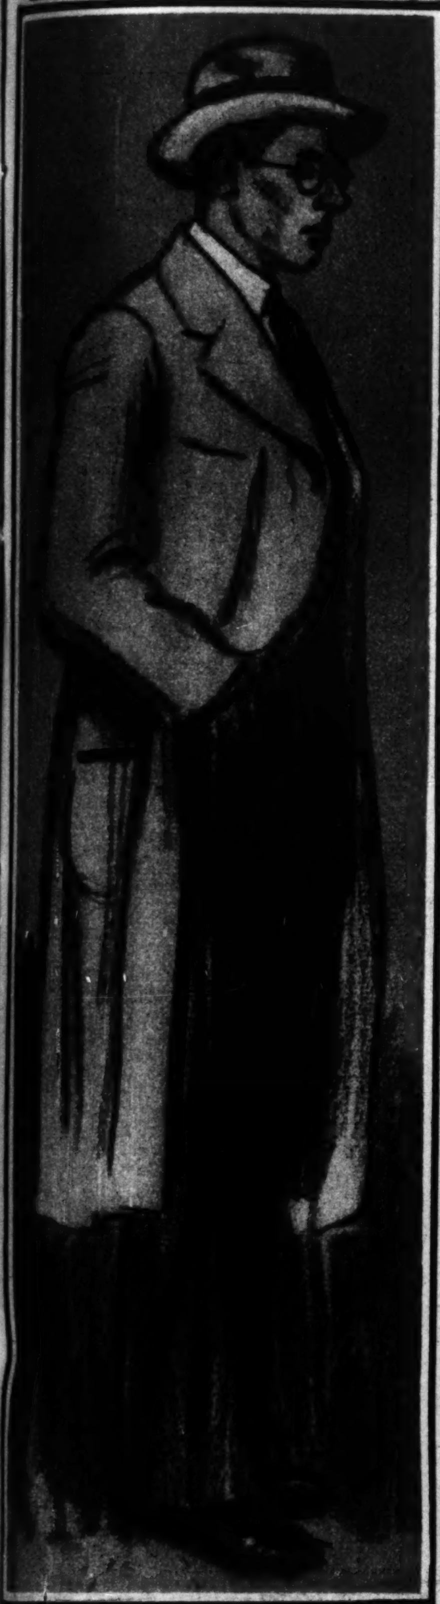
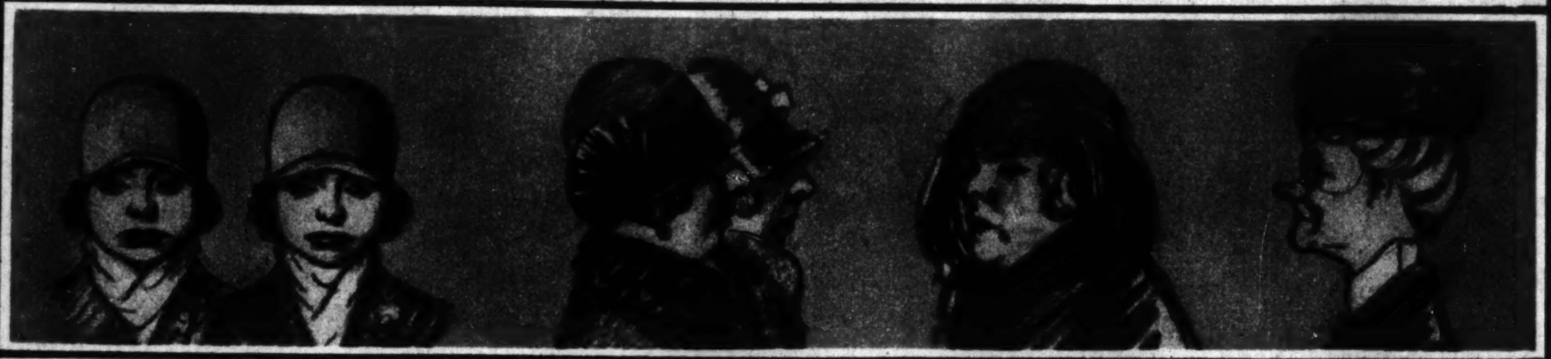
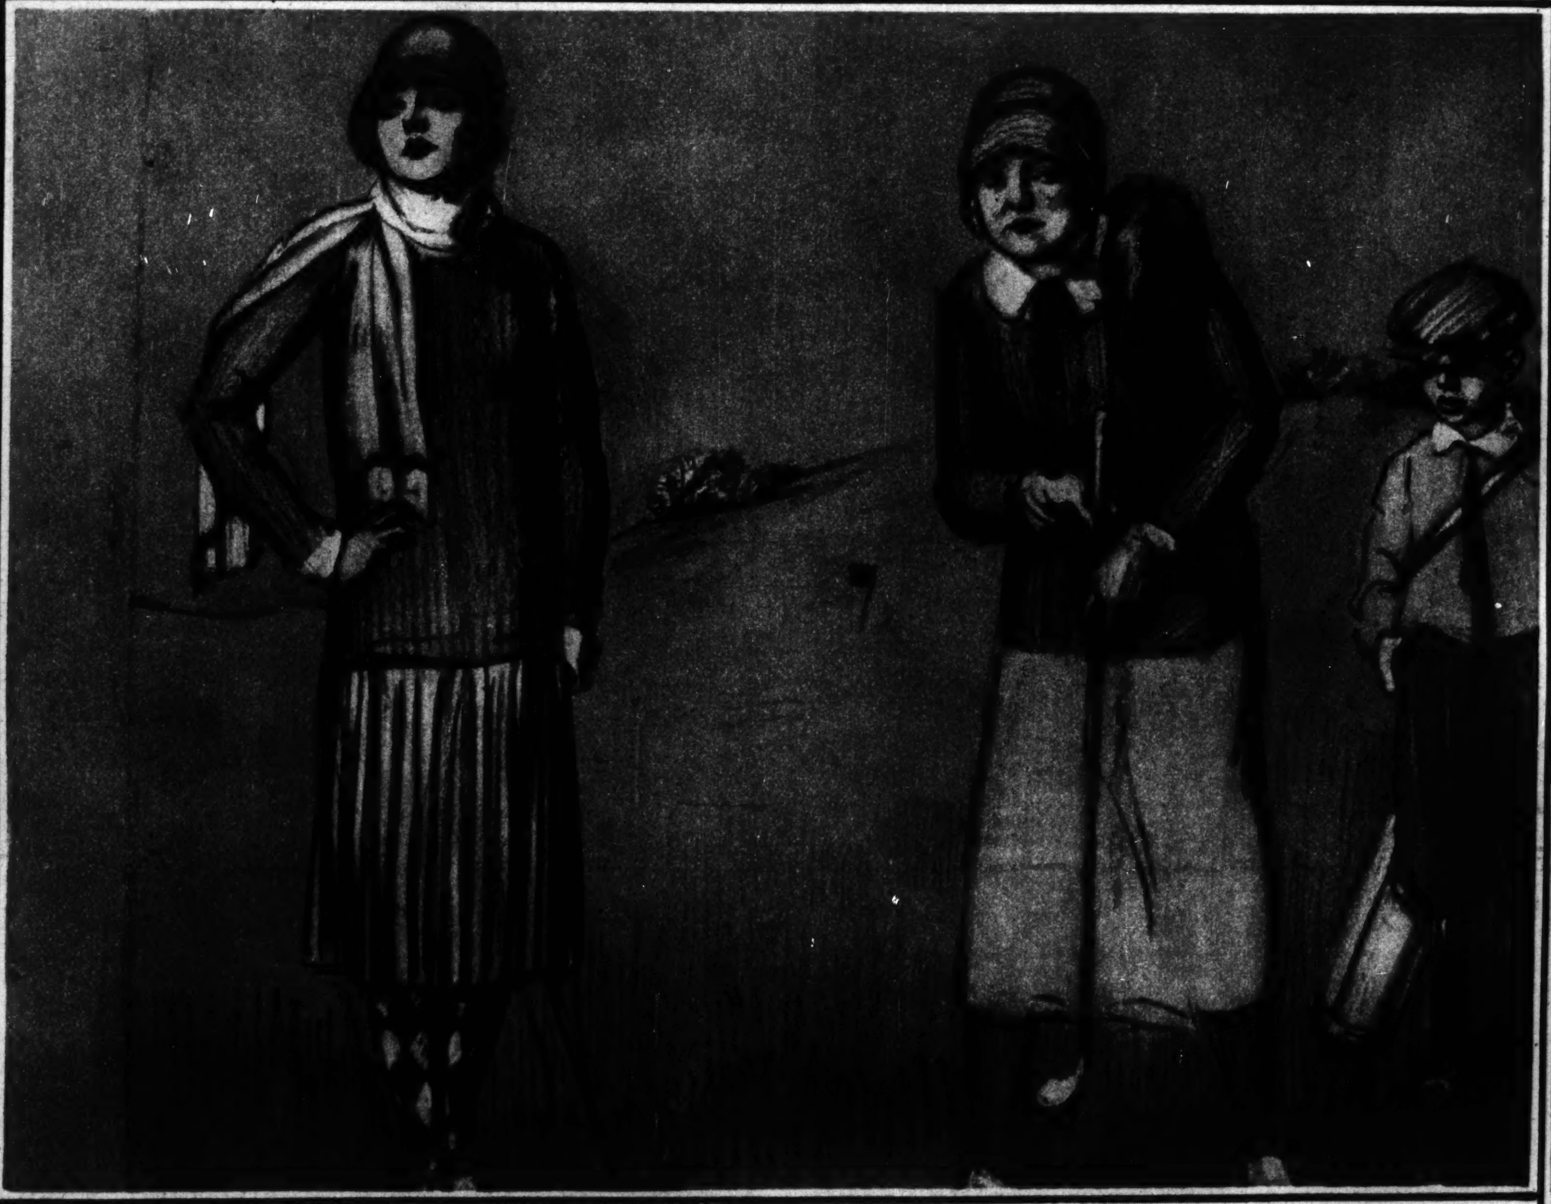
By W. E. HILL



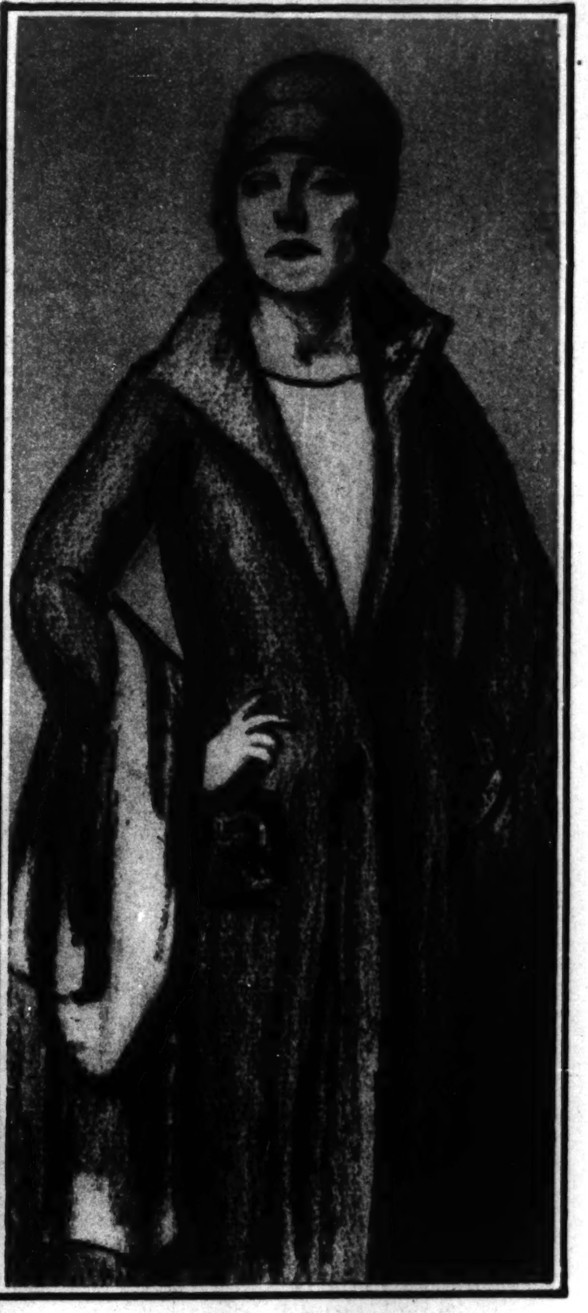
Spring sounds the call of the wild. Young men all over town are looking fixedly in sporting goods windows, while the office waits.



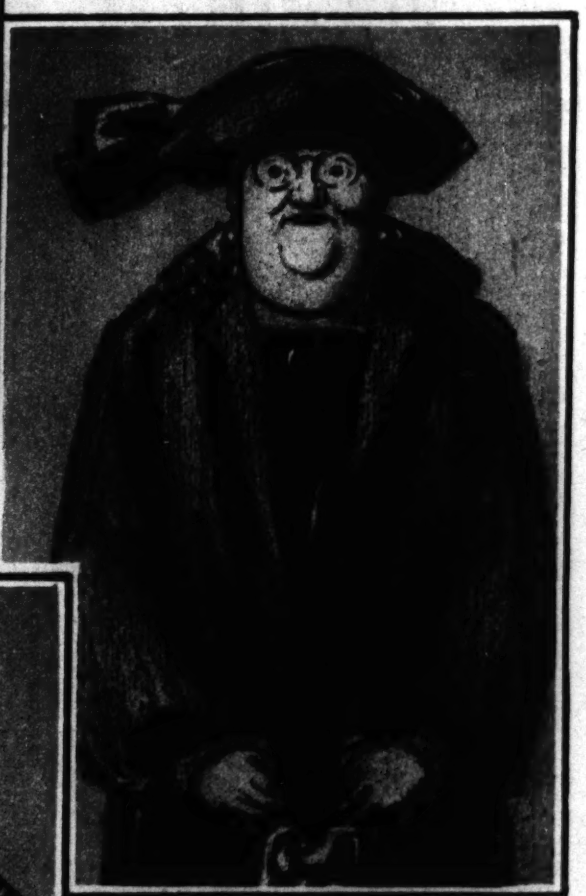
Spring is the season of wanderlust. Say you're going to Europe and see how every one within hearing exclaims: "I believe I'll go along, too, if you don't object!" Here are six valid reasons why the Brown family has postponed sailing indefinitely. From left to right we have the Johnson twins, Edith and Adele, whose parents asked Mrs. Brown to chaperon them on the grand tour. Next we have Mrs. Roe and her lovely daughter Dactyl, who wants to get a divorce in Paris. They wanted to join the party. And then we have Cousin Deligert, just recovering from a love affair with the chauffeur. Uncle Ned wanted her to go with the Browns. Lastly, we have Mrs. Bates from across the street (she has a nervous ailment due to voluntary malnutrition), who wanted to go along.



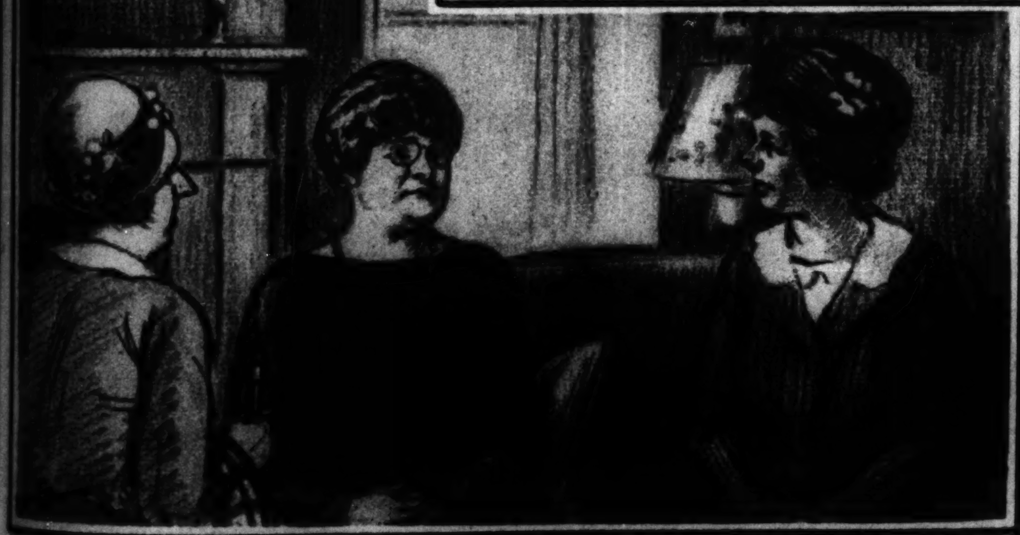
Now come the melancholy days when the links are sprinkled over with lovely lady golfers who have taken up the game to reduce. "When either of us fans," Grayce is saying to Mable, "we just won't count it, and maybe we can do eighteen holes under a hundred."



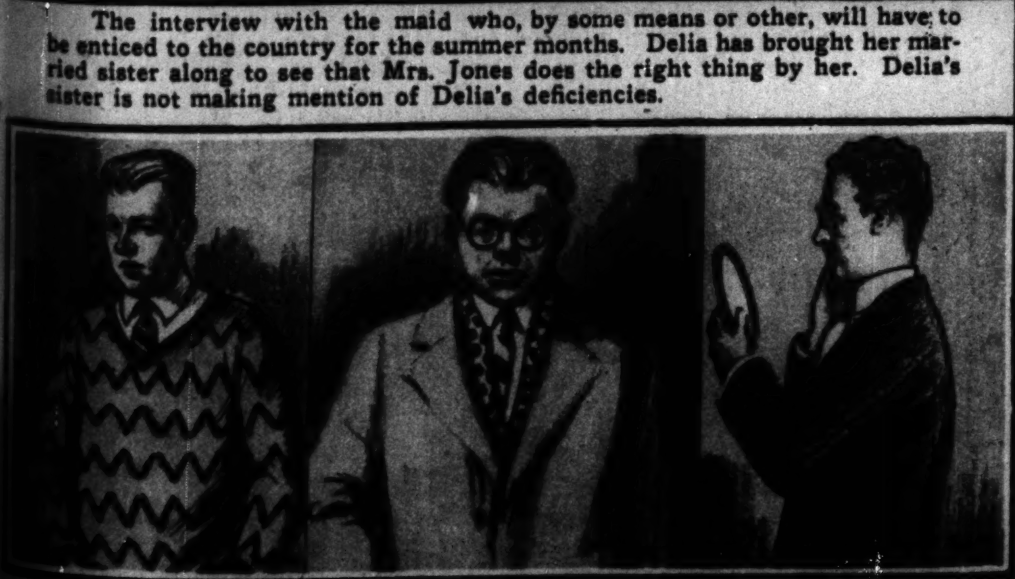
The lady who took the little house in the suburbs, waiting at the information counter in the station for the maid who promised faithfully she wouldn't disappoint.



Hopeful tenant of a city flat en route to a real estate firm for the express purpose of renting it furnished for the summer.



The interview with the maid who, by some means or other, will have to be enticed to the country for the summer months. Delia has brought her married sister along to see that Mrs. Jones does the right thing by her. Delia's sister is not making mention of Delia's deficiencies.



Spring is a terribly trying time of year for pale young men who feel the poetry and passion of the season. Some wrong impulse leads them astray and they break out in loud clothes or, worst of all, spring skin eruptions. Just when they feel tenderest hearted toward the opposite sex, they show up in scarlet and Nile green ties and sport sweaters, or biscuit colored overcoats, or boils, and their chances are ruined.

Polarine is in no sense a by-product—it is a major-product of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) designed to render a major service.

It is made to lubricate thoroughly the remotest frictional surfaces in your engine. This it does under any and all conditions.

The chart above represents the best judgment of our staff of expert lubricating engineers. It tells you the grade to correctly lubricate your car.

You cannot determine the quality of oil by looking at it. Consult the chart.

Drain your crank-case every 500 miles and refill with the right grade of Polarine. This is economy!

ANOTHER ROOSEVELT BIG GAME HUNT gets under way. Kermit and the present Theodore Roosevelt have sailed on the first leg of a six months' adventure in the wilds of Asia and northern India. Chicago will share in the fruits of their daring, for the expedition is partly the project of the Field museum here. The picture above shows Kermit at the pier after a last good-by to his wife and children.

(Photograph from Fotograms.)

A HEALTH LESSON—Above you see the mighty Babe Ruth, helpless in a hospital as his team prepared to start the baseball season. Babe's main trouble is eating. An enormous eater, and a man of careless hours, he picks up twenty or thirty pounds of fat in winter. This he boils off in spring, and the strain breaks him down. That is the trouble this time. And below is pictured Tom Gibbons, the model of correct living in professional sports. Although 36 years old, Tom is the best of the white heavyweight fighters, except Jack Dempsey. He never drank, never smoked, he follows a correct diet, and he sleeps nine hours. Tom has been abstemious all his life. That's why he always is in trim.

(Both photographs from Pacific and Atlantic.)

T. R. SMILES HIS FAREWELL, a typically Rooseveltian smile, as he waits for the Leviathan to pull out for the start of his big adventure. With Col. Roosevelt are his wife and their four youngsters, Cornelius, Grace, Teddy, and Quentin. The two boys proved themselves true cubs of the great Teddy by their final comment on their venture: "A fine trip," they said, facing months of deadly cold, snow slides, and dangers all unknown.

(Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic.)

OXFORD GOES DOWN IN DEFEAT, literally as well as figuratively, in its annual race with Cambridge on the Thames. Here are the unlucky Oxfordians, almost submerged, but grimly trying to pull the shell ahead. But near the half way point the boat was swamped, the Oxford oarsmen had to swim for it, and Cambridge pulled along lazily in the heavy swell to win a walkaway victory.

Plan Now for Southern California

Where Summers are at their best—Cool, Rainless—Offering a Complete Change!

DECIDE today. Come now. See a new land — a "different" summer paradise with advantages no other possesses.

Here, within a radius of a hundred miles, are high mountains, lovely valleys, quiet lakes, broad ocean beaches, all the favorite summer sports — golf, tennis, bathing, sailing, camping, mountain climbing, fishing — and all connected by five thousand miles of beautifully paved motor roads and splendid interurban trolley lines so that today's whim may be completely satisfied.

And no rain to interfere.

Temperature? The averages—U. S. Government Weather Bureau figures for 48 years—are as follows: 48 Junes, 66 degrees; 48 Julys, 70; 48 Augusts, 71; 48 Septembers, 69.

This is Southern California in the Summer, with its Missions and its palms, a summerland supreme — the place of places for a vacation.

Come now and stay all Summer, or plan now to come in June. You'll never forget it.

Special round trip tickets on sale from May 15 to September 30 (with return trip privilege to October 31) make it easy to come.

See your local ticket agent, or send the coupon, today.

HE UPSET TENNIS TRADITION by defeating Fred C. Anderson in the final of the U. S. national indoor tournament, and thereby acquiring the championship. Thus Jean Borotra, French net ace, became the first foreigner to hold this particular title. To make the upset good, Jean then stepped out with A. W. Asthalter of New York and won the doubles crown also. Borotra is a Davis cup veteran, and last year he won the famous Wimbledon championship in England. (Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic.)

THE LAST SEA ELEPHANTS, we are told, are these big 'uns and their herd-mates on Guadalupe island, off the coast of Lower California. The species is so nearly extinct that both the American and Mexican governments impose severe penalties for their slaughter. The long nose with which nature adorns the males makes their heads look like those of giant parrots, like the huge chap in front here. Mr. Sea Elephant, known also as the elephant-seal, grows as big as twenty feet long, and attains an enormous weight.

(Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic.)

A MARTYR TO SCIENCE is Dr. Frederick Henry Baetjer of Johns Hopkins university. Recently he submitted to his seventy-first operation, all of them made necessary by X-ray burns, but he plans to carry on his experiments in the face of certain slow and painful death. His labors already have cost him the use of eight fingers and the sight of one eye. (Photograph copyright by Harris & Ewing.)

Gray-Haired Women

whose mirrors reflect the tragedy of youth fading away—

Take 10 years, 20 years, away this way in three or four days—be alluring again

GRAY HAIR!—you see it in your mirror. A passing reflection in shop windows as you pass along—youth gone!

Only a gray or prematurely gray woman knows what this means.

But why suffer it? You, as tens of thousands of others have done, can turn back the calendar—can call back the lure and thrill of courtship days.

Won't you let me help you? It's so simple, so marvelously transforming—and costs you nothing to try. Just mail me coupon below.

How to do it

Nothing will make so wonderful a difference in your appearance as changing the color of your hair even as little as two or three shades. Artists agree this makes the greatest possible contrast in charm.

In this method you simply dampen a comb with a clear, colorless liquid — then run it through your hair. Developed by a woman scientist, it is called Mary T. Goldman's Hair Color Restorer.

It scientifically acts, not to crudely "dye," but to restore the ORIGINAL color or shade to your hair.

If your hair is gray—it will go back to its youthful brown, black or golden. If it is faded, lusterless, unattractive—it will revert back years in minutes! Tests under the observation of world's scientists, in tens of thousands of cases have proved this to be true.

Send the coupon

Those results may seem incredible to you. So you are not asked to purchase this preparation.

Upon receipt of the coupon, a trial outfit will be sent you free. Then, if you are still in doubt, you can test it on a single lock of your hair. Thus you'll know just what to expect before you use it through all of your hair.

What you find will be one of the real thrills of modern beauty science. Only your own eyes will fully reveal just what it can mean to you.

Mail the coupon now before you forget.

Have You a Lock of your hair as it was 2 or 3 years ago?

If you have, take it to the light; and compare its color with the color of your hair today.

You will get a shock. You don't notice how your hair is fading, the change is so gradual.

But—everyone else does. That's the strange part of it all. Other people are first to note our own loss of youthful charm.

A change of two or three shades, from faded, bleached out tint to full natural color, makes an almost unbelievable difference in one's looks.

This new way will do that for you, no matter how gray or faded your hair is—do it in the space of days!

What you should know about your teeth and gums to guard against decay and Pyorrhea

The gums thin out to a delicate edge where they join the teeth. If you look closely, you can see—even feel—the small ledges and V-shaped crevices formed by this joining of teeth and gums. You will find these tiny crevices on the outside of the teeth, in between the teeth, and in back of the teeth. They form The Danger Line.

The greatest caution is necessary to keep this thin, delicate edge of gum tissue intact. A tooth brush that is too stiff, a dentifrice containing powerful astringents, gritty abrasives or strong antiseptics will cause irritation of this gum edge. Then the gums recede from the teeth . . . the small ledges loosen and break down . . . the V-shaped crevices widen.

Food collects and forms acids

Food collects in these tiny crevices at The Danger Line. There it ferments and forms acids which lead to Acid Decay—sometimes to Pyorrhea, unless you neutralize these acids as they form, by effective and harmless protective measures.

Only proper care of the gums at The Danger Line will prevent Pyorrhea—for Pyorrhea cannot occur as long as the fine, thin edge of gum tissue remains intact and free from infection. It is highly important to keep the teeth clean—it is of equal importance to protect the gums.

Keep the gums healthy

Squibb's Dental Cream provides a sure, safe means of protecting the teeth and gums at The Danger Line. For Milk of Magnesia, from which Squibb's Dental Cream is made, has long been recognized by physicians and dentists everywhere as the safest as well as the most effective product known for neutralizing the acids in the mouth which form at The Danger Line.

Squibb's Dental Cream soothes and strengthens the gums and protects them from the acids which cause irritation and invite infection. It safeguards the teeth from Acid Decay, keeping them clean, bright, and attractive. When you use Squibb's Dental Cream, made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, tiny particles of it are forced into all the crevices and fissures of your teeth which are inaccessible to any tooth brush. There it remains for hours, neutralizing the acids as they form—preventing Acid Decay—protecting the gums. No other dentifrice affords such thorough and lasting protection.

Safe—Pleasant—Effective

Squibb's Dental Cream is as safe as it is effective and pleasant to use—even when swallowed by children it is harmless. Millions of men and women, who have learned the vital importance of oral hygiene, are turning to Squibb's Dental Cream, made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia.

Your health may well depend on the care you give your teeth and gums. It is vitally important that you keep them clean, healthy, and strong—The Danger Line free from infection. Squibb's Dental Cream will do this for you. Buy a tube or two from your druggist today.

The Story of a Little Girl Who Believed All Wishes Came True; of Her Mother, Whose Sad Heart Denied It; and of Her Father, Who Wasn't Sure

"Of course I'm not mad at you— you precious."

A VERY brown, plump little girl in bloomers and middy, a red bandanna wound piratically round her dark bobbed head, stood in the kitchen door throwing crumbs to a couple of chipmunks who scampered brazenly across the back porch and darted up and down a rusty cedar tree, from time to time screeching raucously, like angry birds grown unwontedly strident.

Bird voices, too—a strange, querulous songster, a Phoebe, a distant melodious wood thrush—filtered through the chipmunks' clamorings, while robins as big as crows alighted on the deserted basketball field, where two tall skeletons stood gaunt and useless against the brilliant blue September sky. The camp season was over; but summer, taking no heed of camp season, had left the green of valley and mountain untouched except for an occasional reddening branch on a maple tree and a few blanching leaves on an elm. Sparrows ventured as far as the kitchen door in pursuit of crumbs.

Everything about the kitchen was on a large scale—the range made to cook a hundred dinners, the enormous sink with double drains, the giant pots along the wall, even the woman mixing batter at the center table. Dele Darby gave the impression of being at once stout and spare. The black and white stripes of her gingham dress bent beneath the growing span of hip and bosom. But the highly colored skin was stretched taut across her wide cheekbones, and her wrists and hands were bony. She was a pleasant looking person in spite of the way she pulled her thinning brown hair into a flat knob.

The little girl brushed her empty brown palms together and turned. "O, Dele," she asked in a tentative little singsong voice—(if you have opened the door of 3B during recitation you know that resonant, treble, high pitched voice)—"wanna wish now?"

"Mmhm—" assented Dele absently, and had just time to fling a protective arm round her batter before seventy pounds of advertisement for camp life hit the table and Billie detached a wishbone from the hanging lamp. Brushing the flour from her bare knees—her stockings were rolled down in the prevailing camp mode—she proffered an arm to Dele.

"Don't give me the short end again," cautioned Dele, wiping her hand on her apron.

"Cross my heart, hope to die, strike me down dead," chanted Billie with the fervor of a court clerk delivering the formula of oath. And she continued, as the wishbone yielded beneath the pressure of five sunbrowned and five flour whitened fingers, "wisht my wish comes true."

"Th—th—" Dele had chosen the wrong end. "What did you wish?"

"I wisht you'd let me go to Crow on the stage," replied Billie avoiding Dele's eye.

"I told you no," said Dele firmly. Billie looked particularly wistful in the self-assured Camp Dirondack uniform. Billie was not a regular camper but the daughter of Beryl Stone, director of dramatics and literature.

"I'm not moping. I'm wishing."

The Misses Cranefield, who owned the camp were school principals, whose duties took them to the city about Labor day. Most of the counselors, too, were school teachers. But Beryl Stone was a writer—one of that vast army who pound a more or less satisfactory living out of their typewriters and whose name nobody knows except that it is legion. Being her own mistress, she could remain during September to oversee the business of getting camp ready for next summer. That morning she had gone to interview a laundress.

"Not with your mamma away," Dele added. "I wouldn't take the responsibility."

"What's responsibility?" demanded Billie promptly.

Dele changed the subject. "What do you want to do in Crow lake?"

"O," explained Billie with a large gesture. And added, as an afterthought, "this is delivery day and I c'n drive back with Luke."

"So that's it!" Dele wagged her head. "You're too little to run that big car."

"It's not so very big."

"Billie!"

"Not as big as a mountain," declared Billie. "And that's not the on'y reason. I gotta make a wish"—she drew from her middy pocket a crumpled four leaf clover—"on the wishing stone."

"The wishing stone!" Dele's voice was lacking in respect. "What's that?"

"It's a—a wishing stone. If you put a four leaf clover on, and make a wish, it'll come true. A wishing stone is—" Suddenly her brown eyes lighted up. "You know what a wishing stone is? It's me. Because I'm a'ways wishing and my name is Stone. See?" She grew rather breathless. "Isn't that a good one, Dele? I made it up myself. Wishing stone. Get it?"

Dele's head rocked from side to side. "My—my, how you take them out of your head is what gets me. Guess you'll be a writer like your mamma when you grow up."

"Mm—" assented Billie, "I might as well. I c'n work the typewriter a'ready, and what's the use of learning something else from the beginning? O, but Dele, I wisht——"

Dele paused in the act of throwing a spoonful of batter on to the floured board. "You and your wishes," she scolded. "I wonder what a little girl like you's got to wish for? With the best mamma in the world."

"Well, I c'n wisht I had a father, can't I? Dele, when's he ever coming back?"

Dele looked out of the open door with eyes grown suddenly cloudy. Beryl Stone, Billie's mother, with her short blonde hair all curled up close to her head and her big, gray eyes clear and unsmiling like a baby's, was Dele's one romance. She was forever trying to shield Beryl from the Misses Cranefield, who were difficult—from the other counselors, who were thoughtless—from Billie, who was usually more tyrannical in her love than the others in their indifference. For three years they had spent Septembers together in the big, deserted camp—warm, workfilled days, cut off from the rest of the world; cold, silent nights after the workmen had gone and Billie slept. Dele Darby was the only one at Camp Dirondack who more than guessed why Beryl Stone chose to come there every year, and why she sat so often in the long summer evening looking down the road that led to Crow lake, and why her big gray eyes were so unsmiling.

"I wisht he'd come back," continued Billie plaintively, "so's I c'd be a regular camper instead of a deadhead."

"Billie! When your mamma works so hard to keep you here!"

"But jus' the same, Dele, I c'n wisht I was a regular camper! So when they have to leave somebody home it wouldn't a'ways be me." Dele looked black, but said nothing. "And I wisht they'd let me run the camp car, and I wisht I had a car of my own, and I wisht the man in the garadge wasn't such a gosh darn crab with his cars!"

"Cars, cars," grumbled Dele. "Can't you think of anything else?"

"O, sure," acquiesced Billie promptly. "I wisht I had a pin with di'monds, and I wisht we didn't have to live in Noo York, and I wisht"—a note of self-pity blurred her voice—"I wisht this darn ole place wasn't so gosh darn lonely!"

Dele coughed. Of course, it was all wrong to tell a child "No," and then give in to her. But, on the other hand, "I do need some lettuce," she began.

A CROSS-SECTION of Billie's outlook at that moment would have revealed her half way to Crow. Dele kept on for the sake of appearance. "I could phone—but Stell's will send me any old thing. And I hate poor lettuce. I don't suppose anybody'll kidnap you—you've done it before—and Luke Stell can drive you back. You've got plenty of time to catch the stage at the cross-roads. Don't run in the hot sun—pick out one with a hard center—and don't get too fresh about driving that car!" she shouted after Billie, already half way down the pine bordered path. Billie would certainly have made the junior track team if she had been a regular camper.

She ran so fast she had to stop for breath. Something at her feet caught her eye—it was not a four leaf clover. However, it was in the kind of bed where there must be millions of four leaf clovers.

But, somehow, they all seemed to escape Billie. So did the stage. However, running after the vanishing machine her luck changed, and she had the almost incredible good fortune to be nearly run over by a hay wagon! By the time she had made her wish (for a hitch) the stage had disappeared.

Far from feeling despondent, Billie was rather exhilarated. The thing began to take on the nature of an adventure. She had never hiked to Crow lake alone, although she had often gone as far as the deserted mill with her mother, who loved to sit there and dream, her chin cupped in her palm, until the tears would dim her big, gray eyes, and Billie would come and pet her shoulder with her little pats.

So she started off bravely, singing camp songs in true camp style, which is very loud, with marked emphasis on the unmarked syllables (so that Dirondack will rhyme with back, for instance), the voice pitched as low as it will go without disappearing altogether into the thorax, in order to resemble as nearly as possible the despised boys' camps around the lake.

There is something stimulating about hiking with a camp, however, which solitary hiking seems to lack. Long before Billie had left one mile behind her, her feet began to lag and she paused to watch a flock of crows. They made a swell noise, and Billie saw them disappear regretfully, taking up her walk (ex-hike), cawing earnestly. The sun was beginning to climb into the heavens, but the sense of time is seldom developed at the age of 8, and before Billie had reached the overgrown bypath leading to Mayfield's mill, the walk had deteriorated into an amble.

She halted opposite the stark, stone edifice, whence woolen caps had once issued by the thousands, but whence now issued nothing but an occasional field mouse and an air of general decay and sadness. Perhaps, though, there was nothing really sad about the mill. Perhaps the mood it induced in her mother had, in her mind, become associated with the place itself.

The mill was so invariably deserted that it was with something of a shock that Billie perceived a car whose owner had evidently driven it right over the thick underbrush.

"A car! I mean a flivver!" Billie corrected her self academically. Nevertheless, she did not disdain to climb in. She wanted to know whether all flivvers worked alike.

A man in khaki emerged from the mill just in time to hear some one fussing with his starter.

"HEY!" he shouted, leaping to the running board. He was not a very tall man, of the type whose women friends refer to as well built, but who, face to face with their own silhouettes, begin to think seriously of golf, a good looking man with small features in a dark, ruddy face, dominated by a pair of brown eyes which seemed capable of jumping at short notice from softness to sudden laughter and, just as quickly, to sudden and implacable anger. The slight over prominence of the chin was balanced by a tendency of the forehead to prolong itself into the receding line of dark hair.

"My! You scared me!" exclaimed the startled pirate at the wheel, "I thought you were a robber!"

"Ditto," replied the ex-captain, amiably, leaning over the door.

"Is this yours?" inquired the owner of the foot stretched tentatively toward the starter.

"It was——"

But the appreciation of delicate shades of irony is not yet developed at 8. "Why dontja get an automobile?" she inquired, seriously. "Dontja think they're better than flivvers?"

"Well, they have their good points, too," he admitted.

"Are you going to Crow?"

"My dear! I never——"

"'Cause if you are, I'll hitch. That is, if you don't mind?"

"O, Crow lake. No, I don't mind. That is, if you don't mind letting me drive the ca—flivver."

"No, I don't mind." She slipped graciously into the other seat. "I missed the stage."

He felt in his pocket for his pipe. "Live at Crow lake?"

"Good night! No! Camp Dirondack."

"Where's that?"

"Good night! Ev'rybody knows where Camp Dirondack is. I'm on'y 8 and I know. How old are you?"

"Thirty-three. But I spent nine years in the army. That accounts for it. I've come up to look at the mill."

"It's all closed up," she informed him. "Mr. Mayfield's dead."

"I'm going to open it. I'm Mr. Mayfield's nephew."

She looked at him suspiciously. "What's your name?"

"The late Capt. Bill Stone, at your service, madam."

Billie regarded him with brown eyes so wide he had a feeling there must be something terribly wrong with him. Like a smudge on his nose.

"You must be my father!" she announced. He started to remonstrate. "Well—my name is Billie Stone, and people that have the same name must be your father."

He laughed. "Sorry. But I never had any little girls——"

For a moment her face fell. "Maybe you had, on'y you forgot——"

"I knew you'd come up here some day."

Billie did not like people to laugh at her. She tossed her head. "My mother says men sometimes forget."

He stopped laughing. "Where is your father?"

"O, good night! I don' know. But mother says some day he'll be here, and then she'll show him to me."

"Stone," mused Capt. Bill. "Funny. But the woods are full of us. I never could keep trace of the family. Which Stone are you?"

"I'm the Wishing Stone," replied Billie promptly, "because I'm a'ways wishing. It's a joke. I made it up myself. D'yuh get it?"

THE captain's eyes seemed to travel from the little girl to a blank space in his mind, without being able to trace some connection he was trying to establish.

"What was your father's first name?" he asked.

"Good night. I must remember to ask mother." Billie shifted her seal ring to her right hand. "I think it's Billy, but I'm not sure."

The flivver, backed over the underbrush, started down the road. "What is this Camp Dirondack?" he inquired.

"It's a camp for girls. Mother's a counsellor and I'm—I'm the mascot," she concluded, with a mixture of wistfulness and defiance in the title Beryl Stone had invented to bridge the gap between regular campers and the one irregular one. To Billie it had never sounded convincing.

"That's nice," commented Capt. Bill.

"No, it isn't!" she retorted, passionately. "It's punk! They never let me go in anything except with the leftovers. I'm getting too big for a mascot. I wanna be a regular camper, and be on the teams, and sleep in a tent!"

Her passion astonished him. "Well, cant you?"

"Say! It costs $400! That's why I wisht I had a father."

"Well, that's a good reason." But his brown eyes belied the lightness of his tone. However, Billie was intent elsewhere.

"What's the matter?" cried Capt. Bill, slowing down and following the direction of her extended arm. "What's the matter?" She continued to stare, third finger crossed over pointed index, at what seemed like a team of horses drawing a wagon.

She gave him a cold look, finally. "You nearly spoiled my wish. Didn'tja see a white horse and a red headed driver? That's good luck!"

"For the horse, or the driver?" He was busy with his gears.

"For wishing. I wisht I c'd be a regular camper next year. That's my on'y wish. Nearly," she modified. "What would you advise me to wish for next—a father or an automobile?"

"O, a father, by all means. They're not so much trouble."

"Mmm——" assented Billie, thoughtfully, "and then he c'd give me the automobile. And a pin with green di'monds."

"Green diamonds?" Capt. Bill put his hand in his pocket. "Like this?" In his palm (he continued to drive with his left hand) lay a green enameled four leaf clover, outlined in tiny emeralds.

"Yea bo!" approved Billie, ecstatically. "Yours?"

"No. It belongs to a beautiful lady, the future Mrs. Stone, who lost it in the mill, and thought all her luck had gone with it. You must meet her. You have a lot in common. Luck—and charms—and wishes——" his voice trailed off and he added, to himself, "I wish I knew what was upsetting her."

Billie interrupted his reverie by hailing a blond giant about to board a vehicle, standing before a farmhouse, who asked whether he were to have the honor of driving her back. Capt. Bill halted.

"Sure. After I get a head o' lettuce for Dele."

"I've got lettuce on board," Luke told her. "Hop over."

"Say," remarked the prospective purchaser, witheringly, "you don' suppose we wan' any ole junk head o' lettuce, do you? Wait till I c'm back."

"Sorry, sweetheart, but I've got to go on up with my orders."

"I'll take her back," volunteered Capt. Bill, not at all willing to lose his passenger, "that is, if you'd just as lief?"

"O, sure," assented Billie, with a large neutrality.

"All right for you," threatened the discarded one. "You've got a new affinity now!"

"So have you," replied the lady in the ineffably subtle repartee of her years, and they drove on. After a second, "What's an affinity?" she asked, a little furrow between her dark brows.

"AN affinity," explained Capt. Bill, "is the lady a man would have married if he hadn't married his wife."

"O," replied Billie, politely. Suddenly her eyes took on the look of the habitual humorist, a sort of absorbed gaze, shot through with mischief. "D'you know how to get Luke warm?" And when he did not, "Make him run," she triumphed. "Isn't that a good one? I made it up myself."

Admiration rendered the captain almost speechless. "You know, I'm awfully jealous of him. Is he really your affinity?"

"O, good night! How sh'd I know?"

"I mean—do you like him?"

She shrugged. "He lets me run his car."

"Woman! Woman!" He regarded the atom beside him. "Do you mean to say you can really run a car?"

"O, sure. And Fords, too."

"Let's see," suggested Capt. Bill. And for three delicious minutes Billie ran the flivver.

"Kid," said Capt. Bill when they were changing places again, "I don't know what part of the family you belong to, but I'm proud of you. I think I'll adopt you. For a mascot or something. I'll tell you, you give up your other mascoting activities and work for me exclusively at the mill, and if things go well I'll—I'll see that a couple of your pet wishes come true."

"C'n I be a regular camper?" she demanded, cautiously.

"Yes—if I have to chloroform your family into letting me."

Something hit him like a load of bricks, and remained hanging about his neck. And he was being kissed on the mouth. Hard, earnest kisses that left little doubt as to the intent of the donor, whose small nose was flattened warmly against his cheek. It made him rather breathless. And his brown eyes looked as though some one had blown smoke into them.

"Kid," he said, chokily, when she released him, "if I had a wish right now I'd wish . . . I'd wish——" But he did not say what it was he would have wished.

As they started to drive away from Stell's, a tall, slender lady in a pale green smock, her heavy, [illegible] hair coiled round her head, came out of the postoffice with a big, square, lavender envelope in her hand. At sight of them her pale face turned pink, and crossing over she stood leaning against the car, one white hand on the door.

"Hello, dear," cried Capt. Bill in a surprised, happy voice. "When I called at the inn this morning your mother said you weren't going to get up until noon. I would have waited and taken you to the mill——"

The lady shivered slightly. "Thank you, dear. I didn't care to go to the mill—again. . . . I was just on my way"—she shifted the lavender envelope from one long, white hand to the other—"to mail this letter . . . to Krone," she added, as if it were hard to say.

"Krone?" asked Capt. Bill, sharply. "I thought you wrote him last week——"

"Yes. I—I forgot to mail it." She looked away over the hills, and Billie noticed how gray her eyes [illegible].

"Why, dearest, that wasn't like you—a whole week—and Krone waiting."

"He doesn't expect an answer immediately."

"I'm not criticising, dear. Only you know you're not going back to the stage. We've threshed that all out. So why not let him have plenty of time to look for some one else? You know it will be hard for him to find any one for that part."

THIS time there were real tears in her long, gray eyes. It made Billie so uncomfortable she honked the horn.

"Gosh!" cried Capt. Bill, "I nearly forgot. This, Billie, is Margot, the lady who is going to do me the honor to marry me some day." And to the tall lady he said, "I haven't got the relationship figured out, but this young dynamo must be some kin of mine. Her name is Stone and she has the family vices. Bad puns and automobiles. I'm going to drive her back to some sort of detention camp where she belongs. I'm curious to interview her people. Besides, I don't dare to leave her roaming about the highroads without a keeper. In addition to grand larceny, or perhaps I should say petit larceny"—he made a bow to the flivver—"and an attempt to palm herself off as a long lost daughter, she didn't do much except flaunt me in the face of an enraged suitor and get herself hired for a vacancy I didn't know I had. I think we can use her out at the mill as a mascot. O, by the way, I found this." He drew out the pin.

"O!" Her face lighted up and color stole into her cheeks. "Where?"

"At the mill. And now I hope the poor old mill won't be in your bad graces any longer, since it yielded up your luck charm. You ought to get along well with this wild woman here. She's an omen fan, too. Perhaps she'll be our Lucky Stone. Hop in and we'll drive."

"Thanks, Will; if you don't mind, I'd rather not."

"What's the matter, Margot? You haven't been yourself ever since you got here. Aren't you and your mother comfortable at the inn?"

"O, yes, dear—quite comfortable."

"You could try my hotel. Margot, I haven't done anything, have I? Or said anything?"

"No—no." She gave a choky little laugh. "You've been wonderful, dear. It's just, well, I'm simply not used to the—the quiet." She tapped the lavender letter against the long, shiny nails of her hand. "I'm quite all right."

Capt. Bill looked at her doubtfully. "Won't you come over and have lunch at my hotel? I'll hurry and take this young brigand home."

The lady smiled at Billie. She had the loveliest smooth white teeth. "Come and see me some time, won't you? At the inn?"

"Here!" cried Capt. Bill, "what are you trying to do? Square the triangle? This young woman is my latest affinity."

"What are you going to be to me, Billie?"

"What are you to him?" asked Billie practically.

"O, she's only my regular affinity," declared Capt. Bill. "We're going to be married some day."

Billie pondered. Then the spark of inspiration fired her. "I guess I'm your affinity-in-law!" she decided.

The way they laughed troubled Billie, and on the way back she asked the captain, "What relation is two affinities to each other?"

"Strained," replied Capt. Bill, and asked her about her mother.

She told him about her writings, her life at camp.

"I can't place her at all," Capt. Bill frowned. "What does she look like?"

As Billie described her mother, a strange change came over the captain. Finally, "What's her name—her first name?" he interrupted harshly.

"Beryl."

He brought the car to a jerky stop, while all the blood drained out of his sun tanned face. Then he turned and looked at her, as if there were ghosts behind her. Then he took out his handkerchief and mopped his forehead. And still with that strange look in his eyes, he seized the wheel and started off like mad. But first he wiped his hands as though they, too, had been perspiring.

BILLIE'S mother was just waving her turned up gray felt hat to old Mr. Rawlston, who had brought her up in his car. When she pulled off her hat it tousled her hair into a mop of glistening curls. Even her lashes seemed tousled, and her eyes shone in her tanned face like opals. In her short, dark blue skirt and middy you could see why visitors, when she came out to greet them, invariably asked her, please, might they speak to one of the grownups?

She was so busy waving to Mr. Rawlston she did not hear the other car drive up in back of her. And it was only when Capt. Bill cried "Beryl!" in a voice that made Billie jump that she turned. It seemed strange that he should call her mother that way. But her mother's actions were even stranger.

For a moment she stood as though she had grown into the ground. Then dropping her hat she cried, "Billy! Billy! Billy!" and flew into his arms.

There they stood, where any passing stranger could have seen them. But they had forgotten there were any strangers in the world. Or any Billie, either, hovering on one foot; or any Dele peering excitedly through the window.

It was Beryl who spoke first. "I knew you'd find me," she was saying breathlessly, looking up into his bronzed face, high enough above her to make him seem tall. "I knew you'd come up here some day! O, I'm so happy, Billy, so happy—happy! I'll do anything you want, Billy. I'll live anywhere you say. I don't care about anything on earth except being the kind of wife you want me to be. I couldn't do it then, Billy. But now! For years I've just lived for this day. If you want to run the mill, I'll be a help to you. I've grown to love it here. I used to be afraid of the mill—it was so lonely. But I learned what it was to be really lonely." She shuddered, then nestled against him hungrily. "I'll never be lonely again, with you and Billie."

All this while he had said nothing, listening in a sort of daze, his arms about her, his eyes fastened on hers. But at the mention of Billie they drew apart self-consciously.

"What do you think of her, Billy?" continued Beryl, still in that queer voice midway between laughing and crying. "She's like you. She talks just like you. And her eyes. And her chin"—then, as he still said nothing, but continued to stare at her in that dazed way—"Billy! Why don't you say something! What's the matter? Billy! Aren't you glad? Billy! Billy!" she cried in sudden terror, "don't you want us?"

And for three delicious minutes Billie ran the flivver.

He shook himself like a man coming out of a dream. "Come inside, Beryl, where the child can't——"

Beryl turned to Billie, laughing and crying at the same time. "Billie, Billie, it's your daddy come back"—she hugged her hysterically. "O, Billie girl, aren't you happy?"

"Sure," said Billie, disengaging herself gently. "Now I c'n be a regular camper." And went in to tell Dele.

But Dele was so utterly weepy and unsatisfactory, even when Billie offered her the forgotten four leaf clover, that Billie left her, damp and unresponsive, and settled in the swing on the porch.

Billie had no curiosity to hear what they were saying. Her mother had told her her father would come back some day and he had come, and that was that. But she could not help hearing her mother's voice—a voice with a singsong quality like Billie's own, but pitched in a strange key, as if there were tears trying to work their way through. Listening, Billie unaccountably felt like crying, too. She wanted awfully to feel her mother's arms around her. But she was certain they would send her out again.

"I wisht you would let me go to Crow on the stage."

"Billy, Billy," her mother was saying, and Billie felt a terrible surge of jealous resentment. "Billy, Billy—I don't know where to begin. I'm so happy. You look wonderful, Billy. You haven't changed a bit. But I've changed, haven't I, Billy? O, Billy, it's been such a hard pull—sometimes it was only knowing you'd come back some day that kept me from—I was such a kid, Billy. Only nineteen. And you were so set—yes, you were, Billy. Not that I'm trying to shift the blame. It was a terrible thing I did—running away. But you were so determined—and I made up my mind I'd never live up here. That's all there was to it, Billy. There wasn't any other man. I just made that up so you wouldn't try to find me and drag me back again.

"I'm sorry I didn't answer your letter. But you had said such awful things to me—don't you remember? My pride kept me from going back to you—until right before the baby came."

"The baby," he interrupted in an awed voice, "I didn't know."

"I didn't know myself when I left. When I found out it nearly drove me crazy, of course. But I wouldn't go back. You had said I wasn't fit to be the mother of children. Well, I made up my mind to show you. I went to work. But towards the end I got terribly lonely—and afraid. I went to Boston. But you had disappeared. Nobody knew where you were."

"Poor kiddie! Poor, poor little kiddie! If I'd only known! When you didn't answer my letter—I went abroad."

"Well, I had to go through with it. I borrowed some money, and as soon as I could, I went to work again. And summers I came up here because it was good for the baby—and I was sure you'd come back to the mill—some day. I made enough to care for myself and Billie. I proved I was all the things you said I wasn't. I—I made good—but, O, Billy, that doesn't matter to me any more. Nothing matters except making the right kind of home for you—and being the right kind of wife. I've known that for eight years. Billy, you do want me, don't you?"

A SOUND between a sob and a choke, and a chair overturned. Billie peered cautiously through the window. Capt. Bill had her mother in his arms and was brushing the blonde hair from her forehead so that he could look deeper into her eyes. And then he bent and kissed her mouth. Billie did not like it. It gave her a strange sensation in her stomach. Suddenly she hated Capt. Bill.

But, during the next week, she grew to like him again. He used to take her on his knee and talk to her. It was her mother with whom she seemed unable to connect. None of the old avenues worked. Her mother was terribly sad, or terribly gay, or terribly excited—especially about the time of Capt. Bill's visits.

One night they woke her up, talking on the side porch outside her window. This time she was too sleepy to bother much about what they said. But the next morning when she found them gone for the day, it all came back to her and she felt terribly sorry for herself.

Dele felt sorry for her, too, because, of her own accord, she sent her down to Crow with old Mr. Rawlston.

Billie had two hours to kill in Crow while Mr. Rawlston attended to his affairs. Crow Lake is not a lively spot even in July. Towards the end of September the quiet is like an icing over the place, which the wind cuts and crumbles like a dull knife. Billie was standing irresolute on the corner, debating whether to forget her quarrel with the man in the garage and visit him, when she remembered Margot.

On the porch of the inn she found Margot's mother, and Margot, who was glad to see her in a way that made Billie feel expansive. Here, at least, was some one who appreciated having her around. Billie slipped her hand into the slim extended one with something like gratitude.

"Do we have to stick around here?" she inquired when the respective states of their healths had been satisfactorily ascertained.

"Not necessarily." Margot was wearing a snug, pale green sweater, which made her gray eyes look green too, and her hair very gold. "But there aren't many places to go hereabouts, are there?"

"O, good night! There's about a million. Well, there's nineteen or eight, anyway. Did'j' ever climb up Old Crow? Or hike the dirt road to Beltonville? Or go see the hermit? Or the falls?"

"No," admitted Margot, "I don't think I've ever been anywhere but the postoffice."

"Good night! Didn'tj' ever see the wishing stone?"

"A real wishing stone?" inquired Margot, with just the proper awe. So Billie took her there. Billie usually had a hard time explaining about the wishing stone. You can't always explain how you know things—it's enough if you do. However, Margot wasn't like most people. She understood. And while she was looking for a clover to put on the wishing stone, she consented to tell Billie a story. It was about a wishing princess.

"Old or young?" asked Billie, practically.

"Not young and not old, but sort of more young than old." Billie understood. "And there was a prince who was so kind nobody could help loving him."

"Young or old—rich or poor?" It made a difference. If the prince were young, the princess would marry him in the end, especially if he were poor.

"Medium young and very handsome and medium poor."

"Does she marry him in the end?"

"Yes—I think so—after he gets his div—— After he's free to marry her."

"Is he under a spell?"

"Well—yes—he's bound to another lady—and he can't marry the princess until he's free."

"Well—but they live happy ever after don't they?"

"Why, I guess so. But you see, when the princess was born, her fairy godmother gave her a gift that could bring great happiness while it was being used, but much unhappiness if it were left idle."

"What kind of a gift?" demanded Billie, suspiciously.

"It's what they call 'the dramatic gift.'"

"What's that?"

"O, it's a diamond wand. But the prince didn't like her to use the diamond wand because—well, it glittered so you didn't notice anything else. Besides, when it was used, money fell from it, and the prince was proud, and he wanted only his money to buy things for his princess—after they were married. Then, too, the princess loved to play with her diamond wand, and the prince was afraid some day it would take her away from him. So the prince took her and her mother far up into the woods to show her the castle where they were going to live some day, after he got free.

"But the princess felt very unhappy. She tried not to be selfish but she didn't like the castle. It was so lonely up there in the woods. And nights her fairy godmother would stand beside her bed and say, 'What have you done with the gift I gave you?' And she was so angry she took away the princess' sleep. And the princess used to lie there and weep—silently—so her mother would not hear. And the next day when the prince called, he would ask whether he had done anything to make her sad.

"And the worst of it was, the princess was afraid the diamonds would get dull from not being used. And that made her so unhappy that she realised she loved the diamond wand better than anything on earth—even more than the prince. And she didn't know what to do."

HER voice trailed off into silence. She had forgotten all about the clovers, but sat there, leaning on one elbow, her white hand idly raking the fallen leaves.

"Couldn't she run away?" suggested Billie, politely, at last.

Margot resumed her search, her face hidden from Billie. "She wanted to! A magician named Krone wrote her that if she would bring her diamond wand back to the city he would make her rich and famous. And, O, how she wanted to go! But she was a cowardly princess, and all she did was to wish, and wish, and wish something would turn up."

"Was she afraid of the prince?"

"No, but long before the prince had been married to this other beautiful lady, who ran away from him, and it almost broke the prince's heart, so he stayed away from his own country for years and years, until he found the princess. And he couldn't bear to let her out of his sight until the time when he would be free to marry her. And the princess couldn't bear to break his heart a second time."

Once more Margot paused so long that Billie grew impatient.

"Well, what happened?"

"I don't know," admitted Margot, looking up so that Billie saw her lovely eyes that were like the sea in a mist.

"Good night!" groaned Billie patiently. "You gotta have an end."

Margot ran her fingers through Billie's short brown hair. "I wish I knew the end. A happy end—for everybody."

"My mother," said Billie, judicially, "tells much better stories and they always have an end. But," she added, impartially, "she doesn't believe in wishes."

That reminded Margot she hadn't found any clovers. "And I did so want to wish," she sighed.

Billie gazed yearningly at the four leaf clover pin which caught the "V" of Margot's sweater. "Perhaps," she suggested, helpfully, "you could use that," and fingered it lovingly. Some day she was going to wish for one just like it.

Margot unclasped the pin and laid it on the wishing stone beside Billie's wilted specimens, where it rocked and sparkled provocatively.

"I wish," she began, "I wish there were some way." Suddenly Billie, whom little ever escaped, noted the corners of a lavender envelope which protruded from Margot's skirt pocket.

"Good night!" she exclaimed, "isn't that the same letter you had the other day?" Margot dropped a protecting hand over the exposed corners. "Won't Capt. Bill give you the deuce?"

Margot smiled. "Capt. Bill will be sorry he missed you, dear. He's busy over at the mill again today."

"No, he isn't," Billie corrected her. "He's over at Pierre Island with my mother. It's their last day. That's why they didn't take me along."

The remembrance of her own grievance kept her from noting how Margot went suddenly white, then red.

"Why, Billie—what makes you say that?"

"I heard them say it—last night—on our side porch."

"Last night? He was there—last—night?"

"O sure. Nearly ev'ry night. And ev'ry day."

"O-o-oh!" It was something between a groan and a shudder. Margot clenched her teeth and the green sweater rose and fell with her breathing. "O, Billy!" she breathed at last through closed teeth. "O, I don't believe it!"

Billie thought her veracity was being questioned. "I heard them. They said they wanted their last day alone."

"What—else—did they—say?" Margot had her eyes on the ground where she was tearing up chunks of grass by the roots.

"O, the same old junk."

"The same—old junk?" She did not have the air of pressing the question.

"Sure. About loving her and wishing there was some way out that wouldn't hurt. Do you know what a fionsay is?"

"N-no——" Margot's voice was between a whisper and a sob.

"Well, Capt. Bill has one, that he's very fond of. Now, why do you suppose he doesn't want his fionsay to know that he loves mother the best? That's what he said."

Margot turned her head away and did not answer.

AFTER a while, Billie reached out two plump, tentative fingers and touched Margot's arm. "Margot, are you mad at me?"

Margot turned swiftly. And seeing big brown eyes so full of concern, something inside her broke and she suddenly gathered Billie in her arms.

"O, my dear—no—no," she cried, and kissed her with furious abandon. "Of course, I'm not mad—at you—you precious." There were tears in her voice as well as her eyes.

Billie wriggled from her too tumultuous embrace. "That's what Capt. Bill calls me. Precious Stone. He says mother's on'y his sammy precious stone because her name is Beryl. I don't exactly understan' that, do you?"

Margot's fingers grew like a vise about Billie's shoulders. "Beryl? Your mother's name is Beryl?"

Billie nodded. "When I was young I use' to think it was Barrel. Isn't that funny?"

Margot did not smile, but kept repeating, "Beryl—Beryl—that was his wi——" She looked down at Billie as if she had never seen her before. "You're not his—his child?"

Billie was on familiar ground now. "Sure. And he didn't even know it. Mother kep' me for a su'prise. It's a secret. My mother tole me not to tell anybody. So I never did. On'y Luke and Dele and Mr. Rawlston. I didn't see anybody else. What's the matter, Margot?"

"Nothing."

"You look so funny. Are you sick, Margot?"

"No, darling, no. Just——" A sob caught in her throat and the next instant she had flung herself across the wishing stone, her face buried in the sleeve of her green sweater. Billie was distressed. She tried to comfort her, one arm across her shoulders, and little warm kisses and murmured words lost in the shiny strands of her hair. After a long time Margot stopped sobbing and sat up, and putting her arm around Billie, looked into her eyes.

"Billie, you're sure he said he wished he was free?"

"Positive—certain. I ast Dele if he was a slave, and she said no. There aren't any more slaves, are there?"

"No, darling, I guess not—unless they choose to be." Her fingers tightened about Billie's shoulders. "Billie, please tell me what Capt. Bill said to your mother—word for word."

"O, good night!" puckering up her brow, "I can't remember."

"Try, Billie, please."

Billie succeeded in remembering some of it. "And my mother said we c'd all live in the house in back of the mill, and Capt. Bill said a bad word. He said, 'O, God.' Would you like to live in the house in back of the mill?"

"No—no—O, God, no——" She stopped suddenly and, lifting her head, looked far out over the purple hills. And as she looked, into her eyes there crept a look—well, as if she had seen a million four leaf clovers leaning out of the sky.

And then, just as suddenly, she looked down at the square lavender envelope as if she were seeing it for the first time. Slowly she tore it in half. And across again. Then she began to laugh. Billie would have been glad to join her, but something in Margot's laugh wouldn't let her.

BILLIE had never received a letter. So she was proud of the one which came with the green diamond pin from Cousin Margot.

Billie read it over and over in the kitchen, where Dele, singing at the top of her lungs, was baking another cake. That was all Dele did nowadays, sing and bake cakes. Billie had given up trying to get any sense out of the people about her. Capt. Bill was living at camp, and forever making jokes which weren't at all funny. And her mother's blonde hair was perpetually tousled, and she didn't seem to have much time for Billie any more, but she thought whatever Capt. Bill did was right, even when he let Billie run his car. But Billie could stand everything except when they got mushy. Or when they went off to the mill for the day and left her at home, where there was nothing to do but watch Dele and reread her letter.

"Dear Billie (it ran, and was dated New York): I hope this four leaf clover will bring you luck—as it did me. I know you liked it and I couldn't think of anything better for you to remember me by. And I want you to remember me and some time, when I'm all settled, you must come and pay me a long visit.

"Don't forget me, Billie, and if you ever wish for anything, write and let me know about it. I may be able to help it come true. And whatever it is you wish for, be sure to wish hard. Because you and I know that's the only way to get things—wish for them very, very hard.

Your friend,

"MARGOT.

"P. S.—The end of the story was—the princess ran off to the city with her diamond wand and the prince wasn't unhappy a bit. In fact, he was even happier without her than with her. [This part was hard to read. It was blurry as if somebody had splashed water on it.] So everybody had what they wished for, and they all lived happily ever after."

The letter in her lap, Billie sat for a long time hunched forward, her brown legs wound around the white kitchen chair. At last she sighed a long, deep, devastating sigh. Dele looked up from the oven which she was closing.

"Don't you want to go out and play?"

"Nope."

"Your mama'll be home soon."

"I know——" gloomily.

"My, I should think you'd be the happiest child in the world. With that beautiful new pin—and your father back—and all of us going to live in that new white house by the mill——" The chanted inventory of her good fortune aroused no enthusiasm in Billie.

"And a car that you can run—and next year you're going to be a regular camper——"

"I know—I know——" impatiently.

Dele began to grow impatient, too. "Well, what's the matter with you, then? What are you moping for?"

"I'm not moping. 'M wishing."

Dele was outraged. "Wishing! What have you got to wish for?"

"I wish——" replied Billie, doggedly, "I wish—I wish—O, I wish to gosh-darn-it I had something left to wish for!"

Through the Armor.

THE morning papers were a little guarded in their allusions to this second mysterious disappearance in the great millionaire family. News so puzzling as to baffle even speculative propositions was exceedingly difficult to handle. Those papers which did attempt it at any length seized upon the only possible outcome and made a vigorous attack upon the police system of the country. It was left to the Sunday papers to let themselves go. Every one of them had a special article, written by a special correspondent. Every theory was explored, every incident in the lives of these young men recalled, their tendencies and weaknesses commented upon, their pictures freely reproduced. The fact of Samuel's engagement on the night before his disappearance somehow or other leaked out and added piquancy to the already fascinatingly dramatic problem.

Meanwhile, Samuel Fernham Sr. lay ill almost to death at Brighton, and Joseph, though he made an effort at complacent optimism, carried with him everywhere a new expression, half furtive, half anxious. He [illegible] seeking the sympathy of stronger men, [illegible] by their advice, trying to borrow from their [illegible] poise. Paule was one of his victims, and, since he could not escape, took it a little hardly. "Speculation has become entirely unprofitable, Lord Honerton," he said one afternoon, when the latter had sought him out in the laboratory and interrupted him in the midst of an interesting experiment designed to cheapen materially one of the famous Fernham productions. "If any one can solve the mystery of the disappearance of these two young men, it will have to be the police, unless you care to employ some of these outside private detectives. We people who have our work to get on with simply waste our time banging our heads against a stone wall of improbabilities."

"Very true, my dear Paule, very true," Joseph acquiesced. "But just one word in your ear. We can slip into your room for a moment?"

"For five minutes," Paule replied, his eyes fixed upon the retort he was watching, "I cannot leave this place. After that I am at your service for a minute or two. They must have this formula in the main laboratory this afternoon. We are days behind in the mixing department."

"Quite right, my dear sir," Joseph assented with a touch of his old manner. "Business must be attended to. I will wait."

He passed through the inner door, and in about ten minutes Paule joined him, wiping his hands carefully. He threw the towel away into a corner of the room and, without seating himself, waited coldly for his visitor to announce the nature of his errand. Joseph had lost all his pomposity of manner. He was almost cringing.

"I am sorry if I'm taking up your time," he began, "but it seems to me that I have no one to speak to nowadays. Rachel lies perfectly still, her eyes wide open, but she never speaks. I see her lips move often, and I know what it means—she is praying. She eats and drinks enough to keep herself alive, drives for an hour in her pony carriage, always toward the rebuilding of that cottage, and the rest of the time she knits—she knits always, silently. When I speak, she does not hear. I have had to come away from Honerton or I think that I should have gone mad."

"There is your daughter," Paule reminded him.

"It was of Judith that I wanted to speak to you," Joseph acknowledged. "In her way she is as uncommunicative as her mother, but it is in a different way. You spoke just now of private detectives. Well, Judith has one nearly always at her side. He was at Honerton all through the shooting. He was actually there the day Samuel disappeared. He and Judith spend hours going round the country together."

FOR a noticeable space of time Paule made no reply. His impassivity of expression was scarcely disturbed, but his lips seemed to have come more closely together and there was a steely gleam in his eyes.

"Do you know his name?" he inquired at last.

"Rodes, he calls himself," Joseph answered. "Alan Rodes. He used to be a Scotland Yard man. I don't know whether he still is. I always understood that he had Ernest's affair in hand."

Paule followed his visitor's example and seated himself, although his manner was still far from hospitable.

"Do Lady Judith's investigations keep her in Norfolk?" he asked.

"They have until now," her father replied. "As a matter of fact, I think she is coming up this evening. There is a ball at Holt house—practically given for her—and Amberleys insists upon her presence. I don't blame him. After all, Samuel is only her cousin, and there is no certainty that anything has happened to him. Do you know what I am going to do, Paule? Well, I'll tell you. I'm going to offer a reward of fifty thousand pounds for tidings of either of those two lads, dead or alive. What do you think of that?"

"I should strongly advise you to do nothing of the sort," Paule answered. "The twenty thousand pounds you have already offered is ample. If you increase it to such an absurd sum, people will lose their heads and you will probably find every minute of your time throughout the day occupied by investigating impossible clews and interviewing impossible claimants."

"What does my time matter?" Joseph exclaimed bitterly. "I want my son, and there is my brother lying near death. He wants his son. You're a strong man, Paule—sometimes a little hard, eh? I've never heard you even speak of a relative, and there you are, young, good looking, wealthy, still without a wife. We Jews are not like that. We have our faults. We love our money overmuch, but we love our children, too, our families and our womenkind, our homes. There is nothing to take their place. Now I've lost my son, and my wife lies stricken, and my brother's heart is breaking because his son, too, has gone. I don't know why I come and bother you, I'm sure. The lad Samuel always used to say that to talk to you made him feel better—you gave him strength. I suppose I drift in here with something of the same feeling."

"Samuel, I am afraid, led a somewhat irregular life," Paule said, "and I used occasionally to prescribe for him."

"He was like other young men," his uncle declared. "He needed some one to steady him. That is the cruel part of the business. This girl, Joyce Cloughton, whom he's always set his heart on, made up her mind to marry him just the night before he disappeared. She would have made a different man of him, Paule. As it is, what is going to become of the business, I cannot think. We have no young men. Samuel is old and I am growing old. We have young men at the heads of the departments, but they have no claim. Why should they be given a share in a gold mine? I would rather someone who had really helped stepped into a portion of the profits. Will you be a director of the company, Sir Lawrence?"

"I am not qualified," Paule reminded him, after a moment's rather astonished pause.

JOSEPH'S sigh was almost a groan.

"The business must have clever young men," he insisted. "Up till now not a single share has been held outside the family. Samuel and I have fifty thousand each, Samuel Junior has twenty thousand, there are twenty thousand held in trust for Ernest, my wife has forty thousand, and Henry and Judith have twenty thousand. Do you know how much those shares are worth, Sir Lawrence?."

"I have not the slightest idea," Paule confessed.

"They are worth two hundred pounds each," Joseph confided portentously. "They have never been on the market. I do not think that they ever will be, but at two hundred pounds each they still pay a ten per cent dividend. There has never been a business, Paule, like the business my father, Israel, founded here. I know that you gave up a brilliant professional future to come to us. You have made a great deal of money already, compared with professional men. Now your chance comes to make more. We will appoint you a director. As for the shares, Samuel and I will each give you one hundred. That will qualify you.'

"Give me!" Paule repeated.

"It is in the articles," Joseph groaned, "we cannot sell. We need your services. We will give you these shares. It is a present of forty thousand pounds. No one has ever given me forty thousand pounds in my life. It is a terrible sum to give away."

"I am not sure that I am a good enough business man," Paule reflected.

"Of course, you are not," Joseph acknowledged. "It is not for business we want you. That is for the counting house. It is for the drugs, for the medicines, to see that we make no mistakes, that we offer on the market the right things. 'Neurota' will travel to the four corners of the world. 'Neurota,' handled and advertised as we shall handle and advertise it, will make a vast fortune. We must have you here to watch it, to analyze imitations and expose them, to conceive, perhaps, yet fresh preparations."

"It is an offer which I shall, of course, accept, Lord Honerton," Paule decided. "There is just this much I should say. I have no desire to be a millionaire. When I am worth a certain amount of money—not a large sum from your point of view—I shall retire and devote myself entirely to research work."

"You will enter into an agreement for five years?" Joseph suggested, with a little gleam in his eyes.

"I will consent to that," was the brief reply. "I should not engage myself for a longer period."

Paule's secretary presented himself at the door.

"His lordship is being urgently inquired for on the telephone," he announced. "I have switched him through here."

The young man took off the receiver and handed it to Joseph, who talked for a few moments while Paule gave some instructions to his secretary at the farther end of the room. As soon as he had finished, Joseph sank back in his chair.

"I shall have to go to that damned ball," he groaned. "Judith is going to stay at Park Lane. The marchioness had invited her to stay in the house, and Amberleys was keen on it, too. I thought it was all arranged, but now she insists upon coming to Park Lane and having me take her."

He rose unwillingly to his feet.

"I say, Paule," he continued tentatively as he made his way to the door, "are you doing anything tonight? You wouldn't care to come in and dine, would you—just us three? To tell you the truth," he added, his tone half confidential, half wistful, "I don't altogether understand Judith these days. She's in one of her queer moods."

"I am afraid I am not persona grata with Lady Judith just at the moment," Paule observed. "I rather gathered that impression last time we met."

"Judith's been queer for weeks," her father confided. "She and Amberleys have more than once been on the brink of a serious disagreement. I'm perfectly certain she would be as glad as I am to avoid a tête-à-tête dinner."

"I have a card for the dance," Paule observed doubtfully, "but that sort of thing is not much in my line."

"You're going to the dance!" Joseph exclaimed. "Well, that settles it. Come you must, and go on with us. Eight o'clock. Glad I thought of it. Capital! Now I'll leave you to finish your work."

He bustled off, and Paule prepared to return to the laboratory. His secretary, however, reappeared.

"The gentleman who was here the other day has called again to see you, sir," he announced. "Mr. Alan Rodes, I think his name is."

Paule indulged in a rare hesitation. It was several moments before he arrived at a decision. Then he resumed his seat.

"You can show Mr. Rodes in," he directed.

RODES entered, silent and unobtrusive as ever, laid his dark Homburg hat on the table, slipped into a chair in response to Paule's gestured invitation, and, allegorically speaking, staked out his ground for the duel to come.

"Very kind of you to see me, Sir Lawrence," he began. "I was afraid, after our last interview, access to you might have been a little more difficult."

"When was our last meeting?" Paule demanded.

Rodes hesitated.

"Well, well," he acknowledged, "I can't say that it was exactly a meeting, was it? I watched you kill some high pheasants the first day and some fast partridges the next."

"And afterward?"

"Afterward I made one of those mistakes to which you must by now have become accustomed," Rodes confessed. "I followed your car toward London and let you get out of sight. Still, a great question is opened up by the mere fact that you took so much trouble to avoid me. Why was that, Sir Lawrence?"

"I don't like you," was the cool rejoinder. "Surely that is sufficient reason."

"Not quite sufficient for leaving your car by a subterfuge and motoring off in a different direction. I made one bad mistake, I admit, in following your empty car. You surely made another when you told the man at the roadside garage your exact destination."

Paule smiled.

"I told him because there was no secret about it," he replied.

"No secret about it?" Rodes exclaimed. "Then why did you not drive direct to Norwich?"

"You are an inquisitive person," Paule remarked. "However, since it seems to interest you, here is the truth. I left my car at Mildenhall and returned to Norwich, as I realized that it was impossible for me to get to town, at the hour I desired, by car. I doubled back to Norwich and tried to catch the twelve-thirty train."

"You missed it, I think."

"If I did, what business is that of yours? I missed it by five minutes only."

"It still seems curious to me," Rodes persisted, after a brief pause, "that you should have left the car just as you did and returned to Norwich."

"Really?" was the indifferent reply. "Well, I trust you are willing to admit that I am not accountable to you for my movements."

"You are not accountable to me," Rodes acknowledged softly, "but, however doubtful my position may be, I still represent the law. I represent also Lady Judith Honerton."

"I see. You are the private detective Lord Honerton spoke of."

"I was not aware that his lordship knew of my existence. It was Lady Judith who engaged me and it is Lady Judith with whom I have been investigating."

"With success, I trust."

"With this much of success, at any rate," Rodes declared, with a sudden access of vigor in his tone—"we have discovered that your movements on the day following Mr. Samuel Fernham's disappearance need a certain amount of explanation."

"If ever the time should arrive and a properly qualified person should be the inquisitor," Paule assured him, "that explanation would be readily forthcoming."

THE detective sighed.

"I was afraid you might take it like that," he confessed. "We certainly are placing the cart before the horse. Still, her ladyship showed a great deal of common sense. It was her suggestion that, rather than spend a lot of further time upon the matter, I should endeavor to discover from you personally whether you had not some special reason for behaving in so unaccountable a manner."

"Her ladyship is very kind," Paule observed, with faint sarcasm. "You can go back and tell her I find your joint interest in my movements flattering but absurd. If you wish to earn that twenty thousand pounds, Mr. Rodes, you can use your time to better purpose than in dogging the footsteps of a person of my tastes and harmlessness. You cannot seriously suppose that I am concerned in the disappearance of either of these two young men. Why, then, do you waste your time taking note of my movements?"

The detective deliberated for some moments before he replied.

"The problem of the disappearance of these two young men, Sir Lawrence," he explained, "is one which we are unfortunately obliged to tackle—in the way of surmise, I mean—without the guiding light of motive. We admit the sheer absurdity, on the surface, of your being connected with the affair in the slightest degree. Having admitted that, I must confess that but for Lady Judith's intervention I should have settled down in Norwich for the next few weeks, to try to discover the reason for your hurried visit there."

"It seems rather a pity that Lady Judith interfered," Paule remarked. "Norwich is an interesting old city, and you would doubtless have made some pleasant acquaintances. I should recommend the Maid's Head hotel. I lunched there after missing my train."

Rodes blinked several times. His eyes seemed sleepier than usual. He was working himself up now to a genuine effort at candor.

"Sir Lawrence Paule," he began at last, "I am as tired as you must be of these indecisive visits, these conversations in which we fence like third rate diplomatists in Bayswater written novels. This is my last visit to you unless I come with a warrant in my hand. My final words to you shall be at any rate frank ones. I am defeated and humiliated in my attempts to discover the fate either of Ernest or of Samuel Fernham, but whether your knowledge be a guilty one or not, I believe that you have some knowledge which would help toward the solution of this mystery, and I appeal to you for the last time to assist the law and probably save the life of Lady Honerton."

"My reply to you," Paule rejoined, coldly, "shall be equally frank. "Except for that marvelous creation of Dickens', Mr. Buckle, from whose methods I presume you gleaned the idea of doubling back on your tracks, I think you are without exception the most flamboyant and hopeless of all the detectives I ever met or heard of in real life or fiction."

Mr. Rodes rose to his feet and brushed his dark Homburg hat with his sleeve. His attitude was meek. He had not even the air of one who had received a rebuke.

"The Maid's Head, I think you said, Sir Lawrence," he remarked. "I am very much obliged."

Paule was surprised when, at a few minutes past eight, he presented himself at Park Lane, to find his host partaking of his second cocktail in the winter garden, wearing a dinner jacket and black tie.

"Is the dance postponed?" he asked.

Joseph made cryptic signs to Martin, which [illegible] in the production of a fresh tray of cocktails.

"No, it isn't that," he explained, a little [illegible] "but, to tell you the truth, I'm not much of a [illegible] at these starchy functions—you know what I [illegible] Paule, all formality and stilts—I—er—thought [illegible] you were going, I might cry off, what?"

Paule shook his head.

"My dear Lord Honerton," he protested, "I [illegible] you scarcely realize that this is an exceptional [illegible] tion, and that the marquis, and the marchioness [illegible] cially, are people of old fashioned ideas. It [illegible] entirely out of order for me to escort Lady [illegible]

Joseph turned his head at the sound of light [illegible] steps. Judith, in a gown of pale sea green [illegible] floated around her almost like the foam from [illegible] flung wave, came slowly across the room. Both [illegible] were for a moment speechless. She paused and [illegible] them a little curtsey. Her eyes sought [illegible] though for his approval.

"A success, I hope?" she queried. "Guy [illegible] it over himself by airplane from Paris this [illegible] Why does dad look as though he had had bad [illegible]

"Your father had a scheme for avoiding the [illegible] tonight," Paule observed. "He thought that [illegible] would be sufficient escort. I have had to point [illegible] him that this is an exceptional occasion—[illegible] escort could not possibly be in order."

"It is really wonderful how, with all your [illegible] serious activities, you pick up such a stock [illegible] cellaneous knowledge," she declared, satirically. "[illegible] Lawrence is quite right, dad, but as it happens [illegible] chaperonage is amply provided for. Joyce has [illegible] telephoned to say that she and her mother will [illegible] for me at ten o'clock."

Joseph's face cleared.

"In that case, my dear," he began——

"Exactly," she interrupted, ruthlessly. "You [illegible] go to the club and play bridge."

Martin announced dinner. Judith at once laid [illegible] fingers on Paule's arm.

"Martin," she directed, "please see to the [illegible] pagne yourself this evening. I want the best in [illegible] world and plenty of it. And, dad, let's be as quick [illegible] we can over dinner. I want particularly to talk to [illegible] Lawrence afterward before we start."

Joseph, freed from his responsibilities of the [illegible] was almost lighthearted.

"The quicker the better, my dear," he [illegible] "They begin bridge early at the club."

JUDITH left the dinner table long before the [illegible] sion of the meal, and Paule had scarcely lit his [illegible] cigaret when Martin entered the room and [illegible] him.

"Her ladyship would be obliged if you would [illegible] to her boudoir, sir," he announced. "Coffee will [illegible] served there."

"Got your orders, you see, Paule," his host [illegible] good naturedly. "Don't mind me. Judith's got it [illegible] her head that she wants to talk to you, and you'll [illegible] to go through with it."

Paule laid down his cigaret and followed [illegible] from the room. They mounted the famous [illegible] staircase, traversed a wide corridor, and finally, [illegible] discreet knock, he was ushered into an apartment [illegible] which in those first few minutes he received a [illegible] fused impression of smoke colored draperies, [illegible] unexpected blue, and the odor of burning wood. [illegible] was half seated, half reclining, upon a great divan [illegible] the fire. She motioned him to sit by her side, [illegible] poured him out some coffee.

"Thank you for coming so soon," she said a [illegible] abruptly. "There are cigarets on the table [illegible] Cigars you don't smoke, I know. Don't neglect [illegible] coffee. It's really Turkish—orange flower and all. [illegible] glad you came early," she added with a glance at [illegible] clock. "We have an hour and five minutes. I [illegible] to talk to you."

Paule murmured a word or two of polite [illegible] cence, helped himself to his coffee, and lit a [illegible] The atmosphere of the room pleased him; [illegible] cause of the absence of that exotic note which [illegible] have made it more commonplace. The walls [illegible] almost severe, paneled in white satin wood with [illegible] gilt edgings, and a thin inlay of blue damask. The [illegible] niture was French, but the upholstery was [illegible] The thick carpet was velvety and smoke colored. [illegible] were many flowers in wonderful bowls, but they [illegible] all roses and carnations; none of the hot house [illegible] The only dominant colors in the room were a [illegible] gray, a delicious soft blue and gilt. The cigarets [illegible] of fine tobacco, but unscented, the odor of the [illegible] wood faintly aromatic.

"You say you want to talk to me," he observed. [illegible] know what about. Your tame Sherlock Holmes [illegible] to see me this afternoon."

"Do you ever make a mistake in life?" she [illegible]

"Infrequently," he admitted.

"Well, you have made one now," she declared. [illegible] have not a single word to say to you on that [illegible]

"I confess myself surprised," he murmured.

She laughed softly, and removed the cigaret [illegible] between her white teeth. It was a pleasant sound, [illegible] if its note of humor was scanty—a sort of [illegible] with a twang of provocativeness. Little lines [illegible] for a moment at the corners of her eyes.

"I want to talk about myself," she confided.

"To me?"

"Why not? Aren't you interested?"

There was a note almost of anxiety under the faint [illegible] of her question. The smile had left her lips; she was looking straight into his eyes. She had reckoned herself always something of a diviner of men's thoughts and emotions. Paule had baffled her more than once, but after all he was a human being like others. There must be a way through the armor of his imperturbability. Her moment must come.

"Every one," he said, "is interested in Lady Judith [illegible]."

The retort was trite enough, yet somehow or other it brought her a certain measure of satisfaction. She told herself that if she had not penetrated she had grazed [illegible] of his defenses.

"I am very unhappy," she confided. "You think that extraordinary?"

"I do, indeed," he admitted. "You seem to have shared in most of life's gifts. What is there more for you to desire?"

"Better," she said calmly, "get over the obvious part of our conversation as quickly as possible. I am young. I have some good looks, a trifle of wit, a certain vogue among people who count. I have all the money a person could use or spend, and I am engaged to marry the eldest son of a marquis. Therefore when I tell you that I am unhappy, you raise your eyebrows. Yet [illegible] to you that I have [illegible] for help—to you or no one."

"Why?" he asked. "I imagined that you mistrusted me. I might even go so far as to say, after your man's visit this morning, that I have reason to imagine it. Apart from that, you have recently shown a desire even to avoid me. What surety have you that I would help you even if I could?"

"No surety, only a conviction," she answered confidently. "In a way I am afraid of you. In a way I suspect you of nameless things. Yet I know that you are the only person who can help me. I know that you are nearer to me than any of these others, and that as I speak, so you will have understood."

He was on the point of interruption, but her arm stretched out, slim, white, and beautiful.

"No," she insisted, "you [illegible] with your tongue. You don't give me a chance. You shall remain silent. Afterward you can talk as much as you like. In the meantime this is my family, and the text of all is that I am unhappy. You know what is to happen to me tonight. I am to set the seal upon my bondage. I am to be passed over by [illegible], my future father-in-law, and to be [illegible] with genial and [illegible] courtesy by the people of a husband. [illegible] these—they are my mother and father-in-law. I am to listen to [illegible] without yawning and mold my social life according to the tenets of the other. And then there is Freddy."

"Lord Amberleys will be your husband," he ventured to remind her.

"I told you not to interrupt," she objected. "Well, I am not a fool. I know very well that I can't go through life without a husband. I should much prefer [illegible], but I have that much of my race in me. I am [illegible] because I can't help it. I am virtuous in [illegible] and by the sheer selective instinct of my physique, in my thoughts a wanton. Freddy doesn't [illegible]. How can't you see? I don't want to marry [illegible]. No, don't interrupt! I can see those trite [illegible] on your lips. I will say them for you. '[illegible] late to think of that, isn't it?' Well, I grant it, but what then? No human being is the same on Wednesday as he is on Thursday. I accepted [illegible] and thought I could marry him on Wednesday. [illegible] Thursday."

He threw his cigaret away. Was it his fancy, or was the atmosphere of the room losing its freshness? The odor of burning wood and the roses and the cigarets seemed almost to have mounted to his head. He was conscious of an unwonted drowsiness, a languor only of the senses. His brain was working still, keeping pace with hers—his brain which had never once played him false. All the time he knew his danger.

"OTHER women before me have done this thing," she continued; "have been qualified by their instincts to walk in the sacred groves, or have climbed the ladder and made their way there, only to follow the same will o' the wisp and sink into the drab places. No one can ever really escape, you know. A lover might keep one's head up toward the skies for a few minutes; art or gambling, or any of the minor passions might walk like ghosts on either side and beat off despair, but of real escape there is none. Look at the clock. It is twenty minutes to ten. At ten o'clock the Duchess of Midlothian will be here with a little speech all ready upon her lips—'So glad, my dear, to hear that it is really settled. How suitable! Freddy was always lucky!'—and so on."

"What do you want me to do?" he asked, not altogether steadily.

Her eyes swam with joy at the little break in his voice. She leaned toward him. One arm was around the back of the divan, the fingers of her other hand seemed creeping toward him.

"You know," she said. "You and I breathe the same atmosphere. Our eyes see the same things. You may be as wicked as hell, but you are the only person to whom I could come for salvation. For some reason you have the will to hate me. Is it strong enough? Stoop down, Lawrence—nearer—nearer!"

After all, his embrace was like nothing she had imagined. Every line in his face seemed to have softened. There was a tenderness in those stern eyes of which she had never dreamed. His arms went around her almost deliberately, his lips sought hers with something of the same studied care. There was nothing of the blindness of passion in that long, wonderful caress. She felt herself raised to her feet, her arms still round his neck. He held her throbbing body closely, while his lips sought her eyes, her hair, her lips again. She felt the sense of something overpowering, a passion born of other things than the strength of his arms and his softly whispered words. Presently he let her go. Even then she feared to open her eyes. She heard his voice; a little stifled, curiously, kindly.

"It is ten o'clock, Judith," he reminded her. "In a moment your chaperon may be here."

She opened her eyes then, and smiled at him.

"You are the only person who could have solved this for me," she murmured. "Do you mind going now? I am ringing for my maid—and unless you care about it, don't come to the ball. Later on in life I'll make my curtsey of thanks to you."

"Later on in life?" he repeated a little vaguely.

She stood with her finger upon the bell, her eloquent smile one of dismissal.

"Why not? You have been wonderful. You alone could have saved me and I am grateful. Later on I will tell you how grateful."

The maid entered and there were tidings of Joyce and the duchess. Paule made his escape, haunted by an intangible but curious apprehension that some vital factor in the situation from which he had just emerged had eluded him.

For the first time in his life Paule, on the following morning, received without irritation a visit from the head of the firm. He kept him waiting for a few minutes while he finished a consultation with one of his chemists, and then led the way to his private apartments. Joseph was obviously in a condition of great disquietude.

"A nice state of things!" he exclaimed, throwing himself into an easy chair. "Have you heard anything?"

"I have no idea what you're talking about," Paule assured him.

His visitor handed him a slip of paper.

"Just as I was coming out this morning, if you please," he explained, "up comes her ladyship and presents me with this. 'Please see to it on your way to the city, today,' was all she said. Read it, read it, man! It's for the Morning Post."

Paule read the single line in Judith's firm handwriting.

"The marriage arranged between Lady Judith Fernham and Lord Amberleys will not take place."

"Broken off!" he muttered under his breath.

"All done last night, it seems," Joseph continued. "Several other newspapers have been ringing up, as, of course, the announcement was to have been made publicly last night, although the engagement was pretty well known beforehand. Changed her mind! That's all she'll say. The hussy! It isn't as though Amberleys wasn't the eldest son. From what I can hear of Holt, she'd have been a marchioness in five years. I say, Paule," he went on curiously, "did Judith give you any idea of this yesterday evening?"

"Her conversation indicated that she was not altogether satisfied with the prospects of her engagement," Paule admitted. "I had no idea, however, that she was contemplating breaking it off so abruptly."

"I've never had anything against the young fellow," Joseph went on. "A bit stand-offish, perhaps, but, after all, there never has been much for him and me to talk about. What the hell can the girl want?"

"Lady Judith is rather an exceptional character," Paule ventured to observe.

"Then if this is the result of her being exceptional," her father declared emphatically, "I wish she were ordinary. With Ernest gone, and Henry with his career abroad, drifting away from our traditions, Judith was

They Were the Key, He Decided, to the Celebrity and Importance He Craved

THAT AFTERNOON there was a big reception at Mme. de Chautreille's, and Mlle. des Orloizes had assisted the hostess and served tea to the guests. At half past 6 she was ready to go.

"Good-by, my dear," Mme. de Chautreille said to her. "Don't forget that you are to be here Monday morning to take my fan to be fixed and to bring it back. M. de Chautreille will be away. You will take luncheon with me, and in the afternoon I shall need you to do some errands."

Mlle. des Orloizes left the sumptuous apartment, descended the grandoise staircase, and, arriving at the porte-cochère, uttered a cry of distress and horror:

"Mon Dieu, it is raining in torrents!"

It was a catastrophe. Mlle. des Orloizes had no umbrella and her satin shoes were worn somewhat thin. She had an engagement at 7 o'clock with Mme. Levernier, a general's wife, who had asked her to pick out some skeins for embroidery work and who would doubtless keep her for dinner. It was impossible for her to miss this engagement. It was equally impossible to arrive there drenched. That would be grotesque. Besides her hat and coat would be ruined. The Metro station was a long way off, and Mlle. de Orloizes' budget did not allow her to take a taxi under any circumstances.

"Mademoiselle—I beg your pardon, but I see that you have no umbrella. I have one. Will you allow me to offer you some protection from the rain? I was also a guest at Mme. Chautreille's. My name is Lassinière—Alfred Lassinière."

Mlle. des Orloizes turned her head in surprise. She saw a man of thirty-five or forty years, pale and stout, correct in appearance, but rather dull looking. She remembered having noticed him a little while before in Mme. de Chautreille's salon, where, without playing bridge or speaking to any one, he stood in a corner like a negligible piece of furniture. Now he made a profound bow and offered her his umbrella with an awkward gesture.

Mlle. des Orloizes hesitated an instant. But it was growing late, the general's wife would be impatient, the rain was becoming more violent. So she accepted, accustomed as she was to depend on others and to accept assistance from them.

THEY set out together, M. Lassinière sheltering his companion as best he could and Mlle. des Orloizes dodging the puddles in order to spare her satin shoes, which already showed a suspicious appearance of moistness. She began to sneeze.

"Mademoiselle, you will catch cold. Here is a cab. Allow me to take you to your destination."

"But I don't know whether I ought to accept."

"Mademoiselle, please do. It is only a courtesy. Where are you going?"

"All right," said Mlle. des Orloizes, as she consented to get into the taxi which M. Lassinière had hailed. "I am going to the Boulevard Malesherbes, to Mme. Levernier's."

M. Lassinière was much impressed by the name and mortified that he did not know the number. He had to ask Mlle. des Orloizes what it was.

"I have been in Paris only a short time," he explained, when they were seated in the cab. "Up to last year I lived in the country. I am from the same region as M. de Chautreille, who is my deputy. My house is near his château. He is very good to me. He has presented me to M. Esnault-Robin, the academician, who invited me to one of his evening entertainments."

"Mme. Esnault-Robin was a girl friend of my mother's and has also been very kind to me," said Mlle. des Orloizes. "I go there very often."

"I knew that I had seen you there," said M. Lassinière. "But, naturally, you did not notice me—an unknown in that brilliant and intellectual assembly, where all the celebrities were gathered. Ah! mademoiselle, you who are accustomed to move in the best Parisian society—you cannot know how happy I was to be invited to M. Esnault-Robin's."

M. Lassinière waited a moment, and then added with confidential ardor:

"I write."

The conversation continued until the Boulevard Malesherbes was reached. Mlle. des Orloizes spoke of her social connections. She neglected to say that with all these rich, titled, influential women who received her she played the role as much of companion as of friend. She did not confess that they employed her to do tiresome errands and that they paid her with a luncheon or a dinner, sometimes with an old dress which she could have made over. She did not mention that refreshments at the teas took the place of evening meals for her when she did not have dinner invitations.

When the taxi stopped she thanked M. Lassinière warmly for his kindness. She told him that she would be at Mme. de Chautreille's for tea the following Monday and promised to get him an invitation to one of the receptions of the illustrious painter, Davallier, whose wife was an Orloizes, though of the younger branch.

ALONE in the vehicle which was carrying him to the restaurant on the Left Bank, where he took his meals, M. Lassinière thought awhile and then murmured:

"She is about my age. She is a little faded, a little thin, a little passée—and without fortune. But she is one of the Orloizes, and what knowledge she has of the world—what brilliant connections! Yes, that would be a good solution for me. Presto! I should be launched; she would introduce me to everybody. And I could annex her name to mine—Alfred Lassinière des Orloizes. That would look stunning on the cover of a novel. She would be able to make me a success. All the people she knows would give me their backing. Yes, it is an excellent idea. But would she?"

M. Alfred Lassinière pursued his reflections. A long repressed ambition inspired them. He had been forced, up to his thirty-eighth year, to live in the country with a miserly, ill tempered and dictatorial uncle. He was engaged in a wholesale business which he thought beneath him, and had awaited with gloomy patience the inheritance which would give him a sufficient income and the opportunity to seek fame in what he considered to be his true vocation—literature. Now that his uncle's death had permitted him to come to Paris he perceived that there were unsuspected difficulties in the way. But a marriage with Mlle. des Orloizes would assure the realization of his wildest dreams. And he repeated anxiously, "Would she?"

Mlle. des Orloizes would. When two months later M. Alfred Lassinière, who had met her about a dozen times in the interval, asked her to marry him, she demanded time to consider, but only as a matter of form. Already, to herself, she had said yes.

M. Lassinière was entranced. He had been able to gauge more exactly the immense utility of this union to him. Seconded, sustained, pushed ahead by relatives and friends, he would quickly achieve the celebrity and importance he craved.

The marriage took place very quietly. That was Mlle. des Orloizes' wish and M. Lassinière acceded to it. Moreover, he was resolved to let himself be guided entirely by his wife. He had told her so and she had answered "Thank you" with the greatest tenderness.

THEY went to spend two weeks at the little place M. Lassinière owned in the country. Mlle. des Orloizes had decided that would be the best sort of wedding trip.

The morning after their arrival M. Lassinière went downstairs for a walk through the garden. He inspected the flowers and vegetables, and then returned to his wife.

In her dressing gown, with her hair still down her back, she stood at a window opening on the sprouting fields, which were already turning green under the April sun. He approached her and gallantly put his arm about her waist. She turned her head toward him. He was astonished to see that she was crying.

"It is nothing, Alfred," she said. "These are tears of joy. Don't let us ever go back to Paris. O! Alfred, Alfred, if you knew what I suffered, if you knew the humiliations they heaped upon me!

"O! those women, those women with their false kindness, their insulting benevolence, their charity disdainfully bestowed! I was like a servant to them. Yes, a servant to all of them—a servant they never paid, of whom they made a confidante, whom they charged with all sorts of duties, and whom they treated in public as a friend—but with a hypocrisy that deceived nobody.

"O! Mme. Levernier, with her brutal impertinence; Mme. de Chautreille, with her degrading pity; Mme. Esnault-Robin, with her so-called affability. All of them, I tell you, Alfred—all of them tortured me. They hate me, you may be sure, now that, thanks to you, I have escaped from them—now that there are no more services for me to render them. They hate me and I hate them. They know it; they will never forgive me for having freed myself.

"O! Alfred, Alfred, let us stay here in the calm and peace of the country, where there are no [illegible], no envies, no ambitions—where I can at last be happy."

In her emotion she wept more copiously than ever. He gazed at her, dumfounded and crushed.

all her mother and I had to turn to. We Jews, you know, Paule—I ain't ashamed of being a Jew—have got just two weaknesses in life. The first you'd say was money—I wouldn't put it first, but let that go—the other is our family. We like large families. We like to see the younger generation of our own stock all around us. Judith was our last hope. We wanted her to marry and have children. It would have lengthened her mother's life by ten years. And she won't do it, Paule. I don't believe she's got it in her. She's thrown over this young fellow—a fine enough chap in his way—and gone off to Scotland this morning with Lady Joyce and her mother."

"From your point of view it is, I suppose, disappointing," Paule acknowledged. "On the other hand, Lady Judith will probably very soon marry some one else."

"Damned if I believe she'll marry at all," her father groaned. "She's all brain and fancies and temperament. That sort of a person finicks with the marriage question. She didn't give us a chance even to argue with her, Paule. Just hands me this slip of paper."

"Since she did hand it to you," Paule suggested, "perhaps you had better have it sent to the office of the Morning Post."

"I had them copy it," Joseph explained. "I kept this to show you. It's so damned awkward for us, too, down in Norfolk. We were just getting along nicely with the people, and now this will put the kibosh on the whole show."

Paule glanced at the clock.

"Well, I'm afraid there's nothing I can do for you, Lord Honerton," he regretted. "We're terribly busy here, and I've several appointments before twelve o'clock."

Joseph rose unsteadily to his feet. He had spoken the truth when he had declared that this had been a shock to him. He had indulged a little freely, too, at the club the night before, and his cheeks seemed more pendulous than ever, his color more leaden.

"Well, I won't keep you, Paule," he said. "I've a busy morning myself—feeling cheap, too. Rotten! What about giving me one of those pick-me-ups you used to give Samuel? I'm needing something of the sort, if any one ever did."

For a moment it appeared as though Paule had not heard him, as though he had wandered off into some utterly different field of thought. Joseph moved on his feet impatiently and his companion seemed to become suddenly aware of his presence.

"Yes, I'll give you something," he assented, drawing his keys from his pocket and moving across the room. "Wait here a minute, will you?"

Joseph was smitten by a sudden and overpowering curiosity.

"What the devil do you keep in that Bluebeard's chamber of yours?" he exclaimed. "Let's have a look."

Paule swung round with his back to the door.

"The secrecy of these rooms is rather one of my hobbies, Lord Honerton," he observed. "If you remember, it is part of our agreement."

"Stuff and nonsense!" Joseph scoffed. "No one wants to pry into your secrets, man. You know perfectly well that I'm not even a chemist. It's sheer curiosity with me, nothing else."

"It is because I realize the fact that I venture to advise you not to press your request," Paule said. "Investigations which I conduct here have a definite purpose, but they necessitate unpleasant accessories."

"Damn it all, what do I care?" was the irritable retort. "Come on! Let's have a look at the damned place!"

"Against my advice," Paule reminded him, as he threw open the door.

PAULE, alone once more, remained for some minutes gazing through the high, uncurtained window toward the murky horizon—to where the pall of London hung like a black smudge on the other side of a wilderness of small houses. When he turned away it was with a certain reluctance, as though he found the prospect of his morning's work distasteful. He gave a brief order to his secretary, through the telephone, crossed the room, and entered the little apartment with the orange light in the roof which he had shown Judith. For an hour he lay stretched upon the hard couch, motionless, his wide open eyes fixed upon one spot in the wall. He had the air of a man indulging in reflection so concentrated as to be almost trancelike. When at last he rose and made his way back, first to his private rooms and later to the laboratories, his face was a little drawn, there was an occasional twitch of the lips, more than once a slight wandering of his attention from the matter in hand. He completed a long morning's work, however, with his usual precise care as to detail, lunched alone in his quarters, and sat afterward, smoking a cigarette and reading a review. Presently the telephone at his elbow rang. He took off the receiver and listened to the message.

"Will you tell Lady Honerton I will call during the evening?" was his response.

He rose to his feet, hesitated for a single moment, then passed through the door back again into his chamber of solitude.
